GREATER PORTLAND PLANS EXPLAINED

Charles E. Merrick, president of the Greater Portland Plans Association, delivered an illustrated lecture last night in the Mount Tabor Methodist Church on the plans for the future Portland as prepared by Architect Bennett. Mr. Merrick explained that the plans are for the future development of Portland and were not to be adopted at once, but in sections covering a long period of time. This course had been adopted, he said, so that the city could be built along systematic lines.
Pictures and maps were shown and explained. Also the site selected by the Portland Library Association to situate their new building, which will be on the park block to be in harmony with the Bennett plans. Mr. Weed also showed pictures of the best way to beautify city lots, where to build a house and where to place flowers and lawns.

WATER FOR SELLWOOD ASSEMBLED

Early completion of the reinforcing water main for Sellwood and the surrounding districts is now assured.
Rights of way for the main on East Twenty-third street, which threatened to delay the laying of the main, have been secured and yesterday foreman Edward Gray put a large force of men to work from Holgate street southward, and will put the pipe underground as fast as possible. There will be no water shortage in Sellwood as the reinforcing main soon will be finished. It will connect with the 24 main which was laid last year on East Twenty-sixth street from Division, which insures an ample water supply for all the territory to the south. In Sellwood connection will be made with the present pipe lines now supplied from a ten-inch main on Milwaukie, which will form a circuit.

obtain the Oregon health statistics as complete as possible. Dr. White has been arranging to have all such statistics from the Indian reservation incorporated in the regular statistics. Ordinarily this is not done, as the reservations are under Federal control. Tomorrow night Dr. White will deliver the graduation address to the high school graduates at Bend. He will also look into health conditions during his trip.

since arriving here was born in Kentucky, November 9, 1834, and became states and was residing in elder

SANITORIUM IS OFFERED

MILWAUKIE INSTITUTION MAY BE GIFT TO COUNTY.

A. L. Mills, Representing Stockholders, Makes Proposal but No Decision is Reached.

A. L. Mills, representing the stockholders of the Portland Open-Air Sanatorium, situated on Milwaukie Heights, near the town of Milwaukie, yesterday made a proposition to the County Court to deed the property to the county, provided that the county would enter into an agreement to maintain it as at present as a hospital for people suffering from tuberculosis of the lungs.

Mr. Mills yesterday took County Commissioners Hart and Lightner and County Physician Geary to see the sanatorium. County Judge Cleaton did not go. The interest was started four or five years ago, by wealthy residents of the city, who announced that they would be satisfied if they could secure sufficient revenue to maintain it, but this has never been possible, it is said.

The only trouble I see is that it might prove a still greater money loser under county control," said Judge Cleaton. "In the first place it would be hard for the county to charge fees and in the second place we have tuberculosis open-air sanitarium with accommodations for 25 people at Multnomah Farm. There is the possibility that many persons who would not care to go to the poor farm at county expense would go to this sanitarium at Milwaukie. Another danger is that people outside the county really do not belong to us, might come here and apply as charity patients."

Commissioner Hart returned from the trip enthusiastic. He is in favor of the county taking over the property.
He said that the present owners are willing to lease for a long term of years at a nominal price, which the County Court should prefer this. About 14 acres of land surround the sanitarium and considerable money has been spent on improvements. The property is estimated to be worth about $25,000.

Miss Barde, by her fine, musicianly recital takes her place as one of Portland's most talented younger pianists. Her program was excellent and properly classical, the principal number being the magnificent Beethoven "Sonata, op. 31, No. 2," which took 15 minutes for rendition. Portland well remembers the artistic rendition it received at the hands of Gabrilowitch, the Russian pianist. It was well played. Miss Barde's other numbers were: "Hungarian, op. 33, No. 1," "Capriccio" (Liszt), "Romance" and "Aufschwung" (Schumann), "Erl King" (Schubert-Liszt) and "Polonaise, op. 26" (Chopin). Miss Barde was cordially received and she won several recalls.
