

COLONEL SAYS HE MAY GO TO CHICAGO

Final Decision Depends on What He Learns This Morning.

PREPARATIONS ALL MADE

Roosevelt Home Ablaze Far Into Night but He Refuses to Commit Himself—Belief Is He Will Go at Once.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., June 13.—After talking by telephone with Senator Dixon for several hours tonight, Colonel Roosevelt said he might go to Chicago. His final decision remains in abeyance.

Colonel Roosevelt said the delegates who were supporting him were indignant at the trend of affairs in Chicago. He was told tonight that they regarded the situation as being "a cynically open attempt on the part of the National committee to defraud the people of the victory they have won."

West Demands Presence. It was the intention of the National committee, the Colonel continued, to nominate for President the man who had been repudiated by the rank and file of the Republican party. The result, as Colonel Roosevelt put it, has been an intense feeling, leading to a strong demand from the Roosevelt delegates, especially those from western states, that he go to Chicago.

The Colonel explained that he had been told that his supporters wished his presence, not because he is a candidate, but because they regarded him as the man who happened to be leading the fight for the Roosevelt delegates.

Colonel Roosevelt will go to New York in the morning.

Whether he will leave for Chicago later in the day or return to Oyster Bay could not be learned.

Decision Not Yet Made. "I don't know what I shall do," he said. "It depends upon what I learn in the morning."

The Colonel said that although he had been urged to give a definite answer tonight to the appeal from Chicago he had replied that he wished to hear in full the reasons of those who urged him to go to the convention city before deciding.

The Roosevelt house on Sagamore Hill was ablaze with lights until far into the night. Messages by telegraph and telephone came in large numbers all evening.

In the afternoon he said he would have a statement to make at 4 o'clock. When that hour came he said he would make no statement until 9 o'clock. At 5 o'clock he was still engaged on the long-distance wire and it was nearly midnight before he appeared to say he could not make his decision. Several messages were dispatched to his secretary in New York, and before he retired the Colonel had completed his preparations for a quick departure to Chicago. The impression prevails tonight that Colonel Roosevelt is going.

MACK IS IN BALTIMORE

Chairmanship of Democratic Convention Remains Unsettled.

BALTIMORE, June 13.—National Chairman Mack came to Baltimore tonight and opened the headquarters of the Democratic National Committee at the Belvidere. Mr. Mack's temporary chairmanship was still unsettled.

"We are not going to have Judge Parker, Senator O'Gorman, Ollie James, Senator Kern and others for temporary presiding officer and that is as far as we have got."

PRE-CONVENTION SIDELIGHTS

CHICAGO, June 13.—(Special).—There are two tall men who meet daily at the pre-convention gatherings at the Coliseum who look so much alike that they are compelled to look at their calling cards to learn their own identity. They are so near, by exactly alike that they don't use mirrors any more. When one man wants to see if his hat is on straight he looks at his double.

W. C. Warmoth, ex-Governor of Louisiana, is one-half of the duo and Charles Nagel, Secretary of Commerce and Labor, is the other. Both wear gray suits and hats that are similar. Today a curious person asked Governor Warmoth if he would give the secret of telling the two men apart.

"Well, I have an almost certain way," said the ex-state executive. "My mustache drops just a little more than Mr. Nagel's."

"I thank you for—" began the inquirer. "But I have found a serious obstacle to that," said Mr. Warmoth. "My memory is not the best and, pahaw, I often forget which one of us has the longer mustache, and then I have to call in a third person to untangle us."

M. R. LILLIAN RUSSELL, who was Alexander Moore, of Pittsburg, until 12 hours ago, dashed into the Congress Hotel today. He is a delegate to the convention. He is a Roosevelt adherent and was so full of political thoughts that he had forgotten all else. "Beg pardon, Mr. Moore, but I would like to take your picture and a picture of Mrs. Moore," said a photographer who had been waiting for the bridegroom many hours.

NEWS CARRIED BY HENEY

Maryland Delegate Stirs Enthusiasm by Prediction That Electors From His State May Be Among Boilers.

CHICAGO, June 13.—Events of the day gave the Roosevelt leaders their first real cause for surface jubilation and they were not slow to take advantage of it.

While the National Committee was disposing of the Missouri contest, Roosevelt delegates in Chicago were assembled in the Congress Hotel listening to a speech by William Flinn, of Pittsburg, who urged that "every man must do his full duty and not give up the fight."

Several hundred men were in the room cheering when news reached the fringe of the crowd that Missouri had been won for Roosevelt in the National Committee. Francis J. Heney, of San Francisco, brought the tidings. He first communicated it to Ex-Governor Fort, of New Jersey.

"Start something," says Fort. "We don't know that here," said the former New Jersey Executive. "For heaven's sake get up there and start something."

Heney started to wedge his way through the crowd and was about to be recognized by Mr. Flinn when Senator Dixon, the Roosevelt campaign manager, arrived. Cheers for Dixon postponed Heney's announcement and the leader of the Roosevelt fight advanced to speak.

"If Theodore Roosevelt is not wanted by the convention for President of the United States next Thursday" Senator Dixon declared after a few introductory remarks, "you can back me up against a wall and do anything you want to with me."

Dixon Talks of Victory. As he spoke the Senator folded his arms and further emphasized his statement by leaning against the wall. After he had been cheered until he raised his hand for silence, Senator Dixon said that the Republican National Committee could not get enough delegates for Taft to nominate him.

The members of the National Committee cannot stand the strain of public opinion much longer," he declared. "The Senator pleaded haste as his excuse for brevity and Mr. Heney took the rostrum. When he announced that the National Committee had given the Missouri delegates at-large to Roosevelt, it was a tumult and then Mr. Flinn asked:

"After that, do you still compare the National Committee to the 40 thieves?" "Yes," responded Heney. "I still compare some of the committee to the 40 thieves."

"But don't you think the committee is improving?" Mr. Flinn continued. "Only as to results," said Heney. Governor Stubbs, of Kansas; William Allen White, Edward C. Carrington, of the Maryland delegates, and others shared in stirring up enthusiasm. Mr. Carrington aroused cheers by predicting that the electors to be chosen in Maryland probably would be found with the electors of West Virginia and Pennsylvania in supporting Roosevelt in the electoral college, even though he should not be the Republican nominee.

"Oregon System" Described. Among the speakers at the meeting was Bruce Dennis, of La Grande, Or., chairman of the Republican state committee of Oregon, who described the workings of the "Oregon system." He said that the expenditure of money in campaigns had been abolished, and the tradesman, the merchant and the farmer now met on the same footing to nominate candidates.

"If anyone in this great crowd has ambition to be a political boss he should perish the idea at once," said Mr. Dennis. "For, under the Oregon system, the political boss is an impossibility, and the Oregon system is spreading over the Nation with marked rapidity. People vote as they please in Oregon. If they make a mistake they rectify it later. But the mistakes of the people are few in comparison to old convention days. Our state witnessed corrupt election of Senators, and the honest voter has agreed on this system which is now sought after by every state in the Nation."

Regarding Presidential electors nominated by the primary that selected Roosevelt for Presidential choice, Mr. Dennis said:

"This National convention is a mere incident as far as it pertains to Oregon. Our people have expressed their choice for President and the electors from Oregon are bound to vote for Mr. Roosevelt, whether he is the nominee of the convention called by the present National committee or not."

Calling attention to his belief that "this will be the last National convention held to nominate a Presidential candidate," the speaker continued:

"Four years hence, if any of you men are delegates you will not be entangled in a disgraceful war, but you will be able to ratify what the sovereign people have already decided. This will be right, and I am proud today to point to Oregon as the state that has blazed the trail for the densely populated Eastern commonwealths and directed the route to decent politics where the poor man has equal chance with the rich, where justice and right take the place of bossism and crookedness."

HASTY STRIKES DEPLORED. Patternmakers' President Urges Education for Workmen.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 13.—Hasty strikes were condemned and a better education of workmen in general, that they might more intelligently study the problems of both capital and labor, was urged by President Wilson, of the Patternmakers' League in an address today before the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron, Shipbuilders, meeting here in biennial convention.

ed for Roosevelt, while Jackson is a strong Taft man. As a result the Teddy people watch him constantly and send many telegrams East as to his behavior, with whom he talks and all other movements. Meanwhile "Bill" keeps on voting for Taft on all contests.

COLONEL SAM PARKER, of Honolulua, is probably the only man in the convention who can converse in any language. He admits intimate knowledge with seven languages, with a working smattering of others, but says he can converse fluently in 14 languages.

He proved this when an inauspicious individual tried to pin a Roosevelt badge upon his breast.

"BILL" JACKSON, National committeeman from Maryland, is being watched closely by specially appointed "trailers." The Maryland delegates are instruct-

Florida Member Wants to Hear More About Abe Ruef and Proposal for Exclusion Falls of Needed Support.

CHICAGO, June 13.—A motion to exclude Francis J. Heney, of San Francisco, from the Republican National committee on the ground that he was a Democrat, was made today by W. R. Sturgess, committeeman from Arizona. Heney had presented a proxy of Thomas Thorson, of South Dakota. Sturgess said the records showed Heney had run for Prosecuting Attorney on the Democratic ticket in San Francisco.

Heney denied the charge. He said he had refused the Democratic nomination and had run on an independent ticket and had been defeated by the "money of Patrick Calhoun."

The committee refused to exclude Heney, laying the motion on the table. When Committeeman Sturgess, of Arizona, made his formal motion that Mr. Heney's proxy be refused, Senator Borah said:

"As I am still in the committee, I'll say something for myself," said Mr. Heney. "I refused to accept the Democratic nomination. I did run as an independent candidate and was defeated by the money of Patrick Calhoun."

BORAH DARK HORSE IN EYES OF MANY

Idaho Senator Mentioned as Possible Compromise Candidate.

THIRD MAN TALK GROWING

Kenyon Declares Sentiment for Cummins Is Taking Amazing Proportions—Talk of Bolt Is Deplored by Him.

CHICAGO, June 13.—Senator Borah of Idaho was mentioned prominently today by political gossipers as a probable dark horse for the Presidential nomination.

Notwithstanding positive declarations from leaders of both sides that talk of compromises was foolish and that the fight must go to a finish between Taft and Roosevelt and "the principles" represented by them, there are many delegates who think that another man may win the convention's crown. Enthusiastic among these was Senator Kenyon, of Iowa, who arrived from Washington after a flying trip to consult Senator Cummins.

Kenyon Booms Cummins. Senator Kenyon issued the following statement: "I found an amazingly strong and rapidly growing sentiment in Washington for a third candidate. The name of Senator Cummins is the only one suggested as having the qualifications necessary to insure success of the Republican party. The Republican party has withstood the stress and strain put upon it since its organization in the administration of Governmental affairs and this convention should do nothing that will endanger its future or hazard a defeat at the polls in November."

Talk of Bolting Deplored. "The talk we hear of two conventions, bolts, riots, etc., is not in keeping with the dignity of the party or its orderly administration of affairs and is obnoxious to substantially all its members."

"If the two sincerely contending parties for the nomination of their candidates and control of the party would eliminate all personal resentment and look only to the best interests of the party and through it to the best interests of the country, a third candidate would be speedily chosen."

Friends of Senator La Follette declared today that there would be no choice in the first ballot and that their man stood "as good a chance as any other" of being chosen as a compromise candidate.

FUTHER PROTEST MADE

CALIFORNIANS, EN ROUTE, ISSUE CALL TO COUNTRY. Unseated Delegate Chosen to Preside Over Delegation in Absence of Johnson.

GALLUP, N. M., June 13.—Declaring that the seating of two Taft delegates from the Fourth California District by the Republican National committee was a deliberate assault upon the whole system of direct Presidential preference primaries, delegates of the California state delegation, en route to the Republican National convention at Chicago, gave further vent to their indignation today by adopting resolutions calling upon the delegates of other states to join them in a National protest.

The issue, the resolutions aver, is simply whether the Republican party shall be ruled by its members or by holdover members of a National committee, a large number of whom have already been repudiated by the states which they profess to represent.

Charles Stetson Wheeler, one of the two Roosevelt delegates, who were unseated by the National committee in favor of Taft men, was chosen vice-president of the California delegation to preside in the absence of Governor Johnson, who is in Chicago.
