

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

OREGONIAN TELEPHONES. Printing-room Main 7070 A 9095. City Circulation Main 7070 A 9095. Managing Editor Main 7070 A 9095. Sunday Editor Main 7070 A 9095. Composing-room Main 7070 A 9095. Superintendent building Main 7070 A 9095.

AMUSEMENTS.

HEILIG THEATER—(Seventh and Taylor)—The comedy "The Real Thing" tonight at 8:15. BAKER THEATER—(Eleventh and Morrison)—"The Blue Mouse" tonight at 8:15. ORPHEUM THEATER—(Morrison, between Sixth and Seventh streets)—This afternoon at 2:15 and tonight at 8:15 o'clock. PANTAGES THEATER—(Seventh and Albi)—"The Blue Mouse" tonight at 8:15 o'clock. EMPRESS THEATER—(Park and Washington)—"The Blue Mouse" tonight at 8:15 o'clock. OAKS PARK—(Williams River)—Amusement park, started this afternoon. This afternoon at 8 o'clock.

OREGONIAN AT RESORTS.

For the quickest delivery of the Oregonian at summer resorts, subscribe through the following agents. City rates, unless otherwise specified, are payable in advance. Bayocan, Or. Hotel Bayocan Annex Brighton Beach, Or. J. A. Baldwin Carson Springs Mineral Springs Hotel Collins Springs Mineral Springs Hotel Gearhart Park—E. J. Fairhurst Long Beach—Louis Cohen Nahcotta—J. H. Brown Newport—Geo. Sylvester Ocean Park—D. E. Beecher Rockaway Beach, Or. Wilkins & Bice St. Martins Springs—Mrs. S. Martin Seaside—Clark Stratton Tillamook—Frank E. Stranahl Tokeland, Wash.—John Nohy

RATES ALREADY IN EFFECT.

Advanced class rates from the East, which were twice suspended from going into effect by the Interstate Commerce Commission and were to have been held inoperative until August, suddenly passed into effect on June 15, through an order of the Commission vacating their last order of suspension. News of the change has been received at the office of the transportation committee of the Chamber of Commerce, with advance copies of the supplement of the railroad schedules, from the offices of the railroads in the city. Although the rates are now effective, the Commerce Commission will nevertheless continue its investigations, pending which the first orders of suspension were made.

THE ELKS' RECEPTION COMMITTEE.

Composed of 55 members, including officers, have been drilling at the Armory for the past several months and it is their duty to meet every train that arrives during the Elks' convention. They will wear a beautiful uniform of navy blue cloth, trimmed with soutache, velvet cuffs and gold embroidered epaulettes. The cap is of military style with the word "Elks" in gold. These uniforms were furnished through Lane, Johnson & Turley, Oxford tailors, 13 Seventh street, and members are requested to call and try on same at once.

CLUB FORMED AT STONE.

The Stone Improvement Club was organized Tuesday night at Stone, Clackamas County, with the assistance of L. M. Lepper and C. F. Clark of Portland. J. G. Mumford was elected president and T. E. Brown secretary. Committees on statistics and railway transportation were appointed. The object of the organization is to promote an electric railway from Portland into the district, and the new club endorsed the petition asking the Hill interests to investigate and build this line.

HYDRANT OPENED FINE $50.

The first conviction under the new ordinance making it a misdemeanor to tamper with fire hydrants was obtained yesterday before Judge Taxwell, when C. E. Postage, who conducts a contracting business under his own name, was fined $50. The arrest was made after Patrolman Hunter and Fire Hydrant Inspector Feyersabend had observed one of the contractor's men open a hydrant at Union avenue and Sacramento street.

PORTLAND TEACHERS TO GO EAST.

At the National Educational Association convention to open in Chicago, July 6, teachers in Portland will be represented by Miss Margaret Williamson of the Clinton Kelly school, Miss Harriet Van Amburgh of the Stephens school, and Miss Anna E. Cooley of the Brooklyn school. These delegates also will represent the Oregon Association of the National Grade Teachers' Association during their stay in Chicago.

PRISONER ON GRAVE CHARGE WILL BE TRANSFERRED.

Charles M. Colgett was ordered to be removed to Northern California, charged with beating a man to death through the mail. Colgett addressed a letter from Sacramento, June 6. He was arrested here, and offered a release on $1000 bail. This he failed to procure. He will, in consequence, be removed to San Francisco.

BUSINESS COLLEGE PUPILS TO GRADUATE.

The 25th commencement of Holmes Business College will be held at the White Temple tomorrow evening. Governor West will make the address. An exhibition of speed and blindfold typewriting will be given by the graduates in competition for gold medals. The annual river excursion will be held Saturday evening on the steamer Monarch, leaving Salmon-street dock at 7:45 o'clock.

ENGINEER HITS SWITCHMAN.

W. E. Hazelton, a switchman in the Southern Pacific yards, was severely injured early yesterday when he was struck by a switch engine. His back was wrenched and his abdomen bruised and he may have sustained internal injuries. He was taken to his residence at 523 East 12th street.

PORTLAND FUGITIVE SENTENCE.

For forging a signature to a Postoffice order for $100 Lewis Popovich was recently sentenced to one year on McNeil Island and to a fine of $50 in the Federal Court here. W. B. Griffith, Deputy Marshal, apprehended Popovich in Astoria, June 7. He was taken to Seattle Tuesday for trial.

A NOON DAY TALK.

Will be given today at Pantages Theater on the subject of "Sex and Health," illustrated with stereoscopic views by Dr. D. C. Hale of the University of Washington. This is for men only and there is no charge for admission. The Social Hygiene Society has arranged the meeting.

FLORENCE MEADE CIRCLE MEETS.

The Florence Meade Mission Circle of the Universalist Church will hold its bi-monthly meeting for work Thursday, June 26, at the home of Mrs. G. W. Bridley, 487 Tillamook street. All interested will be welcome.

MODERN COTTAGE, JUST COMPLETED.

at Seaside "By-the-Sea" facing ocean; electric light and running water; price reasonable, terms easy. Gearhart Park Co., 100 1/2 Fourth st. Main 1294, A 7288.

THE HANSEN AND HIS FRIENDS HAVE RECEIVED EVERY ROOM IN HOTEL Gearhart "By-the-Sea" for this week-end. Other guests will be accommodated in the Annex.

MILWAUKEE NAMES DIRECTOR.

The Milwaukee school director at the Milwaukee annual meeting was as follows: I. W. Gracie, 184; C. B. Hanson, 48.

APPLE SHOW PLANS PROPOSED.

The scope of the first annual apple show will be given under the auspices of the business and commercial organizations of Portland next Fall, will be determined today at a meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association Club at 12:15. Every commercial organization that has lent its sanction to the movement will be represented. Since the action of the Retail Merchants' Association in agreeing to assist in the proposed apple show has removed practically all opposition to the movement that ever existed, extensive preliminary preparations have been discussed and at the committee meeting today, all of these plans will be brought up and crystallized into a definite form, after which the committee will begin to work along certain lines in making arrangements for the show.

KNOWNS MAY GO SOON.

Application for an increase in salary to result in the dismissal of Neal Krounse, assistant clerk of the Municipal Court. When the request came before the members of the Council today, the committee was not in session. City Attorney Grant changed to be present. He told the committee that the assistant clerk was not entitled to the increase. "When the assistant clerk was appointed," said Mr. Grant "it was with the understanding that he would help my deputy, Mr. Sullivan. But he has never helped Mr. Sullivan a bit. The subject was tabled until the next session of the committee, when the question will be threshed out."

WOMAN'S SECRETARY.

Members of the Portland committee for the World's Christian Citizenship Congress which is to meet here in 1913, will hold a conference at the Commercial Club today at 12:15 o'clock to discuss plans for state organization, in preparation for the big gathering. J. S. McGraw, of Philadelphia, field secretary for the National Reform Association, and the World's Christian Citizenship Congress, will arrive in Portland in a few weeks and will assist in the state organization work. He will establish permanent headquarters in Portland next January. His visit this summer will extend over more than a month.

WOMAN AND HUSBAND, WHO DIED IN 1881, CLOSELY ASSOCIATED WITH CITY'S GROWTH AND INDUSTRY.

After suffering nearly a month from a nervous breakdown, Mrs. Rachel Louise Hawthorne, widow of the late Dr. J. C. Hawthorne, died at her home at 523 Belmont street last Tuesday night. She was 77 years of age. To the ardent work of Dr. Hawthorne and Mrs. Hawthorne Portland owes much, the former having been one of the leading figures of the early history of the city until his death in 1881, and the latter having advanced the work for many years afterward. Hawthorne avenue was named after Dr. Hawthorne, as was also Hawthorne Lodge of Masons.

MRS. HAWTHORNE DEAD.

PIONEER KNOWN BY NUMEROUS CHARITIES SUCCEMB.

WOMAN AND HUSBAND, WHO DIED IN 1881, CLOSELY ASSOCIATED WITH CITY'S GROWTH AND INDUSTRY.

After suffering nearly a month from a nervous breakdown, Mrs. Rachel Louise Hawthorne, widow of the late Dr. J. C. Hawthorne, died at her home at 523 Belmont street last Tuesday night. She was 77 years of age.

Dr. J. C. Hawthorne, one of the early pioneers of Portland, died at her home at 523 Belmont street last Tuesday night. She was 77 years of age.

To the ardent work of Dr. Hawthorne and Mrs. Hawthorne Portland owes much, the former having been one of the leading figures of the early history of the city until his death in 1881, and the latter having advanced the work for many years afterward.

Hawthorne avenue was named after Dr. Hawthorne, as was also Hawthorne Lodge of Masons.

Mrs. Hawthorne was born in 1835 and came from her home in the East to California during the gold excitement of 1849. It was there that she met and married Dr. Hawthorne. They came to Oregon after 15 years, arriving here in 1865. Dr. Hawthorne was the first superintendent of the Oregon Asylum for the Insane, holding the position for many years. He later built up a good medical practice and became interested in a number of real estate and building enterprises, in which he laid the foundation for later fortune. At his death he left a large estate.

Mrs. Hawthorne took up the various business enterprises of her husband at his death and managed them successfully for many years. She was a member of St. David's Episcopal Church and was a large contributor to charity.

Two daughters survive Mrs. Hawthorne. They are Mrs. Whitney L. Boise and Mrs. M. O. Collins. Grandchildren of the deceased are Donald Hawthorne Beck and Catherine Beck. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Hawthorne home, 523 Belmont street. Interment will be in Lone Fir cemetery, beside her husband.

Police believe too many automobiles owners displaying "license applied for" signs, instead of the regular license tags, are abusing the confidence of the police, and Chief Slover has issued an order requiring the registration of all such machines with the police. He also has ordered his officers to warn the owners that if they do not secure tags within a reasonable time they will be arrested.

Early in the year Chief Slover, responding to frequent requests, granted permission to buyers of new machines to operate them on the streets until the "license applied for" signs until they could obtain the regular tags. Since that time these machines have gradually increased, and some of the cars have been operated for months under those conditions.

"I am informed by the Secretary of State that it requires but three days to obtain a tag," says Chief Slover. "I propose to prosecute those who abuse the privilege granted them."

Mayor Votoes Ordinance Freeing Alleged Wife-Beater.

Mayor Ruslight yesterday vetoed an ordinance granting to Ned Stevenson a pardon. He sent to the City Council a message in which he pointed out that the prisoner, as nearly as he could learn, deserved the sentence he received in Municipal Court.

Stevenson was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and to serve a sentence of 90 days in jail for assaulting his wife while in a drunken condition. Mrs. Stevenson, as well as others, appealed to the Council for a pardon on the ground that it was his first offense. The Council voted for the pardon on that showing.

Everton Succeeds Benbow.

Fred L. Everton has been named as Assistant City Attorney to succeed W. C. Benbow, who resigned last week. Mr. Everton has been with the law firm of Pines & Huston.

J. Polivka & Co., tailors, 296 Corbett bldg., have a reputation for high-grade dressmaking and alterations. Suits, fancy vestings, tuxedos a specialty. Prices materially reduced.

STRAY COW CAUSES MAN'S DEATH.

While attempting to round up a stray cow yesterday, Louis E. Merchant, a rancher, fell off his horse in a slough and was killed. The horse was found later, feeding near the slough. The accident happened on Sauvie Island, where Merchant had a farm. LARGEST JAP FUNERAL HELD.—The funeral of a young Japanese woman, held from the Buddhist Temple, on Tenth street, yesterday, was the largest Japanese funeral ever held in the city. The woman, Chika Kakikawa, was 21 years old and had only recently come from Japan, where she married a wet-suit Japanese business man. She died Monday at St. Vincent's Hospital.

AUTO CLUB'S OPENING DAY CHANGED.

The final opening of the Portland Automobile Club's new home which was scheduled for tonight has been changed to next Saturday evening. The change in dates is due to the lack of help in getting the new buildings and ground in shape.

"BISMARCK'S STATEMANSHIP," a lecture by Dr. Reinhold Thom, of Columbia University, New York, at the Turn Hall, Fourth and Yamhill streets, at 8 o'clock. Admission, 25 cents.

TILT CAUSED BY ARREST.

Witness in White Slavery Case Is Wanted by Federal Authorities.

A scene was created in front of the police station yesterday just after court had adjourned, when Police Sergeant Harms attempted to arrest May Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

Cason denounced the action as an outrage, and refused to let his client be arrested. Judge Taxwell was walking up the street in the opposite direction, and was appealed to by the attorney, but he advised him to place the matter before him while court was in session. Then appeal was made to Chief Slover.

Sergeant Harms explained that the Federal authorities were anxious to get the girl as a witness in a white slave charge. Upon confirmation of this by Spencer, who has just been discharged in the Police Court, and who was departing in company with her attorney, Boon Cason.

</