

GOOD FEELING IN AIR AT BALTIMORE

Ovation to Bryan at Train Significant.

NEBRASKAN'S POWER KNOWN

His Fight on Parker Is to Have Radical Named.

COMBINATION CLARK HOPE

Speaker Thinks He Has Chance to Obtain Support of Gaylor, Harmon, Marshall and Underwood Before Convention Ends.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 23.—(Editorial Correspondence.)—Coming from the tense and electric atmosphere of Chicago, Baltimore appears as calm and polite as a Summer day at Chautauqua. At Chicago were displayed everywhere the bitter word and the shaking fist. Here the old-fashioned art of buttonholing and wire-pulling is being carried on in regulation style. It is the National convention or fathers instituted, and their sons hoped to perpetuate. Pictures of candidates, mottoes of delegates, streamers, flags, bunting.

Lobbies Reflect Harmony.

It is good to taste the lobby's smoke and smell the lobby's breath without the feeling that whatever happens there will be saved strictly according to the rules.

I came to Baltimore on the same train with Bryan, but not from design, so far as I am concerned. Nothing much happened on the trip, but at the station here a mighty throng had assembled to greet Bryan. It was a reception hardly to be compared with Chicago, eight days ago, and the sequel may be different, quite different. The incident was significant of the renewed interest in Bryan. None of the candidates for President found at the railroad station here a waiting multitude, none other was hailed as the next President. The crowd believes that Bryan will be nominated and that this time he will win.

Bryan Assumes Dictatorship.

Bryan may not have come as a conqueror, but he came as the only authentic dictator of the Democracy. He coolly accepts his position as the great Democratic voice and acts upon it. This time he issues his fiat that Parker shall not be temporary chairman of the convention, and there is a hasty scurrying around among the delegates to assure Mr. Bryan that naming a chairman displeasing to him is far, far from anybody's mind.

The Eastern Democratic papers rebuke Bryan severely for precipitating a row at the beginning and say that harmony is above all things to be desired now, and the way to get it is for Bryan to accept Parker. But the only way they will get it is to withdraw from the convention, and they probably do unless Bryan backs down over night.

Bryan Ultra-Radical.

He is a sound politician, and he looks upon Parker, and so does the great body of Democrats, as a Democratic Root. He is a great co-operative lawyer and represents Wall street and all the odious things Wall street stands for in Democratic prejudice. Bryan believes that the only course of Democracy, in the present crisis, is an extreme radicalism, and he is going to make that clear and emphatic from the outset.

Bryan proposes to have a radical nominated as the antithesis of Taft on the one hand and an offset to Roosevelt on the other. He knows that Wilson is a radical or progressive, with certain chronic mental reservations, and Clark a progressive with his fingers crossed. But he is also both, or either, or perhaps none. As a delegate from Nebraska, he is instructed for Clark, but as the apostle of Democracy he is giving aid and comfort to Wilson. Why? Because Wilson is the second, not the leading candidate, and is face to face with the united forces of four or more candidates who are operating under a gentleman's agreement to beat Wilson and ultimately Bryan, too.

Clark Hopes for Combination.

Clark hopes, and probably expects, to be the residuary legate of Gaylor, Harmon, Marshall and Underwood. If he does, he will be nominated. But the real conservative undercurrent here is for Underwood, not Clark. He is a stronger and abler man than Clark and he has the powerful and enthusiastic support or sympathy of Southern states that give Democratic majorities and no longer worship the Bryan fetish. Wilson's real dependence is

BY SAMUEL G. BLYTHE. (Copyright, 1912, by Samuel G. Blythe.) BALTIMORE, Md., June 23.—(Special.)—The only sure thing about this convention is that there is to be a fight. In its broadest terms, that fight will be a fight of the same sort Chicago saw, a fight between radicalism or progressivism on one hand and conservatism on the other.

WOMAN LEADS SOCIALISTS

Anna Alley, of Everett, Nominated for Washington Governor.

EVERETT, June 23.—Miss Anna Alley, Socialist lecturer and writer of Everett, will head the Socialist state ticket in Washington, the count of the referendum vote giving her the nomination for Governor over Richard Winsor of Seattle by a majority of 400. TAFT ATTENDS SERVICES

President After Beverly Trip Will Return July 8 to Plan Campaign.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—President Taft went to church this morning and spent the rest of the day reading and replying to the deluge of messages congratulating him upon his nomination. The President slept late, for he had been up late last night, reading the convention bulletins. He had to hurry for church and missed his usual morning exercises.

The home circle at the White House will be broken July 3 and the President will take his family to Beverly, Mr. Taft will return to Washington July 8. With his political advisers he will begin then to map out his campaign, and there seems little doubt that he will make an extensive speaking trip.

JOHNSON TO FORM NEW PARTY PLANS

Californian to Appoint Seven Leaders.

CHICAGO, June 23.—The Progressive party, born last night, was dedicated today. In the presence of perhaps 500, some of them recognized leaders of the movement, others merely onlookers, the first formal step was taken. Governor Johnson, of California, was empowered to appoint a committee of seven to confer with Colonel Roosevelt and formulate a plan of action.

HADLEY LEAVES SILENTLY

Roosevelt Appears With Bandana in Hand, Mrs. Longworth Wears One in Hat—Many Leaders Give No Hint Yet of Support.

In the opinion of the leaders, the new party enters the field with a formidable equipment at the outset. These leaders, however, said that as to the men who took a conspicuous part in the campaign for Colonel Roosevelt's nomination, each must speak for himself. The attitude of Governor Hadley, of Missouri, was the chief point of discussion along this line. The Governor left town without waiting to declare himself.

PROGRAMME NOT DECIDED.

No definite idea of the plan to be followed could be obtained, and it was said several weeks might elapse before the programme is decided upon. Governor Johnson in the meantime will act as field marshal and, in co-operation with Colonel Roosevelt, will decide upon the membership of the committees of seven to guide the work of organization.

COLONEL ROOSEVELT WILL RETURN TO OYSTER BAY TOMORROW AND GOVERNOR JOHNSON WILL RETURN AT ONCE TO CALIFORNIA.

Today's meeting was under the direction of the most prominent Roosevelt supporters who had not left town. Seated at a table with Governor Johnson were James R. Garfield, Gifford Pinchot, Governor Stubbs, of Kansas; Medill McCormick, of Chicago, and Senator Clapp, of Minnesota.

"STEAM-ROLLED" DELEGATES PRESENT.

Scattered through the hall were a large number of Roosevelt delegates to the Republican convention, as well as some of the "steam-rolled" delegates to whom seats had been refused. It was impossible to ascertain how large a proportion of the full Roosevelt strength at the convention was represented, although it was said that nearly every state which sent Roosevelt delegates to Chicago had its share of men there.

COLONEL WEARS BANDANA.

Colonel Roosevelt gave his sanction to the "battle flag" by appearing last night with one in his hand, which he waved to the crowd on the street. His daughter, Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, wore a bandana on her hat.

"I am not acting as the leader of this new movement," said Governor Johnson, when the meeting had been called to order. "The active leader must be a man from a more accessible state than California. I am merely acting as chairman of this meeting, at which we are to begin on the road which leads to political freedom."

Judge Lindsay, a Democrat of Denver, said: "Surely there can be no more solemn occasion than this. We are beginning on Sunday a great new movement. I believe we should begin it by asking the guidance of him for whom we are here."
