Krasner has been known as the administration stool-pigeon and from his recent treatment at the hands of the administration is said to have suspected an attempt to discard him. Since his release from jall Krasner, it is said, has been especially active in assembling information which, at this time, report has it, would be very welcome to the District Attorney's office to the extent at least that that information has to do with actual conditions morally in Portland. It is admitted that the appearance of Krasner before the grand jury, which is due at any time, offers opportunities for developments of an interesting character.

When before the Grand Jury yesterday, Mayor Rushlight asked it to make a full and thorough investigation of not only the bribery charges brought by the District Attorney's office, but the persistent graft rumors, as well.

He has virtually absandoned his own investigation, which was started two weeks ago by the calling of the members of the May Grand Jury hefore the police committee and the taking of testimony from a number of policemen. He has turned everything over to the Grand Jury, although, he said, he may call a meeting at some future time, when some further testimony may be taken.

Statistics Are Gathered.

wanted to know how he would be able to have the indictment against him dismissed without the formality of a trial," said Deputy District Attorney Hennessy, yesterday, "He also in-The Mayor said that the police de-partment officials are tabulating some statistics, but that it is a slow pro-cess, and that he decided it was best, Hennessy, yesterday, "He also in-quired what sort of a man Collier was. I advised him to see both Collier and Captain Baty regarding his indictment. At no time did Reed mention the sub-ject of money when he was talking to me. I thought I detected something cess, and that he decided has been anyway, for the Grand Jury to probe conditions. He intimated that he may call a meeting of the police committee for the purpose of giving District Attorney Cameron, Municipal Judge Tazrell and certain others an opportunity well and certain others an opportunity of explaining some of the testimony of policemen, taken recently, and reflecting on those officials.

"There is something rotten in that North End" said the Mayor when he reached the City Hall from the Grand Jury room. "So far as I am concerned. I have no fears as to being indicted. I told the Grand Jury all about the case and asked the members to investigate not only this, but rumors of graft in other directions."

Chief of Police Slover has not been before the grand jury. Rather, he has manifested a disinclination to go before that body, reported District Attorney Cameron yesterday. He said which he was ashamed,

"I would do the same thing again," commented Chief Slover. "I took no action until after Reed had furnished me with an affidavit setting forth that Deputy District Attorneys Hennessy and Collier had agreed to accept $400 dismiss the indictment pending against Maddux and Reed for extor-

In this particular, however, Read does not agree with Chief Slover, Read said yesterday that the affidavit he made before Waldemar Seton and made before waterned over to Slover was not executed and signed by him until after Slover had called Reed into police headquarters and asked him if he "get" the District Attorney's

In his affidavit Reed said he first called on Deputy District Attorney Hennessy, following his conversation with Chief Slover, and inquired the chances of having the indictment dischances of having the indictment dis-missed against him without a trial. Hennessy, according to the affidavit, directed Reed to consult with District Attorney Cameren, which Reed says he did. This interview with Cameron was never held by Reed, according to the District Attorney, who yesterday denied that portion of Reed's sworn statement. Reed declared in his affi-dayt that at a second conference Henstatement. Reed declared in his affi-davit that at a second conference Hen-nessy agreed to accept $400 and forth-with dismiss the indictment against him and Maddux. These facts were later reported by Reed to Chief Slover. "I have been double-crossed so many times that I scarcely know where I am at," said Maddux yesterday, "and I guess I have been scored against once more."

with this introduction, Maddux made a complete statement of the part he played as a confederate of Reed, both being confessed tools of the administration in its efforts to bribe deputies in the District Attorney's office and "get them with the goods on."

Maddux Reveals Plot.

Maddux Reveals Plot. Maddux Reveals Plot.

'I think it was two weeks ago tomorrow," said Maddux, "that I attended a conference in a room in the Gilbert House on Salmon street, at which were present Chief Slover, Captain Baty, Reed and myself. It was then that I was first made acquainted with the plan to 'get' the District Attorney's office by offering a bribe. The day before, however, Reed had told me that he had had a talk with Chief Slover, and, with me, had been assigned to a job which, if we succeeded in pulling off, would mean that both he and I would be reinstated in the detective department. The $400 was not produced would be reinstated in the detective department. The $400 was not produced at this meeting, but we were told that it would be furnished in a day or two. "It was not until the following Saturday, one week ago last Saturday, that the money was actually produced. Between 12 and 1 o'clock that afternoon I was standing near the Board of Trade building, when Mayor Rushlight drove up in his automobile and, leaving the machine, hastened into the Lewis building. Later in the day Chief Slover called at detective headquarters and deposited 20 $20 bills."

Collier Bluffa Maddux. Maddux told of calling on Collier twice before he suggested being able to give him "some money" to dismiss the indictment against him, and was "bluffed out when Collier gave me a # heart-to-heart talk, and in fact talked me clear out of the office. I did not have the crust to make another effort to 'get' Collier, so far as the interview game was concerned, and turned that part of the deal over to Reed." Continuing, Maddux related how he and Reed made repeated efforts to slip the marked bills into the pocket of Hennessy or Collier at various times when Detectives Smith and Hammersly were conveniently "planted" and ready at a signal from him to arrest either of the deputies with the money in their possession. "But we never had the opportunity; neither would permit us to approach him in any semi-public place. Our instructions were to turn the money over to either Hennessy or Collier at any place but in the District Attorney's office. "We had the money schuelly in our We've Got to Sell Them

No matter what claims may be made elsewhere, no matter how plausible the story of roundabout dealers or branch-house employes may sound, remember one cannot expect to hear of the good qualities of our planos from people who so desperately have to try to compete with Eilers Music House.

Bear in mind that at Eilers Music House you are sure of:

First, highest quality, no matter what dealer, little or big may say about dealer, little or big may say about "best in the world," etc., etc., the best is positively at Ellers, others take representation for what is left.

Second, lowest possible price, not highfalutin talk to cover up efforts to secure an exorbitant and altogether unnecessary high price, but straightfor-ward, businesslike presentation of facts. Third, courteous and painstaking treatment. No transaction at Ellers Music House is right that does not mean satisfaction to the buyer.

Let's Take Away the Old One. We have accepted in part payment for some of the fine new planos in this sale quite a number of old-style planos and are ready to accept still Player planes go for greatly reduced prices now. Nowhere in our establishment is the principle of little profitper-plane selling, which has made the Ellers Music House the foremost in the Nation, more apparent than in our player plane selling. It has taken real effort to accomplish it, but we are now in position to state that our player planes are no longer subject to price dictation by arbitrary high price fixers East. We can sell them tow at fair prices, embodying one factory profit and only a small one by Ellers Music House. Free music roll service is also included in the reduced prices.

There are over 30 different makes and styles of finest player planes to choose from. Space forbids mention in detail.

Suffice to say that $575 styles be had for $444; $700 styles at $535; $900 styles at $675; and the fanciest $1025 and $1100 instruments are now only and $1100 instruments are now only $815 and $875, respectively.

Baby Grands show still greater relative reduction.

We are particularly anxious to close out the remaining very fine genuine Weber grand planos. The small size is reduced $229, and the very fancy art styles go for $282 and $309 less than usual retail value. See them. These Webers were made according to the old Weber principles containing the famous "wonderful Weber tone"—which cannot
