LOS ANGELES, June 27.—(Special.)—The Angels took another game from Portland today, but it required the exercise of brilliant fielding talent to bring about that result. Koestner pitched for Portland and Leverenz was the finger put in by Dillon to deceive the Beaver batsmen. Both were hit freely and the boys in the garden had lots of exercise.

The Portlanders came up and tied the score twice during the game, but at no time did they achieve advantage of a lead.

In the last half of the second Heitmuller was retired and Koestner lost the advantage gained by walking Dillon. Metzger filed out to Krueger and was followed by Lober, who doubled to right, scoring Dillon. Brooks singled infield and Lober was out trying to reach home.

Triple by Rapps Counts.

In the fourth Mahoney filed to Heitmuller and Rodgers came up to first with an infield single and Rapps put a triple to the right field fence, scoring Rodgers. Lindsay popped to Dillon and Howley tried to beat the ball to first when he hit a light grounder to infield.

Los Angeles, represented by Daley, failed to negotiate a hit and Heitmuller doubled to the left center field fence. Dillon went out on an insufficient tap, but it advanced Heitmuller to third. Metzger singled to left, scoring Heitmuller.

Lober forced Metzger at second.

In the fifth Bancroft was spiked trying to get Howard at second, and had to be taken out of the game. He was replaced by Butler.

Two Beavers Caught at Plate.

In the sixth the Beavers again tied the score, starting the fireworks with Krueger doubling to the scoreboard. Mahoney sacrificed and Krueger went to third. Rodgers walked and Rapps singled to left, scoring Krueger, Rodgers going to second. Lindsay singled through second and Rodgers was caught at the plate. Rapps attempted to steal home and was caught at the plate. This ended the fun as far as the visitors were concerned.

Four runs were scored by Los Angeles in the seventh. Brooks singled and Page, who was running for him, was forced at second by Leverenz. Howard doubled to center and Leverenz went to third. Berger hit to Butler, who threw wild to home, Howard and Leverenz scoring.

Berger went to second on the throw-in. Daley fanned and Koestner deliberately walked Heitmuller. Dillon then doubled to center, scoring Berger and Heitmuller. Butler and Rapps disposed of Metzger and the agony was over. Score:

SAILBOATS TO RACE JULY 4

Oregon Yacht Club Boats to Contest for Barbare Trophy.

The Oregon Yacht Club is making arrangements for a big sailboat race here this Summer, to be held on the river above the Hawthorne bridge July 4.

The race committee, consisting of H. C. Hastorf, T. J. Mendenhall and Frank O. Creasy, has not completed all arrangements for the day, but Class A, Class B and free-for-all races are scheduled.

The Barbare trophy cup race will be a feature. This cup must be won three times in a season to become the property of any man for the Winter. Frank O. Creasy was the winner of the cup last year, but there are new and fast boats on the course this year and the trophy may change hands.

One of the boats on which all eyes are centered is T. J. Mendenhall's Virginia, the much-heralded cruiser built by Gus Amundson, of White Bear Lake, Minn. This new boat reached Portland last Monday. It is a Class B boat, 30 feet long and having under 500 square feet of sail.

CLASS A RATING SOUGHT

DUGDALE TO HEAD FIGHT FOR NORTHWESTERN LEAGUE.

Seattle Owner Says Leard Will Go to Fast Company—He Expects to Send Four More to Majors.

An A rating for the Northwestern League of 1913 is the slogan of D. E. Dugdale, owner of the Seattle Baseball Club. "Dug" is determined that the circuit shall have a higher classification and says that an effort will be made by the forces of the Northwestern and New York State Leagues at the National Association meeting this Fall to secure favorable legislation for the two leagues.

"We will have one of the best leagues in the country if we can secure an A classification, thus insuring the presence of players for more than one season and giving the fans and owners a square deal," declares Dugdale.

"Our population is close to 1,000,000, is larger than that of the Southern and Western Leagues, and if those organizations are to be favored, why not the Northwestern?

"We are far away from the baseball centers out here and are in need of favorable legislation. Under the present order of things, the majors can draft all of our players if they wish and our only recourse is to sell the players before the drafting season opens and then center our efforts on picking up more youngsters to be turned over to the 'higher-ups.'

"Fielder Jones is with us in the fight and will undoubtedly prove a strong factor in securing the legitimate concessions.

"I am in favor of a rule prohibiting a draft until a man has been three years in a league. This will give us a chance to give the fans a better brand of ball and at the same time turn out more finished players."

Dugdale expects to lose at least four men this season, in addition to James and Whaling, sold to Boston. He figures Mann, Moran, Chick, Strait and possibly Fullerton will not survive the draft or sale period.

He figures that if he had Bill Leard, Oakland second-sacker, this season, he would be from six to ten games ahead of any club in the league. He was so anxious to retain Leard that he offered Wolverton $1200, $600 more than the draft price, if he would hold off for another season. "Dug" spent $1000 on Hosea Siner and then was forced to let him go on account of illness.

* * *

It has leaked out that Dugdale is to get three players from Boston in the James-Whaling deal. Next Spring an infielder, a catcher and a pitcher will be turned over to Seattle from the Boston training camp. The Seattle owner had a chance to get more money for the duo, but decided to take the players instead.

"Dutch" Altman and Watt Powell, ex-Seals, bound for Spokane, have passed through Portland on their way north. Both are glad to get away from the uncertainties of life in San Francisco uniforms.

BY JAMES H. CASSELL.

The phenomenal winning streak of the Portland Colts, the record for the 1912 Northwestern League, was brought to a sudden halt by the revenge-seeking Potlatch Bugs yesterday afternoon, the invaders defeating the Colts, 6 to 1, and yanking them unceremoniously from first place.

The Colts are poor mudders. This fact was clearly demonstrated to the few fans who braved a possible postponement to be in at the winning of the ninth straight game. Southpaw Thompson was far superior to Frank Eastley, but had the twirlers hurled to a tie the better play of the Dugdale cohorts on the mud-encased field would have proved sufficient to win.

Thompson held the hard-hitting Equines to five hits, while his support was everything that could be desired in the few tight places. Eastley was clouted safely 10 times, but three of the runs resulted from errors, and his own inefficiency was responsible for the others.

Five Runs Scored on Two Hits.

Of the 10 Bug hits only two were scored in the innings which resulted in five runs. In the opener Kibble lost his footing and pegged wide to first, Raymond going to second, from where he scored on Chick's single. Then, in the seventh, which shows only one hit against four runs, Eastley walked two men, used bad judgment on handling two sacrifice bunts, forced a run across the plate, and, with Speas, contributed errors which scored two others.

Eastley had trouble finding a solid footing in the sawdust around the pitcher's box in the third inning, when he hit Shaw. In the fourth he hit Moran and followed this by hooking a curve against Mann's jaw, putting the centerfielder out of the game. More sawdust was brought into play and he escaped until the seventh, when he opened by walking Whaling. Thompson bunted and Eastley tried to force Whaling at second, but both men were safe. Shaw's bunt was hurled to third a second too late and the bases were full. Raymond filed out to short right, but Strait was walked, forcing Whaling across the plate. Chick forced Strait at second, but Thompson scored. Chick then stole second, Eastley tossing the ball to centerfield, and took third while Shaw scored. Then Speas tossed a bad one to Kibble at third and Chick crossed the plate.

Colts Score on Two Doubles.

The Colts scored their lone run in the seventh, Moore doubling to center, taking third on Chick's error on the throw-in, and scoring on Kibble's double to the same spot. They had other chances to score, but two men were forced in the first inning, and a double play cut off a prospective run in the third.

The Bugs made the total six by sending Shaw around the bags in the ninth, three singles contributing towards the result. Shaw was safe at first when Van Haltren failed to see him go out when Williams tossed the ball to Eastley just ahead of the runner.

Notes of the Game.

The mud was particularly bad around second base. McDowell made one nice stop of a grounder, but flattened out on the slippery clay like a pancake.

While Eastley had poor control, he had speed galore and had the Bugs jumping away from the plate.

The Bugs pulled off a double steal, Shaw taking third and Strait second in the ninth inning, but had one broken up when Moore pegged to second to nip Chick, Strait being held at third.

Fullerton will probably work for Seattle today, while Veazey will oppose him for the Colts.

Chick made the only two Seattle errors, but they did not prove costly.

In the first inning the Colts had men on first and second, with none out, but failed to score, Speas being forced at third and Cruikshank at second.

The Colts pulled off two double plays, Eastley to Coltrin to Williams. The Bugs got away with one, running down Speas and Fries in the third.

POLO GAME IS POSTPONED

Members of Hunt Club Are Watching Weather Map.

Members of the Portland Hunt Club are watching the weather map. If it is clear today and Saturday morning the racetrack will be in splendid condition for the annual race meet of the club.

The polo game, which was to have been played between the Waverly Polo Club of this city and the polo team from Vancouver Barracks, has been postponed because rain delayed work on the field.

There are seven racing events on the programme. Of greatest interest is the mile steeplechase, the first real event of the sort ever held in this city. There will be 10 or 12 starters in this event. The course will be across-country, with the finish on the track directly in front of the grandstand. The entire course may be watched from the grandstand, and the spectators will have an unobstructed view of the horses as they leap the obstructions.

Eight of the heavyweight members of the club have entered for the fat men's race. There will be a quarter-mile dash, in which the juniors and their ponies will participate; a five-eighths-mile dash for running horses and a quarter-mile dash for polo ponies.
