This programme will be in charge of Clarence Sprague. The opening number will be a cracker-eating contest by ten boys. The athletic programme includes gymnastics, pyramids, Indian club drill, apparatus exhibition, illuminated club swinging by young women and fancy club swinging by Clarence Sprague.

PREPARING FOR ANOTHER BLAST.

Preparations are being made at Kelly Butte for another big blast, the rocks from the last big blast having been nearly exhausted. This time the ground on top of the Butte will be blasted off. It is now being cleared of soil and trees preparatory. The dirt will be removed so it will not be mixed with the rock. Trees and stumps are being cleared. Enough rock will be dolged by this blast to run the crusher for several months.

NEW MILK ORDINANCE PROPOSED.

The proposed new milk ordinance, which is passed by the City Council will put a number of new restrictions on the class of milk that can be sold in Portland, will be considered this morning at a meeting of the Health Board. The proposed ordinance has been drafted by E. C. Calloway, city milk chemist, and probably will meet opposition from the dairy interests.

ANNUAL CAMPMEETING JULY 11-22.

The annual campmeeting of the Oregon Holiness Association will be held on the camping ground at Tremont on the Mount Scott railway, July 11-22, inclusive. Revs. E. F. Walker, Harry Hayes, James and Stella Crooks, the latter of Seattle, will be in attendance. BURIED BY THE OREGONIAN. The funeral services of Ambrose S. Cummings, who died June 28, were held yesterday afternoon under the auspices of Orient Lodge No. 17, I. O. O. F., and the interment was made in Woodlawn Cemetery. Mr. Cummings was 76 years of age and an old resident of the city.

STREET WIDENING PROJECT UP.

Under direction of the Greater Portland Plans Association, all the owners of property on Burnside street, both on the East and West sides, will be seen by a committee and their views ascertained as to the widening of Burnside street to 100 feet. C. B. Merrick, president of the association, announced at the meeting Thursday night in the East Side Branch Library that the widening of Burnside street will be the next undertaking of the association, and asked for remarks. Dr. Andrew C. Smith was the only property-owner present and he said that he should never oppose any movement for the widening of any street and that he stood ready to do his part. Mr. Merrick said that, according to the Greater Portland plans, the street would be widened by taking 40 feet from the south side on the West Side and 40 feet from the north side on the East Side.

MUSIC FESTIVAL DEFICIT AIDED.

In response to an appeal by Albert Ehrhart, manager of the Rose Music Festival, to local churches and Sunday schools, he has received a response from the Pilgrim Congregational Sunday school through the pastor of the church, Lindsay Campbell. The Dais Club, composed of girls from 3 to 13 years old, has also contributed to wipe out the deficit of $1280. While these contributions are no large, they are appreciated by the manager of the festival. The Dais Club's contribution was $473—the result of a party the girls gave in South Sunnyside. The pastor of Pilgrim Congregational Church gave $2 and the Sunday school $3. "I am going on a vacation Monday, so I will spend $2 less, and sent it to you," says Mr. Campbell.

FORESTERS' PICNIC AT OAKS.

Three lodges of the Independent Order of Foresters joined yesterday afternoon and evening in their annual picnic at the Oaks. The picnic was held at the Oaks, Camp No. 1247, Rose City No. 159 and Elk Rock No. 4567 were hosts to more than 2000 persons, members of the various Forester lodges in the city and their friends. A feature of the afternoon was the great Forester family spread, in which all joined, while during the evening the time was spent with dancing and other amusements. Games and races were arranged for the enjoyment of the Foresters during the afternoon. The arrangements for the picnic were made by the three lodges with T. S. Alexander, special day agent at the Oaks.

STRANGER DIES PECULIAR DEATH.

Charles Ross, a laborer, who is supposed to have lived in Portland off and on for some years, was picked up in the railroad yards by the police yesterday morning in a fainting condition, and, despite the attention of City Physician Ziegler, died at St. Vincent's hospital at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. When Ross was found he was complaining of his stomach, and when the police reached him he had fainted. It is believed that Dr. Ziegler's death was caused by a cancer or tuberculosis. Ross had no money and it was thought at first that he might have fainted from starvation. On examination this was proven to be untrue. He has no relatives or friends who can be reached.

VIADUCT COMMITTEE TO MEET.

The viaduct committee from the Rose City Park Improvement League, of which Floyd J. Campbell is chairman, will meet with the officials of the O-W. R. & N. tomorrow afternoon at the City Hall to settle a matter of construction with the Mayor. Mr. Campbell said yesterday that the plan of the viaduct has been accepted. It will be reinforced concrete and the width of the street and ornamental. The railway will be lowered. The viaduct will carry practically the Sandy boulevard, East Thirty-seventh street and the Bar Road. The improvement of Sandy boulevard makes it necessary that work should start on the viaduct as soon as possible.

OFFICERS TO BE INSTALLED.

Officers to be installed. Oregon Rebekah Lodge No. 176 will hold the annual installation of officers tonight at 8 o'clock in the Oddfellows' temple, Williams avenue and Skidmore street. The ceremonies will be conducted by District Deputy Grand Mrs. Sophia B. Seip, assisted by Deputy Grand Marshal Elias Rooder and installing staff who exemplified the work of the grand lodge at Pendleton. The following officers will be installed: Noble grand, Mrs. Anna Hofman; vice-grand, Mrs. Emilie de Bahr; recording secretary, Mrs. Minnie Phillips; financial secretary, John P. Phillips, and 11 appointive officers.

MAY IMPROVE EAST FORTY-SECOND STREET.

The Holgate Street Improvement Association has undertaken to get East Forty-second and East Forty-first streets joined at Holgate street and improved from Powell Valley road. The two streets at present are county roads and are within about 100 feet of each other at Holgate street, where they end. The plan is to connect them at Holgate, make a single street between Powell Valley road and Woodstock avenue and have the single street improved. The plan is to connect them at Holgate, make a single street between Powell Valley road and Woodstock avenue and have the single street improved. The plan is to connect them at Holgate, make a single street between Powell Valley road and Woodstock avenue and have the single street improved.

ROMANCE CAME INTO FULL FLOWER

yesterday afternoon, when the Baker Stock Company opened in "Beverly of Graustark," a dramatization of George Barr McCutcheon's novel of that title. Some of the qualities that made the story so popular are to be found in this four-act play. It belongs to the class of dramas of which "The Prisoner of Zenda" is the perfect type. Graustark is one of those imaginary kingdoms that lies somewhere near the frontier of Zenda land and experienced many of the same political and sentimental upheavals. Beverly Calhoun, a beautiful girl, from Washington, D. C., is traveling through Graustark, on her way to Bayreuth, when her carriage is held up by brigands and she and her maid are taken to the camp.

Judge Releases Prisoners.

In a raid on a house at 328 East Thirty-fourth street, early yesterday morning, by Patrolmen Long and Martin, acting under direct orders from Mayor Rusklight, to whom residents of the neighborhood appealed, seven persons were arrested, among them Lillian Fredericks, 5 years of age, the ward of the Juvenile Court. Ellen Purser, an elderly woman, is charged with contributing to the delinquency of the girl. George and Winnie Brand, 23 and 19, respectively, are charged with conducting the place. John Rossi and Ruby Gillette, 18, are in custody and Rossi is charged with being a warrant on account of the nature of the
