

POLICE HAVE NAMES OF SEVEN SUSPECTS

Gambler Is Threatened Day Before Murder.

OWNER OF AUTO ARRESTED

Man Held in Jail Said to Have Made Confession.

ROSENTHAL'S FEAR POLICE

District Attorney Says Victim Was About to Give Further Testimony Concerning Collusion Between Department and Gamblers.

NEW YORK, July 16.—Through the alleged confession of a man under arrest, the police are believed to have possession of the names of seven men suspected of having participated in the sensational killing today of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, just as he was presumably about to make important additions to his recent disclosures of alleged partnership between police officials and members of the gambling fraternity. Additional arrests are momentarily expected.

According to District Attorney Whitman, Rosenthal was about to name gamblers who could corroborate his assertions regarding police collusion with men of his calling.

Threats Made Openly. That such a raking up in gambling circles was not relished by men who might be involved was apparent, it develops, from talk among members of the "inner circles," in the tenderloin, which began as soon as Rosenthal's purpose became known. Threats were made yesterday, it is said, that things would fare ill for Rosenthal if he pressed his charges.

At Rosenthal does not quit within the next few days we will get him and get him for keeps," was a remark of a member of a poker party at an East Side "Association" party Sunday reported today to District Attorney Whitman by a man who said he overheard it.

Auto Owner Arrested. The police have not named the alleged confessor. Three men were arrested today in connection with the murder of Rosenthal, Louis Libbey, part owner, it is alleged, of the automobile containing the party of men who shot the gambler, was one of the trio.

The police say they are assured he was the driver of the motor car and have charged him with homicide. His partner in ownership of a garage, William Shapiro, is another prisoner held as a material witness. So is a man whose identity the police hide under the name of "John Doe," who was said to have been near the scene of the shooting.

Instead of fearing harm at the hands of the gambling fraternity, Rosenthal's chief dread, it is said, was police enmity because of his charges against a member of the force.

Gambler in Fear of Police. "The police will get me," because they have a system of always putting important witnesses out of the way," Rosenthal is alleged to have said. "Better men than I have been put out of the way for daring to squeal on the police."

Deputy Commissioner Dougherty asserted that eye witnesses to the murder of Rosenthal identified Libbey as one of the quintet who drove up in front of the hotel, and calling the gambler from the lobby to the sidewalk, shot him down with a fusillade of bullets and then fled in the motor car. Rosenthal was shot five times in the head.

Widow Accuses Police. Mrs. Sadie Rosenthal, widow of the gambler, in a declaration to District Attorney Whitman, put the assassination of her husband squarely up to the police. She warned her husband that if he kept an appointment he would come to a violent end. She said she had a premonition a tragedy would follow such a conference, and she named a police officer as one of the men who was to be present.

At least two witnesses agreed that one or more of the men in the automobile were policemen. Rosenthal sprang suddenly into public notice last Friday, when he hurried a bomb into police circles by filing affidavits charging that the police were in league with the gamblers all through New York and that every gambling house was being assessed a fixed sum for police protection.

Rosenthal's Place Closed. Rosenthal has been for some time, he explained, the proprietor of a gambling establishment in West Forty-fifth street, which was closed on April 15, after a raid by Police Lieutenant Becker, head of the so-called "strong arm squad."

This raid, Rosenthal declared, followed a misunderstanding between himself and Becker. Becker, Rosenthal alleged, was his partner in the profits of the establishment.

Specifically, Rosenthal's affidavits charged that Lieutenant Becker had lent him $1500 on a chattel mortgage on furniture in the Forty-fifth street house, as a share in the gambling business done on those premises, and that Becker's share amounted to 25 per cent.

CITY IN NEGLIGENCE WITH HEAT AT 95

"STRAW" BLOSSOM FORTH ON WARMEST DAY OF YEAR.

District Forecaster Announces Today Will Be Fair With Continued Warm Weather.

The heat record for the present year was broken yesterday, when the thermometer in the office of the weather bureau jumped suddenly from 92 to 95 degrees yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock and remained at that point for nearly two hours. The highest point reached before was 93, on the previous day, which was duplicated on the sixth of June.

The maximum reached yesterday was within two degrees of the record of last year, which established 97 degrees as the maximum temperature for July 15 in 33 years.

The district forecaster does not promise much change in the conditions of the weather for today, announcing "continued fair and warm weather."

It was a royal day for the straw hat, and walls of the check-rooms at the Commercial Club during the lunch hour presented a solid armor of straws, with not a single "admirer" or "fett" hat to relieve the unbroken expanse of straw color. Linen and pongee coats and the "ice cream" suits, at which men earlier in the season pointed the finger of scorn, were to be seen on every street.

The parks and playgrounds about the city testified to the popularity of the weather gods, in the increased crowds of those able to steal away from office and work, who sought relief in their shades.

The heat was particularly noticeable because of the rapidity of its increase in the afternoon. Up to 12 o'clock it appeared that the temperature would not reach a higher point than that of the previous day, but after 1 o'clock the mercury went up with a rush, never pausing until it had established a record for the present year.

ELKS STOP GOING HOME

Los Angeles Entertains Visitors and Hears Portland Praised.

LOS ANGELES, July 16.—(Special.)—The Cincinnati herd of Elks were unloaded today from their private cars at the Arcade Station for a gallop to the Los Angeles Elks' Club, where preparations had been made for their arrival. This is the first herd of many which are returning via this city from the grand lodge meeting in Portland.

Herd from New Jersey and Massachusetts will arrive tomorrow in special trains and one from Connecticut will be stopped here in transit for a few days for feed and drink. All those who have returned are enthusiastic over the way they were treated in Portland.

"Portland set a new mark for cities to strive for in entertaining us," said David Merkel, of New York.

APPLE CROP IS 4000 CARS

Wenatchee Will Ship More Than at Any Previous Season.

WENATCHEE, Wash., July 16.—(Special.)—Four thousand carloads of apples will be shipped from Wenatchee Valley this year, representatives of growers' unions said today after a trip through the valley. This is practically twice the crop of 1911 and the largest apple yield in the history of the valley. The increase is due largely to increased acreage.

Wenatchee apples will compete with those from other districts on the California and Canadian markets this season, as well as the East. The Great Northern railway has just announced a reduction from $1.93 a hundred to 45 cents a hundred to California.

HOOK AND LINE SAVES BOY

Angler Catches Lad Instead of Fish and Resuscitates Him.

WENATCHEE, Wash., July 15.—(Special.)—Instead of the fish that had been nibbling at his hook, it was the all but lifeless body of a little boy that M. L. Bolin reeled from the treacherous Columbia river yesterday.

Lester Brown, aged 7, had attempted to swim in the swift current. He had gone under the surface twice and was floundering, when Bolin's line became entangled with his small body, and saved him from a watery grave. The boy is the first ever to have been saved from the river at this particular place, where the current is swift and treacherous. It took an hour to resuscitate the boy. He is a son of George Brown.

BOTH PARTIES RAP STEEL

Committee Is Agreed Big Corporation Shall Be Dissolved.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Although it is assured that the Stanley committee's long investigation of the so-called steel trust will result in at least two reports to Congress—one by the Republicans and the other by the Democrats of the committee—it was disclosed today that both sides will agree to recommendations that the United States Steel Corporation be dissolved and its assets be distributed.

The majority will propose one set of bills to meet the situation disclosed by the investigation and the minority will propose another.

THIRD PARTY MEN IN ILLINOIS BOLT

Conference Marked by Riotous Scenes.

STATE TICKET VOTED DOWN

Deserters Declare Movement Is "One-Man Affair."

DENEEN TO GO ON RECORD

Country Editors Present United Front Against Third Party as Far as State Ticket May Be Concerned.

CHICAGO, July 16.—(Special.)—There will be no "regular" third party state ticket in Illinois.

The Roosevelt National convention will be named and a Roosevelt National committee will be elected at a third party convention held in Chicago August 3. A third party Cook County convention will be held July 27, but that is as far as the men who seem to control the destinies of the third party in this state are willing to go. They do not want to oppose Governor Deneen, and they do not expect to fight the candidates on the Cook County Republican ticket.

A resolution was adopted calling on Governor Deneen and other candidates for state offices to indicate whether they would support Colonel Roosevelt or President Taft. A committee is to wait on Governor Deneen and give his answer to the public on July 23.

The bolt came after a plan for a third party state and county ticket had been defeated by a vote 14 to 11, in a secret conference here today. Five of the 25 men who were expected to sign the call for the third party convention joined it.

Parting Comes in Anger. The walkout was marked by a riotous scene. The men who "walked out" and withdrew their names as sponsors for the third party movement angrily declared it was a "one man affair," and not a sincere effort to form a new party and insure a new political deal.

Those who bolted were Charles E. Merriam, leader of a progressive faction, that only a week ago combined with the Rooseveltians; John Simon, of the Fifth Congressional District, Chicago, and prominent progressive and candidate for assessor at the recent primaries; Julius Kespoli Quincy, of the Fifteenth District, who recently resigned as a member of the State Board.

FATHER SEES BABE RUN TO HER DEATH

MELBA RUDOLPH FALLS UNDER FULTON STREETCAR.

Tot Playing at "Hide-and-Seek" Is Killed Instantly—Mother May Die From Grief.

Running out into the street in front of her home at 132 Nebraska street, Fulton, last night, in a game of "hide and seek" with her father, Maxine Melba Rudolph, 4 years old, was struck and instantly killed by Fulton car No. 341. The motorman did not see her, and her father's shout when he saw the girl would be struck was the motorman's first warning. He stopped the car almost immediately, but the front wheel of the first truck had passed over the little body, killing the girl instantly.

Loretto Schaezgren, of 135 Nebraska street, the woman who nursed Victoria Rudolph, the baby's mother, when Maxine was born, was the first to reach the car, and, crawling under it, took the body from between the wheels and carried it into the house. Carmel Schaezgren, 11 years old, who was playing on the street at the time of the accident, was the only eye-witness. Rudolph's view of the street being shut off by the pile of wood behind which, in sport, he was hiding from the baby.

According to Carmel Schaezgren, the tot darted diagonally across the street from the shelter of the woodpile, and stubbed her toe on the track just as the car bore down upon her. She fell before the fender, which did not stop her from going under the car.

Carmel screamed and the father ran into the road shouting to the motorman: "For God's sake, stop," and rushed to try to drag the baby out from before the front truck. He did not reach it in time.

The car stopped with the body between the two pair of wheels on the front truck, after dragging it 25 feet. Death was almost instantaneous, and the woman who picked up the body and carried it into the house summoned Deputy Coroner Miller.

Fainting twice and refusing to be taken away from the body of the child, Mrs. Rudolph was prostrated. A physician was summoned, and for some time she was supposed to be near death, fainting spells being followed by coma.

TRUST IN FILMS CHARGED

New York Concern Brings Suit to Dissolve Alleged Combination.

NEW YORK, July 16.—Alleging that ten of the biggest film manufacturers had banded together to restrict trade and drive others out of the business, the Greater New York Film Company, headed by William Fox, a theatrical manager, has begun suit in the United States District Court against the combination, charging they are a combination in restraint of trade.

The suit will be heard before a special examiner.

Foraker's Brother Quits Office.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—President Taft sent to the Senate today the nomination of Secundio Romero to be United States Marshal for New Mexico, to succeed Oreginton Foraker, a brother of ex-Senator Joseph B. Foraker. Published reports have declared Foraker resigned for political reasons. The White House today made no explanation.

HANFORD INVENTION SUBJECT OF PROBE

Patent Infringement Causes Litigation.

LAWYER-WITNESS ATTACKED

Son of Seattle Judge Pays for Assailing Testifier.

JUDGE'S SON-IN-LAW TALKS

Manly B. Haynes, Organizer of Hanford Irrigation & Power Company, Gives History of Corporation—Others Testify.

SEATTLE, July 16.—Frank Burpee, of Bellingham, Wash., a manufacturer of salmon canning machinery, testified today before the House judiciary subcommittee that in the latter part of 1902, while a suit against Burpee for infringement of salmon canning patents was pending before Judge C. H. Hanford, witness was given an opportunity to buy a salmon-can topper invented by the Judge.

Witness said he had not seen the invention and felt sure it was of no value, yet he was tempted to enter into negotiations for the reason that he felt it would be to his advantage to do so.

The Alaska Packers' Association, owners of patents on certain salmon canning machinery, had sued witness in Judge Hanford's court, alleging that witness had infringed six patents. The litigation extended over seven months, witness said, and during that time full-sized working machines of both plaintiff and defendant were in the possession of the Judge.

Infringement Is Decision.

Judge Hanford decided that three of the Burpee devices infringed patents of the plaintiff, and on appeal the Circuit Court decided that four patents had been infringed. Nothing remained but the award by Judge Hanford of the amount of damages against the Burpee Company. At this time, Burpee testified that his own counsel, Evan S. McCord, informed him that Judge Hanford, while studying cannery machinery during the trial had hit upon a different way of canning salmon, a method that did not infringe those of plaintiff and defendant.

Judge Hanford wished to see Burpee about the invention, witness testified McCord told him. Witness testified that he agreed to a meeting, and McCord promised to arrange it. Later, witness said, McCord talked with him about the invention, and reading from a paper which seemed to come from

FOREIGN TRADE FOR YEAR IS BIG

EXPORTS AND IMPORTS ESTABLISH NEW RECORDS.

Excess of Outgoing Over Incoming Business Noteworthy—Free Entries Run High.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Foreign commerce of the United States for the fiscal year 1912 was greater than ever before, new high records being established for both imports and exports. The value of merchandise entering free of duty also reached an unprecedented total.

The year's trade figures, made public today by the Commerce and Labor Department's Bureau of Statistics, show that the imports were $1,653,436,174 and the exports $2,204,222,688 in value. Imports exceeded the former high record, that of 1910, by about $100,000,000, while exports exceeded the 1911 record by nearly $150,000,000.

These totals added to the value of the trade of the United States with Porto Rico and Hawaii would make a grand total of approximately four billion dollars.

Imports entering free of duty were valued at $881,743,144, exceeding by $150,000,000 the former high record of free imports, that of 1911. Non-dutiable merchandise formed 53.2 per cent of the total imports, the percentage being larger than ever before, except during the operations of the McKinley tariff law, when sugar was imported free of duty.

The excess of imports over exports in the fiscal year was $550,789,914, against $523,000,000 last year, but was less than that of 1908, 1901 or 1898.

WALLACE BANKERS PAY UP

Paulson, Easton and Greenough Estimate Wipe Out $75,000 Liability.

WALLACE, Idaho, July 16.—The offer made by August Paulson, Spokane millionaire; Stanley Easton, manager of the Bunker Hill & Sullivan mine, and the estate of T. L. Greenough of $75,000 in settlement of all their liability in connection with the failure of the Wallace State Bank of Commerce last August was accepted today.

Bernard F. O'Neil, former president of the bank, who was extradited from Vancouver, now is awaiting trial on charges in connection with the failure of the bank.

The offer was made in a petition to the District Court which was asked to authorize the receiver of the bank to accept the money.

POODLE SAVED BITES CHIEF

Fireman Thinks He Is Rescuing Babe From Burning Structure.

SPOKANE, July 16.—"Help, help! My darling will be killed," a woman clasping a squirming white bundle in her arms stood in the smoke-filled second story window of a burning house here today and shrieked to firemen below.

Fire Chief Albert Weeks was the first to respond. He took his stand below the window and shouted: "Throw the child down, I will catch it."

The white bundle dropped into the waiting arms, and Chief Weeks discovered he had caught a white poodle which immediately bit him.

Remarks concerning "dog catchers" are received by the chief with silent disdain.

BROUGHER LEADS CRUSADE

Pastor Opposes Prizefighting, but Indorses Wholesome Boxing.

LOS ANGELES, July 16.—(Special.)—Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougner was one of the active leaders in the work of obtaining signers to the anti-prize fight petitions, filed with thousands of signatures today.

"As much as I am in favor of sports, I am absolutely opposed to pugilism in any form, even under the guise of mere boxing entertainments," he said. "So long as boxing is indulged in as a wholesome sport I would not object to it, but the moment professionalism is introduced, the moment it becomes real fighting, I am opposed to it. It is degrading for participants and onlookers alike."

MAN CRUSHED UNDER AUTO

Car Runs Off 10-Foot Grade on Highway and Turns Over.

EVERETT, Wash., July 16.—Fred Brush, a merchant of Granite Falls, was killed today in an automobile accident on the Pacific Highway, 12 miles south of here, while on his way to Seattle. His wife and another woman who were in the car were severely hurt. The road was wide where the accident happened, but apparently Brush had turned to one side to avoid a small pile of gravel where repair work was being done. In turning back into the road the machine continued across the highway and plunged over a 10-foot bank, turning over and crushing Brush beneath it.

BABE LEAPS FROM TRAIN

3-Year-Old Only Slightly Injured by Experience.

OMAHA, July 16.—Reed Fairbanks, aged three years, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Fairbanks, of Salt Lake City, fell from the window of a fast-moving Union Pacific passenger train today, escaping with only slight injuries.

When the train was stopped trainmen rushed back and found young Fairbanks little the worse for his plunge.

SENATE CENSURES TAFT INDIRECTLY

Action Is Inspired by Lorimer Case.

FIRST STING IS WITHDRAWN

All Democrats, but Only Six Republicans, Vote Aye.

BOOK BY WILSON QUOTED

Borah Reads From Writings of New Jersey Governor Declaring Prejudice of Presidential Office Is Waning.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The Senate indirectly today rebuked President Taft for his course in connection with the Lorimer case. Once blocked from a vote by the Archibald impeachment proceedings, a resolution, battle-scarred in a protracted, bitter debate, finally was adopted, 35 to 23, denouncing "any attempt on the part of a President to exercise the power of his office to influence a vote on a question within the Senate's exclusive jurisdiction."

The resolution originally was framed by Senator Bailey, who had arraigned President Taft, asserting he had been "officious and meddlesome" in endeavoring to line up regular Republican Senators in the Lorimer case, and as adopted read:

"Resolved, That any attempt on the part of a President of the United States to exercise the powers and influence of his great office for the purpose of controlling the vote of any Senator upon a question involving a right to a seat in the Senate, or upon any other matter within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Senate, would violate the spirit, if not the letter of the Constitution and invade the rights of the Senate."

Six Republicans Vote Aye.

Not a Democrat voted against the resolution; but six Republicans voted for it. Republicans who voted for the resolution were Senators Bourne, Clapp, Fell, Gallingher, McCumber and Works. Democrats who voted for the resolution were Ashurst, Bacon, Bailey, Bryan, Chamberlain, Culberson, Fletcher, Gardner, Hitchcock, Johnson, Johnston, Martin, Martine, Newlands, O'Gorman, Overman, Percy, Pomeroy, Reed, Shively, Simmons, Smith of Arizona, Smith of Georgia, Smith of Maryland, Smith of South Carolina, Stone, Swanwick, Thornton and Tillman.

Those Republicans who voted against the resolution were Borah, Brandegee, Bristow, Burnham, Burton, Catron, Crawford, Cummins, Dupont, Grona, Jones, Kenyon, Massey, McLean, Nelson, Oliver, Page, Perkins, Root, Smith of Michigan, Smoot, Sutherland and Townsend.

Personal Character Modified.

Senator Bailey, who introduced the resolution, denounced the course of President Taft as described in a letter the President wrote to Colonel Roosevelt on January 6, 1910, which the President made public in a recent speech in the Massachusetts primary. The original resolution was directed at Presidential influence of votes on the right of Senators to retain their seats.

When Senator Bailey concluded he accepted an amendment offered by Senator McCumber striking out words of condemnation from the resolution and extending it to other matters within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Senate. He also accepted an amendment by Senator Heyburn, to insert the word "would," so as to make the resolution more impersonal.

Taft Is Defended.

The vote was demanded and for an instant it appeared that the resolution as amended would pass unanimously. At this moment William Alden Smith took the floor to declare the President had done nothing improper, and that it was impossible to disconnect Senator Bailey's argument from the resolutions. "Strike out the argument," then suggested Senator Bailey.

"Some of it ought to be and some of it may be after consideration," shouted the Michigan Senator.

Senator Cummins wanted the resolution amended so as to also apply to the use of the office to influence votes for or against a bill. He said people would imply by this omission that such a practice was approved by the Senate. He spoke of reports that Presidents had warned Senators if they did not vote in a certain way they would be considered out of the party.

Cummins Asks for Harmony.

Senator Cummins, of Michigan, demanded that the Senator from Iowa be more specific.

"I make the assertion that such has occurred," said Mr. Cummins, "and in the interest of party harmony, I trust that the Senator will allow the incident to be forgotten as fast as the human memory will permit."

Senator Borah suggested to the Senate that he had heard that the legislative branch of the Government was intruding on the executive, and thereupon read at length from Woodrow Wilson's book on "Congressional Government." In that the author spoke of the prestige of the Presidential office having declined and of Congress as being a big meeting of idle people who had taken power from the executive.
