City Presents Gay Appearance and Varied Amusement Provided for All.

ROSARIANS ARE AWAITED

Portland Delegation Will Participate in All Activities Today—Aeroplane Flights Made Over Battleships.

THE GREETING OF THE ROSE

The prince and his court today in all their stately "trappings" to bear the greeting of the Rose to the City of the North.

And when the Potlatch warriors through their great banquet of the year, among the totem-pole masses array, the fair rose emblems shall appear.

For though their cities, vast and fair, lie on the shore long leagues apart, the Potlatch chiefs and those who serve the Rose are brethren, as heart.

And on the feast days of the year, far as the herald call can reach, rings the brass welcome call abroad from their fair cities, each its own.

And so today, O Northern Chiefs, before your gates our tramping shows and heralds call, "We bring to thee joy—and the greeting of the Rose."

—Dean Collins, Portland, July 10.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 10.—(Special.)

Approximately 3000 merchants and manufacturers accepted the invitations bidding them to come to Seattle during Potlatch week, and the second day of the week, the last before the real beginning of the big festival, was given over to them almost exclusively.

It was their day, but entertainment was provided for thousands of other visitors. Six hundred members of the United Commercial Travelers' Association assisted the Seattle Merchants and Manufacturers' Association in entertaining the visitors.

Club Extends Courtesies.

Early this morning, the Arctic Club rooms were thrown open and a corps of committees was busy handing out passes, theater tickets, amuseur tickets and transportation tickets to the visitors.

Every boat on Lake Washington was pressed into service, and special cars were run on the Yeaser line to take the visitors to Leschi Park. A big barbecue, at which provision was made for 2000 persons, was held at Fortuna Park. The barbecue followed a ball game and athletic sports.

This afternoon hundreds of automobiles were packed into the streets and tonight the visiting women were entertained at the Moore Theater and the men at a smoker at Leschi Park.

But while this was called Merchants' and Manufacturers' day, provision was made that other visitors should not lack for amusement.

The day broke with Old Sol smiling gently down upon about 250,000 happily excited people. The bands of pretty girls and their escorts, some carrying picnic baskets and dressed daintily in muslin and other dainty trimmed with Potlatch colors, were on the streets bright and early.

And they were having a pleasant time. There were a thousand things for them to do, and they did them with alacrity, and with a good deal of amusement. There were the usual amuseur resorts on the beach and band concerts at the grandstand and other places.

Splendid flights were made early tonight by the Potlatch aviators. The crowded thousands watched Walter Edwards and J. V. Martin career and maneuver over the warships in the harbor, on which officers and men stood thick. Percy Barnes made excellent flights in Jean Romano's scale-built Roman plane.

A display of fireworks took place in the Oriental district. The delegates to the state series of Eagles, who go into convention Thursday morning, and the delegates to the Federated Improvement Clubs, who are having a convention, joined the Potlatch celebrators this afternoon and will be a prominent feature in the festival before the week closes.

Big Day is Today.

Tomorrow will be the first really big day. Her Imperial Highness, Miss Spokane, and a representative of His Imperial Majesty, Rex Oregon, with a great following of court retinue, respectively representing Spokane and Portland, will be mid-week guests of Potlatch royalty in Seattle.

The royal train to bring the Portland delegation will include a full staff of Royal Rosarians and court attendants to a number of nearly 200 and a great many individual Potlatch guests as well.

The big crowd of Oregonians will arrive early enough to participate in every part of tomorrow's activities and it is hinted that this participation will be lively enough to make itself known without heralds.

ROSARIANS GO TO POTLATCH

Body of 102 Will Help Seattle in Annual Celebration.

The noblest chiefs of the Potlatch will assemble at the station in Seattle this morning at 8 o'clock to give the greeting of the Tillamook to the 152 Royal Rosarians who left Portland last night on the Northern Pacific, under the leadership of Crown Prince Bristol, to carry the glory of the Kingdom of the Rose into the Sound City.

The Rosarians will be escorted to the Seattle Press Club, where they will be breakfast guests of the newspapermen and after that will be escorted with ceremony through the streets of the city to their headquarters at the Seattle Hotel, where they will make preparations for the great opening pageant of the Potlatch at 11 o'clock.

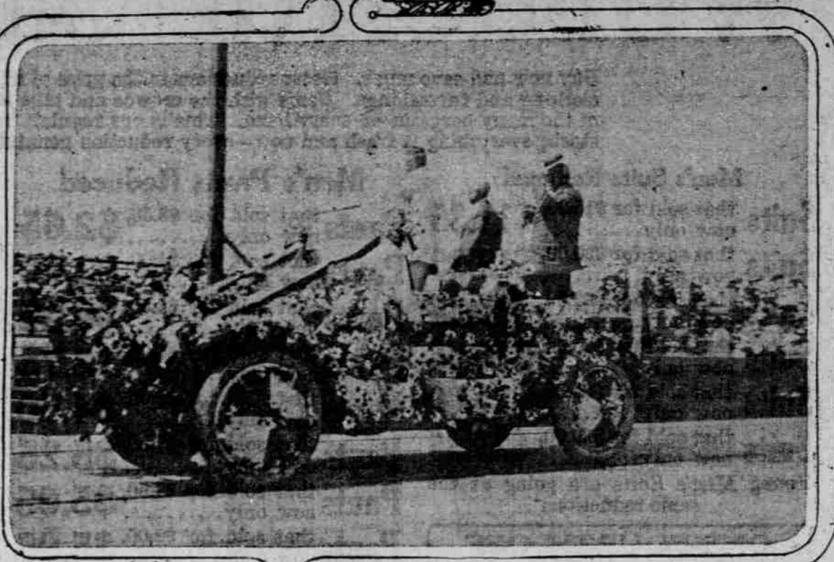

The Rosarian section in this pageant will be headed by the drill team, under the command of Field Marshal Fredrick Hyskell and Master of Arms Robert Krohn. Following the drill team will march the court of the Rosarians two and two on each side of the street as an escort to the crown prince and his party, who will ride in the middle in three decorated automobiles.

Rex Oregon himself will be unable to attend, since F. A. Kelts, the Rex Oregonian this year, was suddenly called to Marshallfield by the news of the death of his sister and will not return to Portland until today. With this exception, the court of the Rose will not be broken.

Each of the marching men will carry a big rose on an 18-inch stem, the official Testout of the Portland Rose Festival, if possible to secure enough, or some other standard variety of rose if necessary.

Melville of Winlock, of the People's Amusement Company, has arranged to send a moving-picture machine to Seattle solely for the purpose of taking pictures of the Rosarians in their first crusade. These pictures will be exhibited in Portland within a short time after the Potlatch.

$20,000 BAIL FIXED

Widow of Pasco Banker Sets About to Raise Sum.

TRIAL NEWS IS CENSORED

Court Refuses Public Right to Hear Case Against Mrs. Christensen and Tells Newspapers What They Must Not Print.

PASCO, Wash., July 10.—(Special.)

Mrs. Anna Christensen, who, with A. C. Garey, is charged with the murder of her husband, H. E. Christensen, by poisoning, the night of Jan. 1, was brought over from Walla Walla today and Judge Holcomb heard arguments for and against her being admitted to bail.

Witnesses were examined also, but the public was excluded from the courtroom. Two newspaper men were allowed to remain and hear the case, but were cautioned very plainly as to what should be given to the public. In fact, nothing was left for the reporters to give out but the fact that Mrs. Christensen was admitted to bail in the sum of $20,000.

This order of the court was made about 4 o'clock this morning and Mrs. Christensen is endeavoring to secure the necessary bonds. It was not thought by attorneys for the defense that bonds would be placed higher than $10,000, but they state they will be able to raise the amount.

Judge Godman, of Seattle, is now associated with Attorneys Noland and Johnson in the defense and conducted the case today in Mrs. Christensen's behalf, while Prosecutor C. M. O'Brien, of this county, and Prosecutor Traux, of Adams County, conducted the case in behalf of the state.

Mrs. Christensen was still attired in mourning and greeted some of her friends very cheerfully, seeming to have no fear of the final outcome of the trial.

OREGON EMERALD PAYS

EUGENE BOY, MANAGER OF PAPER, GIVES REPORT.

Net Earnings Show $239, It Being First Time Student Publication Turns in So Large Sum.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, July 10.—(Special.)—Wendell Barbour, a Eugene lad, who was graduated from the department of economics at the University of Oregon this June, handed in his financial report today, as manager of the Oregon Emerald, the student semi-weekly newspaper. The report shows that the net earnings of the paper was $239. This is the first time the Emerald has turned into the student treasury so large a sum.

Mr. Barbour took charge of the finances of the paper when it was in a bankrupt condition, three months before the closing of college, and by a spirited advertising campaign was able not only to pay off all indebtedness, which included the salaries of the editor and the manager, but also turn into the student treasury the surplus mentioned. The editor of the paper is paid $100 a year and the manager $75, providing the earnings of the paper from subscriptions and advertising warrant it.

Under the editorship of Burns Powell, of Portland, who also was one of this year's graduating class, the Emerald has finished a successful year. Editor Powell systematized the staff of the paper under departments, similar to those found on the commercial daily newspapers.

One characteristic of the Emerald is that it is entirely in the hands of the students and is untrammelled by faculty regulations. In its editorials it has frequently criticized acts of the professors. Generally, however, the freedom given it has not been abused. Carl O'Banion, of Hood River, and Andrew Collier, of Eugene, will act as editor and manager of the paper next year.

Just Say Hires

Everybody knows Hires is good. It is made that way. From every good and pure source of Nature come the saps and flavors that make this great American drink.

Sarsaparilla, sassafras, hops, wintergreen, birch—and then some—every one good. More than just good to the taste. It's the most healthful of drinks—tones the blood and aids digestion. But not a trace of drugs.

Hires just won't disagree with you. But it will cool you off like a breeze after a cooling storm. Needless to say "rootbeer." Just say "Hires."

Sparkling and snappy from the fountain—5c. At your home, carbonated, in bottles.
