

WILSON GOES OVER PLAN OF CAMPAIGN

States Rated as Underwood Sees Them, With New Jersey as "Debatable."

HOPE OF OHIO IS HELD

Pennsylvania Placed in Class by Itself - Candidate Believes He Will Carry Maine and Connecticut as Well.

SETTLE N. J., July 17.—The political battle ground of the campaign of 1912, where the Democratic party will strain its sinews for every vote...

State by state, the nominee and the House leaders went over the map. When the conference ended they had taken from the debatable states, Wisconsin, Missouri, Maryland, Kentucky and New York, with a reservation that there would have to be some campaigning done in Missouri and that while New York was pretty certain to go Democratic, the Democrats there would have to be on their guard and not feel too cocksure, and made a list of the states where they will have to fight for votes with a good chance of carrying them.

New Jersey Held Debatable. In this list they placed first the great Middle Western states of Illinois, Ohio and Indiana, from the New England group they put down Maine and Connecticut. Along the Mason and Dixon border they made note of West Virginia. In a class by itself, they placed Pennsylvania, which they jettisoned down New Jersey as debatable, although the New Jersey leaders close to the Governor have promised the state to him by pluralities ranging from 50,000 to 100,000 votes. These states the Governor referred to tonight as "debatable," but indications are that he believes he can carry every one.

Mr. Underwood told the Governor that before coming to Trenton he had consulted with Congressmen in these states, and could therefore speak with a fair working knowledge of conditions.

Underwood is Helpful. "We went over the situation in the debatable states," Governor Wilson said today, "concerning which was the best campaigning ground in the country. With Mr. Underwood's unusual knowledge of conditions through his colleagues in Congress, I have gotten a great deal out of the situation that was very valuable to me. Maine, the first state discussed, is regarded as having strong inclinations to remain Democratic. Underwood's report places it high in the list of states to be won with a fair amount of campaigning. Indiana is counted upon to support the ticket loyally, not alone because its voters are Wilson's running mate, but because of local conditions, the divided Republican vote, and a strong trend towards Democracy since the last Presidential campaign. In Ohio, Governor Wilson believed, the third party will divide the republican vote so that the Democrats will have more than a fair chance of carrying the state. In fact, it is understood that the third party movement was reckoned with more heavily there than in most of the other states. Pennsylvania, excepted, that are regarded by the Republicans united, the outlook would still look good, he believes, notwithstanding the fact that it is President Taft's home state.

Pennsylvania is Classed Alone. Pennsylvania is placed in a class by itself, because from all over the state there have come to the Governor in Washington, declarations from Republicans that will vote for Wilson and because of the unusually rosy hue of the reports of the party leaders there. Although it has been regarded as a rock-ribbed Republican state for decades, Governor Wilson said today that he regarded it as "decidedly debatable ground." The views of Governor Foss, of Massachusetts, regarding Connecticut, supplemented by reports to Mr. Underwood, letters from Wilson leaders and other Democrats in the state are reflected in the attitude of the nominee towards Connecticut. Mr. Underwood told him that there was an excellent chance of carrying the state, Massachusetts, for some reason, was not mentioned, but this is not regarded as significant, as the list is by no means complete and there are yet many states to be taken up.

West Virginia Debatable. "West Virginia, of course, is debatable ground," This from Wilson sums up the nominee's attitude towards that commonwealth. Missouri, it developed today, was discussed in detail by the Governor and Speaker when the latter was here last Saturday. At that time the Speaker is said to have told Governor Wilson that some work would have to be done there, but that there was no reason why the state should not support the ticket.

Coming down to New York, the Governor feels confident of the result there next November. This feeling, he said, was strengthened by a talk with Lieutenant-Governor Conway at Trenton today.

"He said that the feeling in the state was strong for me," the Governor said today, in discussing the interview. "That was the principal theme. He is particularly familiar with the conditions up-state and said they were very favorable indeed." The Governor added that Mr. Conway told him he thought the third party vote in New York would not "make much impression."

King Lifts Hat. King George and Miss Countess looked each other squarely in the eyes. Miss Countess smiled gravely and lifted his hat. Miss Countess smiled cordially, and impulsively tossed him a rose. His Majesty caught it with the easy precision of a star performer, and gave Miss Countess a position within three feet of them as they passed. It was a psychological moment.

King Lifts Hat. King George and Miss Countess looked each other squarely in the eyes. Miss Countess smiled gravely and lifted his hat. Miss Countess smiled cordially, and impulsively tossed him a rose. His Majesty caught it with the easy precision of a star performer, and gave Miss Countess a position within three feet of them as they passed. It was a psychological moment.

King Lifts Hat. King George and Miss Countess looked each other squarely in the eyes. Miss Countess smiled gravely and lifted his hat. Miss Countess smiled cordially, and impulsively tossed him a rose. His Majesty caught it with the easy precision of a star performer, and gave Miss Countess a position within three feet of them as they passed. It was a psychological moment.

was jammed in a box after having been stabbed more than 40 times by Swartz and that she remained alive in the box throughout a night. According to Assistant District Attorney Nott, Mrs. Alexander told the jury that her brother said that Saturday night he met Julia Connors and asked her to take a pair of opera glasses to his home, which is just across the hall from the vacant flat where the murder was committed. The young man said he followed the girl and at the top of the stairs shoved her into the vacant flat and attempted to attack her. The child screamed, according to the story of Mrs. Alexander, and Nathan stabbed her. As she continued to scream Nathan stabbed again and again until she finally fell. Then he plunged the knife into her breast near the heart and Julia remained still. Then Nathan went to his own home, procured the box in which the body was found. He placed the still living child in this box after cutting off her hair, put the box on the dumb waiter and let it slide to the cellar, where he hid it. Early the next morning he took the girl still alive, into the lot where she was found.

Mrs. Alexander said she threw the youth out of her house when she heard Democratic, the Democrats there would have to be on their guard and not feel too cocksure, and made a list of the states where they will have to fight for votes with a good chance of carrying them.

T. R. PLANS TRIP WEST

PERKINS GOES TO OYSTER BAY TO DISCUSS DETAILS.

Colonel Himself Denies He Intends to Declare for Independence of Philippines.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 17.—Colonel Roosevelt probably will leave Monday or Tuesday next for his campaign in the Middle West. He said tonight that Senator Dixon was making arrangements for the trip and he did not know definitely when he would start. It is probable, however, that he will speak on Wednesday in Des Moines, before the state convention of the new party. After making several other speeches in Iowa, he will go to Kansas and thence to Michigan to take part in the campaign preceding the election of electors in those three states to select Republican candidates for Presidential Electors.

George W. Perkins, of New York, came tonight to Oyster Bay to talk over plans for the trip. Colonel Roosevelt said that on account of the scarcity of campaign funds he would not have a special train unless he found it impossible to fulfill his engagements otherwise. Colonel Roosevelt said he resigned a week ago from the Republican Club, of New York, of which he had long been a member. He declined to discuss his action. Regarding a dispatch from Washington saying he would declare for the independence of the Philippines and attack President Taft and General Clarence R. Edwards on the grounds that when he was President he would have done so, he said the report was untrue.

SHERIFFS OPPOSE PAROLES

Peace Officers Say Majority of All Crimes Are by Probationers.

ST. PAUL, July 17.—An address opposing the parole and pardoning of prisoners was the feature of this afternoon's session of the National Sheriffs' Association today. Sheriff of Santa Ana, Cal., said seven of every ten crimes committed in his county were the work of former convicts, paroled men and men on probation.

KING PREVENTS ACCIDENT

Alfonso Grabs Horse and Picks Up Fallen General.

HAMPLONA, Spain, July 17.—King Alfonso prevented yesterday what might have been a fatal accident. As he left the cathedral, after a ceremony, a general's horse bolted, throwing the rider and dragging him along the ground.

REBEL ACTRESS THROWS ROSE TO KING GEORGE

Miss Countess at Hellig Also Coaxed Smile and Lifted Hat From Ruler; Her Husband Also Had Royal 'Affair' with Queen's Relatives.

ONE sunny afternoon a year ago Cathrine Countess, now making a hit at the Hellig Theater, stood in line with some thousands of tourists and loyal Britons near Piccadilly, awaiting the approach of the new King George and his royal spouse. The occasion was the visit of royalty to a great charity hospital in the slums of the Whitechapel quarter of London. For miles along city thoroughfares to be traversed great crowds had assembled.

King Lifts Hat. King George and Miss Countess looked each other squarely in the eyes. Miss Countess smiled gravely and lifted his hat. Miss Countess smiled cordially, and impulsively tossed him a rose. His Majesty caught it with the easy precision of a star performer, and gave Miss Countess a position within three feet of them as they passed. It was a psychological moment.

King Lifts Hat. King George and Miss Countess looked each other squarely in the eyes. Miss Countess smiled gravely and lifted his hat. Miss Countess smiled cordially, and impulsively tossed him a rose. His Majesty caught it with the easy precision of a star performer, and gave Miss Countess a position within three feet of them as they passed. It was a psychological moment.

King Lifts Hat. King George and Miss Countess looked each other squarely in the eyes. Miss Countess smiled gravely and lifted his hat. Miss Countess smiled cordially, and impulsively tossed him a rose. His Majesty caught it with the easy precision of a star performer, and gave Miss Countess a position within three feet of them as they passed. It was a psychological moment.

King Lifts Hat. King George and Miss Countess looked each other squarely in the eyes. Miss Countess smiled gravely and lifted his hat. Miss Countess smiled cordially, and impulsively tossed him a rose. His Majesty caught it with the easy precision of a star performer, and gave Miss Countess a position within three feet of them as they passed. It was a psychological moment.

REPUBLICANS MUST SHOW THEIR COLORS

Central Committee Will Ask Candidates Their Attitude and Status in Party.

KELLAHER IS PROGRESSIVE

Nominee for State Senator and Presidential Elector Is Head of Club Organized in Support of Proposed Third Party.

Pledging its support to President Taft and all other "Republican nominees who are Republicans," the executive committee of the Republican county central committee, at a meeting Tuesday night, approved a letter that will be sent to every nominee for state, district and county office, including Presidential electors, on the Republican ticket, demanding that each nominee inform the committee "what his exact position is respecting the Republican party and his status therein."

"Under the laws of this state, the county central committee is the legally authorized body to represent the party and to manage its business and political affairs," said Robinson, a Wright chairman of the committee, last night. "As Republicans we feel that the members of the committee and the Republican voters of Multnomah County and the state are entitled to know whether candidates nominated by the Republican voters and whose names will be printed on the official ballot are Republicans or not."

Nominees Must Show Their Colors. "We are only asking that these nominees come out and declare themselves. It will be the purpose of the committee, as a check on the Republican party in Multnomah County, to support Republicans for office. The committee will be just as energetic in its opposition to those candidates who may renounce their Republicanism." The committee gave its endorsement to President Taft for the reason that he was regularly nominated by a convention in which more than a lawful quorum of qualified delegates attended and participated in the transaction of its business. It is the purpose of our committee in this campaign to ascertain what nominees are truly Republicans and to give them the support of the organization.

Indorsement of President Taft and other Republican nominees "who are Republicans" was made in the adoption by the executive committee of the following resolution: "Resolved, That the Republican County Central Committee for Multnomah County will support President Taft and other Republican nominees who are Republicans and will use every means at its command to defeat any other nominees who are not Republicans and who attempt to use his nomination in aid of any hostile party. A man's party nomination belongs to the party which gave it and to its advantage against that party is an act of plain and open treason."

The open letter issued by the committee is addressed to the Republican voters of Multnomah County and to the Republican nominees for office within the county. It is signed by Mr. Wright as chairman and A. E. Cooper, secretary of the Republican county central committee. All nominees are requested within five days, if convenient, to respond to the communication. It is requested that all responses be mailed to Mr. Cooper, the secretary, room 3424 Yeon building. The full text of the letter follows: "The Republican County Central Committee through its executive committee hereby declares: 1. That this committee is the only body authorized by law to represent the Republican party in this county and to manage its business and political affairs. 2. That our laws guarantee the right of the Republican party to be protected from the interference of persons who are not identified with it as its known and political allies and members and who are not the sole and exclusive use of the party official ballot. 3. That our laws require the official ballot to have upon its face the name of the party after the names of each of its lawfully nominated candidates, also the names of the Presidential candidates after the names of the Republican electors. 4. That at the entire session of the National Republican convention in Chicago, June 12, 1912, more than a lawful quorum of qualified delegates present and participated in its business, and at its regular session William H. Taft and James S. Sherman were nominated as candidates for President and Vice President, respectively, and their names must appear on the official ballot opposite the names of the Republican nominees for the Presidential electors, and will not support any other nominees."

ALFONSO GRABS HORSE AND PICKS UP FALLEN GENERAL

HAMPLONA, Spain, July 17.—King Alfonso prevented yesterday what might have been a fatal accident. As he left the cathedral, after a ceremony, a general's horse bolted, throwing the rider and dragging him along the ground. While spectators hesitated, the King sprang from his carriage, caught the horse and extricated the fallen general. He was roundly cheered.

REBEL ACTRESS THROWS ROSE TO KING GEORGE

Miss Countess at Hellig Also Coaxed Smile and Lifted Hat From Ruler; Her Husband Also Had Royal 'Affair' with Queen's Relatives.

ONE sunny afternoon a year ago Cathrine Countess, now making a hit at the Hellig Theater, stood in line with some thousands of tourists and loyal Britons near Piccadilly, awaiting the approach of the new King George and his royal spouse. The occasion was the visit of royalty to a great charity hospital in the slums of the Whitechapel quarter of London. For miles along city thoroughfares to be traversed great crowds had assembled.

King Lifts Hat. King George and Miss Countess looked each other squarely in the eyes. Miss Countess smiled gravely and lifted his hat. Miss Countess smiled cordially, and impulsively tossed him a rose. His Majesty caught it with the easy precision of a star performer, and gave Miss Countess a position within three feet of them as they passed. It was a psychological moment.

King Lifts Hat. King George and Miss Countess looked each other squarely in the eyes. Miss Countess smiled gravely and lifted his hat. Miss Countess smiled cordially, and impulsively tossed him a rose. His Majesty caught it with the easy precision of a star performer, and gave Miss Countess a position within three feet of them as they passed. It was a psychological moment.

King Lifts Hat. King George and Miss Countess looked each other squarely in the eyes. Miss Countess smiled gravely and lifted his hat. Miss Countess smiled cordially, and impulsively tossed him a rose. His Majesty caught it with the easy precision of a star performer, and gave Miss Countess a position within three feet of them as they passed. It was a psychological moment.

King Lifts Hat. King George and Miss Countess looked each other squarely in the eyes. Miss Countess smiled gravely and lifted his hat. Miss Countess smiled cordially, and impulsively tossed him a rose. His Majesty caught it with the easy precision of a star performer, and gave Miss Countess a position within three feet of them as they passed. It was a psychological moment.

WILSON GOES OVER PLAN OF CAMPAIGN

States Rated as Underwood Sees Them, With New Jersey as "Debatable."

HOPE OF OHIO IS HELD

Pennsylvania Placed in Class by Itself - Candidate Believes He Will Carry Maine and Connecticut as Well.

SETTLE N. J., July 17.—The political battle ground of the campaign of 1912, where the Democratic party will strain its sinews for every vote...

State by state, the nominee and the House leaders went over the map. When the conference ended they had taken from the debatable states, Wisconsin, Missouri, Maryland, Kentucky and New York, with a reservation that there would have to be some campaigning done in Missouri and that while New York was pretty certain to go Democratic, the Democrats there would have to be on their guard and not feel too cocksure, and made a list of the states where they will have to fight for votes with a good chance of carrying them.

New Jersey Held Debatable. In this list they placed first the great Middle Western states of Illinois, Ohio and Indiana, from the New England group they put down Maine and Connecticut. Along the Mason and Dixon border they made note of West Virginia. In a class by itself, they placed Pennsylvania, which they jettisoned down New Jersey as debatable, although the New Jersey leaders close to the Governor have promised the state to him by pluralities ranging from 50,000 to 100,000 votes. These states the Governor referred to tonight as "debatable," but indications are that he believes he can carry every one.

Mr. Underwood told the Governor that before coming to Trenton he had consulted with Congressmen in these states, and could therefore speak with a fair working knowledge of conditions.

Underwood is Helpful. "We went over the situation in the debatable states," Governor Wilson said today, "concerning which was the best campaigning ground in the country. With Mr. Underwood's unusual knowledge of conditions through his colleagues in Congress, I have gotten a great deal out of the situation that was very valuable to me. Maine, the first state discussed, is regarded as having strong inclinations to remain Democratic. Underwood's report places it high in the list of states to be won with a fair amount of campaigning. Indiana is counted upon to support the ticket loyally, not alone because its voters are Wilson's running mate, but because of local conditions, the divided Republican vote, and a strong trend towards Democracy since the last Presidential campaign. In Ohio, Governor Wilson believed, the third party will divide the republican vote so that the Democrats will have more than a fair chance of carrying the state. In fact, it is understood that the third party movement was reckoned with more heavily there than in most of the other states. Pennsylvania, excepted, that are regarded by the Republicans united, the outlook would still look good, he believes, notwithstanding the fact that it is President Taft's home state.

Pennsylvania is Classed Alone. Pennsylvania is placed in a class by itself, because from all over the state there have come to the Governor in Washington, declarations from Republicans that will vote for Wilson and because of the unusually rosy hue of the reports of the party leaders there. Although it has been regarded as a rock-ribbed Republican state for decades, Governor Wilson said today that he regarded it as "decidedly debatable ground." The views of Governor Foss, of Massachusetts, regarding Connecticut, supplemented by reports to Mr. Underwood, letters from Wilson leaders and other Democrats in the state are reflected in the attitude of the nominee towards Connecticut. Mr. Underwood told him that there was an excellent chance of carrying the state, Massachusetts, for some reason, was not mentioned, but this is not regarded as significant, as the list is by no means complete and there are yet many states to be taken up.

West Virginia Debatable. "West Virginia, of course, is debatable ground," This from Wilson sums up the nominee's attitude towards that commonwealth. Missouri, it developed today, was discussed in detail by the Governor and Speaker when the latter was here last Saturday. At that time the Speaker is said to have told Governor Wilson that some work would have to be done there, but that there was no reason why the state should not support the ticket.

Coming down to New York, the Governor feels confident of the result there next November. This feeling, he said, was strengthened by a talk with Lieutenant-Governor Conway at Trenton today.

"He said that the feeling in the state was strong for me," the Governor said today, in discussing the interview. "That was the principal theme. He is particularly familiar with the conditions up-state and said they were very favorable indeed." The Governor added that Mr. Conway told him he thought the third party vote in New York would not "make much impression."

King Lifts Hat. King George and Miss Countess looked each other squarely in the eyes. Miss Countess smiled gravely and lifted his hat. Miss Countess smiled cordially, and impulsively tossed him a rose. His Majesty caught it with the easy precision of a star performer, and gave Miss Countess a position within three feet of them as they passed. It was a psychological moment.

King Lifts Hat. King George and Miss Countess looked each other squarely in the eyes. Miss Countess smiled gravely and lifted his hat. Miss Countess smiled cordially, and impulsively tossed him a rose. His Majesty caught it with the easy precision of a star performer, and gave Miss Countess a position within three feet of them as they passed. It was a psychological moment.

King Lifts Hat. King George and Miss Countess looked each other squarely in the eyes. Miss Countess smiled gravely and lifted his hat. Miss Countess smiled cordially, and impulsively tossed him a rose. His Majesty caught it with the easy precision of a star performer, and gave Miss Countess a position within three feet of them as they passed. It was a psychological moment.

King Lifts Hat. King George and Miss Countess looked each other squarely in the eyes. Miss Countess smiled gravely and lifted his hat. Miss Countess smiled cordially, and impulsively tossed him a rose. His Majesty caught it with the easy precision of a star performer, and gave Miss Countess a position within three feet of them as they passed. It was a psychological moment.

What the Law Provides in the Matter of Rates

The new public utility law to go into effect next November, provides in Section 53, that:

"All rates, tolls, charges, schedules and joint rates fixed by the commission shall be prima facie lawful, and all regulations, practices and services prescribed by the commission shall be in force and shall be prima facie lawful and reasonable until found otherwise in a suit brought for that purpose."

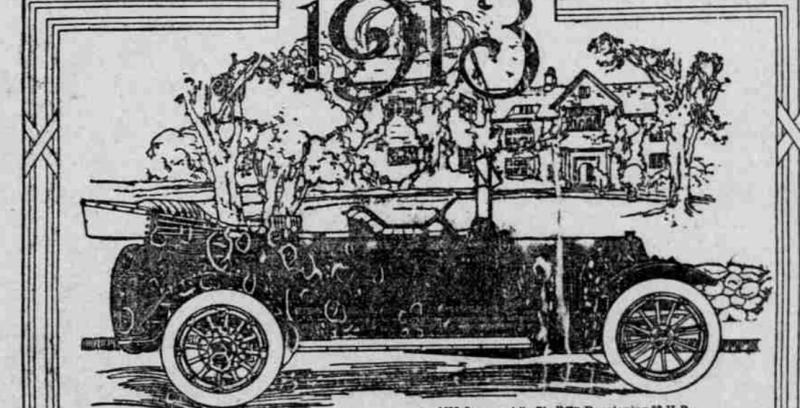

If the law gives the commission power to fix the rate and determine the service, and the rate and service ordered are prima facie lawful, what need is there of "competition" in Portland in the light and power field?

How can the commission fix a lower rate if the investment is duplicated by another company entering the field and increasing the interest charge, which of necessity must be paid out of the money received from the general public for electric light and power service?

Portland Railway, Light & Power Company

was seriously injured at 12:45 Wednesday morning, when he attempted to alight from a Montavilla car at East Twenty-second and East Ankeny streets. Dowdy, who was off duty, lives on East Twenty-third street, and being familiar with cars did not signal the motorman to stop, but attempted to alight while the car was moving rapidly. He landed on his head and received severe scalp wounds which bled profusely and blood also gushed from his mouth and nose. Dr. Trimble who lives in the vicinity, was quickly summoned, but from a cursory examination could not tell the extent of the injuries.

Red Men Leader to Speak. George B. Griggs, of Houston, Texas, great incoherence of the Improved Order of Red Men, is in the city on an official visit to the local lodge of the order and this evening will address its members and a number of visiting members at the hall in the Marquam building. Mr. Griggs is also supreme representative of the Knights of Pythias of Texas and will attend its supreme lodge at Denver, in September. In speaking of his trip to the West he said: "I am making a visit to the state great councils of the West and Northwest and find that the order is in a most flourishing condition."

Locomobile

THE Locomobile Company, having long since attained a material lead in fundamentals, has been able to devote unlimited attention to new details and new features. As a result, the 1913 models offer more luxury and more comfort than can be found elsewhere.

For 1913 the Locomobile will be built in three sizes: the long stroke Six "48," developing 82 horsepower; the Little Six, developing over 60 horsepower, and the "30" four cylinder, developing 41 horsepower.

The Six "48" will be equipped with touring, torpedo, roadster, limousine, and landaulet bodies $5,000 to $6,100. The Little Six will include all the above with the addition of berlines $4,300 to $5,550. The "30" four cylinder will be in touring, torpedo and roadster models $3,600.

In addition to new body designs which express unique ideas, as well as the latest features of American and European practice, these cars include every feature contributive to the comfort and convenience of the passengers or the driver. The long, sweeping straight line bodies are united to the bonnet by a well-shaped curved dash. The body surfaces are unmarred and unbroken by hinges or handles. Long wheel base, perfect spring suspension, absolute balance and ten-inch upholstery assure the maximum of comfort. Ventilated glass fronts, integral with the curved dash, dynamo supplying all lights, air compressors for inflating the tires, Disc Starter for starting the motor, all are contributory factors for convenience. The equipment includes quick detachable, demountable rims.

Demonstration by appointment NEATE & McCARTHY, INC. 690 Washington, corner King. Phones Main 6374. A 5777.

WILSON GOES OVER PLAN OF CAMPAIGN

States Rated as Underwood Sees Them, With New Jersey as "Debatable."

HOPE OF OHIO IS HELD

Pennsylvania Placed in Class by Itself - Candidate Believes He Will Carry Maine and Connecticut as Well.

SETTLE N. J., July 17.—The political battle ground of the campaign of 1912, where the Democratic party will strain its sinews for every vote...

State by state, the nominee and the House leaders went over the map. When the conference ended they had taken from the debatable states, Wisconsin, Missouri, Maryland, Kentucky and New York, with a reservation that there would have to be some campaigning done in Missouri and that while New York was pretty certain to go Democratic, the Democrats there would have to be on their guard and not feel too cocksure, and made a list of the states where they will have to fight for votes with a good chance of carrying them.

New Jersey Held Debatable. In this list they placed first the great Middle Western states of Illinois, Ohio and Indiana, from the New England group they put down Maine and Connecticut. Along the Mason and Dixon border they made note of West Virginia. In a class by itself, they placed Pennsylvania, which they jettisoned down New Jersey as debatable, although the New Jersey leaders close to the Governor have promised the state to him by pluralities ranging from 50,000 to 100,000 votes. These states the Governor referred to tonight as "debatable," but indications are that he believes he can carry every one.

Mr. Underwood told the Governor that before coming to Trenton he had consulted with Congressmen in these states, and could therefore speak with a fair working knowledge of conditions.

Underwood is Helpful. "We went over the situation in the debatable states," Governor Wilson said today, "concerning which was the best campaigning ground in the country. With Mr. Underwood's unusual knowledge of conditions through his colleagues in Congress, I have gotten a great deal out of the situation that was very valuable to me. Maine, the first state discussed, is regarded as having strong inclinations to remain Democratic. Underwood's report places it high in the list of states to be won with a fair amount of campaigning. Indiana is counted upon to support the ticket loyally, not alone because its voters are Wilson's running mate, but because of local conditions, the divided Republican vote, and a strong trend towards Democracy since the last Presidential campaign. In Ohio, Governor Wilson believed, the third party will divide the republican vote so that the Democrats will have more than a fair chance of carrying the state. In fact, it is understood that the third party movement was reckoned with more heavily there than in most of the other states. Pennsylvania, excepted, that are regarded by the Republicans united, the outlook would still look good, he believes, notwithstanding the fact that it is President Taft's home state.

Pennsylvania is Classed Alone. Pennsylvania is placed in a class by itself, because from all over the state there have come to the Governor in Washington, declarations from Republicans that will vote for Wilson and because of the unusually rosy hue of the reports of the party leaders there. Although it has been regarded as a rock-ribbed Republican state for decades, Governor Wilson said today that he regarded it as "decidedly debatable ground." The views of Governor Foss, of Massachusetts, regarding Connecticut, supplemented by reports to Mr. Underwood, letters from Wilson leaders and other Democrats in the state are reflected in the attitude of the nominee towards Connecticut. Mr. Underwood told him that there was an excellent chance of carrying the state, Massachusetts, for some reason, was not mentioned, but this is not regarded as significant, as the list is by no means complete and there are yet many states to be taken up.

West Virginia Debatable. "West Virginia, of course, is debatable ground," This from Wilson sums up the nominee's attitude towards that commonwealth. Missouri, it developed today, was discussed in detail by the Governor and Speaker when the latter was here last Saturday. At that time the Speaker is said to have told Governor Wilson that some work would have to be done there, but that there was no reason why the state should not support the ticket.

Coming down to New York, the Governor feels confident of the result there next November. This feeling, he said, was strengthened by a talk with Lieutenant-Governor Conway at Trenton today.

"He said that the feeling in the state was strong for me," the Governor said today, in discussing the interview. "That was the principal theme. He is particularly familiar with the conditions up-state and said they were very favorable indeed." The Governor added that Mr. Conway told him he thought the third party vote in New York would not "make much impression."

King Lifts Hat. King George and Miss Countess looked each other squarely in the eyes. Miss Countess smiled gravely and lifted his hat. Miss Countess smiled cordially, and impulsively tossed him a rose. His Majesty caught it with the easy precision of a star performer, and gave Miss Countess a position within three feet of them as they passed. It was a psychological moment.

King Lifts Hat. King George and Miss Countess looked each other squarely in the eyes. Miss Countess smiled gravely and lifted his hat. Miss Countess smiled cordially, and impulsively tossed him a rose. His Majesty caught it with the easy precision of a star performer, and gave Miss Countess a position within three feet of them as they passed. It was a psychological moment.

King Lifts Hat. King George and Miss Countess looked each other squarely in the eyes. Miss Countess smiled gravely and lifted his hat. Miss Countess smiled cordially, and impulsively tossed him a rose. His Majesty caught it with the easy precision of a star performer, and gave Miss Countess a position within three feet of them as they passed. It was a psychological moment.

King Lifts Hat. King George and Miss Countess looked each other squarely in the eyes. Miss Countess smiled gravely and lifted his hat. Miss Countess smiled cordially, and impulsively tossed him a rose. His Majesty caught it with the easy precision of a star performer, and gave Miss Countess a position within three feet of them as they passed. It was a psychological moment.

WILSON GOES OVER PLAN OF CAMPAIGN

States Rated as Underwood Sees Them, With New Jersey as "Debatable."

HOPE OF OHIO IS HELD

Pennsylvania Placed in Class by Itself - Candidate Believes He Will Carry Maine and Connecticut as Well.

SETTLE N. J., July 17.—The political battle ground of the campaign of 1912, where the Democratic party will strain its sinews for every vote...

State by state, the nominee and the House leaders went over the map. When the conference ended they had taken from the debatable states, Wisconsin, Missouri, Maryland, Kentucky and New York, with a reservation that there would have to be some campaigning done in Missouri and that while New York was pretty certain to go Democratic, the Democrats there would have to be on their guard and not feel too cocksure, and made a list of the states where they will have to fight for votes with a good chance of carrying them.

New Jersey Held Debatable. In this list they placed first the great Middle Western states of Illinois, Ohio and Indiana, from the New England group they put down Maine and Connecticut. Along the Mason and Dixon border they made note of West Virginia. In a class by itself, they placed Pennsylvania, which they jettisoned down New Jersey as debatable, although the New Jersey leaders close to the Governor have promised the state to him by pluralities ranging from 50,000 to 100,000 votes. These states the Governor referred to tonight as "debatable," but indications are that he believes he can carry every one.

Mr. Underwood told the Governor that before coming to Trenton he had consulted with Congressmen in these states, and could therefore speak with a fair working knowledge of conditions.

Underwood is Helpful. "We went over the situation in the debatable states," Governor Wilson said today, "concerning which was the best campaigning ground in the country. With Mr. Underwood's unusual knowledge of conditions through his colleagues in Congress, I have gotten a great deal out of the situation that was very valuable to me. Maine, the first state discussed, is regarded as having strong inclinations to remain Democratic. Underwood's report places it high in the list of states to be won with a fair amount of campaigning. Indiana is counted upon to support the ticket loyally, not alone because its voters are Wilson's running mate, but because of local conditions, the divided Republican vote, and a strong trend towards Democracy since the last Presidential campaign. In Ohio, Governor Wilson believed, the third party will divide the republican vote so that the Democrats will have more than a fair chance of carrying the state. In fact, it is understood that the third party movement was reckoned with more heavily there than in most of the other states. Pennsylvania, excepted, that are regarded by the Republicans united, the outlook would still look good, he believes, notwithstanding the fact that it is President Taft's home state.

Pennsylvania is Classed Alone. Pennsylvania is placed in a class by itself, because from all over the state there have come to the Governor in Washington, declarations from Republicans that will vote for Wilson and because of the unusually rosy hue of the reports of the party leaders there. Although it has been regarded as a rock-ribbed Republican state for decades, Governor Wilson said today that he regarded it as "decidedly debatable ground." The views of Governor Foss, of Massachusetts, regarding Connecticut, supplemented by reports to Mr. Underwood, letters from Wilson leaders and other Democrats in the state are reflected in the attitude of the nominee towards Connecticut. Mr. Underwood told him that there was an excellent chance of carrying the state, Massachusetts, for some reason, was not mentioned, but this is not regarded as significant, as the list is by no means complete and there are yet many states to be taken up.

West Virginia Debatable. "West Virginia, of course, is debatable ground," This from Wilson sums up the nominee's attitude towards that commonwealth. Missouri, it developed today, was discussed in detail by the Governor and Speaker when the latter was here last Saturday. At that time the Speaker is said to have told Governor Wilson that some work would have to be done there, but that there was no reason why the state should not support the ticket.

Coming down to New York, the Governor feels confident of the result there next November. This feeling, he said, was strengthened by a talk with Lieutenant-Governor Conway at Trenton today.

"He said that the feeling in the state was strong for me," the Governor said today, in discussing the interview. "That was the principal theme. He is particularly familiar with the conditions up-state and said they were very favorable indeed." The Governor added that Mr. Conway told him he thought the third party vote in New York would not "make much impression."

King Lifts Hat. King George and Miss Countess looked each other squarely in the eyes. Miss Countess smiled gravely and lifted his hat. Miss Countess