

HANFORD FAVORITE ON WITNESS STAND

Wholesale Liquor Dealer, 70 Years Old, Is Named Receiver by Judge.

JURIST DENIES REQUEST

Sutcliffe Baxter Testifies That Man Accused Refused $65,000 for Bankrupt Stock, After Receiver Took Hold $11,000 Realized.

SEATTLE, July 17.—Sutcliffe Baxter, 70 years old, a former wholesale liquor dealer who is alleged to have been favorite of United States Judge Cornelius H. Hanford in the latter's appointment of receivers for insolvent firms, was on the witness stand before the House Judiciary sub-committee most of the day, and when other witnesses were testifying the subjects inquired into had relation to the Baxter receiverships.

It was brought out on examination that Baxter's son married a daughter of the late Governor John H. McGraw, and the committee asked questions calculated to develop that McGraw had been instrumental in having Hanford appointed to the bench.

Frederick Bausman, attorney for the Metropolitan Trust Company of New York in the proceedings against the insolvent Western Steel Corporation, testified that he had requested Judge Hanford to appoint Edgar Ames, of Seattle, receiver, as he was known to the New York creditors.

Hanford Refuses Request.
Hanford refused and Bausman suggested Lester Turner, of Seattle, as receiver. The judge accepted Turner, according to Ames, and said it would be well to have two receivers, and named Sutcliffe Baxter as such second receiver. Witness saw no need of a second receiver and had not thought of Baxter.

Baxter testified that Judge Hanford refused an offer of $65,000 for the bankrupt McGraw's dry goods. Witness said that after Baxter had conducted the store ten months the creditors received $11,000.

James S. Goldsmith, manager of a large wholesale grocery firm, was called to testify concerning the meeting held by a committee of the Seattle Creditmen's Association to consider reform in the manner of appointing Federal receivers and at which it was decided not to lay evidence before the Congressional committee.

No Action Is Urged.
Witness testified that he had urged that the committee take no action, first because it had been appointed to confer with Hanford, not to prosecute him, and second, because Hanford's great services to the community entitled him to the good will of the merchants.

Witness on cross-examination admitted that his firm had been twice indicted for violation of the Federal pure food law.

E. S. Grosscup, an attorney of Tacoma, contradicted the testimony of Governor Teas, also a Tacoma attorney, that Judge Hanford had fallen asleep during trial of a suit in Tacoma.

Creditor's Head Testifies.
Eugene G. Anderson, president of the Seattle Creditmen's Association, testified concerning a meeting of a committee appointed for the purpose of obtaining co-operation of the Federal courts and the association in the appointment of capable receivers for bankrupt firms, with a view to conservation of the estates of bankrupts. Witness testified that at the meeting an attorney appeared and represented that the House Judiciary subcommittee, which had just arrived in the city, desired to obtain from the association evidence relating to complaints against receiverships in Judge Hanford's court.

The matter was then discussed, witness said, and it was decided with one dissenting vote that the committee had not yet conferred with Judge Hanford concerning the proposed co-operation in receivership matters. It would not be proper for the committee to lay its complaints before the Congressional committee.

At the meeting it was said that inasmuch as the Congressional investigation was a Socialist movement, it would be unfortunate to have the committee dragged into it; that if anything was done as a result of the committee's investigation, the Socialists would claim credit for it. Witness said this was the general sense of the meeting. Witness denied that it was said that witnesses who should testify might suffer injury.

Sutcliffe Baxter gave a summary of the result of eight receiverships to which he had been appointed by Judge Hanford, beginning in 1864. Witness testified that he was formerly in the liquor business, and before that a trader among the Indians and manager of a company ore for a coal company at Bellingham.

JOSEPHINE COUNTY SCHOOLMA'AMS TIRE OF DULL SUMMER DAYS AND START ON 98-MILE "HIKE."

DAISY COLE, AUGUSTA PARKER AND GERTRUDE CAHILL, GRANTS PASS Or., July 17.—(Special.)—Three Josephine County school teachers, tired of the dull summer days, have struck across the country and are walking to Crescent City in Del Norte County, California, a distance of 98 miles. The three young women who are making a record in walking for themselves are Miss Daisy Cole, Augusta Parker and Gertrude Cahill. They left Grants Pass Friday morning at 5 o'clock and are covering the ground at the rate of 20 miles a day. A telephone message yesterday stated that they were within 23 miles of their destination. The road over which they will walk crosses the Coast range mountains and leads down through the big redwoods of California. Their equipment consists of light luggage, with revolver for protection in case they should see a bear or mountain farmer on the stage, as they are out for a genuine vacation trip. After reaching Crescent City they will rest by the seashore and have an enjoyable vacation. They plan on walking back.

STATE DRUGGISTS ENJOYING SPORTS

Running Races and Surf Bathing Part of Pharmacists' Programme.

IMPORTANT ACT IS PASSED

At Business Session Resolution Drawn Up Requesting Nonpublication of Names of Poison Used in Cases of Suicide.

GEARHART, Or., July 17.—(Special.)

The second day's session of the Oregon State Pharmaceutical Association was divided between a business session in the morning and a series of sports in the afternoon, preceded by surf bathing, which was indulged in by practically the entire delegation, both women and men.

The meeting was called to order by the president, H. M. Horton, of Burns, about 100 druggists being in attendance.

Among the questions of interest was the following resolution, which is the form adopted by the National Wholesale Druggists Association and recommended for general adoption:

Whereas, the publication by the daily newspapers of the names of persons used in cases of suicide or homicide, together with information concerning such persons and the amount constituting a fatal dose, has the tendency to treat their use to criminals and persons of suicidal intent.

Recommendation Is Made.
Therefore, Be it resolved that we recommend that the members of the Oregon State Pharmaceutical Association request the proprietors of newspapers in their vicinity to omit in future the publication of these details.

This resolution has been endorsed by Melville E. Stone, general manager of the Associated Press, and has been adopted by several state associations. It was adopted unanimously by the association after the reading of the association message of the president, and the meeting adjourned till tomorrow.

Shortly after dinner all the delegates, families and friends took a dip in the surf, followed by a swim in the salt water swimming tank. This took up the time until 4 P. M., when all assembled on the grounds at the rear of the hotel and the first day's sports were begun.

The first event on the programme was a nail-driving contest for men. One minute was allowed to each man and the one who drove the most nails in that time was declared the winner. Over 20 delegates took part, E. R. Williston winning first prize and H. M. Horton second.

Miss Finney Wins Race.
A running race for women weighing under 150 pounds was won by Miss Nellie Finney, with Mrs. A. W. Allen second.

The race for women weighing over 150 pounds was won by Miss Irene Jones, with Mrs. P. M. Horton second.

A needle-threading contest for men, in which over 20 took part, was won by H. Brown, with L. A. Jackson second. In this unique contest the men stood in line with their hands behind them, one hand holding the needle, the other thread. At a signal all tried to see who could thread the needle first, with results above noted.

The evening was devoted to cards and music. Weber's juvenile orchestra being engaged for the occasion.

On Thursday a business session will be held in the morning, at which a number of interesting papers are to be read of interest to the assembled druggists.

JUDGE SCORES HOODLUMS

Boys Who Took Auto and Endangered Lives Just Miss Rockpile.

"No man is his own boss as long as he lives in his mother's house," said Justice Olson, of the Peace court yesterday when Al Buckley and Earl Shelley were before him to answer for their disorderly conduct last Saturday when they drove a machine on the Linnton road, which was drunk and finally wrecked another automobile. Shelley had taken the machine of his mother, after she had forbidden him, and had picked up two companions.

The youths very narrowly escaped a rockpile sentence, and were released under suspended sentence only after Judge Olson had administered to them a scolding rebuke.

"I have long wished for the opportunity to send such hoodlums as you to the rockpile before my term expires," said Justice Olson. "You went out for a good time regardless of the rights and lives of other people. You are the kind that would just as readily as not have run into some of those on the road and injured or killed them, and then have passed on. You have good homes and have been raised under the best of influences, and still you persist in making regular hoodlums of yourselves."

The testimony shows that with Shelley and Buckley was riding William Morgan, Shelley was driving. Buckley was in the rear seat, where he was being supported by Morgan. Driving recklessly along, and swerving to right and to left, the car would undoubtedly have run into a crowd of people who were gathered in the middle of the road in front of the Claremont Tavern, about 12:30 in the morning, but Buckley suddenly kicked Shelley in the head, causing him to release his hold on the steering wheel. The car ran into a machine in which a load of guests from the Portland Hotel were being driven by P. L. Neal. When arrested Buckley fought the officers and had to be held down by main force until brought to town. The arrests were made by Deputy Constable Harrington and Deputy Sheriff Truesdell.

TALK WITH LESCHETIZKY

His Ideas as to Creation of Real Musical Expression.

Woman's Home Companion.
Leschetizky is generally admitted to be the greatest teacher of piano in the world. While much of this reputation rests on his marvelous ideas of technique, yet he is perhaps even greater in his teaching of interpretation.

Too many piano teachers and piano students lay so much stress on the technical side of piano study that they neglect the study of music. Leschetizky teaches that the beauty of interpretation should be thought of from the very first minute one begins to study.

When I was studying with the great master, he pointed out to me the importance of musical expression in the following way: He called my attention to the fact that one person, for instance, may tell you a tale in such a way that you find little in it that is interesting, whereas another person may tell you the same story in such a manner that you follow every word with the keenest attention.

The secret of interest lies not only in the story, but very especially in the voice, the tone, the expression—in the manner of telling. All this is interpretation. A careless or dull piano student may play even some exquisite melody in such a way that it does not attract you at all, whereas an artist's playing of it may bring the tears to your eyes. The difference does not lie in technique, as some people might suppose, for both performers may have an equal technique; it lies in what we call, in music, interpretation.

Tuberculosis Exhibit to Be Held in Salem Armory.

SEVEN MEETINGS PLANNED

Well-Known Speakers to Take Part in Programme—Chemawa Indian Training School Pupils May Attend Exhibit in Body.

SALEM, Or., July 17.—(Special.)—Tuberculosis in all its forms will be studied at the tuberculosis exhibit which will open here in the new Armory tomorrow and will continue through the following Wednesday. Seven meetings will be held and speakers with a wide knowledge of the subject in hand will take part.

The tentative programme which has been arranged is as follows: Friday, July 19, 8 o'clock in the evening, George F. Rodgers presiding. Address by Mayor Lachmund, "Tuberculosis, Its Cause and Prevention," by H. J. Clements, M. D., president of the Polk-Yamhill-Marion Medical Society and ex-superintendent of the State Sanatorium for Tuberculosis. "What Are You Going to Do About It?" Dr. R. E. Lee Steiner, superintendent of the State Asylum for the Insane.

Saturday afternoon, July 20—J. H. Ackerman, president of the Monmouth Normal School, presiding. "What the Teacher Should Know About the Prevention of Tuberculosis," C. S. White, M. D., secretary of the State Board of Health. "Tuberculosis in Children," Clarence Keene, M. D., Silverton. "Home Sanitation," W. B. Morse, M. D., member of State Board of Health.

Saturday evening, July 20—T. B. Kly, State Treasurer, presiding. "The Importance of Early Diagnosis of Tuberculosis," L. F. Griffith, W. D., "Patent Medicines and Consumption," George F. Pulmonary, "Hunted House," C. S. White, M. D.

Sunday, July 21—Rev. R. N. Avison, presiding. "Society and the State in Their Relation to Public Health," A. L. Mills, Portland, member of State Board for Prevention of Tuberculosis. "Facts in the Public Health Know," E. A. Pierce, M. D., Portland, member of State Board of Health.

Monday evening, July 22—Dr. W. H. Byrd presiding, "Tuberculosis and Food Contamination," Dr. J. F. Morel, State Veterinarian, Portland. "Consumption in the Rural Districts," Dr. J. O. Van Winkle, Marion County health officer. "Other Forms of Tuberculosis Than Pulmonary," H. J. Clements, M. D.

Tuesday, July 23, John H. Albert, presiding. "Treatment," Ray Matson, M. D., Portland. "Economic Loss to a Community from Tuberculosis," P. L. Campbell, president of the University of Oregon. "Medical Inspection of the Schools," J. N. Smith, M. D.

Wednesday, July 24, Mrs. Richard Cartwright, vice-president Salem Woman's Club, presiding. "The Tuberculosis Campaign from an Educational Viewpoint," Fletcher Homan, president of Willamette University. "Brass Tacks," Miss Cornelia Marvin, secretary State Library Commission. "What Are You Going to Do About It?" Rev. H. T. Babcock, pastor First Presbyterian Church.

It is probable that on one of the days of the exhibit pupils at the Chemawa Indian Training School will attend the exhibit in a body and other organizations, such as fraternal societies, are arranging to attend.
