Retraction of Mammoth
New York Scandal.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—"Bald Jack" Rose, the gambler upon whose testimony the indictment of Police Lieutenant Charles Becker on the charge of instigating the murder of Herman Rosenthal, furnished District Attorney Whitman with a written statement Tuesday, disclosing in detail the history of his relations with Becker as one of the police officers' alleged graft collectors.

Rose in his confession reiterated his previous allegation that Becker was one of four high police officers who collected between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 yearly from illegal resorts, and gave a complete table of his collections from gamblers which, he said, he turned over to Becker.

These collections, according to the confession, averaged from $12,000 to $15,000 a month, and came from a dozen or more gambling-houses. The names of ten of them Rose gave to the District Attorney.

Becker, the self-accused gambler who was continuing to raise money for more money, telling him, he said, that "the bunch downtown isn't getting enough."

Rose said he had always turned his collections over to Becker in cash, frequently in Rose's home, and that his wife and servants had seen the money pass and could testify to the truth of his statement.

Becker's method of bringing the gamblers to terms was to raid their first house. This was the police way, he explained, of "getting acquainted."

After the raid Becker would offer to "fix" the case before the grand jury, Rose charged, "and if you don't, you're a gambler would come across."

To impress the gambler, Becker would procure further warrants, threatening to continue his raids as long as the gambler refused to pay blackmail. Specific instances are given.

Rose said that his own acquaintance began when Becker raided his gambling house. Rose said he then became a stool pigeon for Becker in his raiding activities and later his collector.

Rose substantiates all that Rosenthal had charged as to Becker being his partner in the Rosenthal gambling house. He said that Becker got 33 1/2 per cent of the "play," that Becker got his own account and one-half of Rose's share, which was 25 per cent.

The district attorney, it was learned last night, obtained telephone records substantiating Rose's story that a few minutes after the murder of Rosenthal, Rose called Becker up and asked him to come down town at once and that he communicated by telephone with Becker several times that day.

Becker saw newspaper men in his cell today. When he was asked if it was true that "the eye" was collecting a $50,000 fund to defend him, he replied:

"I have engaged John F. McIntyre to conduct my case, advised me by counsel, John W. Hart. No system will suggest my counsel, I am master of my own case."

The railroad agent, hiding under the station, sent out the report of the attack, adding that he intended to stay where he could be comfortable.

OUSTED MAYOR IN CITY

C. A. Northey, of Huntington, Indorses Governor's Housecleaning.

C. A. Northey, the man whose removal Governor West directed as

Mayor of Huntington and cashier of the Bank of Huntington, arrived in Portland yesterday to attend to some financial matters in connection with his banking interests. In speaking of Huntington affairs he said:

"Governor West did forcibly and quickly exactly what I had been trying to do since being unanimously elected Mayor of Huntington in March last. The conditions there have been far from ideal morally, but the situation is a difficult one to handle on account of the general character of the floating population. My position as Mayor was more or less of a sinecure, as the City Marshal was an elective officer over whom I had no actual control. Except the aspersions cast on my character, which those who know me recognize as being really glad of the purification of Huntington came as it did. I have large interests there and will continue to make that city my home, as there is an excellent future for it as a considerable business center. I do really hope that the unpleasant things that have been said of the city will be forgotten and in a few years the stigma that has been placed on it by undue publicity will be wiped out by its moral and industrial growth."

WILSON LEARNS TODAY

DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE TO BE OFFICIALLY NOTIFIED.

Governor Marshall Meets Standard Bearer for First Time in Year.

Ceremony to Be Simple.

SEAGIRT, N. J., Aug. 7.—Governor Wilson, Presidential nominee on the Democratic ticket, met Governor Marshall, of Indiana, the Vice-Presidential nominee Tuesday at a seaside nook, two miles away. It was the first time the two Governors had seen each other within a year and their greeting was cordial.

Governor Marshall came to attend the ceremonies at Sea Girt tomorrow, in which Governor Wilson will be notified of his nomination. The meeting came at the close of the afternoon day for Governor Wilson. At an early hour he motored to the state house at Trenton, met a delegation of Democrats from Delaware and Maryland as well as Governor O'Neil, of Alabama, who will stump for him in the North.

At noon, Governor Wilson made a brief speech at the district campaign headquarters in it to his callers. He advocated, he said, taking the Government of the United States "out of the hands of the trusts" and putting it in the hands of "those we can trust."

The notification ceremonies tomorrow will be simple and brief. About 10 o'clock in the afternoon, Senator-elect James, of Kentucky, chairman of the notification committee of 52, will notify Governor Wilson of his nomination. Governor Wilson's speech of acceptance will approximate 6000 words.

The Democratic Governors of 32 states have been invited to attend, and prominent Democrats from various sections have signified their intention of being present.

Governor and Mrs. Wilson will entertain the notification committee and their guests at luncheon.

BALLPLAYER SEEKS UNION

Organization of Major League Men Is Big Plan Now.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—David Fultz, a lawyer, who was formerly outfielder with the New York Americans and the Philadelphia Athletics, said last night that he was organizing a union of major league baseball players who were in progress. He said members of the National League club met in his office last Sunday and that American League players met secretly in New York two weeks earlier. The 16 clubs of the two major leagues were represented either by person or by proxy, he declared.

Fultz said there were certain matters concerning contracts and other phases of a ball player's life which the players believe they can change for the better by binding themselves together.

QUESTIONS TO BE ASKED

Suggestions Made That Candidates of Other Parties Be Required to Declare Openly Against "Political Theft."

Fourth of July celebration. It is a solemn and serious undertaking and those in the lead in the movement feel the grave responsibilities which confront them in deciding the right course, as they see the right, and to pursue that right course unflinchingly that the great progressive movement may this year win National success.

With us, after doing our duty in the National gathering as well as our individual endowments were permitted to own responsibility hereafter and until November 8, is the conscientious support to the movement in Oregon, so far as we have ability toward landing which in fact is the present Oregon, we have every faith that Roosevelt is to sweep the country. We feel sure he will carry Oregon on this platform, which, in fact, is the Oregon plan, has now become a contract offered to the whole Nation.

Politician Greatest Coward.

This is a crowning glory to our state and a National endorsement to the plain people of Oregon who created the Oregon plan. When Lincoln went into the then new Republican party, he sought in every way to have those running for office on the old Whig ticket, in fact that in the present Oregon, and the office-seeker is of all men the greatest coward. He fears to move from his old mooring and although those old Whigs knew that the Republican party like the present progressive movement, was based on great moral and eternal principles, they faltered and in that earthly moment of political events which followed they were destroyed. I have had a lifelong affiliation with the Republican party and like most Oregon progressive Republicans, feel that in the present Oregon emergency and in a controversy primarily among Republicans those on the state and county Republican tickets should first be given consideration.

Democrats May Be Considered.

If some men already nominated on the Republican ticket are not progressive, consideration of Democrats already nominated for such offices should be given. With the true follower of Roosevelt, now the program is to nominate, the first and greatest consideration, except perhaps on the part of the local candidates themselves, must be the election of the National and county tickets with us overshadowed every other political question. In Oregon, with no progressive state or county ticket, the field is absolutely clear for the strengthening of the National Progressive ticket.

Certainly to have a state ticket and county tickets wherever nominally at least, supporting the alleged and spurious Republican National ticket and state and county tickets everywhere with the Democratic party, with a multitude of workers thereby contributing their several energies against us, while we should have no such support, would be bad in morals and false in duty.

It is for the state governing body of the Progressive party or others than myself to decide as to state and county tickets, but it is possibly not out of order to say that so far as my individual judgment goes, it would seem fair to first interrogate those already nominated and determine whether or not those already before the people. In most cases good men are now proposing who are ready to assist us in electing Roosevelt and his running mate.

This must be no whispering affair. No statement that one is a progressive will be sufficient. Will the candidate openly support the National Progressive candidates? Is the question. Some earnest colleagues may not agree with this sentiment, but it seems to me that the candidate need not declare himself a member of the new Progressive party, but he certainly must declare openly against the political theft of a National nomination and stand boldly for its rebuke by his support of the Progressive National candidates running upon an Oregon platform.

Full set of Tickets Planned.

At the same primary in which the local candidate received his own nomination the Oregon voters are already on record for Roosevelt. Will the candidate follow the instruction of his state? After exhausting a moderate period of time with our former Republican colleagues now under nomination and examining the Democratic nominees, we must decide that those not for us are against us. Then, in my opinion, must we fill out the tickets, state and county, with those who shall be with us, that from United States Senator to the Constable in every county in the state we may elect a full progressive set of officers, and thus with new National progressivism patterned in so many instances from laws already in force in progressive Oregon. Doubtless many men throughout the state feel in this new movement the call to office. There may be good reasons why numbers of these deserve official preferment, but this present movement must not be made an office-riding chariot. Such men must be patient, demonstrate their worth to the new movement and under the people themselves. Just now the people are engaged in a more serious business than to provide offices to the office-seeker.

People Are Selecting Leaders.

The people are selectiv, we hope, wise leaders. This work begins with the people and these leaders are fresh from the people. These leaders will do the best they can, but the people must certainly advise these leaders, who feel the moral responsibility in a movement such as this. The example of Governor Osborn, of Michigan, and Governor Deneen, of Illinois, should not be overlooked. Both played the waiting game too long. Osborn is again back for Roosevelt, but the procession has gone on and left him. Illinois yesterday sounded in her state progressive convention the death knell of Deneen.

Oregon men already nominated need to get their house in order, for the Oregon progressive set of officers is now being sought and we believe happy for their political lives if we find on these doorposts, as in the days of the prophet, the sign that therein rests the true faith.

AUTO INJURES WOMAN

MRS. PERCY GUNNOE HIT BY CAR ON BASELINE ROAD.

Machine Is Driven by Mrs. Joseph Supple—Victim Said To Have Been Thrown 20 Feet.

While running toward Portland along the Base Line road Tuesday the fender of an automobile driven by Mrs. Joseph Supple struck and severely injured Mrs. Percy Gunnoe, a resident of that neighborhood. Mrs. Gunnoe was knocked down, but with assistance she was able to walk across the road to the house.

The accident took place about half a mile north of the Country Club at 4:50 P. M. In the car besides Mrs. Gunnoe were Mrs. F. J. Waring, Mrs. C. F. Jones and Mrs. M. M. Uptogrove.

Mrs. Gunnoe was standing on the edge of the road talking to a neighbor, who was sitting in her buggy on the right side of the road. The automobile is said to have been traveling on the left-hand side of the road, and caught Mrs. Gunnoe, knocking her 20 feet and inflicting injuries and severe cuts and bruises, though no bones were broken.

The husband of the injured woman said last night that the driver of the automobile was to blame, because it was on the left-hand side of the road. Mrs. Gunnoe was standing on the south side of the road by the path.

Mrs. Joseph Supple said that the accident was caused by the restlessness of the horse and that she never saw Mrs. Gunnoe until the car hit her.

NAPPING CAUGHT NAPPING

Mrs. Brown Had Husband but Wanted Year to Get Divorce.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 7.—(Special.)—Word was received here Tuesday by Captain of Detectives Wall that Alice J. Brown, who is wanted here to explain how she snatched David Napping, a retired Illinois farmer, out of something like $17,000, has been arrested at Portland and is being held awaiting the arrival of an officer from this city.

Mrs. Brown is 22 and possesses more than her share of beauty and attractiveness. She is also a grass widow. Napping came to this city for rest and recreation, after making a comfortable little fortune during his farming days in Illinois. Napping was attracted by Mrs. Brown's beauty, and Mrs. Brown was attracted by Napping's money.

According to Napping, it was love at first sight, and he was caught napping. The only obstacle to a marriage was that Mrs. Brown already had a husband, an employe of an insurance company, whose name has not been divulged. Mrs. Brown's proposal was that Napping should wait a year, meanwhile providing the necessary money for current expenses while she proceeded to get her divorce from her husband, she freed.

The history of the divorce suit has not been gone into, but the waiting proved more expensive than Napping had anticipated. It was a gay time while it lasted, and it lasted until $17,000 of Napping's fortune had been lavished on his flimsy tows. The last $3500 of it was the police, was given her to purchase an apartment-house. But it turned out that Mrs. Brown did not want an apartment-house, and the purchase money was made. A month later Mrs. Brown faded quietly from sight, and Napping came to the police on June 27 to ask their aid in finding her.

Napping has returned to Illinois, but promised the officers that he would be on hand to testify when his gay defector was brought into court.

PAGET ATTACKS LAXITY

Prohibition Candidate Scores Old Parties on Liquor Question.

FOREST GROVE, Or., Aug. 7.—(Special.)—Refusal of the Republican and Democratic parties to resolve the liquor question as a political issue, was dwelt upon by B. Lee Paget, Prohibitionist candidate for United States Senate at Salem in his address at Beils Falls last night. The speaker contrasted the chaotic conditions existing in both of the old parties and declared that many of the reformers who are in their platforms were enunciated in the platform of the Prohibitionist party in 1872.

Tonight's meeting, the seventh of the day, was the largest attended since Mr. Paget and O. A. Stillman, candidate for Representative in Congress from the First District, began their automobile tour of Washington County yesterday. The speakers were introduced tonight by Rev. Hiram Gould, who presided as chairman of the meeting.

SALMON TROLLING IS PLAN

Seagoing Boats Being Fitted Out to Dodge State Fish Laws.

ASTORIA, Or., Aug. 7.—(Special.)—As a result of the success of the fishermen who have been trolling for salmon outside the mouth of the river during the present season, quite an industry in that line is promised for this Fall. Several boats are now being rigged for that particular class of fishing.

The crafts that are to be used are Colby's fish boats, but are decked over with a small cockpit, left at the stern for the men, the idea being that such a craft will be able to tuck out in heavy weather. The boats will fish well off shore, in the vicinity of the lights, and it is asserted they will not be subject to the same losses as the fisherman in touch with new National progressivism patterned in so many instances
