Schedule Week August 12-18. Los Angeles at Portland. Sacramento at San Francisco. Oakland at Vernon.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—(Special.)—For the first time this year the Seals have won a Sunday double-header. For the fifth time since 1912 baseball opened, they have captured a series. If that is not going some for one of the near tailenders, you are gong to be hard to satisfy. The series against the Beavers was clinched when Elmer Koestner was pounded out of the game in the fourth inning and the game wan hands down, $ to 1, with Miller pitching in good form.

The double-header belonged to the San Franciscans when they took the afternoon session, 1 to 0, Frank Miller.

who succeeded the crippled Clarence Henley, pitching himself out of so many tight holes that it made things mighty interesting.

Portland did not have a look-in, s far as the morning affair was con-cerned, and the break of the luck was won from Vernon in two years. all against them in the second session crowd at the second game was Double Play Peculiar.

Outside of the fact that San Fran cisco won five out of the seven played this week, there were other things that counted. Henley suffered a serious injury when one of his fingers was hurt as he stopped Rodgers' line drive in the first inning. The other matter of was the most peculiar double play that Coast League fans have ever witnessed. A double in which the right fielder, the first baseman and the catcher are mixed up, is something out of the ordinary. This double made its appearance today, Mundorff throwing the batsman out at first on a hit to right and Del Howard completing the double play by relaying to the plate to catch the runner, who had been on second when the action commenced.

Both sides missed many chances to score in the afternoon. Time and again be Beavers had their runners on the ises, but missed fire and the same bing goes for the Scals, who regis-tered seven hits in four innings, but could not make an impression on the scoreboard. The one run that did the business was a combination of a walk, a steal and a two-bagger, and proved just enough to win the game, although there were times when Miller's chances looked none too bright. Elmer Fears Jinx.

For the fourth time in two weeks Elmer Koestner, who thinks there is a divided three games each. Score: inx hanging over him at Recreation R.H.E. Park, San Francisco, and has solicited the job of heaving for the Oregonians at the Oakland grounds, was defeated. Koestner's delivery this morning was so easy to solve that he was chased from the game in the fourth inning, after seven runs had been scored.

The Beavers, blanked for five in-nings, showed a tendency to slam Charlie Fanning in the sixth and made one run, which left them 8 to 1 in the All the life was taken out of the game in the first inning. Five hirs, one of which was a double, netted three runs off Koestner. There were two more tallies in the third, and when Mundorff's three-bagger had scored another duet in the fourth, it was the all timber for Elmer. No man had been retired at the time of the removal, so Harkness is not to blame if another man slid by to the plate in safety before he was thoroughly in command of the situation. After that nning he blanked the Seals most con-stirrup leather, and a general slackening of pace, with a couple of penalties, brought them back a peg, and when the Blues, playing with great dash, put on a couple in the sixth, those who had put their money on the first team began to have hopes once more.

It seemed, though, from the subsequent play, the Reds had been toying with them, for straight from the throw in they took the ball down the field to score, and repeated the dose once again. The Blues could only retaliate once, a fine fast game ending in favor of the Reds by the score of 614 to 515.

In the game between the two Army teams Rhinehart for Boise played his best game of the week. Chapman's part of the day. riding was again a feature of the day though he is too prone to Haverkamp put in any amount of work, but, good as he was, scarcely shone as much as on Friday. For the Artillery Beatty caught the eye on many occa-sions for good work, while Figley, who took the piace of Lieutenant George, out of the match with a game leg, proved a good substitute.

Slow Play Bothers Cavalry. Where the Cavalry lost its oppor-tunity was in the opening periods, es-pecially the second. The faster the game the more it shines, and the slow ponies of the opponents seemed to put the Cavalry players off their usual tactics. most striking feature of the game between the rival Waverly apart from the good form of Major Ross, whose back-handers were the choice tid-bits of the day, was the improved form shown by all. Better hit-ting and improved riding off were noticed by all. The Corbett family members were none too delicate with each other, Elliot Corbett for the Reds, having some rare tussels with Harry Corbett, back for the Blues. Captain Corbett, back for the Blues. Captain Voorbles played his best game of the week, and Sherman Hall was always in the thick of it. Tone was too apt to over ride the ball when he got away. but otherwise showed improved form:
