

WARRANT FOR BARTON FOR OVERLAND CLUB

McCleary, Who Conducted Club, Must Answer to Two Suspended Sentences.

JURY FINDS BARTON GUILTY

One of Those Caught in Sunday Raid Is Fined $20 for Disorderly Conduct—Grand Jury Report May Sting.

That the Overland Club, raided last Sunday by the police, is a loosely organized aggregation, holding its meetings in an unlicensed saloon conducted by J. A. McCleary, was the view taken by Judge Taxwell yesterday after hearing the evidence. Accordingly, he issued a bench warrant for the appearance of McCleary, to answer to two suspended sentences received by him in the Municipal Court last Spring.

At the same time a jury found one of those caught last Sunday guilty of disorderly conduct and a fine of $20 was imposed. Thereupon several others came forward voluntarily and received fines of $10.

Because of the limitation of the issues on trial, the city was debarred from following out its prior project of bringing in as witnesses four youths held for the murder of Adam Baker, to show that the drunken row which ended in the murder followed directly upon their sallying out of the club after drinking there. All four are minors.

Stinging Report Expected. A hot report of the grand jury upon the alleged neglect of the police to close the place earlier is freely predicted to occur when the jury makes its final report.

Proceedings in Municipal Court began yesterday over the selection to be made from the 52 under arrest to stand trial at that time. Selection finally was made of George Barton, who, the witnesses said, was particularly disorderly. They were required to describe the man, whereupon the defense produced Barton, not answering to the description in any respect. It was held, however, that the city had made out a case against one of the defendants, and the jury returned a verdict of guilty. Judge Taxwell imposed a fine of $20 and refused to raise it to permit an appeal.

Officers testified that the men were lined up at the bar two deep when they entered, that they stood down until one and that one had to be carried to the wagon.

Cards Given to Transients. Other defendants who were fined after the conviction by a jury admitted that they had paid nothing for membership in the club, but had had cards given to them. Some were transients in the city.

Though attorneys employed by the club said they represented all the defendants, the court was incredulous, as some had admitted by a juror and indicated that they had no attorney. The lawyers will be required to designate definitely this morning for whom they are employed to act, and what action they intend to take. There remain 45 cases to be tried.

Because McCleary, who manages the club, is under a suspended fine of $100 for selling liquor on Sunday and another case of vagrancy, is continued for sentence, Judge Taxwell ordered a bench warrant for him last night, and he will be brought in to explain his connection with the club. He is said to have been out of the city at the time of the raid.

BRIDGE COST ESTIMATED

Modjeski Fixes Total of Broadway Structure at $1,543,717.

The total cost of the Broadway bridge would be $1,543,717.57, according to the estimate fixed by Engineer Ralph Modjeski in a report made yesterday to the city auditor. The amount covers all contracts and extras which have been let and which are expected during the construction of the bridge. The figures are reported by Engineer Modjeski as follows:

Contract to the Union Bridge & Construction Company $607,827.33
Extra bills, Union Bridge & Construction Company 954.30
Contract to the Pennsylvania Steel Company (estimate) 725,000.00
Extra bills, Pennsylvania Steel Company (such as extra work, etc.) 3,000.00
Contract for grading 2,938.49
Contract for street lighting (estimate) 12,500.00
City engineer's estimate 14,800.00
Contract for rails, etc. 12,947.70
Amount paid for steel 50,000.00
Engineering 50,000.00
Additional material (estimate) 6,718.00
Additional extra bills (estimate) 3,600.00
The figures were requested by the City Auditor as a guide to the ways and means committee of the Council in selling bridge bonds.

ALBANY AFTER CANNERY

Commercial Club to Aid Small Farmers in Finding Market.

ALBANY, Or., Aug. 15.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the Commercial Club, held last Monday evening, the matter of providing better market for the products of the small farms in this vicinity was pretty thoroughly discussed. The large farms are rapidly being cut up into small holdings, which naturally results in a system of more intensive farming and it does not take long to stock the local market with the horticultural products. The surplus can be shipped to the canneries of some of the other Valley towns, but that takes off a good part of the profit that rightly belongs in the farmer's pocket.

BOOK BRINGS WOMAN FAME

History of Texas Leads to Mrs. Pennybacker's Step to Leadership.

Bonnie Pennybacker, who is registered at the Bowers in Austin, Texas, is the eldest of three children of Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, president of the general Federation of Women's Clubs, having been elected at its recent annual session at San Francisco. The young man came West with his mother, attending the session of the federation, and since has been looking over the Coast with the intention of seeking a location as a civil and mechanical engineer.

In speaking of his mother, of whom he is justly proud, Mr. Pennybacker said: "She has the brains of the family and this cannot be disputed. While I was still a little boy she became interested in the history of Texas and at the suggestion of my father, who died two years ago, she wrote a history of the state, which is now one of the text books in all the schools of Texas, and from which she receives a handsome revenue. This work attracted attention to her and forced her into women's work in that state and eventually she acquired a National reputation, resulting in her election to her present position. While the best of mothers, she is a very busy woman of excellent executive ability and financial judgment. My father left her a considerable estate, which she has handled so judiciously that it has increased many fold. With all the honors that she has received and unusual business success, for a woman, she is the same kind and attentive mother to our children as when we were little tots."

WIDOW OF 14 DAYS DIES

MRS. SADIE COSTELLO VICTIM OF PTOMAIN POISON.

Mate of Man Killed by Police Auto Brooding Over Loss of Husband Aids Affliction.

Following on the death of her husband from collision with a police automobile exactly two weeks ago, Mrs. Sadie Costello died yesterday morning at 3:30 o'clock at 23 1/2 North Sixteenth street, from ptomain poisoning. Want of sleep and lack of food, coupled with mental agitation resulting from the unfortunate death of her husband, had lowered her vitality to such a degree that she had little or no strength left with which to combat the poison which entered her system.

"Ever since her late husband's death," said Dr. J. D. Fenton, "she had been under my care. She would eat but little, and was forever thinking and brooding over the loss of her husband. Consequently, though she was a large woman and looked strong, she was in a very lowered condition."

In order to get away from the home which reminded her too forcibly of her loss she had moved only two or three days ago to a new flat with the intention of making a home for her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Keller, last Wednesday, in the company with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hyde, had partaken of some food purchased at a neighboring delicatessen store about 2 o'clock in the day. Shortly afterwards Mrs. Costello was taken ill.

The body was taken to Finley's parlors, where an autopsy last night revealed ptomain poisoning as the cause of her death.

The funeral arrangements will not be made until the receipt of a telegram from the brother-in-law, P. J. Costello, of Chicago. The latter was here for the funeral of his brother and had only arrived back again in Chicago last Sunday.

MRS. FECHT NOT FREED

WIFE NOT ALLOWED TO ATTEND FUNERAL.

Evidence Tending to Show That Exoneration Was Due to Colored Testimony Is Gathered.

Under guard of a Deputy Sheriff, Mrs. Ethel Fecht, held for the murder of her husband, Otto Fecht, went to the undertaking establishment of Dunning & McIntee, yesterday and looked into the face of the man she had killed, and whom she still protests, she loves, she underwent the ordeal much more quietly than had been expected. Her desire to be present at the funeral, which was held in the afternoon, and action in the Municipal Court was delayed for this reason, for Coleman intervened and did not permit what they said would have been a desecration. Discovery of new evidence, damaging to the woman, caused the District Attorney yesterday to announce that he would disregard the verdict of exoneration given her by a coroner's jury on the grounds of self-defense, and arrangements have been made for a preliminary hearing in Municipal Court today.

Witnesses not found by the police at the time the voluntary appearance, and put a new phase on the case, which, according to the testimony at the coroner's inquest, had been one of a wife defending herself from the attacks of a drunken and brutal husband.

Detectives Hyde and Mallet, who are handling the case, have learned facts tending to show that this testimony given by the woman, causing her to be colored in the woman's favor. They have found, on the other hand, that the killing followed a series of taunts in which Fecht was goaded into assaulting the woman. It will be shown that she made a number of murderous attacks on him on previous occasions. The woman was much the larger of the two.

Chehalis Starts Liability Fund.

CENTRALIA, Wash., Aug. 15.—(Special.)—The city commission of Chehalis will inaugurate an accident fund. Hereafter all damage claims against the city have been paid from the general fund. It is proposed to make a separate fund for the coming year to levy half a mill for the fund.

DIAZ ROLE PRAISED

President of Mexican Railway Says Rebels Impatient.

"MADERO CAPABLE MAN"

Edward N. Brown, Head of 8200 Miles in Revolutionary Neighbor, Visits Portland and Talks of Nation's Discontent.

"The Mexican insurgents are too impatient. They are armed revolt without giving President Madero a fair chance to demonstrate what he can do toward remedying conditions," says Edward N. Brown, president of the National Railways of Mexico, a consolidation of nearly all the railroads in Mexico. More than 8200 miles of railroad in the Southern republic are under the dominion of Mr. Brown's company.

Mr. Brown's private car, the Hidalgo, with himself and his entire family on board en route to New York City, was dropped at the Portland Union Depot for a few hours, Wednesday, and proceeded east over the O.-W. R. & N. about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Mr. Brown discussed the Mexican situation pro and con, expressing admiration for both President Madero and the deposed Diaz, his predecessor. In speaking of Diaz, he said:

"The work of Diaz praised. 'Many harsh things have been said about this man, who was practically a dictator of the Mexican Republic, but the fact remains that when he took charge he found the country in a disgraceful financial condition and without railroads or telegraph or telephone lines. When the end of his regime came the finances of the country were in a second degree of poverty. The financial conditions of such countries as Great Britain and the United States as first class—and there were thousands of miles of telephones and telegraph lines. The Mexican situation is only an evidence of the worldwide unrest, in other words, and is not a sign of socialism or something akin to it. For my part I do not consider that it would be for the best interests of either this country or Mexico to annex Mexico to the United States. The Mexicans are competent to look after their own affairs. The present revolution is in only two states and there are 27 states and two territories in the country. The fighting is confined entirely to Chihuahua in the north, where Orozco is in command of the insurgents, and to the state of Morelos, south of Mexico City, where Zapata holds sway. Mr. Brown does not take kindly to the suggestion that the Mexican army is a joke, otherwise the uprising would have been crushed long ago. He declares that both Chihuahua and Morelos are mountainous and broken, making it difficult to move armies. Many of those in the insurgent camps are actuated solely by a desire to plunder, he states, and not by high, patriotic motives.

"The trouble in Mexico is more in the nature of an evolution than a revolution," explained Mr. Brown. "One source of discontent is the feudal system of land holding. Large tracts are owned by absentee landlords to the exclusion of the people. Another question is that of universal suffrage. Under Diaz this existed in theory, but not in actual practice. However, those opposing the present government have very little to excite popular sympathy. Madero is a man of high character and ideals and, in my opinion, would be a good ruler. He is, however, not the things cannot be done in an instant."

American interests have been well protected in Mexico considering the warfare in progress. Large tracts of land have been damaged to the extent of possibly $2,000,000, but on the whole, he says, foreigners are not complaining. The state of Chihuahua being the only one in which there are well-founded instances of destruction of property.

ALASKA CATCH IS HEAVY

Despite Storms Salmon Fishermen Report Good Season.

ASTORIA, Or., Aug. 15.—(Special.)—Several letters arrived today from Bristol Bay, Alaska, and among them was one to O. Paulsen from his son, William, dated at Nushagak on July 22, and says the season has been an unusually stormy one in that section. During one day recently 18 boats were capsized in the bay, and while all of the men were finally saved, two men fishing for the Columbia River Packers' Association were at the bottom of the sea. A motor launch was overturned and nearly frozen when rescued. Notwithstanding the numerous storms fishing was good, each of the canneries put up practically a full pack. All the gillnetters did well. The high boat reported among the gillnetters was one working for the Alaska Fishermen's Packing Company, at Kozung. Its catch for the season was 40,000 salmon, which, at 3 1/2 cents per fish, the price paid, amounts to $1400 to be divided between the 100 packmen. He has the $75 each to be paid them for acting as members of the cannery ship's crew on the passage to and from Alaska. The letter states that everyone at the general canneries is busy. He says the vessels were expecting to sail for home about the middle of August.

AGED CHIEF BURIED IN TENINO

CENTRALIA, Wash., Aug. 15.—(Special.)—The funeral of John Heaton, an old Indian who died at his home near Tenino Monday, was held yesterday. Delegations from practically every Indian reservation in the Northwest attended the services. Heaton, who was 85 years of age, was a great friend of the whites in the Indian wars of the early days.

last night on a speaking tour in Jackson and Josephine counties. He will open the talkfest in Ashland Saturday night, where he will speak at the Chautauqua building.

Monday Mr. Shields will speak in the Opera-house at Medford, Tuesday night at Jacksonville Courthouse, Wednesday at Central Point Opera-house, and Thursday at the Opera-house at Grants Pass.

Through the daily newspapers of that section and by means of billboards the voters have been advised that Mr. Shields will discuss "Single Tax Exposure." "I have been warned already that my opponents plan to break up my meetings in riots, and I have so advised the local organizations under whose auspices I shall speak," said Secretary Shields.

"The fact, however, that a general invitation has been extended to women to be present at the single taxers from making themselves more than usually obnoxious. These meetings are my meetings, and I expect to have a fair hearing. If single-taxers or others desire to discuss the issues with me after my lecture, I shall be only too pleased to answer their questions and to give them a little information that is not colored by passion and prejudice."

Other attorneys who appeared in the afternoon were J. H. Keen for the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company, and Thomas Green for the R. R. Thompson Estate Company, which is the owner of the telephone exchange at the Multnomah Hotel Company, which was assumed by the Multnomah Hotel Company. The Multnomah Hotel Company was not represented by counsel. Samuel Hill, president of the Home Telephone & Telegraph Company, was also present.

The fight between the two telephone companies is an unusual interest in the fact that the managements of the Oregon, Portland, Imperial and Multnomah hotels have agreed with each other to a joint plan in favor of the automatic telephone. The court rulings really affect all alike.

FAIR TO FEATURE BABIES

WOMAN DOCTORS TO AID EXPOSITION OF EUGENICS.

Indian Papooses and Infant Incubators to Be Novel Exhibits at Salem Show.

Q. M. Plummer, superintendent of the exposition of eugenics at the State Fair at Salem, is completing final arrangements for the scientific baby show to be held there, and is getting ready to receive the parents of children regarding local exhibits. Superintendent of public instruction, has sent a letter to all the county school superintendents of the state urging that they co-operate in every way to help the exposition.

The management of the Bendleton Round-Up has promised two Indian papooses for the eugenics show, and visitors will be shown the methods of rearing children which were followed by the original inhabitants of this state. Scoring the babies, preliminary to awarding the prizes, will be done by women doctors, and the children having the highest percentages will win. One doctor will score the babies for a certain point, others will do likewise, and the figures will be averaged, so no one judge will have the last word regarding silver cups and other prizes.

There will be an interesting exhibit in connection with the show, that will be of great value to the parents of young children. This will be a display of pure milk, kept in a sanitary manner, and a baby incubator in operation will also be an exhibition. Parents will be warned against harmful medicines and foods for babies and many nostrums in common use will be shown on a blacklist.

Plummer is in correspondence with some of the highest authorities on eugenics in this country. He has lately received a letter from Dr. Margaret W. Clarke, of Waterloo, Ia., who has recently returned from a year's study abroad in the study of this subject. She is co-operating heartily with the management of the coming show and is much interested in it.

BEARS ROBBED

Dissolution of Telephone Injunction Denied.

HOTEL PATRONAGE SOUGHT

Desire Is to Install Home Instruments in Rooms to Connect With Bell System Outside by Local Switchboard.

Attorneys for the Home Telephone & Telegraph Company were unsuccessful in their efforts before Circuit Judge McGinn yesterday to secure the dissolution of the temporary injunction granted last week by Judge Gantenbein restraining the use of the Bell telephones from the Multnomah Hotel in favor of the automatic or Home telephones. The judge held that the question, which should be tried out on its merits.

Attorney Montague, appearing for the Home Telephone & Telegraph Company, said that he wanted the intention of the Multnomah Hotel Company to connect, through the local switchboard, the automatic telephones in the rooms with Bell telephones outside, and that the only real change contemplated is the substitution of automatic for manual telephones in the sleeping apartments. He said that the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company would suffer no diminution of revenue from the hotel as long as the contract with that company remains in force, which will be over again next year, and that the intention of the hotel to pay for the Bell station telephones just the same as if they were in use. He argued that no harm could result to the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company from this arrangement and that public policy demanded that the hotel, which he designated as the Bell station, be equipped also with the automatic telephone system.

"I can see," said Judge McGinn, "that great harm might result to the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company from the substitution and I am not inclined to disturb the injunction on the showing made here today. I am not inclined to agree, as is contended here, that the company has an adequate remedy at law. The circumstances are somewhat peculiar. An injunction should be cautiously granted, as I presume it is, and it should require a strong showing to delodge it once it has been called into use."

Other attorneys who appeared in the afternoon were J. H. Keen for the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company, and Thomas Green for the R. R. Thompson Estate Company, which is the owner of the telephone exchange at the Multnomah Hotel Company. The Multnomah Hotel Company was not represented by counsel. Samuel Hill, president of the Home Telephone & Telegraph Company, was also present.

ARTILLERY TO ENCAMP

800 MEN WILL STUDY WAR AT FORT STEVENS.

Regular Officers Will Instruct Oregon Troops in Science of Firing Big Guns.

FORT STEVENS, Or., Aug. 15.—(Special.)—The regulars at Fort Stevens will begin their annual encampment August 17. Including officers and non-commissioned staff this includes practically all the regulars of the 2nd and 4th regiments. The encampment will be joined by the volunteer state organization of coast artillery, consisting of eight companies, staff and artillery band, a total of more than 800 men.

Extensive preparations are being rushed to completion in anticipation of their arrival. Thousands of dollars have been expended in the preparation of permanent camp sites, the installation of incinerators and the building of field kitchens.

The regulars have detailed many officers and non-commissioned officers to act as special instructors in the more difficult phases of artillery work. Lectures are to be given on the methods used in obtaining, transmitting and arranging the information used in firing the heavy rifles.

No instruction will be given in the actual process of firing, but the most difficult one to attempt to master in the short time allotted.

Much time will be devoted to camp sanitation. Lectures are to be given pertaining to field hygiene, involving the care of the teeth, water to be used, proper systems of bathing, disposal of refuse and the use of the toilet.

Artillery problems considering both attack and defense are to be worked out. The use of instruments that will read the exact distance to a target with a maximum error of one yard up to 10,000 yards, are to be taught.

The effect of wind on a projectile, the density of the atmosphere, the temperature, the humidity, the speed of the target fired at are some of the many factors to be studied and discussed before it is possible to fire even one shot.

A most interesting phase of their studies will include the time devoted to the submarines. Lectures are to be given on the instruments of destruction to be planted in the river, their location determined and the Oregon troops will be given a practical demonstration of how to plant and saturate gun cotton in a hollow steel ball electrically connected with the shore station can be used to blow up a submarine. The use of the special machine with a magnificent fighting machine may be reduced in a tenth of a second to a mass of blackened, twisted metal and how the sparks are scattered out like the flickering flame of a candle light.

abuse and favoritism related by six laborers who have rallied to the support of Jorg in his efforts to secure a reinstatement in the service.

Mr. Jorg declared to the committee that Jim Buckleton, a laborer, has been shown special privileges in the department by Foreman Cohn to the detriment of other workmen. "It was through this man that I was discharged," said Mr. Jorg. "Foreman Cohn was in the habit of allowing him to go home early in the evening and to let him off for days at a time and apparently did not make any reduction from his wages. In consequence the other laborers including myself had his work to do."

"One night I refused to do two men's work and was discharged. Foreman Cohn has abused his men and done other things to demoralize the department."

Similar stories were told by C. Timmerman, J. H. Mattie, William Hadden, Oliver Kidder and Christ Nelson. The committee arranged to investigate the charges, relating to the establishment of Foreman Cohn returns from his vacation. At that time the laborers and others will be called upon to tell their stories and Cohn will be called upon to explain his actions.

MOOSE MEET MONDAY

PROGRESSIVES SEEK TO LEARN WHO IS WITH COLONEL.

At Mass Convention New Party Will Nominate Full County Ticket.

Multnomah County Progressives will hold a mass meeting at the Washington High School next Monday night to nominate a county ticket. Dan Kellaher, president of the Oregon Progressive Club, and L. M. Lepper, secretary, sent a letter yesterday to all candidates, asking them whether or not they would stand for Roosevelt and with the new party. If they do not so stand, new candidates will be nominated by the Progressives to run against them. The letter says: "It is hereby given to all successful candidates at the late primary to indicate to us whether or not they each are supporting Roosevelt and the Progressives to run against them. If they stand, all who do not say, one way or the other, promptly, will be considered as supporting Taft and the Progressives. A word to the wise is sufficient."

The state committee meeting will be held August 29. A delegate to this meeting will be elected Monday night. The East Side Business Men's Club, headed by C. C. Hall, the assistant secretary, has asked Dan Kellaher to be allowed to share in entertaining Colonel Roosevelt when he comes to Portland in September.

A. W. Lafferty, Representative in Congress, telegraphed Lou Wagner, a member of the Oregon Progressive Club, yesterday, that he would vote for Roosevelt. His telegram follows: "I shall vote for Roosevelt. Shall support the balance of the Republican ticket."

Wagner said last night he will not support Lafferty, and that if the majority of the committee of which he is a member in the Progressive Club, will resign. Frank B. Harrington and P. P. Fisher are believed to be with the Progressives, the other members being Fred J. Brady and E. H. Hill.

R. C. Wright, chairman of the executive committee of the Republican county central committee, first learned of Lafferty's stand through the Chicago Tribune, which contained an interview with the Congressman, in which he is quoted as saying: "Sure I am for Roosevelt. You have heard me say so. I asked that the Congressional committee secure from Lafferty direct, a statement of his position."

Wagner said he sent the message at his own instance and other members of the committee refusing to join him, preferring to wait until Lafferty returns to Portland.

Wagner, a member of the Congressional committee, said in the meeting of the executive committee that if he were in Lafferty's place he would not answer such a telegram.
