Rainey Charges Austin Is Interested Personally in Waterpower Bill.

RETORT IS MADE IN KIND

Tennesseean Says Illinoisan Himself Voted for Arkansas Bill After Dining With Lobbyist at Harvey's.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Representative Rainey, of Illinois, a Democrat, and Representative Austin, of Tennessee, a Republican, fought a wordy battle in the House today and exchanged bitter personalities. Each had 54 minutes allotted under a special rule.

Rainey charged that Austin was personally interested in the water-power legislation in a recent colloquy Rainey said Austin had declared that if he as a Representative had favored the "water-power trust" he would consider he had disgraced himself and if Mr. Rainey could produce proof of his guilt he would resign. "I don't ask the gentleman to resign from his body," said Rainey today, delivering a carefully worded speech. "I don't think, however, that the cause of water-power conservation in Tennessee would suffer if the gentleman's connection with the House would cease.

Intimacy With Lobby Charged.

"No member of the House is on closer terms of business relationship with the representatives of the great water-power trust than the gentleman from Tennessee," said Rainey. "The trail from his Congressional office here leads to the office of P. R. Weller, of Washington, the office of Charles H. Treat, ex-treasurer of the United States; of the firm of Cromwell & Sullivan, dealers in inter-oceanic canals and water-power properties; to the banking firm of the Kubins in Pittsburgh and to J. P. Morgan & Co., the bank of the General Electric Company."

Austin sprang to his feet immediately at the conclusion of Rainey's speech and with intense bitterness referred to Rainey's indictment of Charles P. Taft in connection with the Panama Canal acquisition and declared those charges had not been proved.

"And the gentleman from Illinois," he added, "was unmanly enough not to retract his slanders."

"Defamer" is Austin's Retort.

He referred to Mr. Rainey who sat only a few seats away, as the "famer from Illinois" and declared that his water-power bills had been passed upon by the House interstate commerce committee, every member of which was the peer of the gentleman from Illinois.

Mr. Austin acknowledged that all the men mentioned by Mr. Rainey had called upon him and that the "lobbyists" referred to by the Illinoisan also had been in his office. He said he had not invited the lobbyist to call, but that he "had not insulted him."

"And neither would the gentleman from Illinois," he shouted, "his voice trembling with anger. "For he voted the day after he had dined with him at Harvey's. Furthermore, he spoke in support of the proposed legislation and changed in the record his reference to his host so that the latter was referred to not as a lobbyist, but as a very pleasant gentleman."

WARSHIP'S SIZE LIMITED

Width of Canal and Depth of Harbors Set Maximum Marks.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Naval experts are of the opinion that with the $15,000,000 provided in the naval appropriation bill for a monster battleship for the Navy, little can be done in the present stage of the art of naval construction beyond the production of a vessel of the type of the Oklahoma, 37,000 tons, now being built.

The limitations imposed by the Panama canal prevent the increase of the ship's beam and the depth of water in American harbors limits the ship's draught to about the dimensions of the Oklahoma. Perhaps 100 feet might be added to the length, largely increasing the coal capacity and making possible a great increase in speed.

RUSSIAN SOLDIER KILLS

Private Wounds General and Princess and Is Himself Slain.

WARSAW, Russian Poland, Aug. 20.—General Prince Nicolai Tamonoff, commander of a brigade in the garrison here, was wounded in the chest today and one of the legs of his wife, Princess Tamonoff, was shattered by bullets fired by Private Powanski.

Powanski entered the General's flat and fired several shots with his carbine. Several orderly officers in the room at the time also were wounded but shot and killed Powanski. The motive was vengeance for punishment inflicted on Powanski by his superior officers.

FOOD LAW MORE DRASTIC

Senate Adds Far-Reaching Amendment to Shirley Bill.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—A far-reaching amendment was added to the pure food law today, when the Senate passed Representative Shirley's bill, which includes under the term of misbranding as used in the law, any "false statement, design or device regarding the curative and therapeutic effect," of the contents of a package.

The bill would make more drastic the food and drug act as applied to patent and proprietary medicines. It also would prohibit the publishing of claims of "cure-alls" that cannot be substantiated.

upon the dollar, not as an emblem of liberty, but as an emblem of power, and who look upon government as an annex to their business affairs; these are they who in the past years of Republican misrule have turned the temple of constitutional freedom into a money-changers' mart and have made of the co-ordinate branches of the Government obedient lackeys of the jingling guinea.

"The second grade consists of those whose outlook upon life has been enlarged by the civilization under which we live, who have been taught by the school and the college, by the press and the magazine, who appreciate the good things of life.

"Conditions have become unbearable to them. They have reached the point where, in the struggle for that which they believe to be right, they are willing to destroy the ideals of the Republic. How many of these there are, I do not know, but I do know that special privilege in the Republic is breeding them day by day like rabbits in a warren.

"The third grade of citizens it pleases me to call old-fashioned constitutional Democrats. These are they who believe that the equality of mankind does not consist in an equality of brain and every man, native and foreign born, has an inalienable right to exercise all of his ability in getting on in the world, but he owes it to himself, to his family and to the Republic to see to it that he gets on honestly and that he does not prevent any other man from obtaining the reward of his honesty and enterprise.

"These old-fashioned Democrats believe in making money, but they believe every dollar made should be so clean that an infant may cut its teeth upon it. And they hold that it is no part of government to boost one man and boot another."

Alton E. Parker, in his speech of notification, said that the Democrats at Baltimore had welcomed the opportunity to substitute practice for preaching and performance for promise.

"Indeed," he said, "they seized it by the nomination of Wilson and Marshall; seized it with so firm a grip that it cannot be loosened either by the host of Republicanism or by the deluded people who have not as yet discovered either that their leader's battles are waged for himself, not for the Lord, or that his contrary pretense is with the hope that he will thus secure the aid of the Lord's hosts for a third term; that it was in violation of the law of the country and in disregard of his pledge, to the people to obey that law."

Mr. Parker's contention that relief could come only from the election of Marshall and Wilson and a Democratic Congress followed an offering of reasons, which he said, negated all possibility of relief from either the Republican or the Progressive party.

Of the Progressive party, he said in part:

"His creator and nominee for President occupied that office for about seven and a half years, but during that time he could not be persuaded to say a single word in favor of lifting from the people the burden imposed by extortion of tariff rates. True, he admits in his confession of faith that certain interests have been improperly favored by over-protection; that he himself is in favor of disrupting the old crooked, log-rolling method of tariff-making; and advocates a tariff commission, "wholly different from the present unsatisfactory Tariff Board." It is impossible to rise from a careful reading of his tariff discussion without being convinced that he is a standard-bearer now as he was when President.

"Certainly only a very stupid man would expect him to curb the trusts. Seven-eighths of all the combinations in existence when he went out of office were created while he was President. Their creators had confidence in him surely and it is but just to say that it was not misplaced. Did he not stay the hand of his pliant Attorney-General when he was about to bring suit to dissolve the hamburger trust? Was not a 29-minute conversation long enough to persuade him that the Steel Corporation should be allowed to absorb its leading competitor?"

CONGRESS ALLOWS SINGLE BATTLESHIP

Measure Passed Also Provides for Submarines, Colliers and Auxiliaries.

SHIP NAMED PENNSYLVANIA

New Vessel to Be of Normal Development Although Largest Afloat, Says Meyer—Bill Carries Appropriation of $125,420,707.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—By a vote of 151 to 56, the House adopted today the measure providing for the naval appropriation bill. The measure, which will now go to the President, provides for one battleship and a number of auxiliaries, colliers and auxiliary vessels. Thirteen members opposed to the battleship programme voted "present."

The bill as it goes to the President carries $125,420,707, an increase of approximately $4,600,000 over the measure as it passed the House.

Ship to Be Named "Pennsylvania."

Secretary Meyer philosophically accepted today the House adopted programme of Congress and has named the projected new marine monster the Pennsylvania. The armored cruiser of that name will be re-christened "Har-ribure," or receive the name of some other city.

The Secretary said that notwithstanding all the talk in Congress about a "terror of the seas," the new vessel will be of normal development and if she is larger than any battleship afloat it will be no more than could be said and commissioned since he has been Secretary of the Navy. This is in accordance with the harmonious system of development which the naval constructors have followed for years. The new ship will be 830 feet long, of about 21,000 tons, with 12 14-inch guns and exceptionally heavy armor.

Three Needed Next, Says Meyer.

"Due to the force of public sentiment on the battleship question as demonstrated in the press, irrespective of party," the Secretary said last month, "I am inclined to believe that a battleship programme," said Secretary Meyer tonight. "Freedom of action was allowed each member if he wished to vote for no battleship, but permission was not granted to vote for more than one, thus preventing members from voting according to the dictates of their conscience.

"The action taken this year will call for an appropriation of three battleships at the next session of Congress if the efficiency of the fleet and the present policy of two battleships a year, accepted throughout the country, is to be maintained."

DENVER ABANDONS EFFORT TO MOVE PLEIADES.

Condition of Steamer, However, Encourages Hope That She Will Yet Be Floated.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—Unable to move the wrecked steamer Pleiades from her position on the beach near Point San Lazaro, at the entrance of Magdalena Bay, the United States steamship Denver has left the scene of the wreck and is proceeding to Corinto. The steamer Portland, which had stood by since the day after the Pleiades went ashore, is now bound for San Francisco with most of the crew of the Pleiades aboard.

Wireless messages received at the offices of the owners of the wreck say that the steamer Stanley Dollar will stand by until the arrival of the wrecking steamer Greenwood, which left here tonight for San Lazaro.

The condition of the Pleiades is said to be such as to make it probable that not much difficulty will be experienced in floating her if the weather continues to be fine.

Washington Farmer May Get Aid.

Wealthy Bostonian Has Valuables Returned and Quits Seattle.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 20.—(Special.)—Mrs. Harriet E. Balch, a wealthy Boston woman, whose handbag containing $5000 worth of diamonds and $20,000 in securities was stolen while she was waiting for a taxi at the Canadian Pacific dock Saturday night, today refused to prosecute Pat McDonald, who was arrested with the handbag containing the valuables and he was released this afternoon, when Mrs. Balch called at the Police Station, secured her diamonds and her securities and announced that she would not prosecute him on account of publicity.

McDonald asserted at the time of his arrest that the handbag contained the effects of his wife. His wife, he said, had the key and he could not open it. It was locked when brought to the Police Station.
