

COUNCIL REVOKES LICENSE AT YEON

Vote of 9 to 5 Favors Forfeit of Grant to Emil Glutsch After Warm Discussion.

DECEPTION COMPLAINED OF

Daily Leads Fight for Antagonistic Action and Watkins Pleads for Hanbury Creditors as Losers by This Action.

The City Council yesterday overruled the recent action of the liquor license committee and revoked the license of Emil Glutsch under which J. Hanbury conducted the grill in the basement of the Yeon building during the recent Elks' convention week and also the license under which J. Hanbury conducted the bar on the main floor of the Yeon building.

The City Council yesterday overruled the recent action of the liquor license committee and revoked the license of Emil Glutsch under which J. Hanbury conducted the grill in the basement of the Yeon building during the recent Elks' convention week and also the license under which J. Hanbury conducted the bar on the main floor of the Yeon building.

"I have a letter here from a woman," said Councilman Daly, "which is all the testimony I need against this grill conducted by Mr. Hanbury. This letter is from the mother of several children. She says that the two children, a boy and a girl, were served with liquor in this place and came home one night drunk. It is apparent that there is a growing feeling among the sober people to disregard the law. Unregulated liquor traffic is the most damnable curse in existence and I believe it is time the Council was putting its foot on it. This Council should go on record as being absolutely opposed to tolerating a liquor law violation and should revoke this Glutsch license as a beginning."

Burgard Complains of Tactics. Councilman Burgard was in favor of the revocation because he said he had been deceived. "I favor revoking this license because the brewery which holds this license through Mr. Glutsch did not take the proper precaution in letting it out. I understood that the grill had been closed by the owner of the license and the brewery was not violating the liquor laws. On the contrary, I found the place was closed by the Health Department and not by the license holder. For that reason, I am in favor of revoking this license."

Councilman Watkins urged the Council not to revoke the license because it would not punish Mr. Hanbury, who was responsible for the condition in the grill but would work a hardship on Mr. Glutsch. "Hanbury is a bankrupt and the brewery which we go cannot affect him," he said. "Understand me now, I am not favoring the protection of liquor interests in the face of apparent disregard for the law but justice. I think the power of attorney license practice is the most vicious thing in the liquor traffic and when the time of these licenses comes around the first of next year, as one of the members of the liquor license committee, I will fight against these licenses being extended."

Watkins Against Revocation. Councilman Daly caused a lot of apparent fuss in his recent motion to have the brewing companies show their receipts, insurance policies and other documents intimating that members of the Council were being influenced by business obligations. "I don't know whether this was aimed at me or not, but I will say however, that I am in the real estate and insurance business. I do not deny that I have business dealings with the breweries and saloon interests. But I can tell you here and now that a little business like that cannot buy my vote in the Council. I am voting as I think right to give every man a fair deal. To revoke this license would be an injustice to the creditors of Mr. Hanbury."

Councilman Baker urged against the revocation and asked that the Council hold a special meeting to consider the evidence in the case as related by police officers and others at the last meeting of the liquor license committee. Councilman Baker declared his opposition to Mr. Baker's attitude, declaring that he (Baker) had voted the other way at the Council meeting of July 24. Councilman Baker denied this, declaring that he had voted for the revocation of the Glutsch license, but of the license of E. J. Hanbury.

By a vote of 9 to 5 the Council substituted the minority committee report and the revocation was brought up for final passage. The vote stood 9 to 5. Those in favor of the revocation were Councilmen Burgard, Clyde, Daly, Jennings, Joy, Maguire, Monks, Schmeier and Wilhelm. Those opposed were Councilmen Baker, Dunning, Montag, Wallace and Watkins.

Hanbury Loses License. In addition to this the Council voted to revoke the license held by E. J. Hanbury in the saloon on the main floor of the Yeon building. Opposition was voiced by Julius Silverstein, who said he represented the creditors of Mr. Hanbury. He said the revocation of the license would merely serve to lessen the number of assets on which the creditors of Mr. Hanbury hoped to recover. Councilman Joy urged the revocation, as did also Councilmen Daly and Clyde. The vote was 8 to 5 in favor of the revocation. A unanimous vote another license was transferred whereby the bar under new management can continue business.

PATROLMAN PADRICK TO BE PROBATIONERS' HELP.

Heads of Families and Others Who Are Objects of Court's Leniency to Be Watched.

Persons who enjoy the leniency of the Municipal Court will be looked after in the future by a probation officer, detailed by Chief of Police Slover to keep watch and ward over the proteges of the court. Patrolman Walter Padrick, who has been acting as bailiff of the court for many months, has been assigned to the new duties.

In addition to detailing an officer specially, Chief Slover instructs all officers to have a watch upon the conduct of persons who, they know, have been granted suspended sentences by the court, and the station force is ordered to inform Padrick when repeat-offenders are brought in.

This action was decided upon several days ago, after Judge Tazwell and Deputy City Attorney Sullivan had passed favorably on the plan. It was brought about by the frequent occurrence of cases where persons who had been permitted to go unpunished after conviction had lapsed into misconduct, and several, aware of the penalty hanging over them, deposited bail and for-
