That Pacific Coast League players are co-operating with their Eastern brethren in the organization of the new protective association and will join the movement as soon as Lawyer Davy Fults' plans are formulated, leaked out here yesterday in the rain iuli between games of the Portland-Vernon series.

correspondence Considerable passed between the Eastern organizers and well-known stars in the Coast AA circuit and investigation here would seem to indicate that the third attempt to unfonize baseball is to be a widespread assault against the a widespread assault against the shackles of bondage.

"The players in the Coast League unanimously are in sympathy with Fultz" said Roy Brashear, captain of the Vernon club, in answer to questioning. "There are matters concerning contracts and other phases of our life that can be bettered if the men get together. I have no grievance ing contracts and other phases of our life that can be bettered if the men get together. I have no grievance against the baseball higher-ups, but representation on the National commission by the players, it seems to me, would help all concerned."

First Attempt Fails.

Captain Brashear says the last time the players attempted to organize, about eight or ten years ago, some-body ran off with the money and it went bump with a sickening thud. Other members of the Portland and Vernon teams expressed advocacy of

"We all want to see the players get together as a body. Then we can welld some influence," pointed out Dan Howley, the old Indianapolts back-stop now with Portland, "Great injusticeness are worked on some players who get 'in bad' with the man-agers. Oftimes a man is sent to some 'nunk' league simply to gratify punk league simply to gratify the personal animosity of the manager. Players should not be forced to stand for such trafficking and I think a rep-resentative on the National commis-sion would be an excellent thing."

Manager McCredle, of the Beavers, believes organization is coming, and, speaking from an owner's standpoint, is of the opinion that it will help the bosses straighten out tangles with the unruly members of the profession.

"The commission seldom has trouble with heady players," said he. "Most of the fusses center about some player who lacks reasoning powers. SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30.—Two errors by Wuffli prevented a victory for San Francisco in the game with Oakland here today, when flawless pitching by Miller and fast infielding by his mates had placed San Francisco one run in the lead at the end of the fifth. A wild heave over first base by Wufflt enabled Oakland to score, and he brought in another run in the eighth by throwing the ball over second. With Season's Close Eight Weeks Away Oakland Will Play Five Series at Home.

Los Angeles' victory over Sacramento yesterday brings the Angels to within two points of Vernen, and a victory for Dillon today will place the Angels in first place, unless Vernon takes both games of the double-header from Portland.

In the sensational race between these two Los Angeles clubs don't forget, however, that Oakland is still up in the reckening. This morning Oakland is only five full games behind Vernon. Bill Reidy, manager of the Francisco team, is so impressed with the Commuters that he has come out with the prediction that Sharpe's men will win the pennant.

"In my opinion Sharpe has the best team in the league," says Reidy, "I look for them to hang back until the end and then rush to the top."

The season has just eight weeks to run, and of the eight the Oaks will pass five at home with three trips abroad to Portland, Sacramento and Vernon. In the last month the Oaks have met the Angels and Tigers on the foreign fields and have lost just the odd game, which is about the advantage of the home club.
