

INTEREST CENTERS WITH TAFT-T. R. FIGHT

California Primary Contest Develops Into One for Control of Party.

LAW QUESTION INVOLVED

President's Supporters Will Challenge Right of Party Convention to Designate Nominee of Another Party.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—The first primary election involving the ultimate selection of Presidential electors under the new California direct primary law will be held September 2. Interest in the election centers around the contest for control of the party machinery of the state.

Governor Johnson's political allies, heading the state organization of the Roosevelt Progressive party, contend that if they succeed in nominating Presidential electors pledged to Roosevelt they will be entitled to the party designation on the ballot in the November election. Taft adherents take the ground that the action of the Republican convention in nominating President Taft constituted a final election to the choice of electors pledged to their candidates.

Candidates to Choose Electors. The names of Republican, Democratic and Socialist candidates will appear on the ballot in the primary. The Republican party, not being represented on account of its failure to secure three per cent of the votes cast at the last election. Eighty candidates for the State Assembly and 20 candidates for the Senate will be nominated. These nominees, with the holders of the State office, will constitute the state convention. All three state conventions will be held in Sacramento September 24. The Republican party, having 14 holdover Senators, will have a total of 114 at the state convention. The Democratic party, with six holdovers, will have 106, and the Socialists 13. The convention will nominate 13 Presidential electors each.

Taft Men Plan Petitions. Taking into account the victory of the Roosevelt Progressive faction at the last state election, Taft followers are planning to nominate electors by separate petition after the convention. In the event of the selection of candidates pledged to Roosevelt, whether the Taft wing of the party will be entitled to a designation on the ballot which will indicate the pledging of their candidates is still a matter of contention between the two factions.

The Taft supporters challenge the right of the state convention elected by the use of the legally constituted party machinery, to nominate electors pledged to another party. Roosevelt Progressive leaders maintain that precedent exists by which any party convention, municipal, county or state, may endorse the candidates of another party for any office.

Court Decision Pending. Alva Udell, a San Francisco attorney, has raised the question of the right of the holdover Senators to participate in the selection of electors. He filed a petition with the Superior Court a petition for an injunction restraining Secretary of State Jordan from issuing the requisite election forms. He contends that, as the electors represented by these Senators will be deprived of any direct participation in the selection of electors, the law constitutes, in effect, a violation of the Federal statute governing elections. The decision of the court will be rendered in a few days. It has shown no indication of joining Udell in his attack on the election law.

The state primary law provides that the election of judges and school officials shall be non-partisan, and the candidates for these offices will not appear in party groups at Tuesday's election. One-third of the total number of judges in each county will be elected in November, twice that number appearing as candidates at the primary. Delegates to the county committees which will select the county central committee will be elected Tuesday.

NEVADA TO HAVE PRIMARY

Roosevelt Party Not to Participate, but Will Use Petitions.

RENO, Nev., Sept. 1.—A primary election for Congressional, state and county officials will be held Tuesday throughout Nevada. Key Pittman, of Tonopah, is at present the only Democratic candidate for the nomination for United States Senator to succeed the late Senator Nixon, and Senator Massey, of Reno, is the only Republican candidate for the nomination. A contest will be held for the Republican nomination for Representative—E. E. Roberts, "standpat" incumbent, being opposed by August Frolich, who has "progressive" tendencies. In the Democratic party there is no rival against Clay Tallan for the nomination for Congress. A. H. Herr and P. A. McCarran are opposed for the Democratic nomination for Justice of the Supreme Court. James M. Lockhart, Republican, is unopposed for the nomination. The Roosevelt Progressive party does not participate in the primary, its ticket being one to be placed on the regular election ballot in November by petition.

Seattle Holds Both Memorial.

SEATTLE, Sept. 1.—Public services in memory of the late General William Booth were held here, Governor Marion E. Hay, Mayor George E. Cotterill and leading ministers participating. After the services at the theater, a parade led by the Salvation Army band of Victoria marched down Second avenue to Pioneer Square, where brief open-air services were held.

More Honor Heaped on Rostron.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Captain A. S. Rostron, of the steamer Carpathia, which rescued the scene of the Titanic disaster last April and picked up 704 survivors, was the recipient of more honors today when the Lifesaving Benevolent Society presented him with a gold medal.

PASTOR WHO DECLARES THAT ONE MATE IS ENOUGH FOR MAN AND USES OSTRICHES TO PROVE IT.

ONE MATE ENOUGH

Dr. C. E. Locke Disagrees With Dr. Jordan's Views.

OSTRICHES ARE EXAMPLE

Pastor Says Theory That Man Is Capable of Loving More Than Once Is Dangerous and Is Step Toward Free Love.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1.—(Special.)—With the assertion that Cupid is unjustly maligned and ejected from his sovereign position in the world of things matrimonial, Dr. Charles Edward Locke, of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, formerly of Portland, came to the support of the little cherub today and, while agreeing in some respects, threw down the gauntlet to Dr. David Starr Jordan, of State University, in many of the points of Dr. Jordan's recent address.

Dr. Locke agrees with Dr. Jordan in the latter's statement that fathers and mothers should not be the arbiters of the coming generation should not govern all marriages. Cupid to the contrary notwithstanding, "Sentiment is the sovereign power," said Dr. Locke. "Love and adoration between the parents of the coming generation has more to do with the character and fitness of the offspring than has merely physical perfection.

"Free Love" Doctrine Feared. "That portion of Dr. Jordan's address in which he is quoted as saying, 'We are getting rid of the idea that one man can love only once and only one woman always, or that woman is similarly handicapped,' is pure nonsense. It is a direct step toward free love and its kindred horrors.

"I am in hearty accord with the idea of teaching fathers and mothers to urge their children to look upon the healthy condition of their friends and possible sweethearts as one of the potent factors in forming attachments. I should believe that fathers and mothers should themselves watch over the health of their children and guard against misdating, but to attempt to place the sacred marriage tie upon a scientific and coldblooded basis is horrible and could result in nothing but chaos.

Ostriches Are Example. "Man wants naturally one mate, and so does a woman. As far back as history goes it has been found true that man desires but one wife and is willing to fight for her and work for her. It is a better illustration that to take a trip out to the ostrich farm and have the manager there show you a harem of ostriches where male ostriches which have no mates are confined. An ostrich mates but once, and when his wife dies he goes into retirement. All of the ailments of the ostrich which cannot entice him out of his widowhood.

"On the other hand, if we should look into our divorce courts, we should find a character of physical makeup of the majority of the applicants for divorce. I think that the facts will bear me out when I say that the majority of the couples in which the wife are physically very strong and seem to have a class of people where the animal predominates over sentiment."

PRINCE OF WALES MISSED

Parisian Tradespeople Take Fancy to Royal Englishman.

PARIS, Aug. 31.—(Special.)—All Paris misses the Prince of Wales, and especially the humble folk of the quarters in which he lived. Every day the shopkeepers of the Rue Rude were on the alert for a glimpse of the Prince. The cobbler whose trade kept him at the window was the most fortunate. "I saw him every day," he says, with justifiable pride. "Every time he went out he passed my shop, and let me tell you he never failed to give a glance at me. He was a charming young man and not a bit proud. One day a little girl—I saw it with my own eyes—came into my shop and asked me to buy her a pair of shoes. I asked her to keep her from falling and asked her so pleasantly if she had hurt herself."

Still more precise are the impressions of the news agent at the corner of the Rue Rude and the Avenue de la Grande Armee, for the Prince used often to buy picture postcards from her shop. When the Prince came to live in Paris she purchased an English stationery in the hope that she would some day be honored by royal patronage. Honored she was, but, in her own words, "the Prince seemed to take no interest in the English goods I displayed. He bought French illustrated cards, which

LOEB CALLED TO WITNESS

Private Secretary Heard Conversation With Mr. Harriman, Says Ex-President in Long Letter to Senator Clapp.

(Continued From First Page.) any one else connected with the National committee in 1904, it was not merely done without my knowledge, but was done against my express direction and prohibition, and in spite of the fact that I was assured that no such request had been made, and that no such contribution had been or would be received.

In support of this statement, Colonel Roosevelt includes here his letters and telegram of October 26, 27 and 28, 1904, to George B. Cortelyou, the Republican National chairman. These letters, made public recently, called Mr. Cortelyou's attention to a report that Standard Oil interests had contributed $100,000 to the Roosevelt campaign and directed that the money be returned if the report were true. The telegram was one asking if this had been done and adding that there should be no delay in so doing.

Contribution Denied by Cortelyou. "Subsequent to this telegram, Mr. Loeb, my private secretary, called Mr. Cortelyou up on the telephone," the letter continues, "and later I did so myself. He notified me first through Mr. Loeb, and then directly, that no such contribution had been received or would be received. He tells me he saw Mr. Bliss, showed him the letters and telegram, and that Mr. Bliss then told him that no Standard Oil money had been received and that none would be accepted."

Colonel Roosevelt communicated also with Senator Penrose. One letter from Colonel Roosevelt to Senator Penrose, dated the day after the 1904 election, read: "Upon my word, of all phenomenal returns, the Pennsylvania figures are most phenomenal—I congratulate you and heartily thank you."

Penrose Henchman Removed. Colonel Roosevelt continues: "In all my communications with him before or after election I spoke of contributions but once. This was in a letter to him of October 28, 1904, in response to a request of his that I should retain the services of one of his henchmen, named Bunn, in the Philadelphia office, who had been recommended for removal by the Civil Service Commission because of collection of political assessments from among his subordinates in the postoffice. My letter ended as follows:

"I have no alternative but to direct his removal. Suppose you won't like this, and I am awfully sorry, but I beg you to believe that if it were feasible for me to act in any other way I would do so, and it is only because I have no other alternative that I must remove Bunn."

"Ugly Word" Letter Included. Here Colonel Roosevelt replies to an allusion in the recent Washington testimony to Alton B. Parker's charges in 1904. In reply to this charge, that big corporations had contributed liberally to the Republican campaign fund through the solicitation of Cortelyou, Colonel Roosevelt includes the letter he wrote to James S. Sherman, now Vice-President, on October 5, 1906, in which he reviewed at length the Roosevelt-Harriman controversy over the $260,000 contribution of the late E. H. Harriman in 1904.

This letter, published shortly after it was written, contained correspondence between Roosevelt and Harriman and characterized Harriman's statement that the Republican party had raised $250,000 as "a deliberate and willful untruth—by rights it should be characterized by an even shorter and more ugly untruth."

Also discusses the letter written by Colonel Roosevelt, then President, to Harriman on October 14, 1904, in which Colonel Roosevelt wrote: "No, my dear sir, you and I are practical men."

Colonel Roosevelt's letter to Senator Clapp then says: "This sorry, but I write you as truthfully as I can, and neither was contradicted then nor can be contradicted now."

Loeb Had Talked with Harriman. "Mr. Loeb, my private secretary, heard my conversation with Mr. Harriman never even discussed with me giving anything to the National committee and I never spoke to him about it or requested a dollar from him."

"I communicated with Mr. Bliss very frequently and never made any allusion to contributions in any letter which I wrote him or any conversation I had with him. From Mr. Bliss, as from Mr. Cortelyou, I received the explicit statement that no promise had been made, directly or indirectly, in connection with any contribution that had been received or would be entered into that might be received in the future."

"I have never discussed the question of contributions with Mr. Perkins save in connection with discussing the action taken by me before your committee. I have never, directly or indirectly, asked him for a contribution, and I did not, so far as I can remember, ask either while I was running for President or for Vice-President, or during the recent primary."

PRINCESS IS SPEDER

Kaiser's Daughter Can't Drive Fast When Incognito, However.

DANZIG, Aug. 2.—(Special.)—The following amusing story is told here of the Crown Princess and her motor car. Not long ago the Princess asked the Kaiser's permission to use her car without a crown helmet displayed on the panels. She wished, she said, to drive about more freely. Recently the Kaiser notified that the crown had been replaced in a prominent position on the car and inquired the reason why. "Oh, because we were so often held up by the police for furious driving," was the Crown Princess' reply, "but now we have put the crown back we are not bothered any more."

What the Internal Baths Do for Humanity

Under our present mode of living the large intestine (or colon) cannot get rid of all the waste that it accumulates—so it clogs up, and then biliousness, constipation, is the result and that lack of desire to do any work, to think. This waste in the colon, as we all know, is extremely poisonous, and if neglected, the blood takes up the poisons—and brings on countless, very serious diseases. Biliousness is directly caused by waste in the colon. If the colon is kept clean and pure you will always feel bright and capable—never blue and nervous—always up to "concert-pitch."

The internal bath which will keep the colon as sweet and clean as nature demands it to be for perfect health—that is, J. B. Cassaro's. CANAL TO HELP MEXICO

CABINET MEMBER SAYS NATION IS AWAKENING.

Assurance Given of Friendly Attitude of Madero Administration Toward United States.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—Senator Rafael Hernandez, Secretary of the Interior of Mexico, who arrived in San Francisco on a business trip last night, gave assurance today of the friendly attitude of the Madero administration to the United States.

"Mexico has awakened to a new realization of its opportunities," said Senator Hernandez, "and it has further realized that its progress must keep pace with that of the States. Mexico will profit by the Panama Canal more than any other nation except the United States, having the second longest coast line on the Pacific Coast, and President Madero is keenly alive to the possibilities of development accruing from the building of the canal."

The Mexican statesman, who is accompanied by Senator Madero, uncle of President Madero, and Emerterio de la Garza, his attorney, was entertained today at a luncheon given by representatives of the city administration, the Chamber of Commerce and the Panama-Pacific Exposition after he and his party had been taken on a trip around the bay.

HARBOR BEING IMPROVED

LOS ANGELES PREPARES FOR CANAL OPENING IN 1913.

Letter From Goethals That Ships Will Pass Through Panama Next Year Outlines Plans.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1.—(Special.)—Announcement by Colonel Goethals yesterday that the Panama Canal will be ready for shipping in 1913 and that the first boat will possibly pass through the locks in September, has clarified Los Angeles' position relative to the speed with which it is necessary to pursue the harbor improvement plans.

On the first of this month Secretary Matson, of the Los Angeles Harbor Commission, wrote to Engineer Goethals saying that Los Angeles was at work on various extensive municipal harbor improvements in preparation for the opening of the canal. He expected to come when the Panama Canal is opened, and that the date of the canal's opening had an important bearing on the city's harbor improvement plans.

The letter from Goethals, which was received yesterday, says every effort is being made to complete the excavating and the work on the locks by June 30, 1913.

"If this is accomplished," continues Goethals, "the water will be allowed to rise from the level of elevation to the 80-foot elevation, where it will be held in the headwaters of one of the tributaries of the Los Angeles River. This should be completed in time to permit the lake to rise to the full height of 85 feet some time in September. The first boat will then be put through. The passage is made successfully an announcement will be made that the canal is in condition to pass shipping. In case vessels are in the harbor part of 1913, so that we can have at least a year's try-out before the formal opening."

RESIGNATION IS SURPRISE

Rome Is Astonished at Action of Ecumenical Patriarch.

ROME, Aug. 31.—(Special.)—The announcement of the resignation of the Ecumenical Patriarch in Constantinople, John III, has caused great astonishment here. For some time a quarrel over a matter of church discipline has been in progress between the patriarch, supported by the Pope, and the council of administration of the patriarchate. During the recent elections in Turkey the Young Turks, in return for their assistance, promised to resign their despotistic patriarchal offices. In fact this promise was carried out by the late Cabinet. The French Ambassador in Constantinople, in virtue of the rights of France as protector of the Catholics in the Levant, intervened in the quarrel.

It is believed that the Pope has agreed to the resignation of the Ecumenical Patriarch, in order that a new patriarch may be elected who will have the support of all parties, and that the reason for the resignation which is published is inexact. Should it prove to be the case that the Vatican has accepted the patriarch's resignation, that fact would show that it has acted out of deference to the French Ambassador.

That the ground chosen for the settlement of the fight between the Vatican and France should be Constantinople, fulfills in a remarkable manner the prophecy of Cardinal Macchi made seven years ago to the effect that the church and France would be reconciled in Constantinople.
