H. M. Esterly, the special prosecutor appointed by Circuit Judge McGinn at the instance of Governor West to prosecute vice cases, was not recognized as having any official standing in the instructions given the grand jury for the September term of Court by Presiding Judge Morrow, of the Circuit Court, yesterday afternoon. Judge Morrow told the jurors that "George J. Cameron is the duly elected and qualified District Attorney and only he, or one of his regularly appointed deputies, is entitled to be in the grand jury room when a witness is being examined."

The instruction will not, however, bar Mr. Esterly from the grand jury room, as Judge McGinn soon after announced that he will instruct the grand jurors to recognize officially Mr. Esterly's right to appear before them.

The arrangement for Judge Morrow to pass the question and for Judge McGinn with H. M. Esterly, the special prosecutor appointed by Circuit Judge McGinn at

The arrangement for Judge Morrow to pass the question and for Judge McGinn to give the instruction with regard to Mr. Esterly was made between the two Judges previous to the time the seven men who are to consider criminal charges for the next month appeared in Judge Morrow's court for instructions at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Judges' Authority Co-ordinate.

Judges' Authority 'Co-ordinate.

As the presiding judge is merely appointed by the judges from among their number, each judge has co-ordinate authority in instructing the grand jury. Judge Morrow was careful to precede his statement with regard to Cameron's sole authority with the words "for the present."

"I still adhere to the belief that any indictment will not stick if returned when anyone other than the regularly elected and qualified District Attorney examines witnesses before the grand jury, said District Attorney Cameron. "The evidence on which several of the indictments returned Saturday by the outgoing grand jury were based was presented before the jury by Mr. Esterly. I understand that some of these indictments will be demurred to on this

Whereas, There seems to be an apathetic disposition on the part of the present Mr. Esterly to direct his activity against immoral women in the city, but rather against the owners of the houses given over in any degree to the immorality and against those who live by praying upon unfortunate women.

"I don't think it would do a particle of good toward solving the problem merely to arreat a number of unfortunate women and levy fines against them," he said. "The people we are after are those who foster immorality—the macquereaux and the landlords who lease their houses for immoral purposes, and they are the people who are going to bear the brunt of the campaign from now on."

There were many indications yesterday that the Governor may take further steps with regard to the Municipal Court, although he refused last night to saw whether he has such intention.

Court, although he refused last night to say whether he has such intention. He intimated however, that he thought that "there might be some changes needed in the Municipal Court." Several conferences yesterday with different ofhelals and a quiet investigation made by the Governor of the record of Con-stable Weinberger is thought to point toward some action.

Beyond sending another letter to

Sheriff Stevens today, pointing out some conditions in the county and calling attention to duties of the Sheriff's of-fice, the Governor says he will take no further steps in that phase of the matinally negligent of their oath of direc and the public welfare.

If this opportunity is to be seized, as it should be, it lies with the law-shiding people to take the initiative and make their power felt on the side of rightecusness.

The report of the Vice Commission shows a deplorable condition of affairs, and yet it is but a partial statement of the shastly fruit of over three years of the easy-going policy of Police Department, District Attorney and Sherfff, which has made this city a breeding-ground for crine.

The Governor of the state is here for the avowed purpose of putting an end to this policy, and if the people of Portland sincercity desire to accomplish something for the cleansing of the city, they ought to take their side with him against lawlessness and crime.

The Governar has taken up the fight single-handed and has set an example before us which we believe every true citizen will follow and by enthusiastic support render effective.

LEBANON "BLIND PIGS" RAIDED

Special Agent Named by Governor Obtains Evidence.

Sheriff Smita, of Albany, with his chief deputy. Policeman Richard, of Lebanon, and Constable Ritter, of the Lebanon precinct, made a raid last night on alleged "blind pigs" in Lebanon. Of the four places raided, three yielded a large supply of beer and wine.

Reviewing the success of the Rose Festival last June and laying plans for an even greater venture next year, the Lebanon precinct, made a raid last night annual meeting last night at the Rose Festival headquarters. In the election the same officers who served this year were returned, as a LEBANON, Or., Sept. 3 .- (Special.)-

At the last term of the State Circuit Court one of the proprietors was fined $250 and given a 20 days' jail sentence. In a dwelling owned and conducted by Mrs. Harry Hall 46 bottles of beer were found, and at the home of W. I. Bishop two large jugs of wine were seized. The home of Ernest Porter was another place raided, but nothing was found. Porter also is accused of being a persistent violator of the law and is under arrest.

two large jugs of wine were seized. The home of Ernest Porter was another place raided, but nothing was found. Porter also is accused of being a persistent violator of the law and is under arrest.

There were issued seven warrants yesterday and other raids will follow. The state also has warrants issued in the Lebanon City Court for all the persons arrested today and last night.

F. A. Dillon, a Portland detective, armed with a state-wide commission as special agent, issued by Governor West, gathered the evidence here. He also obtained the evidence on which Mayor Jones, of Redmond, was removed from office at the instance of the Governor Dillon was sent here upon application of Lebanon citizens, who have been urging a fight upon the "blind pigs." He had authority to make arrests anywhere in the state.

Attorneys Baker and Burke, of Portland, have been appointed special prosecutors for these cases and are due here to take up the work.

Grand Jury Report Evaded.

The recent report of the grand jury, placing the bulk of the blame for conditions in Portland at the door of the municipal officials, instead of the county officials, caused the Governor to say. "I do not care to make any statement upon that."

Preparations are completed for the mass meeting to be held in the Gipsy Smith Tabernacle tonight, at which the citizens of Portland who uphold the Governor in his campaign are expected to indurate his stand. The following call for the meeting was issued yester-day:

Orosco himself, it was learned, it near Ascencion, a point southwest of Juarez, near the Sonora state line, from where he has been directing the cam-paign of his forces scattered over Sonora to the west, and also of the operations east around Olinaga, made to distract the attention of the fed-

SALEM, Or., Sept. 3.—(Special.)—Issuing his recommendations in the case of the officers and men of the Second Battailon, Third Regiment, Oregon National Guard, who mutined during the maneuvers at Gate, Wash. Governor West suggests that the order of the general staff discharging from service such officers and enlisted men be modified so as to apply solely to the officers.

During the maneuvers the Second Battailon, under the command of Major Scott, failed to move when they were given an order to go from Gate to Oakwille. They had marched in the morning from Oakville to Gate, going inrough maneuvers which took them through maneuvers which took them through thickets, eyer barbed wire fences, fording a river and a march which the officers claim left the men exhausted when they arrived at Gate. They had been given to understand that the maneuvers to Gate would close the encampent and that they were to entrain at that point. Instead of entraining at that point, however, they balked and at first refused to march back to Oakville. After parleying with the commanders, they stated they would march back without their heavy equipment, and wagons were secured to carry that. In his reboinmendation the Governor says:

Believing that the veneral view to the feast, the federal government sent with a small group of men.
