SQUAD WILL ELECT

Multnomah Busy Arranging for Big Football Games.

ZEDNICK HAS BEAR STORY

Washington Team Said to Be Sadly Weakened — Pullman Prospects Good—Oregon Has Strong High School Recruits.

BY ROSCOE FAWCETT.

Martin Pratt, manager of the Multnomah Club football team, has sent out a call for a meeting of the 1912 football team tonight at 8 o'clock at the club parlors to elect a captain for the fall. Only those who had the regular squad last year will be eligible to vote. Captain Rinehart, who piloted the team to a remarkable string of victories in 1911, remarked a popular leader, but it is not known whether he will again be a candidate.

There are disadvantages in having a winning team, for Manager Pratt is experiencing trouble getting games. The only two big contests already signed up are with the Oregon Agricultural College, October 19, and the annual Thanksgiving day game with the University of Oregon, both on Multnomah field.

Willamette University is also expected to appear on the local gridiron as well as the Vancouver soldiers and the Seattle All-Stars, who were walloped twice during the Christmas holidays last year.

Washington meets the Oregon Aggies at Portland on November 9, so Portland is assured of three big games at any rate.

Washington University, with the usual promptness, went to the first bear story of the football year a day or two ago. Graduate Manager Zednick is the troubled one. Zednick says that Doble will not have as good a team as in 1911, because he loses such stars of Muckelstone, Coyle, Waller, Wand, Grimm, Pullen, Husby, Winn and Patten. All have graduated except Patten, who is said to have made up his mind to quit football.

That, in itself, does not constitute a honest-to-goodness bear story, for Doble will have many holes to fill, but Zednick does not add that Presley, enter: Captain Sparger, fullback; Jensen, Haxelt and Hoxley may not return, thus reducing Doble's "W" squad to five of the 15—Divine, Anderson, Hise, Tom Griffiths and Sutton, and he second string men to Tom Wand, Burke, Griffiths, Friedman and Hawsey.

Some of the prospects are Clark, Norman and Harrett, of the Everett high school, Gallagher, of the 150-pound pokans tackle, Abbotts, of Broadway high of Seattle, and Bruce and Ames, of Lincoln high of Seattle.

Coach Johnny Bender arrived at Pullman a few days ago and immediately allowed the initial practice of the Washington State collegiates for September 7. Bender will have a formidable squad at Pullman because most of who's 1911 bunch will be back. Pullman has the heaviest schedule in the conference, as the Aggies play every other team and in addition the Gonzaga College lads of Spokane.

Physical Director Bohler has opened negotiations with the University of Denver for a game in Denver at the close of the season and is also writing ing his old love, the University of St. Louis.

Three or four brilliant high school performers have announced their intention of turning out for football at the University of Oregon this fall. They are Cook and Purdy, of the Coeur d'Alene High School, and Watson and Ross, of the wonderful Wenatchee team.

Cook and Watson are both track stars, the former being a weight man with 190 pounds of beef on his frame. Purdy is a quarterback and has captained the Coeur d'Alene eleven for two or three years. He is a lad who will have to control his emotions if he hopes to make good on the varsity eleven, but has the natural ability. Watson is the real find of the backfield quartet. He is a sprinter, a clever dodger and a wonderful ground gainer.

An advance copy of the "New Football Rules for 1912," as the blue cover designates the paper-covered book, has been received. Aside from the changes which have been accomplished, conflicts remain, the most noticeable feature is the simplification and systematizing which have been accomplished. Conflicts have been eliminated and many points clarified. The rules appear finally to have attained a degree of stability. The sooner the annual doctoring is dispensed with the sooner football will return to the popularity of six or seven years ago.

The new guide contains a review of the 1911 season in the Pacific Northwest by the writer, likewise his all-star selections, first and second teams. The review apparently proved interesting to the printers back in New York City, for it was clamped into the book in duplicate. Pages 251 to 281 appear in twin form. The rules committee has cleared up one point which caused considerable confusion last fall. A note to section 8 of rule 19 says: "In case of a ball in the air from a forward pass, any eligible player of either side may bat the ball in any direction to prevent an opponent from securing it." Section 8 has always provided for a forfeiture of the ball to the opponent's goal for batting toward the opponent's goal.

Billiard Contest Proposed.

After two or three seasons of debate Multnomah Athletic Club and Portland Commercial Club billiard devotees may finally meet in a series to settle the question of supremacy. A move is now on foot between the two organizations and while no dates have been settled on or plans for the tourney definitely decided upon, something can be expected soon, according to G. E. Devere, dean of billiards at the winged "A." Some of the Multnomah cueists who may appear are Billy Walter, Joe Dennis, Art Morris, Otto Mikkelsen and Roscoe Fawcett. Tonight at the club at 8 o'clock W. C. Dunaway, well-known champion, will meet James Friedman in an exhibition 300 point game of 18 1/2 ballkine

LIQUOR SALE TOPIC

Railway Men and Commissioners in Conference.

STATUTE MEETS FAVOR

Superintendents Declare Enforcement of Law Relative to Intoxicated Persons Riding on Trains Is Effective.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 12.—(Special.)—At a conference between the State Railroad Commission and representatives of the operating departments of various railroads of the state held here yesterday, with practically every railroad in Oregon represented, Chairman Aitchison, of the Commission, read to the superintendents present the statute relative to the sale of intoxicating liquor on trains, the use of it on trains and also the transportation of drunken people.

Further the statute, which gives the conductor and engineer on the trains the power of a Sheriff and also authorizes the Governor to appoint special policemen at the request of the railroads, was read.

Statute Believed Beneficial. The Commission, following the line that the Executive has pointed out, suggested that these statutes be fully enforced. It developed that they have been enforced in a number of cases and it was the consensus of opinion among the superintendents present that the statute relative to drunken persons on trains has resulted in a vast amount of good and has gone a long way toward minimizing this nuisance.

Another move made at the conference was the recommendation of the Commission that a "backup hose" be placed on all passenger equipment on all of the railroads in the state. This hose is connected with the air and will either operate the whistle or the brakes as desired.

Chairman Aitchison, of the Commission, with John G. Hoke and Jay H. Dobbin, officers of the Oregon Wool-growers' Association, will leave tomorrow for Denver, where they will attend the wool rate hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Crawford Is Investigating.

Upon the request of the State Railroad Commission Attorney-General Crawford is making an investigation as to whether it is illegal for a common carrier to take shipments of liquor into dry territory. The Commission was asked to take steps toward preventing such shipments in a letter from the Governor, but the Commission responded that it is unfamiliar with any statute which make such shipments illegal and that the railroad companies insist, on advice of counsel, that they are compelled to make such shipments.

The Commission asked the Governor to cite them to such a statute. If there is one, and also referred the matter to the Attorney-General. The Attorney-General said today that he probably will have no opinion for several days. Following investigation of the complaint of C. A. Barrett and others that the Northern Pacific has not placed crossing guards properly at its crossings between Athena and Waterman, the State Railroad Commission has ordered the road to place an approved cattle guard on crossings between these points within 30 days.

SCIENTIFIC TALES LURE

YOUTH BLAMES STORIES FOR LIFE OF CRIME.

Novel Characters Made Heroes by Kent R. Cochran, Who Confesses to Clever Robberies.

Scientific detective stories, rather than lurid novels of night life or tales of clever thieves, are what Kent R. Cochran, wanted in Yolo County, California, 24 years old, says led him into a criminal life. The tales of great sleuths, where the details were scientifically planned, influenced him, he says, to commit crime. His own robberies, or attempted robberies, at Knight's Landing, Cal.; Washougal, Wash.; Lakeview and Canby, Or., were planned with the same nicety that marked the detective works of his favorites and the human interest "sharp practices" of J. Rufus Wallingford, who is also one of his novel heroes. Cochran was arrested at Woodburn, Or., Wednesday by Sheriff Stevens and Deputy Leonard, Special Agent Cain, of Wells, Fargo & Co. and Chief Special Agent Wood, of the O.-W.-R. & N. Company. He confessed to crimes which have covered six months. He was returned to California yesterday.
