

REBEL ATTACK ON EL TIGRE REPULSED

Salazar's Demand for Surrender Refused.

BATTLE CONTINUES ALL DAY

Bands of Insurgents Continue Practice of Looting.

SONORA MERCHANT GONE

Large Part of Ninth Cavalry Encamped at Douglas, Ariz., and Will Patrol Border East.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 13.—The name of Madero was hissed here today in the chamber of deputies and that of Diaz was cheered by a crowd that packed the galleries. In the streets later disapproval of the president was loudly voiced by throngs who watched the chief executive pass in his carriage. The same throngs called heartily vivas for the deposed Diaz.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Sept. 13.—The attack of Inez Salazar's rebels on El Tigre today ended in repulse for the rebels by the small band of federals garrisoning the camp. Advice received here says that the attack began at 8 o'clock this morning. At 7:30 Salazar sent a messenger under a flag of truce to the commander of the federals demanding the surrender of the town to avoid further bloodshed.

As no one in the camp had been wounded, it was believed that Salazar's request came as the result of loss among his own men.

Firing Continues at Night.

When the demand for the town's surrender was refused, Salazar renewed the attack, and firing continued until 1 o'clock tonight. At that hour Salazar withdrew his force, but at midnight they began firing upon the town at long range, the federals replying to the fire. During the day's fighting two federals were wounded. No Americans were hurt.

The rebel loss is unknown. One rebel was killed on the streets in an attempt by a party of rebels to rush a section of the camp.

It is thought the rebel loss in the hills was heavy.

Mining Company Still Operating.

The plant of the El Tigre Mining Company was still operating late tonight. Reinforcements for the federal garrison are expected to reach there at midnight. General Sanchez is expected to send a force from Agua Prieta south at daylight.

A detachment of Rojas' band is reported to be 26 miles north of Colonia Morelos tonight. The remainder are still at Centa, 12 miles from Douglas.

A party of Mormons left here to rescue five men and two boys who were still at the colony. It is the belief here that Edward Hamore, a prominent American merchant of Sonora, was murdered by the rebels. It is feared the Mormons remaining at the colony will meet a similar fate if their rescue is too late. Hamore's clothing was found today near the place where his horse was discovered.

Rojas Defers to United States.

General W. S. Schuyler, commanding the Department of California, said today that Rojas had informed him that he had "postponed his attack on Agua Prieta in deference to the wishes of the American Government."

The entire Ninth Cavalry, commanded by Colonel Gullfoyle, with the exception of one squadron and a troop, is encamped here. The colored troops will be used to patrol the border from Douglas east to the New Mexican line, while the Fourth Cavalry will patrol the border west of Douglas.

INVASION PLANS ALL MADE

American Army Prepared to Place Flag Over City of Mexico.

According to a special dispatch from Washington to the Commercial Tribune of Cincinnati, the War Department has completed plans to raise the American flag over the City of Mexico within two months from the time the president gives the order for a movement of troops across the Rio Grande. It is figured by the minutest sort of calculation that two months would be all the time required to drive an army across Mexico and capture the capital.

It develops that detailed plans of the most elaborate and complete character have been perfected for the subjugation of Mexico. The plans include both land and sea operations, though it is obvious that the most important movement would be by the land forces. At the War College, in this city, the finishing touches have been put on a set of plans for the proposed Mexican

SCHOOL WORTH $19 A WEEK

Statisticians Compute Value of Training as Shown by Pay Checks.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 13.—Statisticians show that a man of 25 who was trained in his youth in a technical school is worth $19 a week more to his employer than a man of the same age, but without the school training.

A communication received by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction from the United States Commissioner of Education presents these figures as follows:

"Two boys, aged 14, are both interested in mechanics. One goes into the shops; the other into a technical school. The boy in the shops starts at $4 a week, and by the time he is 18 years old he is getting $7. At that age the other boy is leaving school and starting work at $19 a week. At 20 the shop-trained young fellow is getting $9.50 and the technical graduate $15; at 22 the former's wages is $11.50 and the latter's $20, and by the time they are both 25 years old the shopworker finds $12.75 in his pay envelope, while the technically trained man draws a salary of $31."

"These figures are based on a study of 2000 actual workers."

TOKIO, Sept. 13.—General Count Maresuke Nogi, Supreme Military Councillor of the Empire, and his wife, the Countess Nogi, committed suicide tonight in accordance with the ancient Japanese custom, as a final tribute to their departed Emperor and friend, Mutsuhito. The death by their own hands of the famous General and his wife was as dramatic as it was sad. The General cut his throat with a short sword and the Countess committed hara-kari.

Following the Samurai custom, the couple had carefully prepared their plans for killing themselves and timed them so that they could be coincident with the departure forever from Tokio of the dead Emperor.

Preparations Made for Death.

General Nogi and the Countess had attended the funeral services of Mutsuhito at the palace here today, and it was expected they would proceed to Aoyama tonight with the cortege. Instead, however, at the conclusion of the ceremony at the palace they withdrew to their modest home in Akasaka, a suburb of Tokio, and there began their final preparations for death.
