

EXPLANATION TO MY PATRONS AND THE PUBLIC

An Open Letter About My Change of Plans

Last March I announced an important Removal Sale, and held a most successful one. Although I am sure all those who took advantage of that sale appreciated the GENUINE BARGAINS I gave, yet I owe an explanation to the public for not removing. To show I acted in good faith I will state the following:

When I announced the above stated Removal Sale I was compelled to pay $300 a month rental for my store. After repeated efforts with the landlord failed to get the high rent reduced, I had no other recourse but to remove. THE FACT is, I could not afford to pay such an enormous rent and give my patrons the value they expected and deserved. I notified the landlord that I would vacate the store on expiration of my lease, and held a bona fide removal sale. Since then the landlord reconsidered the matter. He realized that the large number of vacant stores signified that merchants could not afford to pay such high rents. My landlord preferred a steady high-grade custom tailoring establishment to eating houses and undesirable tenants, so he made a very appreciative concession to me—a saving of nearly $1800 a year. I immediately accepted his proposition and signed a new long-term lease. I have entirely remodeled the store, and now take pleasure in announcing the opening.

Yours truly

Special Announcement Grand Opening Week

I take pride in my up-to-the-minute custom tailoring establishment, and know right well my patrons will also be proud of Portland's BEST tailoring house. My efforts during the past three months* to collect a superior assortment of imported and domestic woolsens have been crowned with success. Being a big cash buyer I am able to give my patrons exceptionally good value. My patrons get first-class woolsens for the price other stores charge for third-class fabrics. Cash, knowledge of fabrics and low rent are the great factors in value giving. All garments are cut by me personally, and they are made on the premises under my personal supervision. The name MAXWELL implies ability, integrity and craftsmanship in the building of gentlemen's clothes. This is well borne out in the FACT that thousands of representative men in Oregon and Washington testify by their constant patronage.

You get the HIGHEST GRADE workmanship, GUARANTEED material and PERFECT fit.

THIS SPECIAL OPENING SALE commences this morning at 8 o'clock. Even if you do not require clothing for a month or two yet, visit our store and select from the best goods—the latest Fall and Winter patterns.

BOYS DIE OF COLD

Bodies of Shattuck, Oliver and Linscott Found.

HUNT FOR CABIN IN VAIN

Searching Party Passes Over Forms Many Times Before Discovered.

SHOES WORN OUT IN STRUGGLE OVER ROCKS.

JUNEAU, Alaska, Sept. 13.—Evidence of terrible suffering was brought to light with the finding yesterday of the bodies of John W. Shattuck, Leslie Oliver and Adelbert Linscott, the three youths who left Juneau on a hunting expedition a week ago, and perished on Sheep Creek Mountain of cold and hunger.

Oliver's body was found near the summit of the mountain. Three hundred yards nearer a dividing ridge lay Shattuck and Linscott, Shattuck's head pillowed on his companion's body.

These two had eaten paper from exploded shotgun shells and grass roots torn from the mountain side in a vain effort to stave off starvation. No matches or loaded cartridges were found on the clothes of the dead hunters.

The features of the three dead boys, who probably died last Sunday night, were deeply seamed with suffering. It is believed they descended the slope of the mountain and wandered through the flats, where a running stream could have been followed to salt water and safety, but becoming discouraged they probably retraced their steps in an effort to reach a cabin where they could seek shelter.

The bodies will be sent south on the steamer Jefferson, sailing for Seattle tomorrow, that of Shattuck going to Gresham, Or., Linscott to Seattle and Oliver to Portland, Or.

Although the body of Oliver was in plain sight from the crests and ridges, the searchers must have passed and re-passed it many times. The boy's shoes were worn through by the rocks in his struggle to reach the summit. In his hand was a pistol and by his side a shotgun.

The hundred men of the search party, after the discovery of Oliver's body, concentrated their efforts in the neighborhood where it was found, and finally, after seven hours, came upon the bodies of Shattuck and Linscott only a quarter of a mile distant. The bodies were brought to Juneau. John W. Shattuck was 21 years old, a graduate of the University of Oregon and prominent in college athletics. He was living with his brother, a banker of Juneau. Linscott was 20 years old and a resident of Douglas. The hunters set out without blankets or provisions, and were unfamiliar with the country. Soon after their departure Sheep Creek Mountain was enveloped by a dense fog, and when they did not return at night steps were taken to rescue them.

at Juneau, Alaska, instructing him to make arrangements immediately for sending the body to Portland. It is thought that Henry Shattuck will accompany the body to Seattle, where Portland relatives will be awaiting the sad arrival.

Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Shattuck, Sr., who have been residing for the last two or three years with their daughter, Mrs. F. A. Short, at 600 East Eighth street, the dead boy is survived by the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. F. A. Short, 600 East Eighth street; Mrs. Edward E. Sierst, 784 Division street; Henry Shattuck, a banker and merchant of Juneau, Alaska; Alton Shattuck, a druggist of Juneau, Alaska; Carl Shattuck and Louis Shattuck, both merchants of Gresham, and Dudley Shattuck and Bates Shattuck, who operate a general merchandise store at Maupin, a town on the new Deschutes Railway.

The parents of the boy, who were hopeful of his escape from death until the final news was received yesterday, are nearly prostrated with grief. John Shattuck graduated from the grammar grade, and the high school in Gresham, Multnomah County, in September, 1908, and then entered the University of Oregon, from which institution he graduated with honors last June. He majored under Professor F. G. Young in the economics department.

Shattuck was popular on the Eugene campus and was prominent in many lines of university activity. He was a member of the mandolin club for two years, played a leading role in "She Stoops to Conquer," the senior play staged by the 1912 class last Spring, and was a member of the varsity tennis team, which met the team from the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club in May.

He was a charter member of the Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity at Eugene, and was a dependable player on each of the athletic teams entered by the "Phijs" in the interfraternity games held throughout the collegiate year. His fraternity brothers and hundreds of friends in Portland feel keenly his untimely death.

TODD, LISTER HIGH

Count of 5778 Democratic Votes Continues All Night.

WASHINGTON WOMEN LOSE

Mrs. Preston Carries Nearly Every County but King Gives 5000 Votes Against Her—Mrs. Tamblin Cut Because of Initials.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 13.—The Auditor of King County today completed the count of the Republican votes cast in last Wednesday's primary, and began the count of the 5778 Democratic votes. Work is being continued throughout the night, and it is hoped that it will be completed tomorrow. From the scattering returns received from all parts of the state the following list of probable nominees has been compiled:

Governor, Hugh C. Todd, of Seattle, or Ernest Lister, of Tacoma. Lieutenant-Governor, Harry H. Collier, of Tacoma. Secretary of State, George E. Ryan, of Seattle.

Treasurer, Louis Gilbert, of Seattle. Auditor, George K. Stephenson, of Tappanish. Attorney-General, William C. Jones, of Spokane. Commissioner of Public Lands, Albert Schooley, of Chehalis.

Superintendent of Public Instruction, Miss Mary A. Monroe, of Spokane. Insurance Commissioner, Jesse F. Murphy, of Seattle.

In Congress, First District, Charles G. Helfner, of Seattle; Second, Roscoe Drury, of Tacoma; Third, Rudolph Drumheller, of Spokane; at large, E. O. Connor, of Spokane and Henry White, of Bellingham.

The developments of today were unfavorable to the women candidates on the Republican ticket. Mrs. Josephine Preston, of Walla Walla, candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction, carried nearly every county in the state over A. S. Burrows, but it is doubtful if the smaller counties of the state can overcome the 6000 majority which King County gave to Burrows.

Mrs. MAUD H. TAMBLIN and Miss Leola May Blinn are apparently out of the Republican race for Commissioner of Public Lands. Mrs. Tamblin's name went on the ticket as "M. H. Tamblin," and it is thought that this lost her the votes of many women, who concentrated on Miss Blinn, her name being printed in full.

FRIENDS TAKE HAND

Edna Hislop Believed to Be Concealed by Neighbors.

EXIT FOLLOWS TROUBLE

Foster-Mother Said to Have Been Strict and Outsiders Counseled Child to Leave—Note Tells of Safety.

That officious but well-meaning neighbors are hiding Edna Hislop, 13, who has been missing from her home, 605 Rodney avenue several days, is the belief of Detective Hawley, who is investigating the disappearance. He bases his conclusion upon facts that have come to his possession, principal of which is that the child has been severely disciplined by her foster-mother and that the neighborhood took the child's part.

Just before the girl dropped out of sight there had been trouble and the foster-mother, who is the girl's aunt, attempted to punish her. She says that the child flew upon her and kicked her so severely that she ran from the house, telling Edna that she would wait until the father came home. When she returned the girl was gone.

That night a young man was seen to slip a note under the door, in Edna's handwriting, telling her mother not to worry, that she was in good hands. A description of this youth is in the hands of the detectives and he is being sought, in the belief that he can lead them to the hiding place.

Because neighbors have investigated against the severity used in disciplining the child and have counseled her to leave, it is believed that some of them have taken her in.

TRAIN KILLS OLEQUA MAN

Quarter-Breed Is Believed to Have Been Intoxicated.

CASTLE ROCK, Wash., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—John Oliver, a young man who resided near Olegua, this county, was instantly killed by a south-bound G. W. R. & N. train yesterday. The man was lying on the track between Little Falls and Olegua, presumably under the influence of liquor, and the engineer did not see him until too late. The train was stopped and the body brought to this city, where the coroner viewed it and decided that no inquest was necessary and gave an order for interment.

The young man was a quarter-breed and has many relatives in this vicinity, who are looking after the burial.

YOUTHS PUT ROPE AROUND OLD FARMER'S NECK.

Wife's Screams Bring Assistance. Lads First Set Fire and Destroy Couple's Home.

BUTTE, Mont., Sept. 13.—Fifteen boys, ranging from 12 to 15 years of age, confessed today in the Juvenile Court that they attempted to lynch Joseph Meyers, a chicken farmer after having set fire to the Meyers' home.

Mrs. Meyers testified today that she and her husband had been rendered destitute by the depredations of the boys. She said she and her husband, as they were returning home, had come upon the boys as they were firing the house. As her husband attempted to climb to the roof to extinguish the flames, he was overpowered by the youngsters who put a rope around his neck and attempted to lynch him.

Mrs. Meyers' screams brought assistance and the boys ran away. The house was destroyed. The case was continued one week until other boys implicated in the confession can be apprehended.
