

SWEETHEART BARES ROBBER'S IDENTITY

Woman Tells How Dead Desperado Used to Return With Cash and Jewels.

MANY CRIMES LAID TO HIM

Six of Victims View Body of Suicide and Long List of Streetcar Holdups and Other Robberies Cleared Up.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—(Special.)—A young woman has cleared the mystery in the identity of the highwayman who committed suicide Wednesday night when he was cornered by the police after he had held up a Kearney-street car. The desperado, who battled with the police during a thrilling chase through the streets, is proved to have been a professional footpad.

Evelyn Disney, who lives at 857 Montgomery avenue, gave the police the information by which they identified him as Hara Anderson and traced many other crimes upon him. Among these were: September 2, holdup of streetcar in Albany, near Point Richmond, conducted by the passengers; September 2, holdup of car in Berkeley and passengers; September 14, holdup of saloon of M. McClure at 454 Main street; September 15, holdup of two San Mateo interurban cars at Easton station, in San Mateo County, passengers and crew robbed; City Attorney Charles Kirkbride of San Mateo, shot and seriously wounded; September 22, home of William Fink robbed; September 25, holdup of Kearney-street car, passengers robbed and Special Police Kaufmann shot by robber in his flight.

Victims Identify Robber.

The dead highwayman's identification by the woman was followed by identification of his body by six of his victims in various crimes. Car men yesterday viewed the body and declared that the man was the one who had held up cars at Albany and at Berkeley. Lester Otto Jacobson, motorman of one of the San Mateo cars, with Captain W. W. Waggoner, one of the passengers, and others identified the body positively as that of the man who had perpetrated the robbery of both interurban cars, shooting Kirkbride.

Evelyn Disney was found through a scrap of paper bearing her address. She readily identified the handwriting as that of Anderson and declared that her first meeting with the man was in a Barbary Coast dance hall he frequented in her company frequently and had lavished attentions on her.

Actions Are Described.

Anderson, she said, was a Dane and spoke with a foreign accent, appearing to be a man of refinement. The woman told of his being absent at night, always to return in the morning with his pockets filled with money and jewels.

She met Anderson a month ago, she said, and he became infatuated with her. During the time that they were together she never suspected that he was a desperado. Her suspicions were not even aroused, she asserts, when Anderson once remarked to her: "Some day, Evelyn, I'm going to get you in the newspapers, and then you will say to yourself: 'My God! I knew that man.'" Anderson, according to the girl, always carried paints and greases with him, though she never understood the reason for it.

"After we had known each other for a few days," said the girl, "he told me he had been over to Port Richmond. That was about September 2. He said he had been in Berkeley the day before and took with him a lot of money after that trip and bought me lots of presents."

"Robber Keeps Out of Sight" "He was in the habit of staying in his room at the hotel all day and told me he did not want to see people. He would leave about 7 o'clock at night and would not return until late at night or early in the morning."

"After returning from these trips he would always stay in the hotel for a few days and then go out at night again."

"Two weeks ago, one Sunday night, he told me he was going down to San Mateo to see a brother who lived in Easton. He said he had no money, but would return with lots of it. Monday morning he came back with lots of money and he spent it on me."

"When he first came to my room I saw that he had a pocketful of newspaper clippings in his pocket. I pulled them out and looked at them. They said something about a robbery or a holdup. I did not have time to read them because he grabbed me and drew his gun and said he would kill me if I did not give him back the clippings. I did and he tore them into pieces."

"Last Wednesday night he told me he was broke again and was going out to get some money. He left at 9 o'clock and never returned. I guess he held up that Kearney-street car and was on his way to the hotel here when he killed himself in Commercial street to avoid being arrested."

FATE UP TO LEGISLATURE

Question of Continuing Naval Militia Will Be Decided.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 27.—(Special.)—A report of the expenditures of the Oregon Naval Militia since the time the appropriation act went into effect, May 25, 1911, and September 4, this year, has been filed with Governor West. The executive has decided to turn the fate of the Naval Militia over to the next Legislature. At one time he said that the militia would perhaps be deemed to be disbanded, but he finally decided to leave the fate of the militia with its members themselves, and said their actions in the matter on the Legislature would determine what would be done with them. They were accorded a decidedly favorable report by the captain of that cruiser, and the Governor will not interfere with the militia, but will let the next Legislature determine whether it will continue appropriations for the militia or discontinue them.

The militia was given an appropriation of $25,000. So far, according to the report, $18,165 has been expended. Up to November 30, last year, the expenditures amounted to $3307, and this year, up to September 4, they have been $2847.

The women were found in the yard in an unconscious condition and were resuscitated with difficulty.

NOTED ENGLISH SUFFRAGE LEADER WHO SAILS ON RETURN HOME.

MRS. PETHWICK LAWRENCE.

MRS. LAWRENCE OFF

Noted Suffragette, Unterrified, to Resume Crusade.

REST TOUR IS COMPLETED

Battle Never to Close Until Success Crowned Efforts of Suffragettes, According to the English Leader.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(Special.)—Accompanied by her husband, Mrs. Pethwick Lawrence sailed yesterday for England to resume her work for the suffrage cause. "I am undismayed," declared Mrs. Lawrence before sailing. "My recent imprisonment has served but to make me the firmer in my faith, which is that the suffrage crusade shall never lapse until its object shall have been accomplished."

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence have recently completed a long tour through parts of the United States and Canada, which they took in order to recuperate for the coming resumption of the crusade. "We must go on," said Mrs. Lawrence in a recent interview. "They can no more crush us than the Austrians could crush Garibaldi with his thousand men. He prevailed against the Austrians, and we shall prevail against the English government."

"The rest we took this summer was necessary. We started the hunger strike in jail as a protest against the government's refusal to hold us as political prisoners. Mrs. Pankhurst, my husband and I were treated as political prisoners, but we refused to accept any considerations not granted to our colleagues in jail. So we refused food and were forcibly fed. Ah, that forcible feeding! It took nine people to hold me down. You choke, you struggle, you growl in the face, and then you are so ill that you cannot possibly retain the food."

"One cannot retain food administered under such circumstances. Mrs. Pankhurst was released when it was seen that her very life was endangered. I was the second to be released."

REFERENDUM IS RETORT

first remark when informed of the special meeting and its object. Councilman Dunning and Jay, two of the special-meeting petition-signers, disclaimed all knowledge of business other than the purchase of election booths and transaction of other minor business. Councilman Dunning and Jay, who were present at the special meeting, introduced the rescinding ordinance.

Watkins "Up in the Air." "Mind you, the fact that I may be asked to introduce the ordinance does not mean that I am for it," said Mr. Burgard. He voted against the measure at its passage. Councilman Jay said that he is inclined to permit the matter to be threshed out thoroughly in the courts, but was not very decisive in his remarks to that effect. Councilman Watkins freely confesses that he is "up in the air," but says that he will interview business men and ascertain the attitude of the people before announcing his vote.

"The 'no-seat, no-fare' measure failed to pass at the last election and I am not so sure that the people are in favor of the three-cent, no-seat law," said Mr. Watkins. "Personally, I don't think that the service would be bettered by the passage of the law, and believe that trouble would be likely to follow the refusal of a loaded car to stop for three-cent passengers."

The charter section relative to the referendum on ordinances says that the petitions must bear signatures equal to 15 per cent of the vote cast at the last regular election, and must be filed within 15 days after the final approval of the franchise ordinance.

Work Will Not Be Delayed. "No matter what the Portland Railway, Light and Power Company does to try to block our franchise, we shall go right ahead with our plans to give the people of Portland genuine competition," said Herbert Fleischacker, head of the Northwestern Electric Company, at the Portland Hotel last night. "We feel so confident that the people of Portland will not be deceived by the Portland Railway, Light and Power Company, and that they want real competition and lower rates, that there will be no let-up in our construction work now under way or planned."

"This attempted invoking of the referendum on our franchise is clearly only an effort to delay competition and stave off the lower rates that Mr. Janssen and his associates know are sure to follow the entry of the Northwestern Electric into the Portland field. "It would be worth $1,000,000 to the Portland Railway, Light and Power Company if it could keep us out and maintain its monopoly in this city. Its latest action shows this. After failing to defeat the franchise in the Council, the company is invoking the referendum to delay our entry until after next June."

"Our franchise is probably the most strict and drastic in its provisions ever granted to a public utilities company. The rights of the city are absolutely safeguarded. It was clearly granted in response to genuine public sentiment, because the people wanted it. "It only makes us the more determined to come into Portland and give genuine competition against such a monopoly. The issue has become 'who is to run the city of Portland, the people or the Portland Railway, Light and Power Company?'"

TROOP SHIFT DESIRED

MEXICO WOULD MOVE ARMY VIA UNITED STATES.

With Rebel Force in Sierra Burro Hills Aim Is to Send Three Columns Against It.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 27.—Congress today granted President Madero's request for authority to ask permission of the United States to transport Mexican troops again through American territory. Unless the authority is refused by Washington, troops under General Trujey Anber, now at Ojinaga, will be transported.

Part of the command will be sent over the Southern Pacific Railway, entering Mexico at Del Rio, Tex., and the others will be sent to Ciudad Porfirio Diaz, to co-operate with General Blanquet in command at Sabinas. Orozco's army now is occupying positions among the haciendas near La Babiya and Piedra Blanca in the range of hills known as Sierra Burro, which offer excellent opportunities for defense. The government expects to send three columns against the rebel positions.

JACKSON, Mich., Sept. 27.—Charged with murder in the first degree, Captain Frank L. Blackman and Private Howard Jackson, of the State Militia, which guarded Jackson prison during the recent convict mutiny, were arrested today in connection with the death of John Eisy, a Syrian sexton. The fatality occurred at midnight several weeks ago while Eisy, it is said, was firing with the soldiers over the purchase of rifles. Both soldiers say they fired in self-defense.

HUNDREDS DIE, PROPERTY LOSS WILL BE $20,000,000.

Storm, Worst in Half Century, Sinks Steamers, Ruins Harbors and Does Great Damage to Crops.

TOKIO, Sept. 27.—Hundreds of lives were lost, scores of persons were injured and damage exceeding $20,000,000 was caused as a result of the typhoon which swept Japan from end to end on Sunday, according to the latest reports received here. Tens of thousands of people are homeless.

The storm was the worst that has occurred here for more than half a century. Reports were delayed by the fact that the capital was for days cut off from the rest of the country.

The greatest damage was done in the neighborhood of the cities of Nagoya, Nara, and Osaka, on the Island of Honshu and in Gifu. At Gifu, 262 persons were killed and 283 injured. At Nagoya every house was damaged and a great tidal wave demolished the harbor and sank three steamers, while several others went ashore.

The Kinto Maru foundered off Enshu and all the passengers and crew were lost. At Osaka 20,000 houses were ruined and all the breakwaters and the harbor piers were washed away.

At Nara, formerly a banker of Minneapolis, but who recently made a tour of the world visiting the mission stations and who is now devoting his time to religious work, also spoke. Dr. Bell is a brother-in-law of Rev. W. P. White, D. D., pastor of the United Presbyterian Church of this city.
