

PROPER OWNERS ON 7TH PROTEST Interurban Car Franchise Move Meets With Vigorous Action.

ONLY TWO FAVOR GRANT

Prominent Business Men Declare Seives Against Heuser Railway Right on Valuable Thoroughfare of Portland.

That a vigorous protest be made; that legal counsel be employed if necessary to take the matter into the courts, and that every property owner on Seventh street appear before the City Council, when it again takes up the question of the granting of the Heuser franchise, was the decision of the 40 or more members of the Seventh-Street Improvement Association at a meeting held yesterday in the Commercial Club building.

Chance to Explain Lost.

It was explained by one of the speakers that the City Council had taken the franchise from the street committee before the Seventh-street property owners had a chance to explain their position and had not given them the opportunity to believe that they would get a hearing before any action was taken. The sudden action therefore had worked an injustice which all wished to correct.

With regard to the common user clause proposed it was pointed out that under certain conditions all interurban cars could run over the street.

J. C. Beck acted as chairman of the meeting and stated that all of the property owners so far as he could learn were opposed to the granting of the franchise. To this statement Mr. Boise took exception, and said he had a petition on which were the names of a number of property owners who favored the project. Abe Tichner then asked the question of Mr. Boise:

"Do you know of anyone who has valuable property on the street who favors the interurban cars on Seventh? We know who you represent and why you are here."

Mr. Boise replied to direct his remarks to Mr. Tichner and asserted that he had a right to be at the meeting and proposed to voice his sentiments.

The chairman then put a motion as to whether the association of Seventh-street owners was for or against the Heuser franchise. The vote was unanimous, there being only two opposing. The motion was put in the form of being opposed to the running of interurban cars on the street.

Theodore B. Wilcox was called for an expression as to his views. He said:

"I am opposed to the placing of interurban cars on the street. Seventh, in my opinion, is the most valuable property in Oregon and is even better than Sixth. For that reason I do not believe it should be converted into such a use as proposed. I am ready to stand my share of the cost of the interurban cars against the running of interurban cars on the street."

John W. Blodgett, millionaire Michigan lumberman, who recently purchased the City Library building, came forward and he stated that he was in sympathy with the movement which had for its object the keeping off the street of the interurban cars. He stated that he had experience in his Eastern home with just such a condition as is presented here and it worked to the detriment of the city.

Elks Also Opposed. J. P. Finley and K. K. Kubli, who represented the Elks' building, announced that the lodge which they represented was willing to contribute to the cause of keeping the interurban cars off the street. Mr. Finley declared that in Los Angeles the experience of business streets with the interurban was disastrous, for it resulted in a retarded quick and efficient city service.

"Broadway bridge," said Mr. Finley, "was built so as to accommodate the traffic in East Portland north of the bridge and if these interurban cars are permitted to come in and up Seventh street it will destroy its value as a distributive center for city traffic. For that reason the approach to the bridge must be kept open to accommodate this section of Portland."

A motion to appoint a committee of five to call upon the City Council and exercise such discretion as it felt necessary in the campaign of opposition was passed, and the chair appointed the members at a later date.

G. J. Kaufmann, of the Portland Hotel; John Haak, owner of the downtown building; Dan J. Malarky, Robert Street, E. E. Covert, E. E. Covert, representing S. Benson, were among the speakers, and all advocated attending the Council in a body and presenting the most vigorous language possible the sentiment and wishes of the property-owners.

COLUMBA BRIDGE CAMPAIGN STARTS Initial Meeting of Commercial Club Committee Held and Outline Formulated.

WORK TO BE STATE-WIDE

Joint Session With Vancouver Men to Be Held Soon When Engineer Modjeski Will Give His Views. Dual Celebration Projected. Tentative plans for a lively campaign in the interest of the proposed Pacific Highway bridge across the Columbia River between Portland and Vancouver were made yesterday at the initial meeting of the bridge campaign committee appointed Tuesday by President Piper of the Commercial Club. The meeting, which was held at the Commercial Club, was attended by all members of the campaign committee, excepting John F. Logan, who was out of the city. All phases of the work of the future were considered and plans for immediate action were formulated. The first business of the session was arranging a conference between the Portland committee and the committee representing Vancouver, at which Engineer Ralph Modjeski will be asked to express his views as to when the bridge should be started in order that it can be finished in time for opening during the San Francisco exposition. This conference will be held either tonight or next Tuesday night, the date to be finally settled this morning.

T. R. ENDS LOST BOOK

VOLUME IN CAR AT LA GRANDE, SAYS E. B. CURREY.

Inference Is "Second Roman Republic" Lay Forgotten in Colonel's Pockets While in Portland.

The famous lost book of Colonel Roosevelt was never lost, as it was always in his personal possession or that of his secretaries, according to a report brought to Portland by E. B. Currey, of Hot Lake. For several days reports have been emanating from the Bull Moose headquarters that Colonel Roosevelt had recovered the volume, "The History of the Second Roman Republic," but the account given by Mr. Currey is the first definite word on the subject.

Bruce Dennis, editor of the La Grande Observer, Mr. Currey gives as his authority for the statement that Colonel Roosevelt had the book in his possession on October 12, the day after its alleged disappearance.

At the Imperial last night, Mr. Currey related what Mr. Dennis had told him as follows: "I was a member of the La Grande committee to receive Colonel Roosevelt at La Grande, and after entering the city on the morning of October 12, the day after its alleged disappearance."

Mr. Currey said that in telling him this Mr. Dennis did not speak as one telling a secret, but as one who had been generally circulated so that the suspicion of their might be removed from those accused of being responsible for its disappearance.

Manager MacRae, of the Oregon Hotel, said last evening that the book had been heard indirectly that the book had been in the possession of one of his secretaries who would naturally expect to find it in the pockets of one of his secretaries who would have notified the hotel of the finding of the book.

SETTLEMENT IS FAVORED Judge Cleon Has Plan to Prevent Non-Support Cases.

A new system of handling non-support cases on which the judge believes will make a law concerning such cases much more effective than it is at present, has been worked out by Judge Cleon and may shortly be put into effect. It will include the employment of a man who shall give his sole attention to this work, who shall act as a conciliator between husband and wife rather than dragging husbands and wives before the bar of justice.

"On an average there have been from 100 to 150 non-support cases in the court each week," said Judge Cleon in explanation of his plan. "I have found that when men are brought into court they are not only ignorant of the breach between husband and wife is made wider. My idea is to appoint a good tactful man as an employee of this office and request the sheriff to detain him. I have such a man in view."

"When a woman came in and made a complaint I would have this man discuss every means of settling the difficulty amicably before placing the husband under arrest."

CLARK SPEAKS AT ECHO BULL MOOSE CANDIDATE ADVOCATES RECLAMATION.

Denunciation of Congressional Delegation for Letting Money Go Elsewhere Applauded.

ECHO, Or., Oct. 4.—(Special.)—Denouncing in vigorous language the neglect of Oregon's delegation in Congress properly to look out for the welfare of Eastern Oregon, particularly in the reclamation projects and water ways on the Columbia and Snake Rivers, A. E. Clark, of Portland, Roosevelt Progressive candidate for the United States Senate, was loudly applauded during a street address made here today.

Complete Co-operation Planned.

The Portland committee members were heartily in favor of co-operation in every move with the Vancouver committee. It is the plan to have numerous joint meetings and to have the committees keep an even pace in the promotion of the projects interests on both sides of the river.

One of the most important features planned by the committee yesterday was "bridge day" to be held in Portland and Vancouver some time this fall. The committee considered this a good plan to arouse public interest in the bridge and to bring the project before the public in a parade in the morning, with a programme of speeches and music and perhaps a parade in Vancouver. It is likely that a parade will be formed in Portland and proceed direct to Vancouver.

Work to Be State-wide.

The committee will undertake the work of organizing a state-wide organization to boost for the proposed bridge. This work probably will require many months to complete, but it will be one of the most important features of the campaign. To assist in the work of organization a publicity bureau probably will be established.

CASEY CLOSE TO HEAVEN DRUNKARD NOW GETS AS MUCH WHISKY AS HE WANTS.

Experiment on Old Police Offender Agrees With Patient and May Effect Real Cure.

James Casey, 62 years old, whose record on the police dockets in Portland's police station for the past ten years has always been followed by the charge, "drunk," is, in his own opinion, pretty close to heaven. Under the charge of Attorney Roscoe P. Hurst, special agent of Governor West in liquor cases, Casey has been placed where he can get all the whisky his heart desires. Incidentally, the plan is to cure of the liquor habit the man who is rated in police circles as the "town drunkard."

At his own request, when Attorney Hurst suggested it to him last night, Casey was willing to try anything new. Casey, one through an extended sojourn in the country, far from the source of drinkables, having failed, was willing to try anything new. Hurst, on the principle that one reformed drunkard is worth ten convictions of saloon men for selling liquor, made the venture on Casey.

Relieved of his old clothes, bathed and shaved, in a pair of new ecru pajamas, tucked between clean sheets, with his red nose shining in high relief against the whiteness, Casey was surprised to see a pretty nurse enter the room at the institute, with a drink of whisky in a glass on a tray. Casey thought that he was being treated for the glass and drank the liquor.

PURELY S.S.S. VEGETABLE DON'T NEGLECT CATARRH Even in its early stages Catarrh is a most distressing complaint, known by its symptoms of stuffy feeling in the head and nose, roaring in the ears, mucus in the throat, difficult breathing, etc. When the blood becomes thoroughly polluted with catarrhal matter the inflammation extends to the bronchial tubes, causing hoarseness and often an aggravating cough, the stomach is affected, resulting in dyspepsia, loss of appetite, and gradually all the mucous membranes of the body become diseased. Catarrh is a deep-seated blood disease and must be treated constitutionally; it is beyond the reach of local treatment. Only temporary relief can ever be had from the use of sprays, washes, etc. S. S. S. cures Catarrh by cleansing the blood of all impure catarrhal matter and at the same time building up the entire system. It goes down into the circulation and removes all impurities. Then as pure, nourishing blood circulates through the body, the inflamed membranes heal, all discharges cease and every symptom of Catarrh passes away. Don't neglect Catarrh; cure it with S. S. S., as thousands have done. Book on Catarrh and any medical advice free. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.
