MEN'S WIVES ENTERTAINED

Noted Woman Addresses Gathering of Railway Men, Serves Refreshments and Acts as Hostess at Banquet.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—(Special).—Miss Helen Miller Gould contemplating entry into the ranks of authors?

It is not fair to say the noted daughter of Jay Gould intimated as much in Chicago today, when she gave as near an approach to an interview as she ever accorded the public press. She raised the question. She volunteered the promise that if she did write a book she would discuss for publication, both in the book and in the newspaper, the opinions and impressions she has formed in her efforts to aid in improving the lot of mankind.

They stepped into a one-horse cab in front of Orchestra Hall and were driven rapidly to take up her duties at the Congress Hotel as hostess at receptions and luncheons to hundreds of railway employes.

Brief Reference Made to Wreck.
She had stepped into the Orchestra Hall session of the railroad Young Men's Christian Association men a few minutes before and the audience rose and cheered as soon as she entered the door. She mounted to the stage, escorted by Cyrus H. McCormick, and hundreds of waving handkerchiefs added their part to the demonstration. "Thank you, men," she said simply as soon as she could be heard, smiling at the enthusiastic assemblage. Then she made brief reference to the wreck, which prevented her from being at last night's banquet.

"It seems wonderful to be here at all," she said.

Wives of Delegates Greeted.
Miss Gould contributed two social events to the day's programme. Following her appearance at the convention session, she greeted and served refreshments to more than 200 wives of delegates in the Elizabethan room of the Congress Hotel. Following this, she acted as hostess at a dinner given in the Florentine room of the hotel to about 250 employes of the Gould lines in attendance at the convention.

President Bush, of the Missouri Pacific, acted as toastmaster at the dinner. Assisting Miss Gould in receiving the delegates were the two women who accompanied her from New York, Miss Anna Palen, her cousin, Miss Anna Shaw, and several Chicago women, including Mrs. John Bacon Shaw, Miss Ellen Chessman, Mrs. C. J. Hicks, Mrs. M. J. Carpenter, Mrs. W. P. Sidley, Mrs. J. B. Dixon, Mrs. W. N. Northcott and Mrs. C. A. Shoemaker.

SUFFRAGE CAUSE IS URGED
Dr. Anna Shaw Speaks at Oregon Agricultural College.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Oct. 4.—(Special).—After explaining that agriculture is woman's original vocation, and complimenting the young women in attendance at Oregon Agricultural College on their efforts to secure an educational preparation that would enable them to come back to their own Dr. Anna Shaw argued here that the ballot is a domestic necessity if the United States Government would have its feminine subjects do their full duty by the Nation.

"I only ask the men to put themselves in our places for a moment, if they can," said Dr. Shaw, "and see themselves governed by every race and color, without an opportunity to say what the laws which govern us are to be, saying our share of the bills without a chance to say what the bills shall be."

In referring to the international conference of woman suffrage workers to be held in Buda-Pest next Spring, the speaker pointed out that a victory for the movement in Oregon at the November election would be the most effective and far-reaching boost that the business men could give to the Beaver state.

A large number of college and townspeople listened to the appeal.

KLAMATH GRAIN BETTER

Acreage Sown Largest in Section and Yield Most Promising.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., Oct. 4.—(Special).—Not only was the acreage sown to grain in this section this year the largest ever known here, but the yield promises to be phenomenal. The supply of sacks will not nearly meet the demand. Farmers are engaged in hauling their grain to market or storing it in the elevators or their own granaries, so as not to delay the threshing. There are now 16 threshing outfits at work in the Klamath Basin and three more are nearly ready for work. The threshermen report that wheat yields run from 25 to 45 bushels per acre, oats 40 to 50 and barley about the same as oats. Very little rye was grown here this season.

The weather continues good with no rain except one shower of a few minutes duration, since threshing began.

Refugees Declare Barbarous System of Concentration Is Practiced, and Women and Children Are Dying of Starvation.

PANAMA, Oct. 4.—A dispatch received here today from Chadra, Nicaraguan Minister of Finance, says that the government forces captured the town of Masaya today.

The town of Masaya, capital of the Nicaraguan province of Masaya, is on the railroad southeast of Managua and has been held by the rebels for some time. Reports sent to Washington by Mr. Wetzel, the American Minister to Nicaragua, said refugees from Masaya of German, British, Dutch and Italian nationalities had appealed to him for immediate relief. They declared, in the Minister's report said, that panic and anarchy reigned, that houses had been sacked and that a barbarous system of concentration of the people was being enforced.

The refugees reported that the people of Masaya had been reduced to eating horse flesh because of the scarcity of food and that many women and young children had died of starvation.

It was at Masaya the night of September 19 that rebels holding the town burned a train bearing American bluejackets and marines who were on their way to open railroad communication with Granada. Three marines were slightly wounded.

T. R.'s Running Mate Quotes From Princeton Address of Democratic Candidate.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Oct. 4.—Governor Johnson in an address here tonight endeavored to show his audience that Governor Wilson's present attitude toward labor is not the same as that he took in 1909 when connected with Princeton University. The California executive said in part: "I read the other day in a Massachusetts newspaper, friendly to the Democratic candidate for President his utterances in New England in reference to the right of labor to organize. I gathered that he was sympathetic with labor. Vividly there came to me the words of the Democratic candidate, uttered at the Princeton commencement in 1909.

TWO OPPONENTS REFER TO SITUATION IN CALIFORNIA AS ILLUSTRATING INCONSISTENCY OF THIRD-PARTY MEN.

Democratic Nominee Refers to Situation in California as Illustrating Inconsistency of Third-Party Men.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—Governor Wilson made a strenuous campaign sweep today through Indiana, covering a great portion of the state in a special train and making six set speeches. He reached Chicago at nightfall, spent two hours with Joseph E. Davies, secretary of the National committee, and members of the Western headquarters, and continued his trip to Omaha and Lincoln, Neb. Big crowds greeted the Governor everywhere.

The Governor developed further in his speech at Kokomo, Ind., his attack on his two opponents.

"The two men who lead the two sections of the Republican party," said the Governor, "have in turn presided over the very processes that have got us into trouble."

Sudden Light Seen by T. R.
"No man in the United States was ever more trusted, was ever more blindly trusted, than the leader of the third party during the seven and a half years he was President of the United States. Is it possible that he has just discovered the deep meaning of honesty? Is it possible that he required a defeat in the first Chicago convention to convince him that he had been doing wrong? Is it possible that he for the first time sees that he wasted seven and a half years during which he could have led the American people to any triumph of reform which he had chosen to lead them?"

The Governor referred briefly in his speech at Plymouth, Ind., to the electoral situation in California.

"Those very men who have flung themselves out of the Republican party and say they no longer are in it—though they are in when they can stay in it as witness what has just been done in California, where they have shut the members of the family off the electoral ticket and captured it themselves—wherever that family is, so far as the majority is concerned, on their side, they are willing to stay in the family."

Protection Called "Buncombe."
"But even where they are out of the family they show that they are doing the same kind of thinking that they always have done. The third party does not condemn the protective tariff, the third party does not propose to alter the protective tariff except where the beneficiaries of the protective tariff refuse to divide with the people."

At Gary, Ind., the Governor said: "I want to ask the people of Gary if it is their observation that the employees of the United States Steel Corporation are better paid than the average of employes in the United States. The whole country knows that wherever it has business it depresses wages to the lowest level. Now, the Steel Corporation is one of the trusts that benefit of the tariff and you have been told ever since you can remember that the tariff meant high wages to you. I do not have to prove to this audience that that is a piece of buncombe."

Director Is Called.
The witness then told what happened after the alleged murder; how he called to his wife to get a doctor, and of the conversation he had with her, which was practically substantiated yesterday by W. A. Rupp, Mrs. Rupp and W. L. Ballard.

Crech went into great detail and the story he told was not broken in the severe cross-examination later. He showed the tremendous strain of the day on the stand, however. Although he grew nervous, his tongue did not trip. He will be called back for rebuttal, possibly tomorrow.

The testimony of Mr. Webb showed that Crech was normal, not nervous, and that he did not act like a man who had come with the premeditated intention of killing someone. Tebb says they talked of business and then Crech made an appointment to meet him at 9:30 o'clock the next morning. This testimony stood cross-examination.

It does not now appear that any attempt will be made to show that Crech suspected his wife of friendship with Welch, he declared today, which he did not know Welch nor Welch him, and this was substantiated by testimony of the officer who took Crech to jail. Mrs. Crech undoubtedly will be grilled by the state's attorney tomorrow.

Mrs. Crech has attended the trial steadily and take a keen interest in what has taken place, more so, it is possible, than has her husband. The cross-examination of Crech by the Prosecuting Attorney today was an attempt to confuse him, and twice Judge Sheehy warned Attorney W. E. Campbell that he was asking the same questions over again. Campbell replied he would continue to do so.

Steamshovels at Bingham to Discontinue Work—Greeks Answering Call to Arms.

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 4.—"We consider the position of the Governor as positively in favor of the mineowners," was the concluding sentence in a statement issued today by the leaders of the striking copper miners of Bingham after a meeting in Salt Lake City, at which Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, presided.

"We do not ask the Governor to bring about a settlement as we would have it," the statement continued, "but we do think that his duty as Governor of the State of Utah should be to use his authority as Governor to bring about a conference whereby the plain facts may be discussed and weighed as to their real merits."

General Manager Jockling paid today his first visit to Bingham since the strike was begun. After his departure men began drawing the water from the boilers of the steam shovels, an act taken to indicate that their early use is not contemplated.

Greeks among the strikers are leaving in increasing numbers since the call to arms has been issued by their home government.

A Fish that Shoots Flies

There is a small fish in the East Indies, not more than six inches long, called the archer fish, that shoots drops of water at insects in the air above it with such force and accuracy of aim that it will hit a fly with certainty at a distance of three or even four feet, thus causing the insect to drop into the water, where it is then devoured. The only peculiarity in the form of the archer fish is its very long lower jaw. This is supposed to enable it to direct the liquid muscle with which it hunts its game.

The Dalles Chinaman Killed.
THE DALLES, Or., Oct. 4.—(Special).—Stepping off backward from an automobile moving about 6 miles an hour, Lee Hong, a Chinese merchant of this city, met his death yesterday. Hong had been to the district fair and came back to the city while standing on the running-board of an automobile though he had been warned to keep off. Without notifying the driver of his intention, Hong started to get off the car.
