

GENERAL WAR IN 48 HOURS IS EXPECTED

Montenegro Leads Way With Declaration.

BATTLE IS NOW UNDER WAY

Greece, First Chosen, Refuses to Accept Responsibility.

POWERS STILL NOT IDLE

Austria Mobilizes Four Great Army Corps, but, With Russia, Is Believed to Have Refused to Become Involved.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 8.—(Special.)—Montenegro forces early this morning attacked Skutari, which at noon was surrounded. skirmishes also are reported on the Servian frontier and with Greek bands in the neighborhood of Dikata. An exchange of shots has occurred near Djumbalis, on the Bulgarian frontier.

An official dispatch from the Montenegrin frontier says Montenegrins on Monday attacked the block house at Kalva, but were repulsed with heavy loss. Fifteen Turks were wounded. The same day a large detachment of the Montenegrin army crossed the frontier and attacked Brana. A battle ensued, which, according to latest reports, still continues. It is also reported that the Turks surrounded and annihilated a body of Montenegrin soldiers.

PARIS, Oct. 8.—A general conflagration in the Balkans is expected within 48 hours by officials here.

Montenegro today declared war, and this is regarded merely as the beginning. It is believed that the other units in the Balkan coalition will follow suit as soon as the mobilization of armies is complete. There is only a faint hope that the representations of the powers will avert general hostilities.

Pina Believed Prearranged.

Montenegro's move is considered in Paris to be part of a prearranged plan. It is asserted that Greece was first selected by the Balkan confederation to force the issue and inaugurate the war. This easily could have been done by Greece's seating in the Greek parliament the deputies from Crete, which was certain to prove a casus belli to Turkey. Greece, however, declined to accept responsibility for starting the flame.

Montenegro then was picked. She had a long standing quarrel with Turkey over the boundary question, and Turkey's refusal to grant satisfaction was seized upon as justification for Montenegro's resort to arms.

Bulgarian People Aroused.

It is not doubted that though combat heads in Bulgaria have been against the war from the start, popular excitement is at such a high pitch that that country will be driven to war to satisfy public opinion.

In the face of intervention every fibre of energy will be exerted by the great powers to prevent the war flame from engulfing Europe. It is realized that all depends on the attitude of Austria, which, according to late advices, has mobilized four army corps—in Croatia, Bosnia, Herzegovina and Southern Hungary—and stands ready to occupy the Sanjak of Novi-pazar should this coveted strategic territory be menaced by the Servians and Montenegrins.

Russia and Austria Alike.

Despite Russian sympathy for their Slav brethren in the Balkans, whose political welfare Russia has fostered, no complications are expected between Russia and Austria, and both these nations have assured the powers of their determination not to be drawn into any Balkan imbroglio.

Official circles in France greatly regret the capture of certain French newspapers that Great Britain's slowness in agreeing to the phraseology of the note has retarded the representations of the powers. This, it is said, does not represent the official French view. It is pointed out that such criticism is likely to cause a false impression abroad, and that it has furnished ammunition for an attack by the German press on Great Britain.

Note of Powers Forestalled.

The real story of how the Balkan powers forestalled and outwitted European intervention is told in the official advices from Cetinje. The Austrian and Russian representatives presented the note in the name of the powers, warning the Balkan states against war, at 11 o'clock in the morning, but two and a half hours earlier the Montenegrin government had handed his passports to the Ottoman charge. Thus the Montenegrin Cabinet was in a position to say that the representations of the powers came too late, a rupture of diplomatic relations having already occurred.

The note follows:

"The governments of Russia and Austria declare to the Balkan states: 'First, that the powers energetically reprove any measure susceptible of causing rupture of the peace. Guarantee of Reforms Promised. Second, that, leaning on article XXIII of the treaty of Berlin, they will take in hand, in the interest of the Balkan peoples, the relation of reforms in the administration of European Turkey.'"

AUTOIST SUFFERS NOVEL PENALTY

OFFENDER MUST NOT DRIVE CAR FOR SIX MONTHS.

Judge Adds Condition to $100 Fine in Case of Millionaire Who Goes 80 Miles an Hour.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8.—(Special.)—Novel punishment in addition to a fine of $100, was inflicted by Police Judge Fredericksen today upon Benjamin W. Kittredge, a young multi-millionaire, who wrecked his own machine and collided with another on a wild automobile ride. He drove 80 miles an hour in the city.

For the next six months Kittredge may not drive an automobile or ride in any machine where he has authority of direction over the chauffeur, under penalty of 30 days' imprisonment.

Kittredge has been arrested three times for wild auto escapades. Once he drove his machine to the middle of a railroad bridge and blocked traffic half a night. He was celebrating the advent of a son in his home.

Kittredge told Judge Fredericksen that he was guilty, but somewhat under the influence of liquor. He declared he had since signed the pledge.

PORTLAND WOMAN IS SHOT

Mrs. Grace Brooks Found Dead in Her Room at Tacoma.

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 8.—Mrs. Grace Brooks, 59 years of age, was shot and killed tonight in her room. Officers are searching for Elmer Fillmore, a young grocery clerk, formerly of Cle Elum, Wash., where he is said to have been a suitor of the woman. The victim was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Douglas, of Portland, Or. A married sister is supposed to live in Portland also.

Two persons of the name, W. E. Douglas, named in the dispatch, appear in the Portland city directory. Both had moved their places of residence to come down to the river and last night, W. E. Douglas, of the Dill-enbeck-Douglas Company, was listed for 762 East Davis street, and William E. Douglas, listed from 163 Boundary street, had recently moved to the West Side. BULL MOOSE FADES AWAY

Colonel's Support in Josephine Passes With Portland Episcopate.

GRANTS PASS, Or., Oct. 8.—(Special.)—It looks as if the Bull Moose in Josephine County had left the range in search of better pickings. During the dry season along in July a number were seen to come down to the river and drink, but since that time tracks were made have faded away. If there has been any meetings held or any executive work done or gatherings for such purposes, it must have been so small as to escape public notice.

No effort has been made to put out a county ticket. Outside of a little firing of the Democratic party and an effort to rub the bull moose on the shoulder, no other functions have been held. In some quarters the ardent workers for the Colonel have been cooled, owing to that gentleman's conduct while in Portland.

EXPRESS TRAIN HELD UP

Safes Dynamited by Robbers on Rock Island in Oklahoma.

The robbers brought the train to a stop by waving a red lantern.

A dispatch from Wister says the robbers have been located in a corn field near there. A posse is en route from Halleysville to Wister.

Dwyer was arrested on the charge of attempting to influence the jury that indicted G. W. Thompson, E. G. Bradley and other officers of the Medbury Land Company, through a telegram he sent to George Fletcher, one of its members, detrimental to Thompson.

WILSON ANSWERS COLONEL'S DEMAND

In Thought Steel Trust Leads T. R. He Says.

Money Not in Mind.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 8.—Governor Wilson in his speeches at Topeka, Kan., and here tonight replied to Colonel Roosevelt's request at Albany, N. Y., last night, that the Democratic nominee "prove or retract" the declaration that the United States Steel Corporation is behind the third party programme for regulating trusts.

The Governor reiterated that the Steel Corporation was "behind the third party programme in thought," and added that he knew nothing of any financial support. The Governor amplified his position and made a new attack on the tariff policies of both his opponents.

"I understand from the newspapers," said Governor Wilson, "that Mr. Roosevelt was distressed by my saying the other day that the United States Steel Corporation was back of his plan for controlling the trusts.

"He interpreted my remark to mean that they were supporting him with their money. I was not thinking about money. I do not know whether they are supporting him with their money or not; it does not make any difference. What I meant was they are supporting him with their thought and their thought is not our thought, I meant, and I say again, that the kind of control he proposes is the kind of control the United States Steel Corporation wants.

"I am perfectly willing to admit that they think it is best for the country. My point is that this is a method conceived from the point of view of the very men who are to be controlled, and that this is just the wrong points of view from which to conceive it."

Plan Conceived by Steel Men.

The Governor charged that the Roosevelt programme was "not progressive at all in its fundamentals," and remarked that Elbert H. Gary, head of the Steel Corporation, and George W. Perkins, a director, suggested the plan of governmental control of trusts.

"If Mr. Roosevelt," said the Governor, "wants to see the Government (Concluded on Page 2.)"

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 8.—The fate of the crew of a large vessel, identity unknown, reported after and then sunk tonight off Prospect, east of Sambro, remained unrevealed up to a late hour. An hour later he sent a message that the vessel had sunk. No other particulars are available. The government steamer Aberdeen sailed at midnight to render any assistance possible.

LUMBERMAN FREED BY ABERDEEN JURY

Crech Collapses After Hearing Verdict.

Remarks of Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Cross, Keen and Cutting Though They Are, Lose Force of Effect.

RICH MAN HALF HYSTERICAL

On Fifth Ballot Twelve Are Unanimous for Liberty.

ALL JURORS RETIRE TIRED

Crech Collapses After Hearing Verdict.

When the answer came Crech appeared for a little while to be his natural self, congratulating the attorneys and then went up and thanked the jury, shaking each by the hand.

Crech Becomes Hysterical.

Then suddenly he collapsed and for 15 minutes he sat crying and laughing by spells in his chair in a half hysterical mood. The crowd which thronged the courtroom was moved deeply, and many men, besides the women in attendance, cried audibly.

With her husband went Mrs. Crech, who has shown the strain of the trial of all the family. Robert, the 16-year-old son of Crech, also cried, unashamed. Mrs. Brown, the daughter, was not in the courtroom. Finally the Creches left the courtroom, but half an hour later Crech was unable to talk and showed symptoms of breaking into tears again.

Few of the court officers and neither of the state's attorneys were present when the verdict was announced. Judge Siekels has chambers in the courthouse and came in when the jury sent out word it had decided.

Trial Attracts Attention.

The trial began seven days ago, and because of Crech's wealth and position.

NURSE BEATEN, FLEES IN HYSTERIA

DOROTHY GLASS, SEVERELY BRUISED, CAN'T TALK.

With Hat in Hand, Girl Presumably From Tacoma Makes Escape Screaming at Midnight.

Crying at the top of her voice, "Don't beat me," and "Don't use that chloroform," a young woman presumably a nurse from Tacoma whose name is believed to be Dorothy Glass, was stopped at Union avenue and Holladay street this morning shortly after midnight. She was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital, where it was discovered she was literally covered with bruises and was so hysterical as to be unable to talk.

The cries of the young woman attracted the attention of Charles Ryan, ex-manager of the Empress, as he was on his way home. He detained her long enough to call the police station. She was then taken in charge by Patrolman Niles. On her person she had a passbook from the Bank of California, Tacoma. She carried her hat in her hand.

The hospital authorities believe she either was in charge of a patient on the East Side, who became violently insane and administered a beating. The hospital authorities say the woman is not injured aside from the bruises. The police are trying to learn from where she came.

"These specifications are being assembled in Portland, Or., New York and Spokane," he said. "The specifications for the steel work are being assembled in New York, the mechanical and engineering specifications in Portland, and those for the building itself in Spokane."

Five helmeted rescuers were caught on the 1200-foot level, but by using their supply of oxygen they managed to escape through a side tunnel. They had been searching for the body of F. A. Benta, a missing pumpman.

The fire started early Monday, but was thought to be controlled late this afternoon. Rescuers entered the mine looking for Benta, when the flames broke out afresh.

WOOD STOPS GIANT RALLY; SOX WIN 4-3

One Fast Ball in Ninth Surmounts Crisis.

LUCK IS ALL WITH NEW YORK

CRANDALL FANS AMID UPROAR AS RUNNERS STRAIN ON BASES.

BOSTON STAR HOLDS NERVE

Tesreau Falls Before Bunched Hits.

Hugh S. Fullerton Says New Yorkers Came Closer to Winning Than They Will Again.

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON. NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—(Special.)—Two strikes, three balls, runners straining on second and third bases, score 4 to 3 in favor of Boston. One pitched ball to decide the game, perhaps to decide the series.

Out in the center of the diamond, pale, a white circle around his closed, clenched mouth, 35,000 New York rootsers howling, screaming, raging, one ball to settle it. Wood consulted for an instant with Stahl. McGraw, wild with hope, raced up and down directing, ordering, switching runners.

A hit meant everything and Wood, whiter and whiter, poised, cut loose his famous fast ball with all the power of his body and arm behind it. The ball shot, jumped, leaped. Crandall swung, missed by inches, and Boston clinched the opening game of the world series.

Breaks of Game With Giants.

Until that moment the world's championship was in serious doubt. Boston, outplaying the Giants by the narrowest of margins, twice had seemed beaten by the breaks of the game. Once during the early stages a fluke fly, dropping into left, was lost in the sun and while Lewis hesitated the ball fell safe, and as a result New York gained a lead of two runs.

Until that ball fell, with Lewis playing it miserably, it had looked as if Wood would win and win without trouble. He was using his terrific speed and although he wasn't as good as he often is during his own season, he was standing seven out of the nine Giants on their heads by using his fast one. They had hit him, but their hits didn't appear to amount to much and Tesreau was wild, although effective.

It looked as if McGraw had gambled everything upon Tesreau winning the opening game, and with the luck breaking for him, he seemed about primed to do it and give the Giants the advantage.

Tesreau Uses Brute Strength.

At first Tesreau was wild. He seemed to me to be a pitcher cutting loose everything he possessed, using his great strength and power without much intelligence, but getting away with it. He was wild and time and again it seemed as if Boston would count.

Twice the Red Sox landed upon the ball and either time had the ball gone a foot or two either way the game would have been settled. Each time the much-criticized outfield of the Giants stood in the way. To the last of the third, neither side having scored, the big unemotional crowd scarcely stirred. Then Wood, trying to do too much, using his speed wastefully, passed through the Giants' hands, and fly into left, a hit that 99 times out of 100 any left fielder would catch. The fly was an easy one, but Lewis hesitated, either blinded by the sun or confused by the heavy shadow of the stand. He stopped and let the ball fall safe.

Murray Answers Demand.

Red Murray, the hero of last year's series, came up with everything depending on him. He fought it out with the star pitcher of the American League and landing squarely on a fast ball he drove it over second, sent home two runs and seemingly won the game for New York.

Before that Tesreau had been wild, uncertain and desperate, but with two runs to the good he seemed to renew confidence and for the next two innings he mowed down the Boston batters, using his speed and spitter with wonderful effect. And he might have gone on to the end but for the explosion of the weakness of the Giant outfield. Speaker got hold of a fast ball and banded it to left center, far and hard. The ball was honestly hit and well placed, yet any good outfielder would have corraied it and permitted Boston only the taste of a hard luck story as a reminiscence of the first game. Devore tried for it. Snodgrass tried for it. Kitter should have caught the ball, but they broke in upon each other and the ball went through while Speaker speeded to third.

Speaker's Hit Unnerves Tesreau.

That blow was the one that decided the game. It shook Tesreau's confidence. It heartened the Red Sox, who were beginning to show the lassitude that accompanies a run of bad luck. They showed promptly pushed the ball down Lewis' throat, and drove home the run that put them up within striking distance. The scoring of that one run seemed to frighten Tesreau. He ceased mixing them up and fell back upon his brute force argument and in the seventh four resounding hits drove him to cover.

He will serve two and a half years' imprisonment.
