Portland Organizations Will Petition Enlargement of Vancouver Barracks.

ARGUMENT IS PREPARED

Strategic and Economic Advantages Pointed Out and Will Be Presented to General Wood by Delegation.

In a brief to be submitted by the Portland Chamber of Commerce to couver for a brigade post as follows:

Strategic Reasons Gives.

The present general location is at a point safe from attacl, centrally located, in easy touch through telegraph, telephone and transportation lines with the whole Northwest territory.

Because of these modern appliances and excellent transportation facilities this location is near enough to Puget Sound for superintending its defense.

It is also near other vulnerable points, viz. the mouth of the Columbia River. Tillamook Bay, Yaquina Bay and Coos Bay.

The development of Oregon will call for the fortification of some or all of these places. Whether fortified or not, they will, in case of war, he points of attack.

Economic Points Made.

This locality is in the midst of a great

Economic Points Made.

This locality is in the midst of a great garden which produces the supplies an army needs. The question of a supply point is very important, either Vancouver or Portland are perfect in this respect.

The Williamette Valley, one of the most fertile countries in the word, is at its door. The country along the Columbia River, and in the interior, is rapidly developing from recent reliroad construction and is tributary to this point. All Eastern Washington and much of lidaho, comprising a territory of 250,600 square miles, or more, of fertile country and dependent upon Fortland as an outlet by reason of the gorge of the Columbia River, send their products to Portland by water-level roads, and in some instances by all water transportation, and at far less cost than they can be taken to the Sound.

Portland by and each day is becoming to the Sound.

Portland is, and each day is becoming more so, the great manufacturing center of the Northwest. The Swift Packing plant has made it the meat center of the Pacific Const, and it is now the great wheat and flour center, exporting more wheat than any other city in the United States, and is now the lumber center, producing more lumber, than any other than any control of the same control of the same control of the same city in the world. It is than any city in the world. It is vest and principal market for bay as other Army supplies, wonte have too the by the way of Portland and from its irributary territory.

General Howard, and other officers in their official reports, have stated that Vancouver is the strategic point for military perations in the Northwest.

Water transportation is ample for all transport service.

Railroad facilities are as good as anywhere else on the Coast, and this location is the natural military center of the Northwestern states.

The supplies needed for the Army are unlimited and the market for the same cannot be equaled anywhere else.

Portland is perfectly satisfied to have the Portland is perfectly satisfied to have the Portland Chamber of Commores feels that they should not be removed farther than from Vancouver to Portland.

Columbia Defense Urged.

A high military authority stated that

Columbia Defense Urged.

A high military authority stated that the Columbia River has all the advantage over Puget Sound for the reason that the Sound would be at the mercy of the enemy should the Columbia River be taken, while as long as the Columbia River is in our hands all connections with the interior and with the supplies would be intast and the enemy on the Sound would be in a pocket. If the Columbia River was taken the whole Northwest would undoubtedly drop, but not see with the loss of Puget Sound. Vancouver er Portland are ever 100 miles inland, rall-roads reach in every direction and the Columbia River is the sole point that the enemy would wish to control. It is easy of defense, while the Sound is not.

WOOD PROGRAMME ARRANGED

Day Will Be Quiet for Army Head With Some Sport Included.

With Some Sport Included.

VANCOUVER BARRACKS, Wash, Oct. 11.—(Special.) — Major-General Leonard S. Wood, Chief of Staff of the United States Army, will leave Tacoma tonight and arrive in Vancouver at 5:50 A. M. tomorrow, where he will be first by Brigadier-General Marion P. Maus, commanding officer of the Department of the Columbia. General Wood will breakfast with General Maus, after which they will take a ride around Vancouver Barracks.

About 10 o'clock in the morning a reception will be held in General Maus headquarters, and the officers of the post and department headquarters will meet General Wood informally.

General Maus is an old friend of the Chief of Staff, as are several other officers in the average of the control of the chief of Staff, as are several other officers.

JURY FACES LONG SESSION

Fulling to Agree in Murder Trial, It Is Locked Up Till Monday.

The jury in the Susie Owens murder case, tried in Judge Kavanaugh's court, retired for deliberation at 3.20 yesterday afternoon, and at midnight having failed to reach a verdict, was locked up until Monday morning. Today being a holiday the courts will suspend over Sunday. The jury can repend over Sunday. The jury can return a verdict and be dismissed in the meantime, but if the members fail to agree, they cannot be discharged before Monday morning and will have to remain in the jury-room until that time. The length of time is unusual in local court history.

The closing address for the state was made by Deputy District Attorney Page, who urged the jurors to find the woman guilty of first-degree murdet. He contended that the evidence should leave no conclusion that the defendant had killed Charles Celestine, simply because of his refusal to marry her.

In a brief to be submitted by the Portland Chamber of Commerce to Major-General Wood, U. S. A., who is in the Northwest for the purpose of selecting a permanent location of a brigade post, arguments are presented why the post should be established at Vancouver, Wash.

General Wood will arrive from Puget Sound this morning and today will be a guest of General Maus at Vancouver Barracks Committees representing the Portland Chamber of Commerce, Portland Chamber of Commerce, Portland Commercial Club and the Arilington Club will meet General Wood at Vancouver and will take up with him this question, which is considered not only of vital importance from a military point of view, but also of special significance to the people of the entire Columbia River Basin.

Handful of Fighters, 445 in Num-Drawn Should Necessity of War Arise.

VANCOUVER BARRACKS, Wash. Oct. 11 .- (Special.) -The absolute neessity of a bridge across the Columbia River in case of war was exemplified today when the Second Field Artillery, under Major Edward F. McGlachlin, returned from a two months' stay at Warm Springs Indian Reservation, and were compelled to wait hours to cross the Columbia River on the ferry. There were only 445 animals and 395 There were only 440 animals and 500 men, but this small handful of fighters, in addition to the regular traffic, was enough to blockade the ferry, and but a small part could be taken at each trip, every 30 minutes.
