STALH TO BUY BANK SHARES.

"Guess I'll use my money in buying up few stray shares of stock in that bank in Chicago, of which I am vice-president," said Manager Stahl.

"New Rochelle, N. Y. real estate looks awful good to me," said Captain Heine Wagner. "I've got all the rest of my money invested that way and guess I'll lay this up in dirt, too, although," Wagner grinned, "I hear they're planning to run me for Mayor back home. Now, if that's the case, maybe I'll keep a little money out for campaign expenses."

WOOD MAY BUY AIRSHIP.

"Haven't made any plans yet," said Pletcher Joe Wood. "I'll drop the check in a bank and wait around for an investment to show up. However, if I can get a nice airplane cheap enough, I might buy one. Flying fascinates me."

Carlier Cady lives in Bishop Hill, Ill. He has invested every dollar he has earned in the game in farm land and his winnings in the world series will go the same way.

Outfielder Speaker has not decided what he is going to do with his money ultimately, but for the present he's going to place it in the bank.

"This nice little investment of money will give me a chance to buy a farm up near my home in Burlington, Vermont, that I've had my eye on for a long time," said Pletcher Ray Collins.

RED SOX FORM QUARTER.

Harry Gardner, the Sox sacker, who hails from Vermont, is going to invest in Vermont farm land.

Hugh Bedient, the young pitcher who was recently married, is going to buy a new house with part of his money, bank another portion, and use the rest for his tuition at some law college.

MATHEWSON IS HEARTBROKEN

Giant Pitcher Says He Will Never Twirl in World Series Again.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(Special.)—There is sadness in the hearts of every member of the Giant team today, but saddest of them all is Christy Mathewson, who hurled the ball which made the Boston Red Sox champions of the world by their 3-to-2 victory over New York in Boston.

Mathewson is heartbroken over his defeat and refuses to be comforted. A number of Mathewson's friends called on him today, but the king of pitchers preferred to be alone. He is heartbroken because he is greatly disappointed and declares he will never pitch in a big series again. It is estimated that he will likely quit the game for good soon.

There is no excuse for the Giants. There can be only individual consolation for the slum of the team. Mathewson, who emerges from the long series without having won a single game, but with all the laurels.

PULLMAN ELEVEN IS LIGHT

Bender to Send Team Averaging 168 Pounds Against Idaho.

PULLMAN, Wash., Oct. 17.—(Special.)—With the opening game of the season imminent, two facts stand out with prominence, one being that Washington State College has been selected to play with Idaho with only three old players from last year's bunch; the other is that for practically the first time in its history Washington State has a light team. The members of Bender's "eligibility list" were weighed, stripped, this morning and the average was 168 1/2 against 185 for last year.

GRAMMAR LEAGUE RESULTS.

After a lay-off of one day, the grammar school league will start play again today with three games. Thompson will play Elliot, Montavilla will play Rose City and Weston will tangle with Clinton Kelly. The next football games will not take place until Tuesday.

Robert Manary was the star in the game between the Kerns and Shattuck grammar school soccer teams Tuesday afternoon through his three goals. Buckman won, 3 to 1. O'Malley kicked the one score for Buckman. The boys played a spirited game, but showed the lack of knowledge of the fine points of the game.

The results of the opening games of the grammar soccer schedule, Tuesday, were: Sellwood 1, Jewell 1 and Portsmouth 1, Peninsula 0. The results of the opening games of the grammar football were: Holladay 22, Hawthorne 0, and Holman 16, Clinton Kelly 5.

WILLAMETTE TO PLAY INDIANS

Rube Sanders, Veteran Chemawa Line Plunger, Again Don's Suit.

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY, Salem, Oct. 17.—(Special.)—The Willamette University football team is hard at work for Saturday's game with the Chemawa Indians. The line-up of the Indians is known to be formidable and with the return of "Rube" Sanders into the game, the player rated a few seasons ago as the best fullback in the Northwest, will be a trouble will be a terror for Willamette.

While Willamette's line-up will not be as formidable as against Oregon last Saturday, it is advancing rapidly. McRae's injured ankle will keep him away from this game, and while he could go in, no chances were taken. Neither Belling nor Francis will be in the line-up against the Indians.

OREGON COACHES GLUM

BACK FIELD WEAKENED BY INJURIES AND FACULTY.

Men on Way to Whitman With Star Plunger Nursing Knee—Team Runs Through Signals.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Oct. 17.—(Special.)—Oregon's football squad, numbering 15 players, together with Coach Louis Pinkham, traveled to Whitman, Wash., last night for the game with the Chemawa Indians.

Regarding Oregon's chances against Whitman, the coaches are dubious. The action of the faculty in barring Parsons last before the game, back to back, played havoc with the team. With Heuser still afflicted with a bad knee, Pinkham is not overburdened with good backfield material.

Keenly is the shortage felt that Heuser may be called on to fill his old position at half in spite of his injury.

WORLD SERIES PROVES LITTLE

The world's series so far as practical results went proves nothing, except that Boston has a slightly stronger team than New York with a weaker pitching staff and that the game that is developed is a line of upsets over stronger teams.

The Giants trust to their speed and courage in attack to force the other team to a vicious attack to bat out a victory. Undoubtedly Boston has a stronger attack at bat; beyond doubt New York has a faster team in the field.

The luck which swayed the series was almost entirely on the side of the Sox in the first game which the Sox won on luck. This is not meant to detract anything from the Giants, who put up a brilliant attack, but it was anything they encountered in their own league. Yet they were lucky in that they did their greatest work when they had the least to do.

WATERHOUSE VESSEL RETURNING TO COAST WITH PORTLAND CARGO.

Information forwarded from Seattle to Agent Pritchard, of the Waterhouse line, is that the British Steamer Orteric is expected to arrive at Portland on October 15. She is three days ahead of her schedule, and while the steamer will not be sent to Portland until the next day, it is bringing consignments of Oriental cargo for distribution here.

The British Steamer Ockley, which will load here for the Waterhouse line, is to get away from this harbor with flour, wheat and lumber, and while she will not be rushed, as was the Thor, she will not be delayed, if possible.

The Pitcairn, which is bringing 1000 tons of sulphur in the Robert Dollar & Company's account, will not be taken over by Waterhouse until it is discharged, so her sailing date has not yet been set.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Oct. 17.—(Special.)—The latest move on the part of the students of Oregon Agricultural College is the matter of playing the proposed game of football with the University of Oregon was made today at noon, when a special meeting of the student body authorized the Graduate Manager Pilkington to schedule a series of five football games with the University of Oregon, with the understanding that the first game be played at Eugene on November 23 next, and that the other four be played in Portland on successive Thanksgiving days.

The National commission has upheld the National board in placing the Southern Michigan League back into class B. The circuit started the year with class C, but two clubs dropped out, reducing the population to less than 200,000.

Harry Hooper, the Boston outfielder, was at one time purchased by the Sacramento Coast League team for $25. Bud Sharpe, of Oakland, recalls the time when the Providence club in the International League offered Bedient for sale for $750, and none of the other clubs wanted him. Sharpe was with Buffalo then.

A. G. Spalding, the old ball player, who makes his home at San Diego, is among the Sox who will not say "I told you so." Spalding thought the experience of the Giants would give them a victory over Boston.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 17.—Learning that a huge quantity of opium had recently been landed in British Columbia and that an effort would be made to bring it across the border, customs officers have been doubly vigilant and have seized within a week opium valued at $8000 and arrested three persons. At Everett, Whatcom County, yesterday, a strikingly handsome man named Mrs. Lillian Dillon, was arrested, together with a man who represented himself as her husband.
