

JOHNSON, IN CELL, WEEPS AND PLEADS

Efforts to Furnish $30,000 Bond Fail—Court Refuses Cash.

"GOLDEN SMILE" IS GONE

One Prospective Bondsman Sent to Jail for Contempt—Another Is Ordered Out of Court—Pugilist Faces Other Charges.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Jack Johnson, champion heavyweight pugilist of the world, tonight occupies a cell in the County Jail, due to his failure to furnish a $30,000 bond for his release on a charge of violating the Mann act.

No longer is Johnson's "golden smile" visible. His hard, losing fight, waged throughout an afternoon and evening session of Judge Landis' court, dejected him greatly.

As he left the Federal building, handcuffed to Deputy Marshal Edward Northrop, after a futile plea not to have his wrist manacled, his shoulders were stooped and his head hung down. He said nothing.

Johnson Sheds Tears. In the course of his extended battle for bond, Johnson shed tears, pleaded, offered cash bond in almost any amount, and employed two attorneys, David Backrach and Edward Morris, in an effort to obtain his release.

Three prospective bondsmen failed to qualify, and one of them, Albert Johnson, was sent to jail after he had failed to obtain a bond of $10,000 for his appearance in court next Monday to answer a charge of contempt which was lodged against him by the court when he attempted to schedule property said to belong to his wife.

Tony Mann, another prospective bondsman, was ordered out of court because he gave answers to questions which the court considered untruthful.

Negro Pleads for Liberty. "Give cash bond in any amount, but for goodness' sake keep me out of jail," Johnson pleaded with his attorneys.

Both District Attorney Wilkerson and Judge Landis refused to consider a cash bond.

An unparalleled attempt to swindle this court by offering unqualified bondsmen has been made," said Judge Landis. "I will not consider a cash bond."

Mr. Wilkerson said he understood that Johnson intended to leave this country on November 20 if he obtained his release. The crime with which Johnson is charged is not extraditable.

After Johnson learned that only surety property owners would be accepted he made a plaintive plea for an extension of time. First he asked that he be permitted to present new bondsmen at a night session, which the court was holding for the consideration of another case.

Court Refuses Leniency. Having failed to obtain his release at the night session, his attorneys sought to have the time extended until tomorrow noon. Johnson thought he would be able to obtain bond which his attorneys might not extend, but the court was not inclined to extend leniency any further.

Coincident with the incarceration of Johnson, Mrs. Catherine Doreen, whom Lucile Johnson said to have lived three weeks while in Chicago and whom Federal authorities have sought as a witness against Johnson, was arrested and placed in jail.

To add further to the pugilist's troubles it is reported today that the Federal investigation of Johnson's alleged immoral practices has not begun. Several other charges against him are to be investigated by the judge, it is said.

District Attorney Wilkerson said tonight he intended to put Johnson on trial as soon as possible. The case probably will be called for pleadings next week.

T. R. RETAKES CALIFORNIA

The final disposition of California's 13 electoral votes may be decided by the courts. Democratic managers, in the announcement of their determination to challenge the Los Angeles County vote in the event of a Roosevelt victory on the informal count, declared their action based not only on the alleged counting of Roosevelt progressive ballots invalidated by pencil scratches, but on alleged errors and irregularities of Republican judges of election in excluding valid Democratic ballots.

James D. Phelan and Rudolph Spreckels authorized the Democratic state central committee tonight to offer a reward of $5000 to anyone supplying evidence leading to the conviction of any person on a charge of perpetrating election frauds. According to the terms of the offer this reward will be paid for each individual conviction.

Recount Overcomes Discrepancy. The wide discrepancy in the complete returns from Los Angeles County as compared with the earlier returns—a change that wiped out an apparent lead of approximately 8000 votes for Wilson in the state—was due in part to a switch in the method of tallying the popular vote. At the outset the record was made up from the vote cast for the head of each electoral ticket.

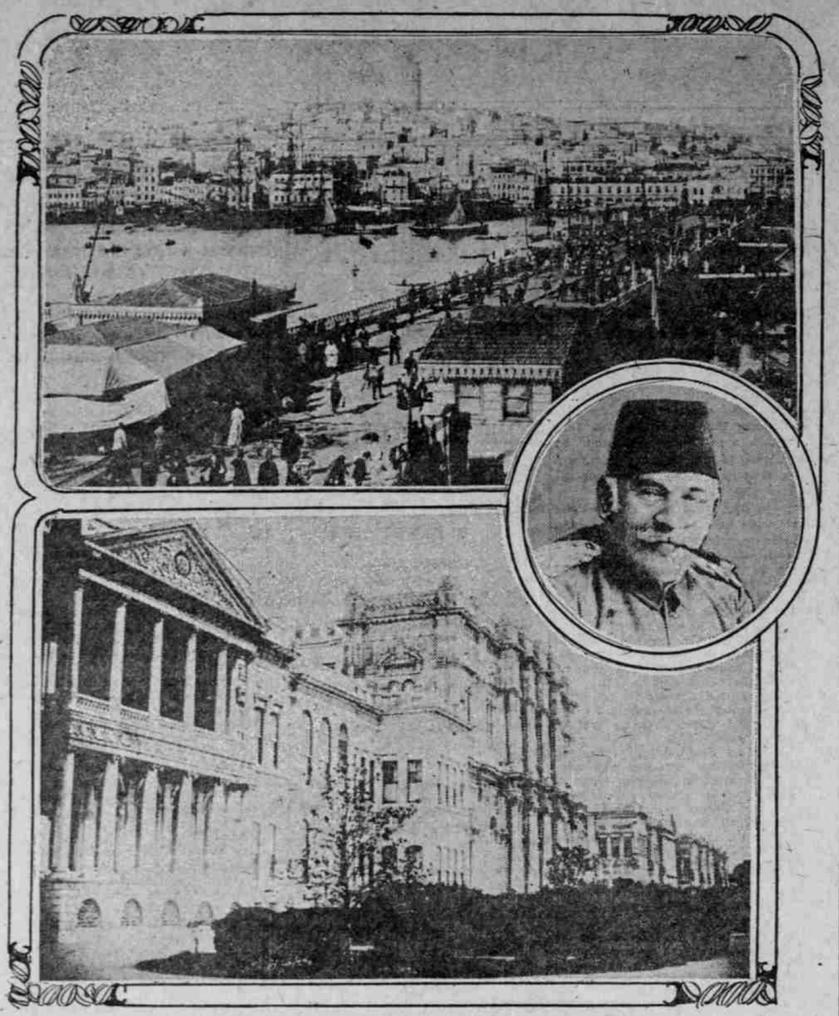

Later, when it became apparent that any Roosevelt Progressive had not voted for Wallace, the first Roosevelt elector, Roosevelt Progressive leaders demanded of the County Clerk a recount, in which a vote cast for any elector in the Roosevelt Progressive column was tallied as a vote for Roosevelt.

Congressional District Reversed. Late returns reversed a Progressive plurality in the 11th Congressional District and gave the victory to a Democrat, increasing the Democratic representation from California to three and reducing the Progressive to four. William Kettner, Dem., is shown to have defeated Samuel C. Evans, Prog., by a vote of 24,662 to 21,172.

The single county of San Diego gave Kettner a plurality of more than 8000.

Mapleton Work Is Halted. FLORENCE, Or., Nov. 8.—(Special.)—Railroad construction work at Mapleton is being temporarily discontinued on account of the almost impassable roads which prevent bringing in supplies. The roads, never too good at best, were put in bad condition by the heavy rain and are made much worse by the recent heavy rains.

POWERS' CONCERT DISCORDANT

"Alliance" and Entente at Odds Over Claims of Servia.

PARIS, Nov. 8.—Two groups of European powers, known as the triple alliance and the triple entente, which together compose the so-called concert of Europe, today found themselves badly out of tune over the rupture between Servia and Austria on the question of Servian access to the Adriatic Sea.

With Russia leading, France and England are inclined to support the Servian claims on which Austria-Hungary, apparently has placed a direct veto. Among other irritating international difficulties over which diplomatic Paris is gravely concerned are:

The compensation Roumania will demand as an offset to the agrandissement of Bulgaria.

The future standing of the Dardanelles, Constantinople, Saloniki and Turkey in Asia.

The fate of the islands in the Aegean Sea.

The regime to be introduced in Albania.

The adjustment of the conflicting Austrian and Italian special claims in such a way that other powers shall not be prejudiced.

Apart from all these visible controversies, comes news of the proclamation of a Russian protectorate over Chinese territory equal in extent to one-third of the whole of Europe.

ALBANIA WANTS FREEDOM. Leader Warns Conquerors of Error They May Possibly Make.

VIENNA, Nov. 8.—Ismail Kemal, the Albanian leader, who is in Vienna, in an interview today said the conquerors of the Turks would make a grave mistake if they tried to enrich themselves at the cost of Albania. Europe would never enjoy the blessings of peace, Kemal added, if Albania were divided.

"The Mallesort tribesmen are fighting against Turkey," continued Kemal, "but not for Montenegro. They are fighting for the independence of Albania."

CRUISERS ARE SENT

United States to Be Represented in Far East.

WARSHIPS RECEIVE ORDERS

Administration Believes Vessels May Be Needed as Places of Refuge in Event Disorder Beyond Control.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Two big American armored cruisers, the Tennessee and the Montana, have received rush orders to proceed to Turkish waters to look after the interests of American citizens.

The cruisers are now in reserve at the Philadelphia Navy-yard, the Tennessee being the flagship of Rear-Admiral Austin M. Knight. They should be ready to sail within 24 hours and under ordinary conditions should reach Constantinople about November 25 if they proceed with dispatch.

Full complements of marines will be carried by the two cruisers when they sail for Turkish waters. Orders were issued late today for assembling the required number at Philadelphia.

The first disposition of the State Department has been to refrain from sending any American warships to the Bosphorus, for the double reason that their appearance might be taken as an evidence of American participation in the present Balkan War and its settlement and that so rapid has been the progress of the war that probably the ships could not reach Constantinople in time to be of any service.

Since the President's return from Cincinnati, however, and after a conference with the State Department officials, the fact was demonstrated that American naval vessels could be employed as places of refuge for American citizens in Turkey, in case of general anarchy or the existence of conditions of disorder beyond the control of the military commanders on both sides.

Formal Explanation Made. The formal explanation of the issuance of the orders is as follows: "In view of rumors of past disturbances in Turkey, the President has ordered two battleships to proceed to the Mediterranean with a view to relieving any apprehension that might be felt by American missionaries and educators, who are there in great numbers, especially at Beirut and Smyrna. The American Ambassador at Constantinople is under instructions to confer with his European colleagues, whose governments are more immediately interested, and is understood to be prepared to take what measures might be necessary if any chance conditions of turbulence affecting the safety of foreigners should arise."

Cutter Sent in Emergency. The revenue cutter Unalga, now at Port Said, will be turned back from the Suez and ordered to rush to the Turkish coast, where, after a three and one-half days' sail, she could arrive a full fortnight ahead of the big cruisers. The Unalga is a fine new craft, commanded by Captain R. O. Crip. She carries a crew of 70 men and could furnish refuge for 500 or more Americans.

A special train is now taking 400 bluejackets from the Norfolk Navy-yard to Philadelphia, where the Montana and Tennessee. Captain Harry A. Field will be in command of the Tennessee, while Captain W. B. Fletcher will command the Montana. Both vessels always carry six months' supplies and with the stocks of their larders increased they could feed a vast number, should famine follow the disaster that now threatens the Americans in the Orient.

California Bill Working Up to Pension Those Wrongfully Accused.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8.—A movement to present to the next session of the Legislature a bill providing for the pensioning of persons who have served time in California penitentiaries for crimes they did not commit, has been started in Los Angeles by County Health Officer Sawyer.

The plan seems destined to provoke considerable controversy among those whose duty it is to assist in the handling of persons accused of crimes.

BARR CASE YIELDS UP FRESH MYSTERY

Man Last With Murdered Man Leaves Auto Unclaimed in East Side Garage.

DETECTIVES ARE MYSTIFIED

Charles Bartcher, Representative of "Buster Brown" Cartoonist, Fails to Call for Machine He Left to Be Repaired.

After weeks of fruitless investigation of the mystery surrounding the murder of Harry G. Barr, which occurred September 18 on the Linnton road, the police detectives find themselves confronted by a mystery subsidiary to the murder, though apparently not connected with it. The problem is to determine why Charles Bartcher, one of the last persons with Barr before his murder, abandoned an automobile at an East Side garage two days before the crime and never has reappeared to claim it.

Bartcher was one of the party of three whom Barr hauled to the Hut tavern shortly before 9 o'clock on the night of the murder, and left there. When his body was found by the roadside the next morning, Bartcher and his companions were taken into custody and were closely questioned, but all probability that they knew anything of the crime was quickly removed from consideration.

Car Remains at Garage. Now in development on September 14, two days before the murder, Bartcher left at the Ford garage, East Eighth street and Hawthorne avenue, his automobile to be repaired. A lapse of nearly two months, the car is still there and the owner has not even made any inquiries about it.

The machine, bearing New York number 1 and Captain Bartcher's name, was reported to make inquiries in that state as to the ownership. The answer, received yesterday, is that the car is registered in Bartcher's name. The owner was seen a short time ago in Seattle and is said to have returned to New York. He travels in the interests of R. F. Outcault, owner of the "Buster Brown" trademarks.

Bartcher is an elderly and portly man of prosperous means. His attitude of the time of the murder impressed those connected with the case very favorably. When it was known that he and his companions were the last ones with Barr, suspicion naturally pointed to them and the two men in the party were detained. It then developed that the third person was a married woman, out without the knowledge of her husband, and Bartcher flatly refused to tell who she was, saying he would go to jail in preference. He was taken at his word, till the woman was found by other means.

Police to Trace Bartcher. By their own testimony and that of the roadhouse people it was shown that Barr left the three at the tavern and started back to the city and that they returned in another conveyance. On this they were released entirely cleared of suspicion.

Now the discovery of the abandoned automobile has created new interest, though no way is seen in which it can aid in clearing up the main mystery. Captain Baty and his officers believe it probable that Bartcher, after his somewhat unpleasant experience, lost all interest in the automobile, or perhaps vowed never to ride in one again. Nevertheless, they are working for a solution of his strange conduct, and will pursue inquiries to determine where he is at present.
