

OF 90 LEGISLATORS 82 ARE REPUBLICAN

Complete Election Returns Do Not Add Single Democrat to State Senate.

HOUSE WINS SIX MEMBERS

In Upper Body of Oregon Legislature Two Wilson Followers Only Are Holdovers—Defeats Are by Narrow Margins.

Complete returns from the recent election show that the Republicans will control both branches of the Oregon Legislature next winter with a strength on joint ballot of 82 of the 90 members. The party line-up in the Senate will be 23 Republicans and 7 Democrats; in the House, 54 Republicans and 4 Democrats. The two Democratic members of the Senate are holdovers, Miller of Linn and McCulloch of Baker. In the late election the Republicans elected the full list of 15 State Senators for terms of four years each. The Democrats were successful in electing six men to the House, but did not gain a single member in the Senate.

The two houses of the Legislature were made up politically two years ago as follows: Senate, 25 Republicans, 2 Democrats, 1 Independent; House, 57 Republicans, 2 Democrats and 1 Independent.

Election Exceedingly Close. In close contests the Democrats this year failed to elect two State Senators and one State Representative. Edward E. Kiddle (Rep.) defeated John S. Rodkin (Dem.) for joint-Senator from Union and Willows by only four votes. Final returns show that J. F. Mahon (Dem.), who was thought to have been elected, has also been defeated for joint-Senator from Grant, Harney and Malheur by Loring V. Stewart (Rep.) by a plurality approximating 250. Another equally close contest was for joint-representative from Coos and Curry. The completed count gives the election to S. P. Peirce (Rep.) over W. H. Meredith (Dem.) by a majority of only five.

The following is a correct list of the members of the Senate and House, comprising the 1913 session of the Oregon Legislature:

- Senate. First District, Marion County—John A. Carson, (Rep.) and Hal D. Patton (Rep.). Second District, Linn County—M. A. Miller (Dem.). Third District, Lane County—W. W. Calkins (Rep.). WORD TELLS POLICY

Sheriff-elect Informs Public He Will Not "Upset" Town.

"ROADHOUSES MUST GO"

Resorts Not to Be Tolerated, Declares Successful Candidate, Who Also Warns Underworld Men Who Live on Women's Earnings.

Street talk that "you can't do this" and "you can't do that" after the first of the year, "when Tom Word becomes Sheriff," were partially set at rest yesterday, when Mr. Word, in a statement, made it known what could be expected of him as a public official. The Sheriff-elect made it perfectly plain that he did not intend to turn things "upside down" the instant he gets into office. He was just as positive and emphatic in saying that everybody could expect at his hands a rigid enforcement of the law.

"As Sheriff, I shall not be insane or unreasonable," said Mr. Word yesterday. "I have nothing to 'get even' with any one, not even those who so bitterly opposed my election for fear it would injure their business. All I expect is for every man, no matter in what business he is engaged, to meet me half way and conduct his business according to law. As long as he does this there will be no occasion for him to fear me or any other officials sworn to enforce the laws.

"Law Violator is Target." "There is trouble enough in the Sheriff's office without making it. But it is the violator of the law who has every right to be on the lookout. I shall not condone any infringement of the law, no matter who the guilty party may be.

"So far as the roadhouses are concerned, these resorts might just as well go out of business. In the campaign I said I would not tolerate these places and I shall make good on this pledge and all other promises I made the people.

"The gamblers with which Portland is now infested will either have to leave the city or go to work and earn an honest living. In this particular I mean just exactly what I say. There will be no room in Multnomah County for men who live off the earnings of unfortunate women so long as I am Sheriff.

"Divide Denizens Known." "There should be no place in the world where that class of vultures would be tolerated. I know where these worthless wretches are to be found in this city and every last one of them will be forced to hunt new pastures. They will not be allowed to parade the streets with their tailor-made suits and fine jewelry after January 1."

Mr. Word returned yesterday from a three-days' hunting trip and found his desk covered with telegrams and letters of congratulation from people throughout the state. Some wrote to tell him that his election was a victory for the decent and law-abiding citizenship of the entire state.

Dr. Lane to Be Speaker. Dr. Harry Lane, United States Senator-elect, will be the principal speaker at the regular, weekly meeting of the Portland Realty Board Friday. The meeting will be held at 12:15 o'clock in the grill room of the Portland Commercial Club. H. P. Palmer will be chairman of the meeting.

ALEXANDER IS WITNESS

EMBEZZLER TO TAKE STAND TO PROTECT HOME. Suit Brought by A. Neppach to Obtain Property From Prisoner Brings Out Details of "Deals."

In charge of a guard, Temple W. Alexander, sentenced to the penitentiary for embezzlements committed while timber clerk for the O.-W. R. & N. Company, was in Portland from Salem yesterday to testify before Judge Kavanaugh in the suit brought by A. Neppach against him and others to secure possession of a house at 249 North Twenty-fifth street formerly belonging to Neppach. The property is now in the name of Grace Alexander, divorced wife of Alexander today. Neppach contends that the house was purchased on contract and he is entitled to possession and title by reason of the non-payment of principal and interest installments. The defense declares that the property was given to Alexander as a present in consideration of numerous lucrative contracts which he swung to the Nicola-Neppach Company, of which Anthony Neppach is vice-president and manager, while Alexander was in the employ of the railroad company.

The defense admits that a cash payment was made on the property, but insists that this was merely a blind to fool the railway people in case they became aware of the transaction. Alexander declares that Neppach originally agreed to get him a good timber claim, but failing in this, substituted the house and lot. Neppach denies that there was any such deal. On the witness stand yesterday he told of having two men listen on the line to transcribe a telephone conversation about the house which he had with Mrs. Alexander after her husband was in the penitentiary. The notes taken of the conversation were produced by Neppach.

SEATTLE WILL TAKE PART

Fine Exhibits Promised for Dairy Show Next Week.

Seattle is going to do her part in making the first Pacific International Dairy Show, which opens next Monday, a success. Professor A. N. Henderson, Chief Milk Inspector of that city, has written that the milk dealers of Seattle are thoroughly alive to the importance of making a display in the dairy section, and under his direction the milk dealers are preparing a full exhibit of milk and cream, which will include a capacity of nearly every large milk dealer from the Sound territory. Figuring the value of some of the entries in this show is interesting, says General Manager Plummer. Many of the cows entered have advanced registry records of between 25 and 30 pounds of butter a week. Cows of the above capacity show a net earning of something like $500 a year, not including the calf increase, which means $100 to $200 a year.

Many of the offerings in the combination auction sale are of the same breeding as these famous cattle. The Sunflower dairymen, of Astoria, breeders of Dutch Belted cattle, are offering their entire herd at this sale, headed by the three-year-old bull Gold Sugar, for which the owners paid $1000 when a six-months-old calf. The East Side Business Men's A. R. Rotary and Progressive Business Men's Clubs have signified their intention of spending at least one day during the week at the show. Nearly every business man in Portland has a small farm somewhere in Multnomah County, on which he expects to retire and end his days in peace and contentment. Those who have not secured one already dream of doing so in the near future.

PLAY FOR DRINKS GAMING

Fred J. Kupper Appeals to Police Who Catch Four at "Solo."

Drinking 10-cent whisky when the game was for 5-cent drinks and being called on to pay the difference was what aroused the ire of Fred J. Kupper and caused him to lodge a charge against Fred Burns of allowing gambling in his saloon, according to the plea of the defense in Municipal court yesterday. Kupper had appealed to the police and escorted Patrolmen Conter and Casson to Burns' saloon, at Fourth and Stark streets, where four men were caught playing "solo" for the drinks.

"We can show, your honor," said Attorney Sinnott, "that Kupper was sitting in this game an hour before and police and escorted Patrolmen Conter and Casson to Burns' saloon to pay the difference when he drank whisky instead of beer. That is his reason for making this charge and he is not here to back it." The question was raised whether playing for drinks was gambling. The court held that it was, but took into consideration the argument of the defense that the police did not molest society women who play bridge for prizes. Judgment was reserved till today.
