FATE OF GUNMEN WITH JURY TODAY

Court to Give Final Instructions—Attorneys Make Closing Argument.

BOTH SIDES ACCUSE ROSE

State Contends Four Defendants in Case Aided Gamblers, While Defense Holds Them Victims of Deep Conspiracy.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The last word for and against the four gunmen on trial for the murder of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal, was said today when counsel made their appeals to the jury. Tomorrow their fate will be delivered into the hands of the jury. The four defendants—"Gyp the Blood," "Lefty Louie," "Dago Frank" and "Whitely" Lewis—heard themselves characterized by District Attorney Moss as the "hands which held the instruments of death—the hands of the body of which Rose, Webber and Valton were the brains and Lieutenant Charles Becker the will. He referred to them as "that battery of gunmen" and said that the witnesses who identified them showed "the courage of soldiers marching to the cannon's mouth."

Men Pictured as Innocent. By their attorney, Charles C. F. Wahle, the defendants were pictured as men who had been criminals, but who were innocent of this crime—the victims of the testimony of "the men who really killed Rosenthal—Rose, Webber, Valton and Schepps."

Mr. Wahle began his plea with the assertion that Jack Rose was the guiding hand that put the shots in Herman Rosenthal. Rose he characterized as a "criminal for 20 years and never caught."

NEW CONGRESSMAN ALERT

Irrigation Needs Investigated by N. J. Sinnott, of The Dalles.

HERMISTON, Or., Nov. 18.—(Special.)—N. J. Sinnott, of The Dalles, Congressman-elect, spent yesterday in this city that he might familiarize himself more fully with Government irrigation projects. The stockholders of the Water-users' Association held a meeting in the afternoon, at which Mr. Sinnott was an interested attendant. In the morning he was taken over the project by auto that he might see at first hand the progress settlers are making. It is the purpose of the Water-users' Association, as voted at the meeting yesterday, to ask the Government for an extension from 10 to 20 years to make building charge payments. Another object of the association is the settlement of Government irrigation projects in the residence clause which requires land owners to live within 50 miles of the project in order to be able to get water for their land. This forces all non-resident owners to allow their land to remain unimproved. It is the hope of the association that this clause will be removed. Mr. Sinnott is looking into the feasibility of these various requests and intends to go to Washington prepared to meet objections with practical argument, should opposition to the plans develop.

CHILDREN URGED TO PAY FOR EDUCATION

State Department of Public Instruction Opens Second Industrial Contest.

POULTRY PROFITS CITED

Bulletin Issued to Parents and Pupils Suggests Using Spare Hours in Supplying Ready Market With Products.

SALEM, Or., Nov. 18.—(Special.)—To induce the boys and girls of the state to add to Oregon's resources a sum equal to that which it costs the Commonwealth for the education of its children is the plan of the Department of Public Instruction, as embodied in a circular which was issued to parents and pupils today. Through the medium of another industrial contest this achievement is sought. While the first of the contests this year was a magnificent success, it was started comparatively late, so that plans are already being laid for the big year of 1913. Poultry-raising will be the specialty. Oregon children will be asked to make Oregon poultry the best in the world if possible and to double and perhaps triple the poultry of the state. The circular says: "While it is not the intention to slight any of the other lines of activity taken up this year, it is the plan to make poultry-raising the leading feature of the school children's contest the coming year. There is scarcely a boy or girl in city, village or country but what could take care of a few chickens or ducks without interference with their school or other work. It costs the state about $2.50 a pupil each year to carry on our public school system, and it is our ambition, through the school children, to increase the production of poultry and eggs enough to cover the expense. Children, wouldn't you be proud to say it doesn't cost the state anything to educate us? We pay the bill with our chickens and eggs. The result is easily possible, and to reach it each schoolboy and girl would only have to keep a few fowls. I do not know of anything that would attract more favorable attention to Oregon than the fact that all her school children are raising poultry and producing thereby more the Oregon wealth to meet the expense of the public school system," says the bulletin in part. "The poultry on the farm is a secondary consideration with most people. Little attention is paid to it as a rule, and its importance and possibilities are not conceived. We have no reliable statistics later than those of the United States census for the year 1899. That year there were 7,705,970 dozens of eggs produced in Oregon, which, at an average price of 25 cents, were worth $927,492.50. The value of all poultry raised in the state in 1899 was $526,687. The poultry product that year was worth considerably more than either of the following products, viz: Animals slaughtered, hops, fruits of all kinds, and was almost equal to the earnings in value of wheat was almost a third as great as the wheat crop. "Since 1899 there has been a big increase in the production of poultry and eggs, but there has also been a big increase in consumption, and last year there was about a million dollars' worth of poultry and eggs shipped into Portland from the East. That million dollars might just as well go into the pockets of the schoolboys and girls of Oregon as to the farmers of the East, and while you are earning it you will be occupying part of your time in healthful and interesting pastime and learning to do something worth while in how to do business, to depend upon your own efforts and to be an important factor in society. "An elementary poultry bulletin will be issued by the Gray Agricultural College after a little, which will give valuable information on how to raise and care for poultry. In the meantime, he is talking it over with you parents and making preparations for starting a little flock, if you have not already got one. Get a little garden patch ready to plant also, and win some of the fine prizes that will be offered this year, both at your local fair and at the State Fair."
