Number of games played, 14. Won by Oregon, 10; by O. A. C., 2. Tied, 2.

With the great state championship football struggle between the University of Oregon and the Oregon Aggies at Albany only 48 hours away the chances of Pinkham's eleven are being discussed pro and con by thousands of fans all over the Northwest. The scores of the games played thus far by the rival institutions will just about tell the story of the betting on Saturday's conflict.

Oregon defeated Willamette University, 12-6; defeated the University of Idaho, 3-0; lost to Washington, 36-14; to Whitman, 20-6, and to Washington State, 7-0. The Oregon Aggies defeated Whitman, 20-6, and to Washington, 5-3; to Washington State, 10-3, and to the Multnomah Club, 9-0.

The Washington, Whitman and Washington State games are the only ones which will serve as basis of comparison and in all three instances the Aggies seem to have an apparent edge over the State University. This paper believes that the mark in the Whitman game than in either of the other two. Whitman walloped Oregon unmercifully, 20-6, while the Aggies beat Whitman last Saturday, 20-3. Oregon's defeat, however, came early in the game and Pinkham woke up to the end of his weaknesses.

On the done Coach Dolan's well-trained huskies should defeat their heavier opponents by two touchdowns, at least, and the betting will likely be about 10 to 8 on the game, or even money on two touchdowns margin.

LINUP Little Changed.

Eleven will go into the game about as they lined up last Saturday. Robertson will stand out to hold the line, and while Bailey and Bradshaw, of Oregon, injured against Washington, are expected to be in shape, although Jones is still being groomed for Bradshaw's end.

The only first-team man who will be missing will be McMillen, of Oregon, left guard, who was injured at Seattle and has not been out for practice this week. However, Pinkham is fairly well supplied with center trio material.

At Oregon no changes of further injuries are being taken by the coaches, and all scrimage work has been eliminated from the daily routine. Trainer Hudd is again concerned with the number on his malmed list, and he is perhaps the most pessimistic of all the staff in regard to Oregon's prospects.

Dick Smith, advisory coach, is taking an active part in the preparations this week, and he is devoting special attention to the line, with the hope of fortifying it at the vulnerable points.

Fourteen games have been played between the University and the Agricultural College.

Oregon Has Long Lead.

The Aggies have won two of these contests, and have broken even on two more, while Oregon has captured the ten which remain. Strangely enough, the first gridiron meeting of the two colleges which took place in 1884 resulted in a tie, and the Aggies had an one-sided score of 15 to 0. The only time they have succeeded in turning the same trick, in the 18 years which have elapsed since that initial struggle, was in 1907, when the strong eleven, coached by Norcross, of Michigan, nosed out a 4-to-0 victory on the strength of Carl Wolff's goal-kicking abilities.

During the long existence of this rivalry many games have been played which loom large in Northwest football annals. Although the honors have almost invariably gone to Oregon it was always the determined resistance of the part of her ancient foe. This is shown by the close scores of the recent games especially those of a few years ago, when the rivalry was keenest, and when such stars as Templeton, Chandler, Moores, Moulton and Clarke fought on Oregon's side, and Pittkington, Root, Walker, Dolan and Wolff on that of the Farmers.

Betting Lively in 1905.

Oregon supporters who were alarmed at the apparent superiority of Dolan's team this year, can gain some solace from the many victories won by the lemon-yellow in seasons past against even greater odds. Notable among these was that of 1905, when O. A. C. was represented by what is considered to many critics the strongest eleven ever turned out by that institution. The line-up included such players as Walker, Dolan, Root, Williams, Abraham, Rindfuss and Pittkington, and best of three to one were laid on the Corvallis team.

Gordon Moores, now a member of Oregon's coaching staff, in his first year of foot was the salvation of his team on numerous occasions, gathered in a fumble and distanced all his opponents in a sprint to the goal line, scoring the only touchdown of the game. This was in the days when both Eugene and Corvallis were open towns, and the amount of money which the Corvallis sports dropped was estimated at $24,000.

Similar odds prevailed when Forbes' raw eleven met the seasoned Aggies on Multnomah field in 1908. In the only game which has ever been played off the campus of one or the other of the schools, Bettina was beaten by O. A. C., but Oregon's freshman line held firmly, while Mullen placed two field goals between the uprights, winning the game for his team.

Two Scoreless Games Played.

The last two games were not so close, Oregon winning by the same score, 12 to 6, each time. The largest score ever hung up in an Oregon-O. A. C. contest was back in 1889, when Oregon evened up for the defeat of the previous year with a 4-to-0 victory.

The colts have played two scoreless games, in 1902 and 1908. One of the closest battles in which they have engaged, however, was that in Corvalis in 1884, which was won by Oregon, 6 to 5. Joe Templeton, Oregon's great gridiron hero, playing his final season of football, kicked the winning goal from a different angle, and a plaster cast of the foot which saved the day is still preserved among Oregon's trophies. It was in this game that Earl Walker loomed on the football horizon when he picked up a fumble and ran 100 yards for the Farmers' touchdown.

"AGGIE" REGULARS SURPRISED

Corvallis Coaches Worry Because

Freshmen Hold College Team.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Nov. 21.—(Special)—The results of last night's scrimmage, when Coach Dolan pitted his regulars against the freshman team, in an effort to give an adverse party for the college men and the optimistic supporters of the Beaver football prospects. To insure the college the advantage of a stiff scrap with an untried team, the crafty coach sent his machine against the snappy freshman bunch which has been running wild about over every other clubman on the Corvallis campus, and the gingery "rooks" kept the college from scoring.

How to account for last night's slump satisfactorily is the puzzle which is worrying the fuzzy chief, and he has sent for Dr. Earl Rinehart, of Portland, the famous College and all-Northwest doctor, who will remain on the job until after Saturday's game.

With the exception of Robertson, Coach Dolan is not sending out any vague statements as to what men he will use in the line at Albany. He has one or two men from our team and a short string of subs for emergencies. The regulars who have played all of the games this season are the men who will fight Saturday's battle for the Agricultural College. The only exception is Robertson, and the most optimistic observers think his back will be healed in time to let him go into the game.

CLUBMEN TO RACE ON BEACH

Multnomah Ocean Frolic at Gearhart

ATTRACTS Interest.

The Multnomah Club Winter ocean frolic, scheduled for December 7 and 8, is attracting more attention than the successful affair of last season. Nearly 150 people have signed for the trip, with nearly as many more expected to leave Portland on the special train to Gearhart Saturday afternoon, December 7, for Gearhart, the scene of the festivities.

Special observation cars, decorated in the scarlet and white of Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club, will convey the party to Gearhart on Friday afternoon and return to Portland at 10 o'clock Sunday night.

Aquatic events, in surf and tank, together with footraces and other track numbers, will comprise the athletic programme. Eighteen trophies, presented by prominent Multnomah Club members, will be awarded to the winners of the various events.

Frank E. Watkins, club swimming chairman, has arranged for motion pictures to be taken of the frolic. The hotelmen, headed by Ed. Jorgensen, will make a trip to Gearhart Sunday morning December 8.

LINTON TO RACE ON PACIFIC

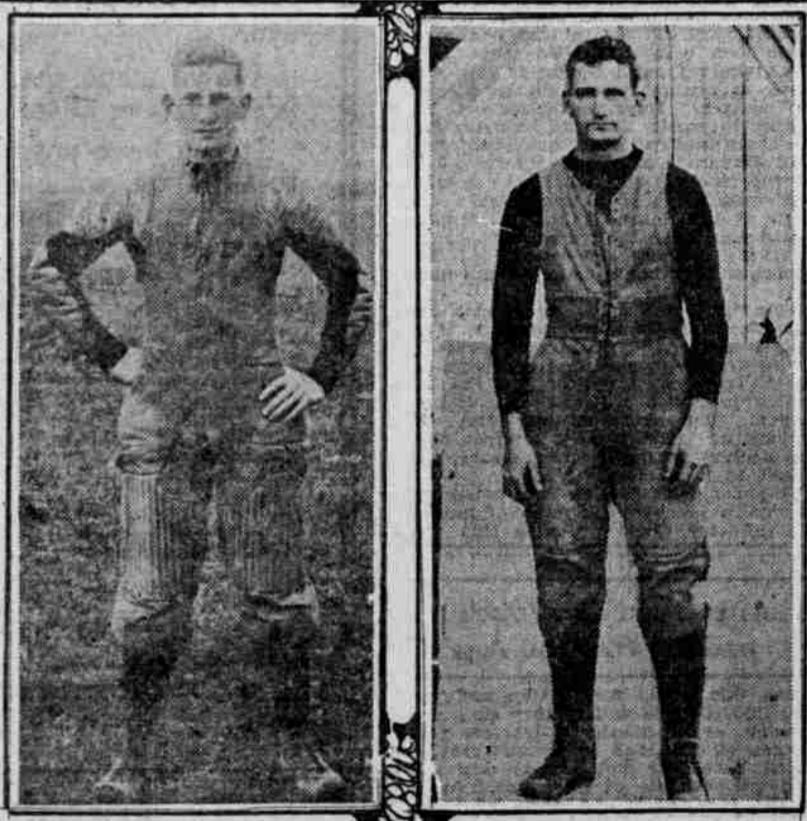

San Franciscans Accepts Challenge for Contest at 1915 Fair.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—Sir Thomas Lipton's challenge for an international yacht race here in 1915 was accepted today. At a luncheon of the San Francisco Yacht Club given in honor of Sir Thomas, the following letter was read to him:

"On behalf of a syndicate yet to be named, permit me to accept your challenge for a race in the 23-meter class, to be sailed here in 1915. We will meet you with a boat designed under the University rules and built by skilled San Franciscans, and may the best boat win." THOMAS J. MILLER.

Mr. Miller is president of the West Coast Life Insurance Company. It is estimated that the American defender will cost about $75,000 and she will probably be named "The Nineteen Fifteen."

TACOMA DEAL IS ON

"Iron Man" McGinnity Holds Option on Franchise.

DONLIN MAY BE MANAGER

New Owners of Phillies Considering Vaudeville Artist's Abilities.

Butcher Probably Slated to Leave Portland.

Is Joe McGinnity, the once-famous "Iron Man" of the New York Giants, a prospective Northwestern League owner? Owner Watkins, of Tacoma, is back from Milwaukee with the story that McGinnity will be in town soon with two weeks to look over the field and decide his option on the franchise, yet reports from the East say that Joe is dickerling with the Terre Haute owners and may buy a controlling interest in the Central League club and manage the team in 1913.

"McGinnity will be in Tacoma within two weeks to look over the field and I am satisfied that he will buy the franchise," says Watkins. "He had some business to attend to at Newark but will be out here soon to exercise his option."

Should the McGinnity deal, and others which Watkins has arranged in other cities, fall through, George Capron, ex-Northwestern League outfielder and famous football player, may get the Tacoma club. He telephoned to Watkins at Milwaukee, offering to trade land near Klamath Falls for the Tacoma baseball property. Watkins answered that if the deals were not concluded,
