Moving Pictures in Your Home

With an Edison Home Kinetoscope

WORDS are inadequate to express the merits of the wonderful Edison invention—the Home Kinetoscope—a combined motion-picture machine and stereopticon. In the April 29th issue of The Oregonian several columns were used in discussing the merits of moving pictures in the school. Visit the free demonstration in special dark-room—fifth floor. You'll marvel at the wonderful new Edison Home Kinetoscope. See, too, the Sleight-of-Hand Man Exhibit the "Mysto Magic" Tricks.
