ROOSEVELT PARTY WILL KEEP PERKINS

Conference Is on This Week and Plans Made Without Thought of Compromise.

COLONEL TO MAKE SPEECH

Beveridge Expected Also to Take Prominent Part-Dixon Would Relinquish Chairmanship, but May Change Mind.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8 .- (Special.) -- Many of the prominent men and women who were delegates in the Roosevelt Procressive National convention in August will be in Chicago next week in attendance at the National conference of the Progressive party, Nearly every state will have representation. Ses-sions will be held Tuesday and Wednessions will be held Tuesday and Wednesday.

Theodore Roosevelt will arrive in Chicago at 1:30 o'clock Monday. He has entirely recovered from his wound and expects to take an active part. Governor Johnson, of California, Colonel Rosevelt's running mate in the recent campaign, is expected to come from his far Western home to attend. Senator Dixon, of Montana, chairman of the Progressive National Committee, and O. K. Davis, the National secretary, will arrive Monday from Washington.

Colonel to Make Speech.

Ex-United States Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, who served as chairman of the Progressive National convention, will make one of the leading addresses. His speech at the National convention was one of the noteworthy features of that gathering. In his address at the conference, Mr. Beveridge will present his views on the course the party should take in the future.

Colonel Roosevelt will make at least one set speech, and he will participate in the discussion at other times.

Sessions of the conference will be in the discussion at other times.

Sessions of the conference will be held in the ballroom of the Hotel La Saile. After preliminary discussion, the task of drafting specific declarations on organization, educational work, legislation and other subjects will be delegated to committees, whose reports may invite further debate.

The executive committee will meet Monday. George W. Perkins, of New York, is chairman of this body. Other members are Senator Dixon, Judge Lindsey, of Colorado; John M. Parker, of Louisiana; Meyer Lissner, of Callfornia; Medill McCormick, Chauncey Dewey and Miss Jane Addams, of Illinois.

It is also probable that the new party's legislators will talk over Senate and House organization, inas-much as they hold the balance of power in both branches.

close of the National conference the Progressive National commit-tee will meet to effect a permanent Senator Dixon's term as organization. Senator Divon's term as Senator expires in March and at that time he will leave Washington for his home in Montana. to Panama Caual.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. - President WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. — President Taft has written a letter to Governor Wison offering to place at his disposal one of the big battleships of the Navy to make a trip of inspection to the Panama Canal some time before Mr. Wilson is inaugurated. The President has a thorough knowledge of the work of the Army engineers on the isthmus himself through personal visits to the canal zone, and is of the opinion that his successor would like to know as much as possible about the great engineering feat before he entered office.

Many questions of policy concerning the causal may be looked for in Mr. Wilson's Administration, and Mr. Taft decided that it was only fair to the man who takes his place in the White House March 4 to offer him an opportunity to inspect the canal and gather information at first hand.

The letter to Mr. Wilson was mailed to his Bermuda address. No answer

BEDFORD SEES ONLY DELAY House of Lords Will Not Be Able to Alter Home Rule.

DUBLIN Dec. 7 .- (Special.) -The Duke of Bedford, addressing 5000 Unionists at Luton, pointed out that the House of Lords could not in any way after the Home Rule Bill. They could only delay it for eight months.
Belief in the policy of delay was born of the vain hope that something might turn up in the interval to destroy the bill. He did not regard the policy of waiting helplessly for something to with devotion to that battle cry? "Something, the Lord knows what, may turn up in eight months."

If the Unionists could not raise a better cry than that they had better go home to bed and not go into action at all. The Parliament act had reduced the Second Chamber to a sham. The Parliament act had incidentally destroyed the House of Commons as a debating assembly. It was the Cabinet which was despotic, and they in turn were driven and controlled by three or which was despotic, and they in turn were driven and controlled by three of four men who were not in the Government at all. This new form of democratic government of the people for the people and by the people was very characteristic of revolution. Whether the revolution ended in peace or in war turned upon Ulater. They might have formed different opinions as to whether Ulster would fight—he meant by force of arms—or not. The whole responsibility for correctly appreciating the real situation must rest with the Cabinet. If the latter landed the country in civil war by misjudging the signs of the times, then they, and they alone, were reaponsible, the times, then they, and they alone, were responsible.

"I am certain in my own mind," declared the Duke, "that all classes in Ulster are in deadly carnest, and are stirred by feelings which prompt men to prefer to die fighting rather than to live under conditions which are to them hateful and intolerable. I cannot conceive of any greater calamity failing upon the British Army than its attempted employment at the request of the Dublin Parliament to coerce Ulster. The Army will be upilt from top to hottom and completely disorganized. I am sure we are heading straight for civil war."

There have been rumors that some of the Progressives would seek the elimination of George W. Perkins from his post of leadership in the party. It does not appear likely that such action will be taken. It is possible that Mr. Perkins will decline to serve again as chairman of the executive committee, but the talk of expelling him from the party has died out altogether.

TURK'S SYMBOL MISNOMER So-Called Crescent Is Decrescent Representing Old Moon.

LONDON. Dec. 7.—(Special.)—The lunar symbol of the Ottoman Empire, universally known as the Creacent, is strictly speaking, a decreacent, representing, as it does not the new moon, but the old moon. As a National symbol it was in use in Constantinople by the Byzantines 18 centuries before the Turks appropriated it and emblazoned it on their banners when they captured the city on the Bosphorus; and its origin is said to date from B. C. 346, when a night attack on ancient Byzantium by the Macedonians was folid by the light of the old and waning moon. tium by the Macedonians was folld by the light of the old and waning moon. The horns of the crescent and decrescent point in opposite directions, as do those of the old and new moon; and while the crescent moon progressively to the splendor of full moon, the decrescent slowly wanes to invisibility in the overpowering light of the sun. The Turkish decrescent has been a long time waning in Europe, but it is the inevitable destiny of all decrescent moons to disappear.

In his address, Mr. Divine explained that Dr. Gallaudet was an Episcopal minister, and one of his parishioners had a daughter, Alice Cogswell, who was left deaf by disease. Dr. Gallaudet was appealed to for assistance, but deaf persons in those days were treated in the United States as feeble minded. He became interested and found that there were many other deaf persons who were not educated. Their parents were ashamed of them and hid them. It was thought to be a disgrace to have a deaf child. He gave up his work in the ministry and went to England to see how the deaf were treated there, but he received no welcome. He went to France, where he was taken in and welcomed and he learned all they had to offer the induced a French deaf teacher.

REMEDIAL LAW IN SIGHT Paris to Establish School Where Old-Age Insurance Act Penalty.

PARIS, Dec. 7.—(Special.)—At a ministerial council, the Minister of Labor. M. Bourgeols, was authorized to introduce the long-promised bill which is intended to remedy the situation created by the decision of the Court of Cassation that an emplorer of labor cannot be prosecuted for not deducting from the wages of his employers the amount of their countributions under the compulsory old age insurance act. The bill proposes that an employer who has neglected to affix stamps of the value of the compulsory contribution shall be subject to a civil penalty which may be imposed by the Juge de Paix.

The penalty consists in imposing upon the employer the obligation to make an additional payment to the pension fund amounting to three per cent of the compulsory contribution which ought to have been paid. This penalty will be inflicted in cases where, after neglect to affix the insurance stamps in the course of one year, the employer's or the employee's contributions have again not been paid in the course of the following year. It is understood however, that the arrears and the pension is gone. 7.-(Special.)-At PARIS, Dec.

ALLEN EXPLAINS FLIGHT Hillsville Feudist Says He Wanted

Public Sentiment to Cool. WYTHEVILLE, Va., Dec. 8.—Sidna Allen, leader of the Hillsville gunmen, testified today in his trial for the murder of Commonwealth Attorney Foster in the Carrell County Courthouse shooting. He denied having planned the shooting and declared that his flight to Des Molnes, where he viscaptured, was to permit public sentment to cool down, when he intended to return and give himself up.

Eight other witnesses gave testimony calculated to prove the theory that the Allens shot at the court officers in self defense, thinking they were being attacked.

LONDON. Dec. 7.—(Special.)—Herbort Vivian. in a recent lecture, alluded to an extraodinary superstition connected with the famous wild dogs of Constantinople. These dogs were supposed by many to bring good luck to the city, and, though a dog is deemed unclean by all good Moslems, they were well treated by the populace.

But the powers that be one day removed the dogs to an island, where they were allowed to die in awful torture by starvation, and with their disappearance has departed the good luck of Constantinople. Certainly the Turks have fallen upon evil times, but whether the wild dogs have anything to do with the fact is quite another matter.

Calculated to prove the theory that the Allens shot at the court officers in self defense, thinking they were being attacked.

Cameron Montgomery testified he heard Deputy Clerk Quesenberry say he had been prepared for the shooting for six months, while Walter Webb, of Pulaski stated he heard Clerk Goad say he had drawn his revolver before the first shot was fired.

This evidence was offered to support the contention that the court officers had prepared for trouble with the Allens and that they and not Allens were responsible for the tragedy.

Only four more witnesses remain to be examined. Argument in the case is expected to begin Monday.
