R. C. Beach, of Lewiston, Is Chosen President - Development and Livestock Association Men Hosts at Banquet

LEWISTON, Idaho, Dec. 13 .- (Spe cial)-Despite the inclement weather conditions that prevailed today in the Lewiston-Clarkston Valley, the crowds at the Northwest Livestock Show were on the wane

The events of today were almost exclusively confined to the auction sales, at which were sold the pure-bred animals and the prize winners at this exhibition. Several thousand people surrounded the show ring and lustily cheered the owner whose stock brought humper prices. There were sold 31 head of horses which in a total brought the breeders $21,720. The highest price which any horse brought was $1295, owned by Follet & Schooler, of Genesee. Idaho. There were several hundred bidders competing for the stock.

The Northwest Livestock Association realized handsomely from the sale. Upon a basis of 5 per cent the proceeds for the association was $1986. The events of today were almost ex

Mrs. Ross died at 3:40 Wednesday night after suffering for five days from the ravages of the mysterious poison which caused the untimely end of her two companions. Her death was under the same conditions as those of Mrs. Scott Monday night and Mrs. Rost Tuesday night.

Mrs. James, the latest victim of whisky, was found unconscious on the floor of the kitchen at her home on Hartson avenue Saturday morning. At her side was an empty flask labeled "Old Kentucky Rye."

STRIKE LEADER ARRESTED J. F. Morgan Alleged to Have Attacked Railway Employe.

EUGENE, Or., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—
The first trouble in the strike against the Portland, Eugene & Eastern, called by the Industrial Workers of the World because of a reduction of wages, took place today, when J. F. Morgan one of the lenders of the strike, was arrested on a charge of attacking a man named Goodwin, who had formerly worked for the Portland. Eugene & Eastern. According to a citizen who witnessed the alleged attack and swore out the complaint, Godwin was accosted in the western part of the city and when he did not give a satisfactory reply to the man as to his destination, was held by an unidentified man while Morgan kicked him.

It is declared by the Industrial Workers of the World that Goodwin had joined their organization and had worked for the Portland, Eugene & Eastern after the strike was called, although it is added that he was sick and not working at the time the strike was called.

In default of $50 bail Morgan is in jail until his trial Saturday.

RAILROAD MAN COMMENDS ANNUAL.

Business men, railroad officials and officers of commercial bodies consider the wide distribution of the Oregon Annual one of the greatest factors in attracting people to Oregon.

"I don't know of any agency that does more to advertise Oregon than The Oregonian's Annual edition," said W. E. Coman, general freight and pas-senger agent of the North Bank Railway and the Hill lines in Oregon, yesterday. "It is re-plete every year with valuable statistics, interesting information and good, solid reading matter, to say nothing of the handsome illustrations.

"It has become the custom for persons living in Portland and in other parts of the state to mail copies of The Oregonian Annual to friends in the East and in foreign countries. I'dare say that a large percentage of our most desirable immigrants have been attracted by reading these timekeepers of Oregon's
