Allegations Made as to Campaign Carried on in State of Washington.

INSTANCES ARE RECITED

California Investigating Committee Is Told by Former Superintendent of Public Instruction Concerning Conditions.

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 28.—Allegations that many of the same book companies which played politics and even resorted to bribery in the state of Washington in public schools are now engaged in campaigns to furnish texts for the California school book series were made at Saturday's session of the special Senate text book investigating committee by Frank B. Browne, principal of the Boulder Creek High School, former superintendent of public instruction in Washington.

Browne testified that he came into possession of a check for $5,000 which a subsidiary company of the American Book Company presented to a member of the Washington board of education to obtain a favorable vote on the adoption of a text.

Bribery Is Alleged. Another instance of alleged bribery which, Browne testified, came to his attention while superintendent of a Washington school was when another subsidiary company of the American Book Company employed a detective agency to investigate a board member's record and, according to the witness, sought to blackmail him into voting in favor of the adoption of a certain book.

Browne also related how the book concerns, with the aid of the Northern Pacific Railway, obtained the passage of a law prescribing local option for the purpose of increasing the school book business.

MUCH POULTRY ENTERED

Exhibit at Oregon City January 3 and 4 Attracts Fanciers. OREGON CITY, Or., Dec. 29.—(Special.)—Entries for the coming poultry show, to be held in the Oregon City Armory on January 2 and 3, are coming in rapidly. Not only many varieties of chickens are being entered, but also ducks, geese, turkeys, rabbits, guinea pigs, cats, pigeons, and other fowl.

A great deal of satisfaction is being expressed by the management of the show in that the professional exhibitors, who as a rule do not show throughout the country, capturing prizes and advertising their stock, will not be a preponderance. This is a fact which is as welcome as it is remarkable.

MACKSBURG TIE CINCHED

Mother Sends Son, in Love, to Judge to Be Sure of License. OREGON CITY, Or., Dec. 29.—(Special.)—John A. Damm, of Macksburg, accompanied by Miss Katherine Winger, of the same town, dropped into Judge Simpson's office yesterday. The moment they entered the Judge's trial room there was an immediate exit of the Judge's admirers, save of the specially trained witnesses for they seated at a wedding, and they knew their place was in the outer office.

"We want to get a marriage license," spoke up the man, while the maid looked on with interest. "I am waiting for my sweetheart," he said, but he was game, and at once escorted the young folks to the County Clerk's office. On the way back the Judge learned that there was nothing doing. Some forehanded preacher had gotten ahead of him, but the Judge is a stern old fellow, and he feels he has no right to complain. The bridegroom-elect's mother went to school to the Judge in the days when he was a school teacher, so she sent her son to him, confident that there would be no hitch. "And there wasn't," said his honor, "but the wedding will take place in Macksburg."

SENTENCE IS REMITTED

Oregon City Man Who Insisted on Gault Set Free With Injunction. OREGON CITY, Or., Dec. 29.—(Special.)—Daniel Cornwall, convicted on a statutory charge, was paroled today by Circuit Judge Campbell after having spent eight months in jail. The woman in the case was Mollie Clark, a woman Cornwall pleaded guilty although the grand jury refused to return an indictment against him. He had been in jail about four months when the jury, considering the charge and made a return "no indictment found."

Despite this, Cornwall insisted that he was guilty, and Judge Campbell sentenced him to serve six months in jail. He served two months of the sentence and the parole today is regarded by Cornwall as the best Christmas present he ever received. He was warned by Judge Campbell to leave the city and never return.

COUNCIL ACTION CENSURED

Closing of Occidental Street Condemned by Labor Council. Two resolutions, condemning the action of the City Council, were passed at the recent meeting of the Portland Labor Council, December 27. The first dealt with the proposed closing of Occidental street, "whereby the people of East Portland have access to the waterfront for a space of nearly three-fourths of a mile." This is considered by the Labor Council as "a corrupt and vicious piece of legislation in favor of large commercial institutions."

Union Meat Employs Dine.

Everyone who attended the Union Meat Company's annual banquet to its branch managers and salesmen at the Commercial Club last night was given a "Christmas present." The function came at the end of a two days' meeting and was attended by 51 officers and employees of the company. C. C. Colt, president, made the interesting announcement that the business of the company this year had been the heaviest in its history and that the prospects for 1913 are exceedingly flattering.
