

WOMAN WORKERS EAT HEAVY DEBT

Statistics Show Expenditures Are Greater Than Receipts in Several Callings.

OFFICE GIRLS ABLE TO SAVE

Discrepancies Vary From $10.06 to $145.86 and Legislature Will Be Asked to Provide Remedy at Coming Session.

How women and girls whose total annual incomes are exceeded by their total annual expenditures for necessary things in amounts ranging from $10.06 to $145.86 are able to meet the new year with happiness is a question asked by the social survey committee of the Consumers' League, which has just completed the compilation of statistics resulting from its investigation of the incomes and expenses of 509 working women and girls in Portland. Of this number, 36 work in laundries, 100 in factories, 116 in department stores, 88 in offices and 169 in miscellaneous occupations.

The figures show that only 31 of the 509 are able to show a saving on their wages at the end of a year's constant work, and their saving is only an average of $7.33. Those who are able to put this amount in the bank as the surplus of 12 months' labor are found among the office employees, whose average annual wages are higher than any of the others.

Clothing Cost Contrasted.
The idea that many girls are able to work cheaper because they live at home is not borne out by the figures, for it is found that the average cost of clothing of girls living at home or "adrift"—the word employed by the committee for all those who have no home ties—averages the same, $18.44. The girls who live at home $18.44 a year for clothing, a dollar more than it costs girls in the same work who live adrift. Factory girls at home get along with $12.46 worth of clothes, while those adrift spend $14.83. Department store workers who live at home spend $161.66, and those adrift $139.63 for clothes. Office girls at home spend $18.29, while those adrift spend a trifle less, $18.20, for clothes. The 169 workers in the miscellaneous group, of whom some live at home, spend $12.10 for clothing, while those adrift spend $14.52.

Throughout the several items of expense, for doctors and dentists' bills, for lodge and church dues, for education and reading, for recreation and vacation, for laundry and for carfare, it is found that there is a remarkable equality between the expenses of women wage workers who live at home and those adrift.

Office Workers Save.
Laundry workers who live at home spend a total for the year of $475.45; those who live adrift spend $478.93. Factory workers living at home spend $426.98 a year; those adrift spend $438.52. Office workers who live at home spend $520.59, and those adrift spend $517.97. Office help is the highest paid of any of the five classes, and the only class in which an annual saving is shown. The 31 office workers adrift save $75.28 each year against a rainy day. Department store workers living at home have an average annual expense of $505.36; those who live adrift spend $512.42. The miscellaneous group, of whom some live at home and some adrift, have an average annual expense of $352.29, to $526.68 for those adrift.

With those expenses, the following average annual deficits are shown over the average annual wage: Laundry workers—At home, $61.45; adrift, $11.05. Factory workers—At home, $100.86; adrift, $43.83. Office workers—At home, $37.36; adrift, $37.97. Department store workers—At home, $145.86; adrift, $91.85. Miscellaneous workers—At home, $39.95; adrift, $47.97.

Laundry Cost Small.
Many of those girls and women are able to spend only from $4 to $10 a year for laundry, and the general average is between $5 and $7. Their maximum expenditure for church contributions and lodge dues is $12.25, but the general average is between $8 and $9 a year. For education and reading the largest average amount spent is $10.30, and from that the average ranges down to $4. The largest annual average spent for recreation and vacation is $36.52; the lowest, $12.50.

Girls who are able to live at home must spend, as a rule, more for carfare than girls who live adrift, for the latter are often able to get lodgings near their work. To effect this saving and to get rooms at as reasonable a rental as possible, many girls are forced to live in districts that are undesirable in all other ways.

That there is so little difference between the expenses of the workers who live at home and who live adrift is due to the fact that those who live at home must either pay their board as a rule or contribute equivalently to the support of the family.

Legislative Action Desired.
These statistics, together with many of a similar nature, and all eloquent that there is something radically wrong with a system of wages that finds 478 out of 509 workers in debt at the end of the year, will be submitted to the Oregon Legislature at its coming session in support of a bill which provides that a non-paid commission, to be appointed by the Governor and to be known as the Industrial Welfare Commission, shall have power to investigate wages, hours and working conditions, and to call conferences of employers and employees to the end that any injustices may be rectified and removed.

The social survey committee, of whose work Miss Caroline Gleason, director, experienced little difficulty in gaining desired information, although some of the workers said that they would not risk their jobs by complaining to anyone. "I spent too much time walking the streets to get this job to take chances on losing it," said a laundry girl who, economizing though she may be to the point of starvation, scarcely hopes to get through the year free of debt, unless she has help from some source.

TACOMA GIRL IS GUEST

MISS KATHLEEN BAILEY, ENTERTAINED BY FRIENDS.
Mr. and Mrs. James G. Gauld kept open house New Year's day. Other Affairs Given.

Miss Kathleen Bailey, of Tacoma, has been the house guest of Mrs. Antoine G. Labbe for a week, and for the next few days will be entertained at the home of Miss Anita Burns. A number of teas and informal gatherings are making the visitor's stay pleasant. On Monday Mrs. Labbe presided at a luncheon at the Waverly Country Club, which formed an ideal setting for the gathering, to which a score of the younger girls and matrons had been asked in compliment to Miss Bailey. The color scheme, red and green, was carried out by the hostess and her guests, who wore polka-dotted and holly being used artistically.

Mrs. L. U. Loomis and Miss Beulah Loomis, of Ellensburg, Mrs. Labbe's mother and sister, are at present her guests and will be shown many social favors during their visit. Miss Loomis will remain here for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. James G. Gauld kept open house on New Year's day entertaining a large number of friends. Among those who assisted in receiving were Mrs. L. Maxwell, Mrs. W. C. Alvord, Mrs. J. Frank Watson, Mrs. Harriet McArthur, Mrs. Edmond L. Deveraux, Mrs. Robert W. Forbes, Mrs. E. J. Houghton, Mrs. Miss Claire Houghton, Miss Nan Robertson, Miss Evelyn Carey, Miss Charlotte Laidlaw, Miss Mildred and Miss Grace Honeyman.

At the Walter J. Burns residence the hospitalities of New Year's day were extended to several score of guests who called during the day. Among the ladies who were present in the receiving line were Mrs. Thomas Scott Brooke, Mrs. David Honeyman, Mrs. Joseph M. Bradley, Mrs. George Kirkham Smith, Mrs. Thomas Roberts and Mrs. Lee Hawley Hoffman. Several of the sub-debutantes were serving in the dining-room and drawing-room.

Mrs. P. C. Patterson, of Spokane, and her father, E. F. Giltner, have gone to Southern California to pass the winter. They will visit in Los Angeles, San Diego and other California cities.

Mrs. Marlon F. Dolph entertained the members of the Thursday Bridge Club yesterday. The personnel of the club includes: Mrs. David C. Lewis, Mrs. John E. Cronan, Mrs. George K. Wentworth, Jr., Mrs. Lansing Stout, Mrs. Elizabeth Freeman, Mrs. Donald R. Munro, Miss Hazel Crocker, Miss Inez Barrett, Miss Hazel Weidner, Miss Isabella Gauld and Mrs. Dolph.

The dances to be given tonight by the Chi Omega Sorority at Multnomah Hotel will claim the attendance of several of the younger members of local society and of sorority and fraternity college folk who are spending the holidays in town. The patronesses for this delightful party will be Mrs. Prince Lucien Campbell, of Eugene, Mrs. Robert S. Beahm, Mrs. Charles A. Gray, Miss M. Ruth Guppy, of Eugene; Mrs. Russell E. Sewall, Mrs. Thomas Kay, of Salem; Mrs. W. D. Jellison, Mrs. Roscoe R. Giltner, Mrs. John H. D. Gray, Mrs. O. M. Plummer, Mrs. James J. Keyes, Mrs. Pliny Snodgrass and Mrs. Carlton Harding.

The at-home to be given tonight by the members of the Scottish Rite at their cathedral, Lowndale and Morrison streets, promises to be quite an elaborate affair and will be attended by a large assemblage of guests. The patronesses will be Mrs. E. A. Beale, Mrs. W. F. Fieldner, Mrs. N. U. Carpenter, Mrs. Bert Denison, Mrs. O. M. Clark, Mrs. R. W. Schmeer, Mrs. J. J. Read and Mrs. Richard Ferry Knight. The committee arranging the affair are H. P. Palmer, R. W. Schmeer, Carl R. Jones, Robert S. Farrell, James P. Moffett, Benjamin Gadaby, C. C. Newcastle, D. G. Tomasini and Frank Vandusen.

HOMELESS MEN GRATEFUL

Guests of O.-W. R. & N. Christmas Day Express Appreciation.

Officials of the O.-W. R. & N. Company in the last few days have received many letters from the homeless men who were their guests at dinner on board the steamer Harvest Queen on Christmas day.

J. D. Farrell, president of the company, who originated the idea, has been in New York and some of the committee members from the men have been forwarded to him. Mr. Farrell is eager to have the credit for the company's hospitality distributed among the other officials and telegraphed to his office yesterday that he is extremely gratified over the success of the plan.

ANNUAL SALE IS BIG

NEWSIES MAKE MONEY ON NEW YEAR'S OREGONIAN.

Every boy who sold The Oregonian annual editions on the street this year reaped a harvest.

Business was a whole lot better than last year. In fact it never was better, and all the enterprising young merchants of the streets have made money. The demand for the papers was greater this year than ever before and sales continued yesterday with almost the same volume as on the previous day.

It is probable that the full supply will be disposed of within a week.

At the rate they are going now they won't last long. Many of the boys will keep their street stands up until Saturday. Fully 60 per cent of the papers will be mailed to individuals in other parts of the country. Many more will go to foreign countries. All of them are mailed to individuals who are likely to become future residents of Oregon.

Reports of the railroads and the colonization companies show that thousands of people who have come to the state within the last ten years have been attracted here by reading the yearly Oregonian. It presents the facts regarding the state's wealth and its progress in accurate detail, and serves thus to show actual conditions here. The actual conditions are sufficiently encouraging to cause many people to leave their Eastern homes every year and come to Oregon.
