

ALLIES THREATEN AND TURKS CAJOLE

Ottoman Envoys Concede Only What Has Been Conquered by Force of Arms.

STRUGGLE GROWS BITTER

Aegean Islands May Be Ceded to Powers for Settlement-Greece Will Obey If Ordered to Evacuate.

LONDON, Jan. 2.—The plenipotentiaries to the peace conference enjoyed a day of general relaxation. Even the meeting of the Ambassadors today was purely academic, as all agreed that yesterday's advances by Turkey had changed the situation to such an extent that they must await corresponding instructions from their respective governments.

The Turks continue to declare that their concessions have surpassed any logical expectation, but that now they cannot cede an inch more.

On the other hand, the allies with unanimous voice and compact front maintain that they would end the conference rather than give up what they contend is due them by right of their victories.

Both sides playing game. That the game is being played on both sides is evident.

The Turks emphasize the enormous importance of what they have ceded, which in reality is only what they have lost, and what, independently of the allies, not even the powers would allow them to reconquer. The allies on the other hand belittle the Turkish concessions, as they desire definitely to settle forever their differences with the Ottoman empire.

The real stumbling block is Adriatic. A compromise solution respecting the Aegean Islands is possible. Some suggest that Turkey cede them to the powers, which can decide their fate. It is recalled that such a course has been taken on other occasions presenting even more difficulties than the present. For instance, in the war of 1816 between Italy and Austria, Austria, although victorious, was induced to cede the Venetian provinces to France, which transferred them to Italy.

Struggle develops bitterness. Supporters of this plan hint that Turkey might even cede the islands to the allies, as has practically been done with Albania, on condition that the powers pledge themselves to claim, as in the case of Albania, the right to decide the status of the Aegean archipelago.

The struggle now will be bitter between the Turks and the allies. The Turks are threatening to appeal to the tribunal of Europe; the allies are threatening to resume the war. It is expected, however, that relief from this situation may result from the meeting of the Ambassadors to whose judgment probably both Turkey and the allies will submit, if they decide unanimously what the fate of the islands must be.

The powers are particularly concerned in this question, because some of the islands, Samothrace, Imbros, Lemnos and Tenedos, are of international importance, commanding the entrance to the Dardanelles, while Mitylene and Chios bar entrance to the Gulf of Smyrna. The rest of the islands still are in the hands of Italy, which occupied them in the war with Turkey.

Greece will obey powers. If the powers unanimously ask Greece to evacuate some of the islands already occupied it is believed Greece will obey, as she did at Avlona on the simple intimation of Italy, and as Serbia and Montenegro on the Albanian coast of the Adriatic are prepared to do in order to please Austria.

The Ambassadors today reviewed the whole situation without entering deeply into any particular question. They wish to have the concrete instructions before they do so. In the meantime an exchange of communications is occurring between the chancelleries of the triple entente and the triple alliance, while a special understanding is developing between Russia and Italy concerning Albania. There appears to be among the ambassadors a strong current in favor of the annexation of Crete to Greece, but they hold that in exchange they should be entrusted with the decision respecting the fate of the islands.

Regarding the frontiers of Albania, the opinion prevails among the ambassadors that they will be able to strike a proper medium between the too restricted suggestions of the allies and the too extended boundaries favored by Austria.

It is reported that the Russian, Italian and French ambassadors are supporting this middle course.

was escorted to the line of automobiles that were waiting to take the party to the Hotel Grant, headquarters for the entertainment. The women's committee was in charge of Mrs. C. E. Olmsted, formerly of Portland. The Companeros formed a guard of honor for the Rosarians from the station to the hotel and all along the line of march crowds of people at the curbs cheered the passing of the white-uniformed visitors. At the hotel, where the drill team swung into full "company front" and saluted before marching into the lobby, the cheers were deafening.

After breakfast, as guests of the joint committees of the business and social organizations of the city, the party was taken for a trip about the bay in the glass-bottomed boat Em-place, assisted by the chairman of the day, while Mr. Pittock turned the earth over the roots.

All Aid in Rose-Planting.

There was general movement then toward the trench and with cheers and singing the Royal Rosarians seized shovels and rose bushes and every man in the party took a hand in the planting of the remainder.

After the return from the exposition grounds at 5 o'clock, the men of the Order of Panama assembled in session at the Hotel Grant and conferred upon 15 members of the Rosarians the degree of honor of the order.

Hitherto the degree of honor in the Order of Panama has been conferred upon none but Ministers representing foreign countries who have been in San Diego as guests of honor of the order. With the degree which admitted them to honorary association with the Companeros of the Order of Panama, each Rosarian received the symbolic medal of honor belonging to this rank. Those receiving this degree were: Crown Prince Bristol, Prince Regent R. W. Hoyt, Prime Minister W. J. Hoffmann, Fred Larson, G. L. Hutchin, H. L. Pittock, C. C. Chapman, Hy Eilers, C. C. Craig, R. G. Morrow, Robert Krohn, Dean Vincent, M. N. Dana, Dean Collins and Paul Chamberlain.

San Diego Persons Honored.

The Rosarians in a session immediately following that of the Companeros of the Order of Panama, conferred upon several of the leading men of San Diego the honorary membership and diploma of the Royal Rosarians. Among those thus honored were President Collier, of the Panama-California Exposition, and Mayor J. E. Wadhams. In the entertainment of the Rosarians while in the city, San Diego eclipsed every preceding experience of the excursion. Winfield Hogaboom and

Carl Heilbron, prominent members of the Order of Panama, which led in the entertainment, and both officers of the exposition committee, came to Pasadena last night to join the Rosarian party and accompany the Rosarians to San Diego to arrange en route all preparations for the reception that awaited.

The Rosarians stepped off the train amid the blare of a huge band to find the Companeros of the Order of Panama in their uniform and bright sashes of red and yellow, drawn up to receive them, while a committee of women from the Oregon society of San Diego waited to welcome the women of the Rosarian party.

Women Get Poinsettias.

As each woman stepped from the train she was presented with an arm full of bright poinsettia blossoms and peror, returning to the hotel for luncheon as guests of the San Diego Ad Club. The women were entertained at luncheon by the women of the Oregon Society.

land Ad Club, was the principal speaker at the men's luncheon, and addresses were given also by W. T. Buchanan, R. G. Morrow, M. N. Dana and Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher, who had donned Rosarian colors and remained with the party from the time it first entered Los Angeles en route for Pasadena. J. Fred Larson sang a solo and the cheers and choruses of the Rosarians at intervals in the luncheon were responded to heartily by their hosts.

Automobile parties visited Point Loma and the theosophist colony in the afternoon following the rose-planting ceremony at the exposition grounds. A banquet and a ball in honor of the Rosarians closed the day's programme.

G. L. Hutchin today announced that both Pasadena and San Diego had promised to secure delegations to represent their cities at the coming Rose Festival.

"If we can get our drill team of Companeros in readiness by that time," said Carl Heilbron, "the Order of Panama will be at the Rose Festival in full regalia."

Chairmen of the committees appointed from organizations of San Diego to conduct the Rosarian entertainment were: D. C. Collier, president of the exposition; E. O. Tilbourne, president of the Ad Club; F. C. Spalding, president of the Board of Trade, and Clark Bracey, president of the Oregon Society.

Gall Stones Removed Without an Operation

After suffering for one year with gall stones I was told by a friend to try Swamp-Root. I began with the 50-cent size and after using four bottles found that I was much better. Then began using the larger size bottles and after taking three bottles I was cured. That has been seven years ago this summer and I have never been sick since that time from this disease. I can cheerfully recommend Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root to any one for kidney and bladder troubles hoping it may do as much good for many people as it did for me. Yours truly, MISS EMMA HOLDEPER, 29 North Thorpe St., Kansas City, Kan. State of Missouri, County of Jackson, ss.

On the 11th day of August, 1909, personally appeared before me, a Notary Public in and for said county and state, Miss Emma Holdeter, who subscribed the within statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact. HENRY C. EMBERY, Notary Public.

HILL FINDS PLANT FOOD

Railroad Magnate Expects to Double Yield of Grain in Northwest.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 2.—Six men, representing commercial Minneapolis, were taken today into the greenhouses of James J. Hill, where the railroad man has been carrying on for two months an experiment intended to revolutionize agriculture. The six men saw astonishing results in wheat, oats and barley culture, achieved through a new chemical soil analysis.

Phosphorous has been found to be the great essential plant food lacking in the soil of the Northwest. Mr. Hill has found the way, he told the Minneapolis men, to increase soil fertility. "I believe," Mr. Hill said, "that we have found what to do, and we are going to do it. We can, by the application of these methods, double the production of grain in the Northwestern states."

STEAMSHIP LANES MOVED

Atlantic Liners Agree to New Route to Avoid Icebergs.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The Navy Department announced today that trans-Atlantic steamship lines have agreed to move their tracks to the southward. In order to avoid icebergs, the change is to become effective January 15. The new tracks will be as follows: Eastbound, cross 47 degrees west longitude in 40 degrees north latitude; westbound, cross 47 west longitude in 41 degrees north latitude. These crossings are one degree or about 60 miles south of crossings heretofore used at that time of the year. The branch office at New York reports the new tracks are due to recommendations of the Hydrographic Office.
