Don't Put Off Making Your Will

Attend to this important matter while in the vigor of health. It may save much trouble and expense for your heirs later on.

Have a competent attorney draw the will—then see to it that a responsible executor is named. Then the desires expressed in your will are carried out—the best interests of your heirs are served—there's less risk of sacrifice of value.

DIPLOMATS TO ATTEND FUNERAL OF THE LATE JAMES LAIDLAW IS TODAY.

Consular Corps, All Apprentices and Captains of British Ships in Port to Be Present.

Public and private societies will attend in a body the services which will be held this afternoon over the late James Laidlaw, the British Consul, who died last Sunday.

The consular corps of Portland held a meeting yesterday in the offices of Andre M. Cederbergh, Vice-Consul for Norway. At this it was decided unanimously that they would attend in a body the services at the church.

Those who will attend are given with the countries they represent: Dean A. R. Vejar, Consul de Chili; Consul Morizo Ida, Japan; E. A. Spencer, Consul of Mexico; Vice-Consul E. M. Cherry, Astoria, Great Britain; Consul Moy Bach Him (by Secretary Bow M. Moy); China; C. Henry Labbe, Vice-Consul for France and Belgium; Andre M. Cederbergh, Vice-Consul for Norway; J. W. Mather, Vice-Consul for Netherlands; Charles Reed, Vice-Consul for Chile; Henry Harkness, Vice-Consul for Denmark; Dr. Carlo Visetti, Vice-Consul for Italy; Carlos Barretto, Consul for Peru; Valdemar Lidell, Vice-Consul for Sweden.

In addition, British Vice-Consul Cherry, of Astoria, who is acting temporarily; Vice-Consul Agraffia, of Port Townsend, and Vice-Consul Klockner, of Tacoma, will be present.

All apprentices and the captains of British ships in port will be present in a body, as also will members of the Catholic Women's League. Services at the Trinity Episcopal Church will begin at 2 o'clock. Bishop Scadding and Dr. A. A. Morrison will conduct the services. When the remains are conveyed to the church the coffin will be opened to permit the public to view the body.

Twelve pallbearers have been appointed, six of them honorary. The active bearers are Rodney L. Gilsan, E. C. Michner, William MacMaster, Major Melndoe, E. T. C. Stevens, Alfred Tucker, while the honorary bearers are J. C. Robinson, W. S. Sisson, William A. Mackies, George Good, George Taylor and J. G. Gauld.

It will be instituted in Circuit Court tomorrow by Alton Rogers, court stenographer for Circuit Judge Gantenbein and who was appointed for a four-year term a few weeks previous to the latter's retirement from the bench, to oust his successor, Roscoe F. Hunt.

Judge Gantenbein's action in appointing Rogers for a definite term, a right which is permitted, however, by the laws of the state, has occasioned some surprise because for the last three years court stenographers have not been working under definite appointments, but by stipulation between the judges that each would employ a particular man. This arrangement was entered into in 1905 while Earl C. Bronaugh was still on the bench, the object of it being to leave a judge free to dispense with the services of a reporter at any time without drawing himself into a legal entanglement.

There is a loophole in the wording of the statute of which Hunt may take advantage. It consists of the words "of the court holden by him" following the statement that a judge may appoint a court stenographer for four years. The contention probably will be that this means that a judge cannot dictate who the reporter for his successor shall be.

Woodland Lays Two to Final Rest.

WOODLAND, Wash., Jan. 7.—(Special)—Although a bright and sunny day overhead, Woodland yesterday had a sad day, as there were two funerals held. One of Mrs. Lizzie E. Allen, who had lived here many years, was held in the forenoon, and in the afternoon Ole Thompson was laid to rest. Mr. Thompson was a member of the Masonic order for over 30 years, and the funeral service was conducted by the Woodland and Kalama Masons. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Allen, who was one of the pioneers of the valley, and leaves five sons and two daughters. Both burial services were at the Kerns Cemetery.
