Votes Are Switched.

The changes were: French and Johnson, of Oneida, from Allshie to Brady; Parks and Chandler, from Beale to Brady: Elliott and Defenbach, from French to Allshie. Defenbach first voted for Judge R. N. Dunn, but before the result was announced changed to Allshie, Clark and MacBeth, Democrats, changed from Dubols to Frank Martin, of Ada.

Former Governor Brady held his old votes and gained four, placing him in the lead over Judge Allshie. Allshie both lost and gained, but at the close of the second day's joint balloting had the same total as yesterday. Brady gained two from Allshie and two from Beale, while Allshie diverted two votes from French.

Beale, while Alishie diverted two votes from French.
Defenbach furnished the sensation of the session when, at the close of the ballot, he rose and announced that he desired to change his vote from Judge Dunn to Alishie. When the voting was in progress, the Senator from Bonner had cast his vote for Judge Robert N. Dunn, thus entering another "dark horse" into the deliberations.

The Custer County delegation changed its votes from Fred Dubois to Frank Martin, while the balance of the Democratic contingent voted for John Nugent. Hamer held his own.

While the voting was in progress each change in the vote of yesterday was received with applause from the supporters of the candidate who had gained, and at the close of the balloting the president of the joint session was compelled to rap frequently to call the house to order. the seat may go over for a special order for some day next week. In event the fight assumes any proportions on the floor of the Senate, it is likely that Kiddle will arise in his seat and ask that the entire showing of ballots be called for from Union and Wallowa Counties, that the Senate may determine exactly the result of the vote.

It is understood that so far only about half of the precincts have undergone a recount. Kiddle was apparently elected and was granted a certificate. Gn a recount of a portion of the precincts showing has been made that in the difference on the count in those precincts Hodgin is leading by a vote of two.

Kiddle's friends say that this is not a true test as to the validity of his election, as the balance of the precincts might prove a showing in the opposite direction. Eiddle is a Republican and Hodgin is a Democrat. From that standpoint the fight takes on somewhat of a political aspect, inasmuch as the majority report favoring Kiddle will be filed by the two Republicans of the special committee and the minority report favoring the Democrat will be filed by the Democrat on the committee.
