

NEW YORK STRIKES

VOLUME 200,000

Efforts of Mediators Agencies to Bring Settlement Result in Nothing.

REPORTERS IN WALKOUT

Writers Demand Less Vigorous Use of Blue Pencil by Editors; and Other Reforms—Stockholders Help Get Paper Out.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Strikes in several big industries involving nearly 200,000 persons are in progress here. Efforts of various mediators forces to settle the differences between employers and those they employ so far have accomplished nothing.

Reporters and other writers of the Jewish Daily Newspaper struck today, demanding less vigorous use of the blue pencil by editors, a minimum wage scale of $25 weekly and an agreement that no reporter should be forced to write more than three columns a day. Editors in chief, city editors and even stockholders gathered and wrote the news today and the proprietors declared the edition would be issued as usual.

More than 150,000 workers are involved in the great strike in the garment-making industry, the chief among the labor troubles.

Several hundred waiters, cooks and other hotel employees have been on strike since early this month. A committee representing the International Hotel Workers' Union and the Industrial Workers of the World will decide Sunday whether to issue a strike order calling out 12,000 waiters, cooks and helpers of various classes.

Several Barnard College girls, including Miss Freda Kirchway, daughter of the dean of the Columbia Law School, have volunteered to act as strike pickets for the garment workers. It was announced tonight by a representative of the union that the rooms for the girl strikers were established by Mrs. Rose Pastor-Stokes in various parts of the city.

12,000 May Strike in Boston.

BOSTON, Jan. 17.—The garment workers of Boston in a meeting tonight drew up demands to be presented to the manufacturers with the ultimatum that unless they are granted the 12,000 workers here will strike.

CELLO PROJECT INDORSED

Oregon Society of Engineers Approves of Harnessing Columbia.

Emphatic indorsement was given the plans for power development on the Columbia River and for irrigation work on the upper Deschutes by the Oregon Society of Engineers at its regular meeting Thursday night.

After listening to an address by John H. Lewis, State Engineer, in which he told of the latent water power in Oregon, the society passed resolutions recommending that the funds necessary to investigate both these projects be passed.

L. F. Harza, who has assisted Mr. Lewis in his research work on the Columbia River, gave an interesting talk, illustrated with stereoscopic views, on the plans for harnessing the rapids at Celilo. He showed that while the undertaking seems staggering on account of its immense proportions, the possibilities of an immediate market offered by the Swedish nitrate manufacturers, who manufacture nitrate from the air, plus the fact of engineering economic as well as engineering feasibility.
