

WATERFRONT PROPERTIES MADE TO PILL

Provision for State Acquisition of Low Riverfront Property Is Opposed.

SUPPLEMENT VOICES OBJECTION

Boatbuilder Tells of Long Ownership and Hard Work, With Taxes Steadily Climbing, to Build Up Profitable Industry.

To protest against the enactment of a bill introduced before the Legislature by Senator David Kellaker, having for its object the acquisition by the state of land situated below high water mark, a number of waterfront property owners will go to Salem today to appear before a committee to which the bill has been referred to urge an adverse report.

Mr. Supple made the following statement of his views on the proposed legislation yesterday:

Defense Is Made. As I am an owner of waterfront property, I have been deeply interested in the newspaper discussion which has arisen relating to the proposed bill. I have noticed that certain active agitators have advanced the theory that the waterfront owner has no riparian rights in the water or the city should step in and seize all lands on the waterfront which lie below high water. This is not true. I have noticed that certain active agitators have advanced the theory that the waterfront owner has no riparian rights in the water or the city should step in and seize all lands on the waterfront which lie below high water. This is not true.

Property Made Productive. During all these years I have made the best use of the block my circumstances would permit. I have given the business all my time from 6 o'clock in the morning until the last man had left at night. Most of the time I have employed an average of 50 skilled mechanics, and sometimes have had over 100 in my crew. I have used materials from local mills and factories. I have built boats for Puget Sound, Alaska, Mexico, Canada and our interior Western states, besides the work I have done on river and ocean-going craft.

EUROPEAN RECORDS RECALLED. Grain Carriers Open Season With Fast Passages to Europe. Faster passages for sailing vessels between the Columbia River and Europe are looked for this season as a result of the performance of the British bark Galgate, which arrived out last week after a run of 111 days, and that of the British bark Killarney in 114 days.

As yet the record sailing time from this port is not in peril, the British ship Calthorpe having established it in 1879, when she completed her voyage in 89 days. She was loaded by 1825 tons of wheat and on leaving the harbor her master said he would make a record trip or land with David Jones. The ship was 37 days from land to San Diego and 109 days from the Columbia to San Francisco here say the time yet holds as the best from the Pacific Coast.

BOATYACAN MAY CHANGE HANDS. Californians Consider Yacht for Service on Southern Coast. Negotiations will soon be opened for the purchase of the gasoline passenger yacht Boatyacan by resident of Southern California, who contemplates operating a vessel to Northern Mexico ports during the summer season. It is planned to run from San Diego south and as there is usually quiet water there, the Boatyacan is regarded as an excellent type for the purpose.

ACTRESS IN "BEN HUR" WILL DON VEIL AT CLOSE OF ENGAGEMENT

Louise Huff, one of the principal players in Lew Wallace's mighty religious drama, "Ben Hur," has declined to wear the veil at the close of her engagement to C. F. Towle, business representative for the owners of "Ben Hur," which is to be produced at the present season at the cloisters of a convent for the remainder of her earthly existence. Miss Huff is one of the most beautiful women on the American stage today. Ever since childhood Miss Huff has had a longing for the secluded religious life, and that desire, she says, has been emphasized by the beautiful story of the Nazarene as told by General Wallace in his romance.

Miss Huff is a Roman Catholic by birth, and received her early education in the parochial schools of New York. She has triple screws, separate engines driving each.

Attorneys Are Blamed. Practitioner Says Delays Can Be Avoided. Radical Changes in Court Procedure Do Not Meet With Approval of Sam Van Vector.

Responding to the request of the Oregonian for his views on judicial revision, Sam Van Vector, of Heppner, Or., one of the leading lawyers of Eastern Oregon, declares that dilatory tactics on the part of lawyers, in which the judges participate by force of habit, constitute the chief fault of the state courts.

BOILER WITH A HOLE IS PROOF ABSOLUTE

Bell Telephone Interests Openly Accused of Backing Foreclosure Suit.

SHERMAN ACT IS CITED

Rival Concern Intended to Bid on Property of Northwestern Long-Distance Company, Declares Attorney for Receiver.

Where before there was merely strong suspicion, Attorney Jay Bowerman, who returned yesterday from California, says that he has now absolute proof that Bell Telephone interests are back of the foreclosure suit against the Northwestern Long Distance Telephone Company and intended to bid for the property when it was offered for sale.

This testimony, Mr. Bowerman said, came from H. D. Pillsbury, of San Francisco, general attorney on the coast for the Associated Bell Companies; G. J. Petty, assistant secretary and treasurer for the Bell Companies of the Pacific states; and J. Friedman, vice president of the Anglo London Paris National Bank, of San Francisco, who, Mr. Bowerman declares, admitted that he handled $500,000 of the Northwestern Long Distance Telephone Company.

Depositions Are Taken. Mr. Bowerman's trip to California was for the purpose of securing depositions to be used in defending the foreclosure suit brought by the Northwestern Long Distance Telephone Company against the Northwestern Long Distance Telephone Company.

Conspiracy Not Charged. While I would not say that Mead, Willis, et al, conspired with the Bell people to make the Northwestern Long Distance Telephone Company easy prey, still the way they juggled the finances of the Northwestern company, which they controlled, might be charged as suspicious.

FRANCHISE FIGHT WAGED. Efforts to Compel Laying of Third Rail on Seventh Street Fail.

Efforts to compel the laying of rails of such length as to accommodate a standard gauge car proved unsuccessful in the City Council yesterday morning, when the franchise for the proposed Heusser road, contemplated to be laid along Seventh street.

Councilman Baker led the fight against this plan. He declared that the property owners along Seventh street do not want "a big interurban line, with lumbering cars running by" on that thoroughfare, and said he did not believe the people will grant a franchise for such.

CAR SERVICE PROTESTED. Complaint of Councilman on New Schedule Without Effect. Councilman Schmeer, of the Eighth Ward, and two other men were present to protest against the alternate-street stop in vigor on the Sunnyside and Mount Tabor streetcar lines.

determine its exact status, but that they had received many pleasing comments on the alternate-street stop plan. Mr. Schmeer complained that some people had to walk a block up hill, to which they objected, while he himself one time could not get the conductor to stop a car at the Schmeer crossing on East Morrison street, for him to alight, and he had to walk back a block. One man said he objected to the system because he runs a store and the outboard cars do not stop at his street crossing.

As a matter of fact, it is said that the vast majority of the people on the line are in favor of the new system, as it saves time and trouble. The company is proceeding to put it into effect on the Sandy boulevard line and the Hawthorne-avenue and Mount Scott lines in response to petitions, as was done in the case of the Sunnyside and Mount Tabor lines.

SNOW'S GOING IS RELIEF

Cold/Snap Taxes Charitable Organization as Need Is Felt.

The departure of the snow is something that has been hoped for by several days by the various charitable organizations of the city, for while the storm has been upon the city work has been down in so many places that hundreds of persons were thrown upon their hands asking for assistance.

The Associated Charities has been handling the most urgent cases as best it could and in the past few days fuel, foodstuffs and clothing have been distributed among many families. Work has been created where it has been possible, but even with all efforts that could be made there have not been jobs sufficient to supply the men who are out of work and at every house in the city where loads of wood were delivered yesterday there would be from three to a dozen applicants for the job of putting it into the basement.

Shoes are especially needed at the Associated Charities at this time. Many of the families that have been visited by the representatives of the organization have several children whose footwear is entirely inadequate at this time of dampness and cold. Food and fuel are also much needed, for there are many cases where families are destitute and have not even the means for keeping their shacks warm.

I doctored but three doctors but they did me no good. They said nature must have its way. My sister advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I purchased a bottle.
