

NO SHERIFF COMES AS PRISONER WAITS

Man Said to Be Wanted in Heppner, Or., Held 11 Days in San Francisco.

POLICE RULES VIOLATED

Six Days of Incarceration Spent "in Detention"—Detective Says Oregon Sheriff Telegraphed That Deputy Was on Way.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 26.—(Special.)—What has become of the Deputy Sheriff from Heppner, Or., who was thought to be on his way here to take charge of Fred Baker? is a question that is causing uneasiness around police headquarters, where Baker, who is 50 years old, and is alleged to be a fugitive from justice, has occupied a cell for 11 days. Detective Frank McGowan, who arrested Baker, declared today that, aside from a telegram asking for the man's apprehension, he had no knowledge of any crime the prisoner may have committed. The telegram asking for the arrest was sent to Chief of Police Gus White by Sheriff Davis, of Morrow County, Oregon.

An unusual feature of the incarceration of Baker, who also was said to be known as Aschenbrenner, lies in the fact that he was booked "in detention" for six days following his arrest, in violation of an order issued from the Chief's office within the past two months forbidding the holding of prisoners without a charge, except in cases of absolute necessity.

Man "Unbooked" Six Days.
From January 14 to January 20, Baker, who has no initials, friends, home, remained "unbooked," while the police sought to prove the identity he denies. The message from Oregon asking for the arrest of "Fred Baker," contained a meager description, and the information that the man's picture was a certain number in the rogues' gallery at Walla Walla. McGowan was detailed to the case. He came upon Baker at Turk and Taylor streets, but the prisoner denied the name, saying that he was Fred Becker, and was not wanted anywhere.

McGowan then walked with the man to police headquarters. In the corridor Baker suddenly broke away and ran, but was recaptured after a short chase down Kearney street by pursuing detectives. Then he went to the detention court. Finally, McGowan secured a photograph from Walla Walla, which looks like Becker. The prisoner still denied being the man wanted, and McGowan has received no word from the Chief as to what to do with him.

Oregon Sheriff Notified.
McGowan's detective report failed even to stir a ripple in the Chief's office, and finally the detective decided to book his prisoner. This he did on January 20, and notified Sheriff Davis of the capture, he declared tonight.

According to McGowan and his ranking officers, the Sheriff at Heppner telegraphed next day that a man was on his way here to take Baker. No one has seen a warrant for the man's arrest. No one appears to know what crime he has committed. Uneasiness at headquarters has grown daily, because no one knows what redress Baker will seek should he finally be turned loose because no one wants to claim him.

ALLIES PREPARING NOTE

Montenegro, and Dr. M. R. Vemitch, Serbian Minister to France, with the addition of M. Politis, of the Greek delegation, owing to his knowledge of French and his thorough acquaintance with international law.

General lines were laid down on the note to be drafted, comprising the arguments set forth many times as to why the league demands the surrender of Adrianople and the Aegean Islands as an indispensable condition to the conclusion of peace.

Allies Openly Seeking Time

That the policy of the allies is to gain time is patent and does not deceive anybody. The delegates decided that the advantages to be derived from the resumption of hostilities would be in proportion to the risks they ran, and that they would not take that step unless absolutely forced to do so. It is realized that even a partial reverse would have grave moral and material consequences, apart from the loss of thousands of men.

In addition, the fact is not overlooked that there is danger that Roumania will advance from the rear and Montenegro her conditions, for remaining neutral. The only disadvantage in delaying decisive action is in keeping large armies inactive and on a war footing for a long time, thus heavily taxing both the financial and agricultural resources of the country.

BEAUTY TO MARCH

Suffrage Calls Its Attractive
Women to Colors.

SLANDER TO BE NAILED

Ocular Demonstration Planned to Convince Scoffers That Desire for Ballot Is Compatible With Punctiliousness.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—(Special.)—

Suffragists who are enthusiastic over the proposed march "on to Washington," and who are alive to every opportunity to give favorable publicity to the cause of women, are planning a sort of "beauty contest" as a feature not only of the march from New York, but of the gathering in Washington that is to precede the inauguration of President Wilson.

Suffragists are alive to the circumstances that they have been accused to give favorable publicity to the physical charms of feminine punctiliousness. They are not disposed to rest content with words alone in denying the imputation. They will not admit they are vain as for themselves—and the proponents of the beauty contest, it is declared, will by no means consent to enter into the competition. Nevertheless they propose to show that there are beautiful women who want the ballot, not being content with mere beauty alone. Also, of course, the converse will be shown—that there are suffragists who possess, in addition to earnest spirit and strong desire to vote, the charms that are supposed to entice women to the former lords and masters of the earth.

First to be entered by her friends in the "beauty contest" is Miss Inez Milholland, New York suffragist, who has been proud of Miss Milholland's beauty, which has won them—and her—a great many additional press notices. Miss Milholland has what are termed "strong" features, but she possesses "fire" and the look of exceptional intellectuality. Men reporters, who are critical about those things, have been unflinching in declaring that she is really beautiful. It has been said that mere photographs do not do her full justice; that her personality adds greatly to her charm, and that face to face she seems far more beautiful than the reproduction by the camera.

The National Capital will present Miss Gladys Hinkley as its candidate. Her beauty is of the Greek type, and since her father, Robert Hinkley, is a famous portrait painter, she has learned how to display that beauty to the best advantage. Her entry into the contest insures interest.

Other cities and villages have been urged to send their prettiest suffragists, as well as the others, to take part in the great parade in Washington July 3.

WEST COAST IS PEACEFUL

Railroad Man Writes of Conditions in Mexico.

AURORA, Or., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—G. C. White, assistant general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific Railroad of Mexico, in a letter to an Aurora business man, says concerning the Sonora district:

"While revolutionary disorders still prevail in some parts of Mexico, we are pleased to state that conditions have been quiet on the west coast for the last four or five months, and we see nothing in the situation at present to warrant any undue apprehension as to a return of the troubles."

Paul Siebert, the Aurora powder inventor, expects to leave for the west coast of Mexico in a short time for a trip of investigation along the entire coast country. He may decide to locate there permanently, if he finds conditions satisfactory.

SHEPARD ATTEND CHURCH

After Services Members of Congregation Greet Newlyweds.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. Finley J. Shepard attended service this morning in Irvington Presbyterian Church and heard Rev. Daniel Russell, D. D., who married them, preach a sermon.

After service the congregation gathered around Mr. and Mrs. Shepard and showered them with good wishes. It was the first opportunity the people of the church have had of meeting Mr. and Mrs. Shepard, none of them having been invited to the wedding. A short hour was enjoyed, after which Mr. and Mrs. Shepard returned to Lyndhurst.

They walked to and from the church. Mrs. Shepard wore a dark blue broad cloth suit, with a small hat to match.

FERRIES COLLIDE IN BAY

Hulls Found Intact After Two Vessels Meet Head-On.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 26.—Flowing along at half speed this morning through the dense black "tule" fog that veiled San Francisco Bay, two Southern Pacific ferry steamers, the Bay City and the Melrose, collided head on off Goat Island and narrowly escaped going to the bottom.

More than 100 passengers and members of the crews were aboard the two vessels. The force of the impact carried away large sections of the upper framework of both ferries and sent them careening. When they righted and backed away it was found both had lost their forward rudders and parts of the superstructure, although the hulls were intact.

With the object of making New York City a better place to live in 200 college graduates living in the city have banded themselves together to take an active part in the civic, moral and physical reform movements which are instituted by the various reform associations and political parties.

Avoid dangers of cold floors!

The world's leading public-health official writes that most of the colds, coughs, neuralgia and rheumatism are due to rooms equipped with old-fashioned heating, where on windy days there is often found a difference of ten degrees between the air at the floor level as compared with the mid-center or breathing plane of the room. This temperature difference along the floor level chills the feet and legs, producing faulty circulation—the work of the heart is thus "short-circuited" and one's vitality is severely taxed.

AMERICAN & IDEAL RADIATORS & BOILERS

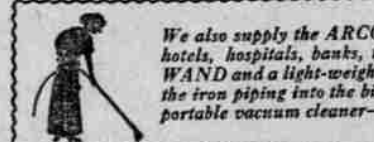

ing by IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators there are no cold floors, drafts and chill spots and the air is not robbed of its purity and vitality by escaping ash-dust and coal-gases.

Look at the official health maps of any big city, which will show you how free from deaths due to neuralgia, rheumatism, pneumonia, coughs and consumption are those districts where practically all the best homes are warmed and ventilated by IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators.

The Indian huddled over his campfire is one of the worst victims of pneumonia, rheumatism, consumption and other winter maladies. So, too, the farmers (according to Government Statistics), with their old-fashioned heating, show a far bigger death rate than do city people from the ravages of these winter diseases.

IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators are used to warm and ventilate the leading hotels, sanitariums and baths at Aix-les-Bains, Nice, Mentone, The Riviera, Carlsbad, Marienbad, Cairo, Simla, Japan, Florida, Southern California, etc. These facts should point the right heating way to you!

IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators are now put in old or new cottages, mansions, stores, schools, churches, etc. without disturbing occupants or tearing up floors or partitions. Need no repairs. Will outwear the building. Their big savings in fuel, labor and absence of repairs soon repay their cost. Write, phone or call to-day for free book, "Ideal Heating."

We also supply the ARCO WAND Vacuum Cleaner, which has iron suction pipes running to various floors of houses, flats, schools, churches, hotels, hospitals, banks, theaters, etc. A turn of an electric button in any room starts the machine in basement, and with the magical ARCO WAND and a light-weight dainty hose ALL the dirt, dust, cobwebs, lint, threads, moths, insect eggs, etc., are drawn with lightning rapidity down the iron piping into the big, sealed dust-bucket in cellar. Costs little monthly for electricity to run. No dragging around a clumsy, inefficient portable vacuum cleaner—instead, you have a correct, enduring outfit that is part of the building—like radiator heating. Ask for catalog.

DE HAVEN IS DEAD

Federal Judge Does Not Recover From Illness.

CAREER WAS ACTIVE ONE

Pioneer California Lawyer and Statesman, Jurist and ex-Member of Congress, Succumbs to Cerebral Hemorrhage.

NAPA, CAL., Jan. 26.—John J. DeHaven,

Judge of the United States District Court and a pioneer California lawyer and statesman, died today at his country home in Yountville, after a two days' illness. He was stricken on Friday by cerebral hemorrhage, and no hope was held out for his recovery.

Judge DeHaven was born in St. Joseph, Mo., in 1845, but came to California four years later with his parents, and after attaining his majority, was an active force in the upbuilding of the state. He served successfully as District Attorney of Humboldt County, member of the Assembly in the State Legislature, City Attorney of Eureka and Judge of the Superior Court.

He was a member of the Fifty-first Congress (1885-91), resigning to become an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of California, a post he held for four years. In June, 1897, he was appointed United States District Judge for the Northern District of California, where he served until he died.

JUDGE STRICT ON BENCH

Disagreement With Hency in Land-
Fraud Cases Recalled in Portland.

Judge DeHaven presided at the land fraud cases in Portland during the death of Judge Dellinger in 1905. Owing to a disagreement with Francis J. Hency, the Federal prosecutor, he retired from the cases after sitting only a few months.

Judge DeHaven was one of the old type of jurists. Lawyers described him as a man of a strictly judicial mind. He was entirely out of sympathy, they say, with methods that have brought court procedures into greater disfavor in recent years. He insisted upon the strictest discipline, whenever he was trying a case. For that reason some lawyers did not like him. He was a hard worker. His nature prompted him to seek the exact truth in every instance. He always was severe in his interpretation of the law. He was a large man physically, and those who knew him best are pleased to refer to his kindly nature and his lovable disposition.

Judge DeHaven leaves one son, Joseph L. DeHaven, and one daughter, Miss Sadie DeHaven, both of San Francisco.

NAGEL WANTS CLEAR EYES

Secretary Belittles Educational Test in Immigration.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—The spirit and not the strict letter of the immigration law should be obeyed, Secretary Nagel, of the Department of Commerce and Labor, said to members of the American Association of Foreign Language Newspapers at their dinner here tonight. The Secretary attended as a representative of President Taft, who sent a letter of regret.

"I always have stood for certain things concerning immigrants coming to this country," Secretary Nagel said. "I believe that in regard to them as well as everyone the spirit and not the strict letter of the law should be obeyed, for to obey the letter of the law would be injurious and a hardship in many cases. I must say that I do not agree fully in regard to the certificate clause in the immigration law, for it might be hard to get honest certificates and then again the Government's agents might refuse to issue them. Regarding the education of these people, give me the clear eyes and the sturdy limbs. People with those will work and work hard, do the work that our native sons refuse to do, and they will become educated, too. Their children will learn the only language open to them and through them their grandfathers and fathers will learn it."
