

ANGRY WOMEN LAY WASTE IN LONDON

Window Smashing Campaign Renewed.

MOVE MADE ON PARLIAMENT

Liquid Poured in Mail Boxes, Stores Attacked.

POLICE DOUBLY BESET

Protection Given Against Roughs Who Try to Duck Suffragettes in Trafalgar Square Fountain, but Fail.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—As a protest against the withdrawal of the franchise bill by the government, the suffragettes resumed their militant tactics tonight. While a deputation, which the Chancellor of the Exchequer, David Lloyd-George, had refused to see until tomorrow morning, was trying to force its way into Parliament against an overwhelming force of police and the members were being pinched under arrest for resisting the officers, other bands of women went through Whitehall breaking windows of the government offices and through Cockspur street, where the great plate glass windows in the establishments of shipping companies were smashed ruthlessly.

The women also visited Oxford, Regent and other streets in the shopping district, where similar damage was done. Later, mail boxes were attacked, quantities of liquid being poured into them.

Suburban Property Damaged.

In the outlying suburbs, too, the suffragettes by damaging property took steps to bring the cause before the public. Twenty-one women were arrested in the vicinity of the Parliament building, but were allowed out on bail after the House rose. Most of the police stations had one or more prisoners charged with destroying property.

The demonstration in Whitehall was not so large as some of those previously held, the force of police and a drenching rain militating against any great turnout. The wildest excitement prevailed, however, and besides protecting property and arresting women engaged in window-smashing or who refused to move on when ordered, the police had the greatest difficulty in protecting the women from an unruly crowd of youths who hustled every woman wearing the suffragette colors.

Women Roughly Handled.

In several cases the women were roughly handled. An attempt to duck four of them in the fountain in Trafalgar Square was frustrated by a police posse which had to ride through the crowd.

The entire deputation of 21 women who attempted to make their way into the House of Commons to interview Chancellor Lloyd-George was arrested. The police included Mrs. Drummond and Sylvia Pankhurst, who marched in front. Before starting on their mission, the delegates listened to addresses by Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst and other leaders.

Mrs. Pankhurst said the withdrawal of the franchise bill, including the Speaker's ruling, was a plot decided on long ago, and that Premier Asquith was aware of it.

"The answer to this treachery," she declared, "is militancy."

Police Give Safe Escort.

Sylvia Pankhurst declared their intention was to hold the Speaker in the chair and leave Mr. Asquith on the bench, and with this the deputation started. The police gave them safe escort as far as the entrance of Parliament, where an inspector informed them that the Chancellor of the Exchequer would be unable to see them until morning. Mrs. Drummond retorted: "This is tomfoolery. If you do not let us in, there will be trouble."

At that the members of the deputation threw themselves at the police, who stood six deep across the entrance, and a scramble followed in which Mrs. Drummond and another woman were either thrown or fell to the ground. The police gave the women several chances to withdraw quietly, but as they refused all were arrested. The crowd showed little sympathy for the suffragettes. The authorities, it is understood, contemplate arresting the leaders for inciting their followers to break the laws.

Miss Pankhurst Suspected.

Christabel Pankhurst, who is often referred to as the brains of the organization, is believed to be in London directing the demonstrations. She is known to have left Paris, where she has been living since a warrant for her arrest was issued at the time her mother, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, and Mrs. Pethick Lawrence were convicted, and all trace of her is lost.

The damage to property tonight would have been much greater had not shopkeepers taken the precaution to board up their windows.

Today is Carnation Day.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Tomorrow is "McKinley day," when in Washington and in many of the states carnations will be worn in honor of the former President. The carnation was President McKinley's favorite flower, and since his death it has been worn each year as a tribute to his memory.

ELECTORAL VOTE OF ARIZONA IS FOUND

RELATED MESSENGER APPEARS AT NATIONAL CAPITAL.

Webb's Excuse Is Deemed Sufficient and Carrier Sighs With Relief as $642 Mileage Is Paid.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Wilfred T. Webb, Arizona's electoral vote messenger, for whom Senators Ashurst and Smith have been searching for two days, delivered the official vote of the state to the Vice-President's office late today. Although he was a day late, the excuse Mr. Webb offered for his tardiness was considered sufficient to entitle him to the mileage of $642.75 and to entitle the state to its vote.

Mr. Webb said he reached New York early today. At breakfast he picked up a newspaper and read with surprise that the Senators were searching the country for him. He immediately telegraphed to Senator Ashurst and took the next train for Washington.

"I didn't know anything about the law," said Webb, who is an unburdened rancher, "so I got a lawyer friend to draw me up a set of instructions. He told me I had to deliver the vote to Washington February 1, and so I have been taking my time to get here. It spoiled my appetite for breakfast though, when I saw how badly I was wanted this morning."

Mr. Webb was escorted by newspaper men when he went to draw his money, but no objection was raised at the disbursement office and he breathed a sigh of relief. The votes are now in the hands of the Senate and ready to be canvassed at the joint session of the Senate and House February 2.

FRIGHT CAUSE OF DEATH

Saloonkeeper Drops Dead to Floor When Shot Which Misses Is Fired.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 28.—"Frightened to death," was the verdict today in the death of William Youngquist, a saloonkeeper, who died last night while his son-in-law, Henry Koepelin, and Charles Showman were attempting to get into the place.

The two men, it is said, ordered Youngquist to let them in so they could clean up the place. When Youngquist refused, a gun was fired. Youngquist fell to the floor, dead, although the bullet did not touch him.

When Mrs. Youngquist screamed, the men ran away. Koepelin and Showman are being held pending an investigation. The trouble is said to be the result of Koepelin's arrest recently for failure to pay alimony to a divorced wife.

BALLOON HITS MOUNTAIN

Aeronaut Collides With Pinnacle of Peak but Escapes Injured.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 28.—Tom McLain, a well-known local aviator, today conducted his remarkable escape from a balloon which hit the pinnacle of Mount Wilson, 5000 feet, up and sent him sprawling on the rocks just below the crest of the mountain.

McLain was assisting in taking panoramic photographs from a captive balloon. While adjustments were being made preliminary to an ascent, the made slipped and the balloon leaped upward with McLain dangling in the web. The bag struck the side of Mount Wilson 20 feet below its crest, the impact extricating McLain from the ropes that entangled him. The balloon has not been found.

O'GORMAN FOR FREE TOLLS

Declaration by Wilson's Friend Regarded as Significant.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—In view of the friendship between President-elect Wilson and Senator O'Gorman, of New York, some significance is being attached to the Senator's statement today when asked whether the incoming Administration would recommend a repeal of the free tolls provision of the Panama act.

"It seems to me," said Senator O'Gorman, "that Democrats who favor a repeal of the free tolls provision must wait for the declaration of another National convention. The last National convention adopted unanimously a declaration in favor of free tolls. That is Democratic doctrine and I think it will stand for four years."

GROWTH EXCEEDS CUTTING

Foresters' Convention Reports Show Amount of Timber Increases.

DENVER, Jan. 28.—It was developed by figures reported today at the annual convention of United States Foresters, District 2, that the timber in national forests is growing faster than it is being sold. It is the aim of the forestry service to dispose each year of an amount of timber equal to that of the new timber grown during the year, but this has not been done.

The foresters discussed plans for advertising the national timber and making it more easily accessible.

DEMOCRATS DIFFER AS TO PHILIPPINES

Taft Finds Warm Defender in House.

MURRAY RESENTS "SLANDER"

Sherley Takes Issue With Independence Ideas.

JONES IS CALLED UNJUST

Virginian, Attacking Island Government, Develops Fact That Members of Own Party Are Not in Accord.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Division that exists within Democratic ranks over granting independence to the Philippines was emphasized in the House today when American administration in the island was made the subject of a severe attack by Representative Jones, of Virginia, chairman of the House committee on insular affairs.

Representative Jones' suggestions for Philippine independence, which have been considered favorably by President-elect Wilson, were opposed by Representative Sherley (Democrat), of Kentucky, while criticisms of President Taft and Governor-General Cameron Forbes brought a sharp reply from Representative Murray, Dem., of Massachusetts.

The speech of Mr. Jones was both a demand for independence and a severe arraignment of American administration in the islands.

Murray Charges "Slander."

Representative Murray charges him with having "slandered Cameron Forbes" and "defamed President Taft."

Mr. Jones denied these charges, but insisted the administration of the islands had violated at least the spirit of the laws governing the Philippines.

The dispute brought out the fact that an investigation of Philippine affairs recently had been discussed by the House committee on insular affairs, but no action was taken.

Representative Murray, a member of the committee, declared that had he known Chairman Jones intended to "charge Governor Forbes with being a grafter," he would have insisted on having Governor Forbes brought before the committee, where he could reply to the attacks.

Speech "Unutterably Unjust."

"I have not charged Governor Forbes with being a grafter," retorted Mr. Jones.

HANDLE OUR APPLES, GROWERS DEMAND

WATSONVILLE WANTS PREFERENCE OVER OREGON.

Commission Men's Reply to Threat to Establish Depots Is: "Let Them Come On."

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—(Special.) "Handle our apples or we will sell at retail ourselves," is the demand to be made on the San Francisco commission men by the Watsonville Applegrowers' Association.

With this ultimatum goes the announcement that if the commission men do not act, apple depots will be opened in many sections of San Francisco and Oakland.

A delegation from Watsonville is arriving in detachments. Some of the men came in last night. Some are starting from their homes today.

Among the leaders are C. H. Baker and James Sheehy, sometimes called the "apple kings." The Watsonville men will insist on the sale of their apples, even to the exclusion of the Oregon product. A conference with the wholesale Fruit and Produce Association, or with the individual dealers, is expected tomorrow.

The total pack of the state in 1912 is placed by A. Levy, of the A. Levy & J. Zentner Company, at 1,530,000 boxes, and there still remain in cold storage in San Francisco 500,000 boxes. Stocks in other cities of the state, including Watsonville, are placed at 600,000 boxes. The Watsonville stock, according to Levy, is about 180,000 boxes.

All of these apples must be sold before the cherry and apricot seasons begin. The day these fruits come in there is a slump in apples.

If the season is late this year the apple crop may be cleaned up, but if it is early, there will be some stock left, a loss.

The attitude of the commission men is: "Let them come on. We do not care. We will sell any kind of apples, Oregon or Watsonville."

FIGHT RENEWED ON TAFT NOMINATIONS

Democrats Conduct Open Filibuster.

REPRISALS ARE THREATENED

Republicans to Even Score When Wilson Names Men.

BAD FAITH IS CHARGED

John Sharp Williams Consumes Time With Description of Danger to American Army From Mexican Aeroplanes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The fight over President Taft's appointments was on in earnest today in the Senate and for six hours Republicans and Democrats battled behind closed doors, the former demanding action on the nominations and the latter filibustering to prevent it.

When adjournment came tonight it was expected that the fight would be renewed tomorrow, unless Republican leaders should decide to rest upon the record made today, which extended Democratic Senators consistently refused to take up the nominations in regular order and professed themselves willing to take the blame for the delay in action on the 1400 or more pending appointments.

Retaliation Is Threatened.

As a result of the development of the filibuster, intimations were given tonight by Republican Senators that the fight undoubtedly would extend into President-elect Wilson's Administration and be reflected in the Senator's action on many of his appointments.

Republicans remained in the Senate chamber throughout the day, sending the sergeant-at-arms after missing Democrats when the latter attempted to break a quorum.

Preparations were made for a night session, but early it was determined to adjourn and decide tomorrow whether the contest should continue.

The Republican caucus presented a solid front to insist upon confirmations. Senators Dixon and Poindexter, who have joined the Progressive party, were not there, but other Republicans, classified as Progressives, were present and apparently in accord with the plan of the caucus, which held that each case must stand on its merits. It was decided to revoke the agreement to proceed first with Army and Navy appointments, the Republicans holding that the Democrats had not shown mature years.

RICH YOUTH'S LIABILITY $1

L. B. Holbrook With $20,000 Inheritance Unable to Pay $74 Bill.

With a fortune in five figures which will not be his until he is 35 years old, and an allowance meanwhile of $1 a week for pocket money, L. B. Holbrook, 19 years old, a student at a Portland military school, faced supplemental proceedings in Justice Jones' court yesterday to explain why he had not paid a judgment for $74 in favor of Dr. William S. Knox. On the showing that the youth had never more than $1 at a time, the court was forced to discharge him.

Over a year ago Holbrook went to Dr. Knox and received medical services. When sued for the bill he had received, but actually damaged by the physician's services. Judgment was given against him, but he was found execution-proof.

It was brought out yesterday that the executor of the estate is in Nebraska, where the property is said to be worth $20,000 or $30,000. All the boy's expenses are paid, through a Portland attorney, but he is allowed only pocket money until he arrives at mature years.

HOBOES RUN AFOUL OF VAGRANCY LAWS

FREIGHT TRAINS BELATED; CONVENTION IS POSTPONED.

Southern Police Stop Delegates En Route to New Orleans—Leaders Try in Vain to Rent Hall.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 28.—Belated freight trains and enforcement of vagrancy laws in the Southern states combined to postpone the first session of the annual National hobo convention scheduled for tonight. Police authorities of Mississippi, Alabama, Arkansas and other nearby states are interrupting the itinerary of many of the delegates, according to Jefferson Davis, president of the "Casual, Unskilled and Migratory Workers of America."

Seventy-five of the "workers" are in the New Orleans house of detention on vagrancy charges and Chief of Police Reynolds has announced that every man under arrest must give a good account of himself or remain in prison until after Mardi Gras.

James Eads Howe, of St. Louis, so-called "millionaire hobo," and President Davis have made unsuccessful efforts to rent a hall for the convention and they hope to convene tomorrow.

TRAIN KILLS HARVEY BLAKE

Portland Man Walking Near Vancouver, Harled From Tracks.

Harvey Blake, 67 years old, a retired business man, living at 436 East Eleventh street North, was fatally hurt yesterday afternoon when he stepped in front of a Great Northern train a few miles outside of Vancouver, Wash., and was thrown off the track. He was brought to Good Samaritan Hospital last night, and died shortly after arriving. His skull was fractured and internal injuries had been inflicted.

With his brother, George S. Blake, of 274 East Eleventh street, North, Mr. Blake was walking along the Great Northern track into Vancouver, after looking at farm land out near Clark County. As the train came up from behind the two stepped opposite ways. Harvey Blake directly into the path of the engine. He was struck by the pilot and thrown off the track.

The train, which was in charge of Conductor J. P. Broderick and Engineer Thomas Bosley, stopped at once. Mr. Blake, conscious, was placed in the baggage car and brought to Portland and hurried to a hospital. He complained of slight pains in his side, but did not think he was seriously hurt.

Mr. Blake leaves a brother, George, a son, Rufe, and a daughter, Mrs. James Hart, of New Meadows, Idaho, besides his widow.

IMPETUS GIVEN TO PROPOSED BIG SPAN

Interstate Bridge Needed, Say Legislators.

EARLY REALITY IS PREDICTED

Joint Oregon-Washington Delegation Agree on Action.

WARM SUPPORT PROMISED

Senator Nichols, of Olympia Committee, Declares Project Greatest Yet Brought Up—Favorable Report Is Indicated.

RESULTS OF CONFERENCES ON COLUMBIA INTERSTATE BRIDGE.

Senators and Representatives of both Washington and Oregon present at the conferences declare themselves in favor of the bridge and pledge their support of measures to carry it to successful completion.

Announcement follows a secret meeting of legislators of both states that arrangement has been made which, they believe, will make possible the success of the movement for the interstate bridge.

Plans for a bill making possible the issuance of county bonds by Multnomah County suggested, as a method for Oregon to carry out its share in the work. Washington announces probably an effort to secure a straight appropriation for the bridge.

Washington favors interstate commission of six to have full charge of the project after it is launched.

"This highway bridge across the Columbia River between Oregon and Washington I consider to be the most necessary of the great highway projects that have been proposed to us this year," was the sentiment expressed by Senator Ralph Nichols, of the dinner at the Commercial Club last night, which closed the day of activity of the joint representatives of Oregon and Washington in investigating the plans for the Columbia River interstate bridge at Vancouver.

In extending the welcome of the Portland Commercial Club and the City of Portland to the visiting delegation, President Piper voiced the same idea when he said:

"The Portland Commercial Club, through me, desires to tell you that it considers the interstate bridge across the Columbia River the greatest of all recent projects for the upbuilding of the Northwest."

Addresses Indicate Success.

Every Representative and Senator, either from the Oregon or the Washington delegations to the meeting, spoke in a similar vein and the keynote of each address was the prophecy that the Columbia interstate bridge is to become a reality.

"I have in my hand," said Representative J. H. Nolta, of Multnomah County, displaying a paper which he had brought with him from the committee-room where the two legislative committees had held a secret session just before the dinner was announced, "the handwriting that means the success of our efforts to build this bridge, the contract of our joint committee and the agreement at which we have finally arrived regarding our future work for the bridge."

Senator Nichols, in his speech, had urged the need of concurrent control of funds both for the construction and operation of the bridge, and not only in the bridge matter alone, but in all matters that deal with the future development of the Columbia River and the industries that depend upon it. He declared that the Columbia River is held jointly in trust by the states of Oregon and Washington and that these states owe it to future generations, as custodians of the stream, to develop and improve it to the utmost.

Nichols Promises Support.

"I am in favor of all this," he said in concluding, "and will support it to the best of my ability."

Frank B. Riley, chairman of the state bridge committee, designated the afternoon's conference as "what the ladies would call an afternoon of bridge," it has for its ultimate prize great bridge which will be for the good of the Northwest—and it is a game in which both states can play and neither can lose."

Senator L. D. McArdle, of Port Townsend, and Senator E. L. French, of Clark County, Washington, both declared in their addresses that they believed the success of the bridge plan to be a matter of but a short time.

"Should we not succeed this year in our enterprise," declared the latter speaker, "I serve notice on the entire delegation at Olympia, that they will never get rid of us until we do get that bridge."

"Every hotel man in Washington, and they number more than 1000, is a booster for this project, and we are going to try in every way possible to land the Washington appropriation for the interstate bridge," said Representative H. E. Kenney, of Seattle.

Cleeton Makes Suggestion.

County Judge Cleeton urged that the legislators who are working for the bridge in Oregon, draw up their bill
