

WILSON CAREFUL TO AVOID TELLING

Governor Enjoys Efforts of Correspondents to Find How Cabinet Stands.

ACCEPTANCES DUE FIRST

Both Practical Men and Those Not in Politics Under Consideration, and College Presidents Do Not Loom Large.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 30.—President-elect Wilson permitted himself to be questioned at great length by the correspondents today about the makeup of his Cabinet and seemingly enjoyed the efforts that were made to secure information from him. The Governor, however, carefully avoided any disclosure, asked whether any names other than that of William Jennings Bryan had been suggested for the Secretaryship of State, Mr. Wilson said: "About a half dozen."

To the inquiry as to who these men might be, Mr. Wilson refused to be questioned, but added that he could not recall offhand, because some of these individuals were grouped under lists of names suggested for other portfolios as well.

College Presidents Not Preferred. One of the correspondents asked Mr. Wilson if he intended to appoint to his Cabinet men of practical experience in public affairs or professional men who had not been in politics.

"Both sorts are under consideration," he answered, and then added with a laugh, "but I am certainly not going to make up my Cabinet of college presidents."

The Governor said he had decided to follow the usual course and get acceptances before he would make public the acceptances as they came to him.

"No," he replied, "because I'm really trying to make up a team."

He intimated that a possible declination of a single portfolio might make it necessary to redistribute the entire Cabinet.

New Jersey Business Leads. Except for the visit of Representative Carter Glass, chairman of the House subcommittee on banking and currency, the Governor devoted the day to New Jersey business.

Mr. Glass gave Mr. Wilson an account of the progress of the public hearings before the banking and currency committee.

"Mr. Glass pleased me," said the Governor, "by telling me that the attitude of the big bankers who appeared before the committee was an attitude of friendly co-operation."

While talking about banking reforms the President-elect remarked casually: "When I said in my speech at Chicago that the banking system of this country stood on a tripod, I thought I was saying what everybody had said before. Some times one's commonplaces startle the country."

Mr. Glass declared after his conference with the Governor that the new monetary bills would be ready for introduction at the extra session of Congress. He added that he did not know yet when the hearings would close, but he had arranged today for Sir Edmund Walker, head of the Bank of Montreal, to appear before the committee on March 12.

Patronage Not Promised. Reports of the organization of the Illinois State with the election of a Speaker interested President-elect Wilson greatly today.

With respect to the contest for the United States Senate, he was told that dispatches from Illinois said that Charles Boieschenstein, Democratic candidate, might be chosen instead of J. Hamilton Lewis, who was the Democratic primary choice.

"They can't back out on the primary choice," commented Mr. Wilson. One of the correspondents inquired about the report that recognition by minority patronage had been promised to Progressives, who held the balance of power in the Illinois Legislature, if they supported Democrats for United States Senate.

"I have made absolutely no promise of patronage to anybody," answered Mr. Wilson.

fight throughout the day, Senator Borah said President Taft had not used the power of his office for his own re-election in 1912 to any greater extent than President Roosevelt had used it in 1908 for the election of Mr. Taft.

"President Roosevelt wanted Mr. Taft nominated because he believed Taft would carry out the principles to which the Roosevelt Administration was devoted," said Senator Borah. "A President who would not use every effort to perpetuate his policies would not be worth his salt."

Senator Hitchcock asked if it were not "generally believed" that Roosevelt favored President Taft's nomination in 1908, so that he might be a candidate in 1912 himself.

Borah replied to Hitchcock: "I know the Senator himself does not entertain such a thought," retorted Senator Borah, "so I feel free to say that such an idea is the product of a diseased mind."

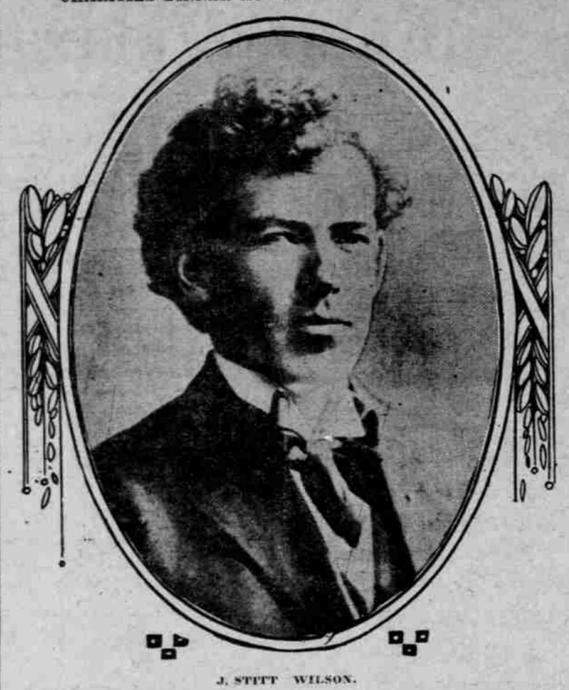

Senator Dixon's charge that single six-year terms were desired chiefly by ambitious aspirants for the Presidency and the declaration of Senators Bristow and Poindeexter that this proposed limitation would be destructive of American principles of government made up the burden of the Progressive fight against the resolution.

Senator Bristow declared the people should be free to choose their own President and to re-elect a President when they believed it wise. He declared the Constitution should include a recall provision, so that when Congress is overthrown because an Administration is not satisfactory, the people also could recall the President and establish a new Administration throughout.

Underwood Says Also That Harness Is Getting Too Much Protection. Audubon Society Wants to Bar Aligarettes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Democratic leaders in the House expressed the view tonight that there would be no difficulty in getting the ways and means committee tariff revision plan through the House at the coming extra session and said they did not expect much trouble with it in the Senate.

The majority of the committee will begin framing the tentative legislation next Monday and counts upon the Democratic caucus of the next House approving its work substantially as the committee reports it.

So far there has been no formal conclusion as to any of the schedules as to how the administrative provisions and miscellaneous tariff ideas. The testimony on the tariff sundries ranged from birds of paradise to boots and shoes.

Free List Next in Turn. The committee heard more than 50 witnesses today and tonight on the sundries schedule of the tariff. The scene will shift tomorrow to the free list, the administrative provisions and miscellaneous tariff ideas. The testimony on the tariff sundries ranged from birds of paradise to boots and shoes.

They will levy a rate below the present rate," said Chairman Underwood at the opening of today's hearing that the present 20 per cent tariff on harness and saddlery was too high. The statement was made while E. W. Campbell, representing a saddlery association, was pleading for the retention of the duty.

"We are not going to write a protective tariff," said Mr. Underwood. The fight to bar out aligarettes from the country in the interest of the National Association of Audubon Societies and other organizations favoring the protection of birds was led by Dr. William T. Hornaday for the New York Zoological Society. He advocated a specific prohibition against the importation of plumage of wild birds for millinery.

Gilbert Pearson of New York, secretary of the National Association of Audubon Societies, entined the hearing by suggesting that it was not only a matter of protection for the birds, but of protection for husbands, as he said women would buy feathers at $300 an ounce.

Toothbrush Trade Pooled. The existence of a trade agreement between the Florence Manufacturing Company, of Florence, Mass., and the company which the retail price of toothbrushes was fixed, was admitted by William Cordes, treasurer of that concern, who said his company produced one-third of the total toothbrush output of the country. Questioned regarding this agreement, which Representative Fordney told the witness was in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, Mr. Cordes admitted that if a jobber failed to keep the agreement the company would sell to the jobber thereafter only on the same basis as a retailer.

Mr. Cordes said that his attorney had advised him that the agreement was not in violation of the law, and Representative Fordney advised him against continuing the agreement.

and vicinity are in favor of proper representation at the exposition, and desire an appropriation that will afford such a showing as will prove the deep interest that all Oregon feels in the opening of the Panama Canal.

"Cow Counties" Approve $500,000. Great interest attached to the declaration of T. C. Taylor, of Pendleton, representing as he said, the "Cow Counties" of Eastern Oregon. He assured the meeting that he had no doubt whatever that the people of his section would approve of any sum that would be appropriated up to $500,000.

The Marshfield Chamber of Commerce received the invitation to take part in a delegation, but they sent a telegram to E. W. Wright, of Portland, asking him to represent Marshfield, which he did by reading the telegram and saying that from his knowledge of the patriotism of the people of that section, that they would approve of whatever appropriation the Legislature thinks proper. He said that they are anticipating railroad connection with the outside world by the opening of the canal and therefore want to be strongly represented at the exposition.

Great Benefits Foreseen. Mayor Meier, of Albany spoke briefly, assuring the meeting that he believes that the great need of the state is people who will cultivate the soil and take advantage of the many opportunities presented in the state. He declared that the people cannot be gotten here without the expenditure of money, but said that whatever sums this purpose has brought back a 100-fold in benefits. He favored as much as $500,000 appropriation.

Julius Meier, chairman of the Oregon Commission, read a report of the Commission, embodying the views of the members as to how the funds should be used for the exposition and giving the details as to its management.

Colonel E. D. Briggs, president of the Ashland Commercial Club, declared that the people of the Rogue River Valley favor a large appropriation and that they want to have a creditable exhibition at Ashland, too, so that people going to or coming from California may stop over and enjoy the wonderful climate and attractions of that and the Willamette Valley.

CHARITY IS REBUKED Berkeley Mayor Refuses to Attend Three-Dollar Dinner.

LAZARUS' SPIRIT INVOKED

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30.—"In behalf of Lazarus, lying at the gate," J. Stitt Wilson, Socialist Mayor of Berkeley, declined today to attend the banquet of the Associated Charities of San Francisco, at which guests who pay $3 a plate will watch moving pictures illustrating "how needy families live" and "frustrating battles with poverty and sickness."

"The Mayor of Berkeley," runs the declaration, "does not receive sufficient salary to dine with the social class that can squander $2 on one meal—and I prefer to give this $2 to some needy family. Three dollars will buy three suits of children's underwear, or keep a child for a week."

"If you offer a rebuke to me for publicly declining this invitation on the ground that I did not wish to attend I could stay away and keep silent. I only state that if anything under heaven should be open to the moral sense of the community, it is the activities and functions of organized associated charities. Daneff's Words for Publication. Dr. Daneff, head of the Bulgarian delegation, said with reference to Turkey's reply: "It is not of a character to form the basis for fresh negotiation."

This, however, simply is a public statement, possibly for the purpose of exercising further pressure on Constantinople. A majority of the allies apparently trust that a compromise will be reached.

All the powers have urged the allies to do their utmost to prevent the resumption of hostilities, because of the grave complications that otherwise might arise. Whatever happens, the Greek Premier, M. Venizelos, will leave London tomorrow. He will visit friends in the country, and expects to depart from England Saturday or Sunday. M. Novakovich, head of the Servian delegation, has arranged to go home in a day or two, but will return if the negotiations are resumed. Dr. Daneff will leave the beginning of next week. The Ambassadorial conference will meet tomorrow to consider the ports' reply.
