FENTON REVIEWS

Situation Regarding Telephone Controversy Is Set Forth by Trustees' Lawyer.

CASE IS STARTED IN 1911

Attorney Says Northwestern Doe Not Owe Home Company Here and Property Really Belongs to Bondholders.

Although the foreclosure suit of the Title Insurance & Trust Company, of Los Angeles, as trustees for bondholders against the Northwestern Long Distance Telephone, which is in prog ress in Judge Gatens' court, ramifies in many directions, W. D. Fenton, the attorney for the Title Insurance & Trust Company, plaintiff, holds that Trust Company, plaintiff, holds that it ought to be nothing more than a simple foreclosure suit.

The foreclosure suit.

The foreclosure proceedings were commenced on November 28, 1911. In an interview outlining the case, W. D. Fenton says that it was admitted by H. D. Pillsbury, of San Francisco, that he purchased after the foreclosure suit was commenced, from William Mead and his representatives approximately $601,090 of first mortgage bonds and about 4000 shares of capital stock, on the basis of 50 cents of the par value of the bonds, provided the stock acthe basis of an cents of the par value of the bonds, provided the stock accompanied it and any person desiring to take that sum of his bonds and stock would be paid that amount. Mr. Filisbury testified that he purchased this stock and bonds for the Sunset Telephone & Telegraph Company, with beadonstors of Tecome. headquarters at Tacoma.

Since the date of these purchases, Mr. Fenton says that the testimony discloses purchases of additional stock and bonds which made a total of bonds of the par value of $710,700 of the to of the par value of $10,000 of the total $750,000 bonds outstanding, while the total stock owned by the Sunset company is $421,250 par value of the total $839,100 outstanding. The suit is to recover interest due to April 15, 1910, and subsequent dates each six months thereafter, none of which has been paid. been paid.

"The receiver, John B. Coffee, and Charles E. Sumner, upon whose application he was appointed, are defending," says Mr. Fentor, "upon the theory that William Mead purposely wrecked the company by withholding money earned by the Northwestern Company, which should have gone to the discharge of those interest coupens, and that Mr. Mead and his associates are liable to the Northwestern for the reliable to the Northwestern for the re-suits. The bondholders and the trustee suits. The bondholders and the trustee do not admit that the acts of Mr. Mead and his associates in this respect affect the right to foreclose, nor affect the validity and ownership of the bonds.

"In April, 1910, the Home Telephone & Telegraph Company, of Portland, filed in the United States District Court of Traces suits against the Home Telephone. nied in the United States District Court of Tacoma, suits against the Home Telephone Company of Puget Sound, and against the Northwestern, securing a receiver by consent of both these companies. Thereafter the bondholders applied to the court for the removal of that receiver and asked that if a receiver were appointed it should be an impartial person. W. D. Tyler was appointed by Judge Donworth receiver for both companies.

"The receivership of the Northwest-"

The receivership of the Northwest-The receivership of the Northwest-ern company was terminated at its own application in April, 1911, and it was only because Mr. Mead and P. L. Willis, then owners of the majority of the stock and representing a majority of the bonds outstanding, had purchased from the Home Company, of Portland. the indebtedness which it held against the Home of Puget Sound and the Northwestern, paying full value for this indebtedness. Thereafter the North-western continued to operate its propwestern continued to operate its properties until the commencement of the foreclosure suit. In the meantime the Puget Sound Company was sold under a decree of foreclosure and the property purchased at public sale by the Sunset, on December 9, 1911.

"It is apparent to anyone who has kept track of the efforts made by the Home of Portland that the defense being made by the receiver and Mr. Summer is really in the interest of that company. Mr. Montague secured the passage by the Council of the City of Portland of a resolution instructing the City Attorney to intervene, and someone procured Senator Kellaher to introduce and have passed in the Senate of the state a resolution instructing the Attorney to instructing the Attorney to intervene, and someone procured Senator Kellaher to introduce and have passed in the Senate of the state a resolution instructing the Atstate a resolution instructing the At-torney-General of the state to appear this suit. Efforts were made to in this suit. Efforts were made to induce the Attorney-General of the United States to take some action. No formal appearance was made in the case, though a representative of the Department of Justice appeared and took notes of the testimony taken in Los Angeles. "I understand there is substantially no indebtedness against the Northwest-no Indebtedness against the Northwest-ern excepting a judgment of $5000 claimed by Charles E. Sumner, and a few unsecured claims. The North-western is not indebted to the Home of Portland, and its property really belongs to its bondholders and stockholders, and there is no reason in public policy why the mortgage should not be foreclosed. If the property should ultimately be acquired by the Sumset or any other company it would should ultimately be added by would be subject to regulation under the public utilities act of this state and the public utilities act of the State of Washington, and as to interstate busiand good and efficient service could be compelled."
