"DRYS" WIN FIRST FIGHT AT OLYMPIA

Washington Senate Almost Equally Divided on Liquor Question.

WALLA WALLA OPENS WAR

Senator Sharpstein Starts Fireworks When 'Anti-Treating' Bill Comes Up for Debate--"Tacoma Measure Proves Farce."

OLYMPIA, Wash., Feb. 5.—(Special.)—A bill prohibiting treating in saloons, the first liquor measure to come before the Washington Legislature during the present session, caused a bitter fight in the Senate today, resulting in a distinct and significant victory for the "drys."

The measure brought to the surface for the first time the lineup on the liquor question, and demonstrated beyond a doubt that there is an unusually even division of the "wet" and the "dry" forces.

The bill, introduced and fathered by Senator Davis, of Pierce County, appeared before the Senate without recommendation from the majority of the public morals committee, and with recommendation for its indefinite postponement by the minority of the committee.

Sharpstein Starts War.

Senator Sharpstein, of Walla Walla, started the fireworks when he moved to adopt the minority report to postpone indefinitely. The "drys," who took the measure to be one for them to support, because it tightened the liquor restrictions, rallied to the cause and fought against postponement.

"Wets," on the other side, returned a hot fire. On vote the measure was saved from a dark, cold grave by four votes. It went to general file.

The measure, as it stands, prohibits any person from purchasing a drink of liquor for any other person, and requires the placing of cards in conspicuous places in all saloons reading, "No treating permitted." Violation of the measure makes the bartender or the owner of the saloon liable to a heavy fine and imprisonment, or both.

Tacoma Measure Farce.

Metcalf and Jensen, of Pierce County, said that a similar measure had been passed in Tacoma by the City Council and had proved a farce. Imus, of Cowlitz County, declared that the passage of the bill would be a travesty. Sharpstein said cities have power to pass anti-treating measures, and that the state should not foist such a restriction on cities where public opinion will not support it.

Senator Davis, author of the measure, declared that it was a good measure and could be enforced. He said it had been enforced to good advantage in Tacoma. A half dozen other Senators arose and disputed this.

"The bill is a farce," said Senator Metcalf. "It was tried in Tacoma, but given up in a few weeks."

"The Mayor who was the author of the bill in Tacoma was recalled soon after it was passed, and his recall was because of that very ordinance," declared Sharpstein.

"I wish to call the Senator's attention to the fact that it was the saloon men who recalled him," broke in Davis.

Metcalf Flies to Defense.

Metcalf jumped up to a point of personal privilege and retorted:

"I want it understood here and now that the saloon men are not in the majority in Tacoma; they are in the small minority."

After all the forces had used up all their ammunition, a "call of the Senate" was passed, which brought all absent Senators into the chamber. The roll was called and the bill won out in the first round, 23 to 19. After saving its life, the "drys" asked to have the bill placed on general file, which request carried. It will come up for final passage or defeat probably Friday.

Prizefight Bill Returns.

The prizefight bill, legalizing boxing and sparring matches in this state, which was killed by the Senate Tuesday night, came back smiling today and was given a new lease of life. As expected, the fathers of the measure were able to drum up the required two-thirds vote of the Senate to bring the measure back for reconsideration. The bill was resurrected and placed on general file, to come up again Friday.

The House of Representatives passed practically all of today hearing arguments and reports regarding the ownership of harbor, wharfage and tideland property in cities on Puget Sound. A report by the special Seattle wharfage ownership committee recommending that the state contest the title to the lands on the waterfront owned by the Northern Pacific and other corporations was adoped.

The Senate passed a bill appropriating $300,000 for the erection of a new building at the Cheney Normal School to replace the structure which was burned a year ago. This bill has been passed by the House also. It probably will be vetoed by Governor Lister because of his belief that the building is not needed.

Auto Measure Passes.

Another bill was passed by the Senate making it a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment for a driver of an automobile to fail to stop and give his number in case of an accident in which anyone is injured, or to fail to report the accident to a peace officer within the same county within 24 hours.

Another woman's minimum wage bill was introduced in the House today by Corkery and Sumner. It extends to municipalities the power to fix the minimum wage which can be paid to female employes. A bill was introduced by Dunning prohibiting the employment of child labor and specifying the age limits in all branches of industry. A bill was introduced by Goss providing for the carrying out of the recall system in the state. Recall of judges is not a part of the system as outlined in the bill.

The clamor of the institutions of higher education for appropriations occasioned the introduction of a bill by Zendnick of King County providing special tax levies for each school.

More Road Money Needed.

The House committee on roads and bridges introduced a bill providing for increasing the tax levies for the road funds. The bill calls for an increase of permanent highway fund levy from one-half of 1 mill to 1 mill, and the state highway levy from 1 mill to 2½ mills. The bill has been decided upon by the committee as the best way of solving the problem of securing more road money. If passed the bill will increase the road funds from $1,500,000, as at present, to $3,500,000.

A bill said to have a strong backing and declared to be of vital importance to farmers was introduced by Senator Troy, chairman of the Senate appropriations committee, providing for the establishment of a state department of agriculture to take over all the agricultural work of the state. The bill abolishes the offices of State Dairy and Livestock Commissioner, Horticulture Inspector, Oil Inspector, State Fair Commissioner and takes over part of the duties of the Labor Commissioner.

Provision is made for the appointment of a commissioner at $4000 a year and the establishment of an agricultural commission comprising the Governor, the Commissioner of Agriculture and the directors of the state experimental stations.

Because of the numerous bills before the House providing for state aid in the clearing of logged-off land a special committee on logged-off land was appointed by Speaker Taylor. The members are Representatives Murphine, chairman; Aagard, W. A. Arnold, Brislawn, Horrigan, Hughes, Mapes, Robe and Wells.

COMMISSION CREATION IS PLAN

Ragsdale Measure Calls for Appropriation of $7000.

STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Feb. 5.—(Special.)—A bill introduced by Senator Ragsdale has for its purpose the development of agriculture in the state through the medium of county agricultural committees. It allows any county in Oregon on a petition of a majority of the voters in the county to have such a committee appointed by the County Court. This committee may appoint a county agriculturist.

When five or more counties in the state avail themselves of the provisions an Oregon country life commission will be created and for this commission an appropriation of $5000 a year is provided. The bill also provides for a salary of $2000 a year for the agriculturist and per diem pay for the various members of the boards that are created.

OBJECTION IS REMOVED

BILL FOR OUSTING OFFICIALS ALTERED IN COMMITTEE.

Prosecutors, Sheriffs and Constables to Be Given Day in Court Before Governor Suspends.

STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Feb. 5—(Special.)—Prosecuting Attorneys, Sheriffs and Constables are to be given a day in court before they can be suspended by the Governor under a changed draft of the McCulloch bill as it will be reported into the judiciary committee by the sub-committee named for the purpose of revising the bill. It is probable that Thompson, of the sub-committee, will dissent, while Butler and McCulloch will give their approval to the bill. There will also be a division of the judiciary committee as a whole.

The bill will provide that when within the belief of the Governor any of the officials mentioned are not faithfully executing the criminal laws of the state he may start summary proceedings before the Judge of the Circuit Court in the district or in an adjoining district as he sees fit and the officer whom he would supplant may be called in.

The judge will make his findings as to whether he believes the criminal laws of the state are being faithfully executed and if they are such that he finds against the official, the official may be suspended or supplanted by a special official for a period of 90 days. This bill apparently removes the objection that was made to the original bill that the official would be given no day in court. On the other hand, it has met with disapproval on the ground that instead of removing from office an official who has been shown to be delinquent in the execution of his duty, it merely supplants him for a period of 90 days. The judiciary committee will probably pass on the bill tonight.

Bill Fixes Horse Rating.

STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Feb. 5.—(Special.)—Pacers that are sired and dammed by trotters or trotters that are sired and dammed by pacers will be standard bred instead of graded horses if a bill introduced by Senator Dimick today is passed. He says that this will put some of the speediest horses in Oregon in the standard-bred class, where now they are graded.

House Honors Lincoln's Birthday.

STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Feb. 5.—(Special.)—The House has unanimously adopted a resolution making Lincoln's birthday a legal holiday. It was introduced by Speaker McArthur, who lauded Lincoln as one of the greatest of Americans and declared it only fitting that his services should be recognized in this manner.

Sunday Legislation Opposed.

STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Feb. 5.—(Special.)—W. F. Martin, of Portland, and C. T. Longacre, secretary of the International Religious Liberty Bureau, will hold meetings at the open house here Thursday and Friday against Sunday legislation and all other legislation dealing with religion.

EVANS' BILL LOSES

McColloch Surprised at Opposition Aroused.

M'NEIL'S DAYS RECALLED

Land-Fraud Cases Return to Haunt Action Which Spells Defeat of Similar Conspiracy Measure When Senate Calls Halt.

STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Feb. 5.—(Special.)—Echoes of days when Oregonians were sent to McNeil's Island during the land-fraud cases, when Francis J. Heney exercised the Federal conspiracy statute as a whip, resulted in the defeat of a similar conspiracy bill for the state in the Senate today.

The bill was introduced by Senator McColloch at the instance of District Attorney Evans, of Multnomah County.

Senator Butler led the attack on the bill in bitter terms.

Recent History Recalled.

"I need not refer you to recent history of the state, how men were railroaded to McNeil's Island under a rotten conspiracy statute of this kind found among the Federal laws. I need not tell you how the evidence was secured to send innocent men to the penitentiary under the guise that they had 'conspired to commit a crime.'"

Judge Butler further declared that the present laws of the state are broad enough to cover all classes who commit a crime and that there is no crying exigency making this bill imperative. He was supported by Moser.

McColloch in defense of the bill said: "This bill originated from the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County. He told me of one instance where two young men had conspired to establish two young girls in an immoral life, that one was to be taken to Salem and the other to Woodburn. The officers discovered the plan. The men found they were being watched, fled to Washington and are beyond the reach of a requisition."

Malarkey Explains Vote.

President Malarkey, in voting, said he had no desire to stand in the way of a statute which would prevent such a plan as that outlined by McColloch, but expressed himself as doubtful of the necessity of a statute along the lines in the McColloch bill and voted against it with Barrett, Bean, Burgess, Butler, Joseph, Hiddle, Moser, Patton, Perkins, Ragsdale, Smith, Stewart (Josephine), Thompson, Von der Hellen, Wood.

McColloch expressed himself as surprised at the opposition which developed.

Coming into the open, McColloch and District Attorney Evans said the conspiracy bill was primarily aimed at paving combinations and conspiracies as to collusive bids and incidentally to make a crime all efforts at collusion in bids on public works or buildings.

While the bill was defeated today because of the possibilities it held in duplicating under a state statute the railroading of innocent men to the penitentiary as it was alleged was accomplished during the Heney inquisitions under the Federal statute, it will come up again tomorrow, only in an amended form.

New Bill to Be Drafted.

Joseph will move that the bill be reconsidered and probably ask that it be re-referred to committee.

A new bill will be drafted eliminating the portion covering the question of a conspiracy to commit a crime and it will touch upon only the conspiracy to defraud.

Mr. Evans says he is anxious that such legislation find its way upon the statute books, as it will give a leverage to protect not only the state, but all municipal corporations from collusive schemes to make a grab at public works. He said the Federal authorities had been investigating the same question under the Federal statute, but he is satisfied that a state statute will bring about a more effective means to effect the control that is desired.

REVOLT IS FEATURE

Senate Democrats See Evils in Prisoners' Law.

OFFICERS' ACTION SCORED

Governor's Bill in Senate Substituting Guards for Sheriffs in Taking Convicts to Penitentiary Is Defeated.

STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Feb. 5.—(Special.)—A small-sized Democratic revolt today, with both McColloch and Miller voting no, was one of the features which marked the decisive defeat of the Governor's bill in the Senate doing away with the Sheriffs of the state taking prisoners to the state penitentiary, and substituting for the Sheriff prison guards.

Sturdy opposition of Sheriffs to the plan, coupled with a defect in the bill attacked by some of the Senators that it is advantageous for Sheriffs to visit the penitentiary and become familiar with convicts and methods, all combined to defeat the bill.

It is understood that the Governor expected the defeat of the measure under developments of the past few days, but was desirous of its going into the Senate for final passage or defeat to call attention to evils which are said to exist in the present system.

Butler Makes Attack.

Butler led an attack on the bill, declaring that it would result in more leeches "hanging around the penitentiary and living from the public purse."

"Only a little more money for the Salem pie counter," was one of the expressions which Kiddle stated had come from one of his constituents. McColloch caused a mild ripple of surprise when he announced that he intended voting against the bill, but he berated the present system strongly, and made the demand that some wholesome legislation should be introduced to remedy the evils which he complained now exist.

He declared that he could see the Sheriffs had accomplished effective work in lining up the Senate against the bill, and paid some compliments to the Democratic Sheriff from Baker County, also the county from which McColloch hails, for his efficiency in organizing the forces against the measure.

"But there are evils in the present system, although I intend to vote against this bill," said McColloch. Moser, Burgess and others joined in opposition to the bill.

Patton Votes Against Bill.

Even Patton, its introducer, voted against it, but explained his reason for so doing was to be able to move for a reconsideration.

Senator McColloch declared, following the session, that a bill is being drafted at the present time which will require a part of the expense of transportation of convicts to be borne by the county and part by the state. Under the present law, he said, with the state bearing the burden of the expense, little attention is paid to the cost in the counties, and as a result the system is abused.

The bill on final passage mustered ten favorable votes, these being Carson, Dimick, Farrell, Hawley, Hollis, Kellaher, Lester, Smith (Coos), Stewart and Wood.

A substitute bill was introduced this afternoon by the committee on penal institutions which provides that no per diem shall be paid to the Sheriffs and that the county shall bear one-fourth of the expense and the state the other three-fourths.

Senator McColloch says that the fact that the county will have to bear some expense and the auditing of accounts in the county giving some local publicity will work to have the desired effect as to remedying what he terms are evils connected with the prison system.

MULTNOMAH DELEGATES MARK

Washington County Men Play Joke on Portland Solons.

STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Feb. 5.—(Special.)—The Washington County delegation "slipped one over" on the Representatives from Multnomah County yesterday. Evidently wishing to give Portland anything it wants or thinks it wants, the Washington County members of the House conceived that it would be a nice thing for the sportsmen of Portland to have a duck shooting preserve on every lake in Oregon.

The Washington County delegation therefore slipped in a bill creating the Duck Shooters' Association, of Portland, consisting of any Portland man who wishes to join it. Ten thousand dollars "or as much more as they want" is appropriated out of the state funds and the members are required under the act to go duck shooting "every Lord's day and bag enough ducks to feed all Portland residents who need ducks."

BILLS' LAST DAY ARRIVES

Grand Rush Expected Today in Senate and House Documents.

STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Feb. 5.—(Special.)—After tomorrow the rain of bills, which has been deluging the Senate and the House, will meet with a material abatement if the Legislative Assembly lives up to the Senate joint resolution, which restricts the introduction of bills to the 25th day of the session.

Bills may be introduced after Thursday, but only with the consent of three-fourths of the members of the house in which they are so introduced.

So far the number of bills introduced has eclipsed anything in the past and it is expected tomorrow that Senators and Representatives will work overtime in rushing in their bills.

Night Schools Bill Passes House.

STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Feb. 5.—(Special.)—Night schools are authorized in a bill by Shanahan of Hood River, passed by the House today. Mr. Shanahan explained the necessity of such a bill. No opposition developed to it.

Rabbit Bounty Fund Desired.

STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Feb. 5.—(Special.)—A levy of 2 mills on a dollar of all the taxable property in Harney County to provide for a bounty fund for black tailed, or jack rabbits, is contemplated in a bill introduced by Stewart. Under the bill a bounty of 3 cents for the years 1913 and 1914, and of 5 cents for each year thereafter will be given for each jackrabbit killed.

Bonebrake Blocks Beer Checks.

STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Feb. 5.—(Special.)—Beer checks will be taboo in saloons hereafter, providing a bill by Representative Bonebrake, a preacher, becomes the law. He introduced a bill in the House today. It prohibits the use of beer checks or any metallic checks or chips and all games of skill or chance.

Beauty Doctor Tells Secret

Detroit Beauty Doctor Gives Simple Recipe to Darken Gray Hair and Promote Its Growth.

Miss Alice Whitney, a well-known beauty doctor of Detroit, Mich., recently gave out the following statement: "Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home, at very little cost, that will darken gray hair, promote its growth and make it soft and glossy. To half pint of water and 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ oz. glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drugstore at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It is also fine to promote the growth of the hair, relieve itching and scalp diseases and is excellent for dandruff and falling hair."

SIDELIGHTS ON OREGON LEGISLATURE

SPEAKER McARTHUR this morning delivered a lecture to the members of the House for being late and for going into the Capitol corridor when sessions are in progress. It has been necessary many times to send the sergeant-at-arms to bring in absent members. This morning the session started 40 minutes late because no quorum was present.

THEY had a good one on Representative Lawrence, of Multnomah County, in the House, when a bill was being discussed.

"I move that section 1 of this bill be adopted," said one of the members of the House, and it was adopted without debate.

Then there was silence for a moment. Believing that valuable time was being wasted, Representative Lawrence arose and, addressing the Speaker, said, "I move the adoption of section 2."

There was but one section to the bill.

WHEN Parsons, of Lane County, was watching his bill for curbing trusts beng flattened out by the steam roller in the House, he cried out in anguish: "Mr. Speaker, I stand here as the representative of the poor man in this state, and I don't propose to be hornswoggled in this manner. I won't stand for it."

"Sit down, then," called out a cold-hearted member.

Whereat there was great laughter, so that the dull rumbling of the roller was for a time smothered.

WHEN the members of the House were discussing the bill to prohibit paroles for those who have been incarcerated in the Penitentiary more than three times, Speaker McArthur took sides in favor of the bill, and made a speech for it. He cited a case of a man who stole a team of mules three times and served a term each time.

"That man," shouted McArthur, "should remain in jail for life," and he was cheered.

"I wonder," said McArthur, addressing Speaker Pro Tem. Hagood, of Multnomah County, "whether this bill includes stealing the thunder of the Democratic jackass."

"The elephant is welcome to steal it as long as we have the Government," replied Mr. Hagood.

"HAVE you yet decided whether to be re-elected Governor or to go to the United States Senate?" was a question put to Governor West yesterday, as he was preparing to leave his office to make for a downtown cafeteria.

"Can't tell you till I get a copy of a certain Portland evening paper," came the quick reply, as the Governor dashed down the Capitol steps to grab his noon dish of "pork and."

JOE SINGER, ex-additional market inspector of Portland, and at present sergeant-at-arms of the Oregon House, is in serious trouble. He sat for his picture the other day and yesterday got the proofs.

"Diss iss awful," cried Joe, as he gazed upon the pathetic-looking face, supposed to be an exact counterpart of his own physiognomy. "Yess, diss iss pretty terrible; I see as where it iss up to me to buy a gallery of my own and make up my own picture; dis here does me a rank unjustness."

"WHAT'S in the air tonight?" asked a newspaper reporter of Representative Hughes.

"Sulphur," was the reply.

"CAN you tell me where I can find Senator Butler," asked Mary Anne O'Brien of Senator Moses. "I want him to deliver a real flowery address before the 'third house.'" Mary Anne O'Brien is a petite Miss from the Hall of Representatives.

"You would ask Moser if you had heard his talk on home rule," said a bystander referring to his eloquent speech as to home rule for Ireland.

"Why are you in favor of home rule," shuddered Miss O'Brien, as she drew away. And then Moser had to explain he meant home rule for Ireland rather than for Oregon.

ONE of the gentlest members of the House is "the gentleman from Washington County."

His name is Meek.

"A BILL creating the Portland Duck Shooters' Association," sang out Reading Clerk Clarke in the House yesterday.

"I move it be referred to the committee on sterilization," said Chapman, of Washington.

"The Speaker will reconsider and send it to the committee on alcoholic liquor," replied Speaker McArthur, amid laughter.

"CAN I take this Oregonian?" asked Representative Westerlund as he "glommed" a copy of the paper from the press table.

"Apparently," replied one of the "press gang," laughingly.

HOUSE Bill 104, strange to say, this year deals with the question of milk inspection.

"DR. JOHN M'LAUGHLIN planted his foot and sowed the seeds of civilization." This was one of the gems dropped by Joseph yesterday.

"THE Senator from Multnomah told us yesterday he was born in Ireland," said Dimick, referring to Joseph, "and ever since then the Senators have been wondering in what part of Ireland Jerusalem is located."
