CLASH IN CORRIDOR

Governor Grabs Frank L. Perkins by Throat and Both Fall Hard to Tile Floor - Legislators Have Ringside Vlew.

STATE CAPITOL Salem, Or., Feb. 14. (Special.)—Tumbling on the tile floor of the lower corridor in the State Capbuilding tonight Governor West, with his hands clutched on the threat of Frank L. Perkins, a newspaper reporter, threw Perkins and in a wild on of flying feet and arms a battle royal was carried on between the state executive and the reporter.

They were separated by Senator Bean and Representative Spencer. Spencer held Perkins in a corner.

The Governor had been attending a meeting in the fooms of the educational committee, and Perkins with Senator Bean was coming to the Capital. nator Bean was coming to the Capitol om their dinner.

Perkins' Speech Rolls,

It just happened, as the pair were rolling on the floor, that the door of the corridor opened and in came a line of legislators and others, including President Malarkey. Senator Thompson, Senator Burgess, Senator Moser, John McCue and Lot Swetland. Spencer stepped onto the scene from a committee room nearby.

As Spencer was holding Perkins back in the corner the latter struggled to in the corner the latter struggled to free himself and remove his overcoat, which he was wearing when attacked by the Governor.

"I don't care if you are Governor of the state, come back at me, if they let me loose, and I will give you something to think about," shouted Perkins at the Governor,

The bystanders kept them separated and they moved away.

The Governor said tonight that he was at a meeting at which President Kerr, of the Agricultural College, and others were present when he left the committee room.

"Perkins passed by and spoke to me," said the Governor. There were some words and I hit him. We went down on the floor together and then we were

Perkins tonight referred to Senator Bean as the one to tell the story, and Bean said to "forget it."

Never before has excitement been so high about the State Capitol as it has been tonight. This is the first time on record here that a similar scene has been enacted at the Capitol, and it practically caused a cessation of committee work.

Those who opposed this bill were Rarrett, Burgess, Day, Hawley, Hollis, Kiddle, Smith of Josephine, Thompson and Wood. Malarkey did not vote on billis to repeal the franchises of the

The row started over Kellaher's two bills to repeal the franchises of the Portland Gas Company. After a long argument, which had been drawn out until it had consumed considerable time. Senator Bean moved the previous question, which is undebatable. Kellaher jumped to his feet. "This is gag rule" he said.

"You have done nothing but try to obstruct the business of this session from the beginning to end," declared President Malarkey to Kellaher.

"Your presence here and your remarks are both an insult to this body and to the people of the state," re-

Senator Thompson.

The debate was long drawn out and cocasionally brought forth flashes of bitterness and charges hurled back and forth. Dimick, in support of the appropriations are cut to such an original bill, and Smith, in support of the amended bill, both talked at length as to labor conditions, which they determine the amount of the appropriations.

"The state is a beginning made in the reference of the appropriation and the sum of the appropriations."

"The state is a business corporation." as to incor conditions, which they de-chared presented a crying demand for legislation of this character. By passage of the Smith report the bill will be sent to third reading on the calendar.
