United States District Judge Landis started a grand jury investigation which later was suspended pending the Treasury Department's action. The House committee on expenditure in the Treasury Department also inquired into the subject. The compromise was made, it is explained here, because the Government had no evidence to sustain the $1,000,000 claim.

One hundred and two thousand dollars, it is added, was all the Government could hope to get, even through litigation. The Treasury held that a test case was impracticable because it could not be decided for two or three years and in any event, the Govern-ment could not expect to sustain any-thing approaching the maximum claim.

Consider Quality First---Then Price

Consider first the quality of the piano you expect to buy. Look carefully into the reputation of its builders, scrutinize the character of its workmanship, the material used, analyze its tone and test thoroughly its action. Then consider well the reputation of the house of which you buy. Do not be deceived by the lure of the unreasonably low price. The very cheap piano is necessarily of the cheapest possible construction and materials. It is the product of slipshod methods, of inefficient workmanship and possesses neither tone, durability nor artistic finish. The cheap commercial piano finds no place in our stock. An examination of our stock will convince you that, quality considered, good, satisfactory pianos may be purchased here at prices which are much lower in comparison than elsewhere. Not only are our prices lower, but you have the most favorable terms and the knowledge that the piano purchased is fully guaranteed against any and all imperfections of workmanship and material. This week we are showing an especially fine lot of used pianos that are great bargains. The easiest possible terms are made on them and the prices are
