BIG ROCKET FALLS WITH MAN INSIDE

"Human Fly" Lives After 800 Pounds of Powder Are Exploded Behind Him.

"Darn that thing!" he exclaimed. "I thought I was going up."

Panic spread among the spectators immediately after the explosion. It seemed inconceivable that Law could have escaped being blown to bits and several women became hysterical. When those who were managing the exploit reached the scene, they were surprised to find Law struggling on the ground in the midst of the burning framework of the scaffolding, which had supported the rocket.

Rocket Hown to Please.

The town of Juchitepec, in the State of Mexico. According to refugees arriving here today the rebels entered the town unopposed.

After sacking it and detaining the women residents, the rebels organized a ball, compelling the local musicians to provide the music. They then forced all the women, old and young, to dance until they dropped from exhaustion. When drunkenness became general the rebels tired of their sport, set fire to the town and departed.

Rocket Blown to Pieces

His escape was explained by the fact that the head of the rocket, on which he stood shoulder high in a hollow extension, was made of an extra thickness of steel. The rest of the rocket, six feet in length and two and a half feet in diameter, was blown to pieces.

Law walked, unassisted, to a nearby house to have his burns dressed. He declared that he would make a second attempt as soon as another rocket could be constructed by the moving-picture

$1.85, DUE IN 1890, IS PAID Federal Court at Seattle Rebates

Lawyer After 23 Years. SEATTLE, Wash., March 13 .- (Special.)-After remaining dormant in the treasury of the Federal Court for more than 20 years, the sum of $1.85 rebate on fees deposited in 1890 by the firm of Struve, Haines & McMicken, shortly after the Federal Court had been orunized was remitted today to Maurice McMicken, wealthy attorney and vicepresident of the First National Bank, by Federal Clerk Frank L. Crosby.

The rebate came as a result of a general cleaning up of accounts which have accumulated in the court and to which attention has never been directed in the past. With the opening of each new case attorneys are required to file fees to cover costs in advance, and usually there is a small amount left when the cases are completed. Approximately $6000 in all will be distributed by the clerk.

The whole case, gentlemen," he said, "hangs on one single hinge, the departure of Frances Swope Hyde with her husband from the Swope home the night of December 13, 1809, Mrs. Swope virtually has accussed Hyde of trying to murder her family. When Dr. Hyde and his wife were ready to go, Mrs. Swope said:

testimony at the Alaskan coal land frauds trial.

Albert C. Frost's plan, testified O. G. Laberee, a Government witness, was to procure the coal lands and dispose of them at a profit to the Guggenheims. The witness formerly was Frost's confidential associate, Laberee said he dealt with Charles Sweeney, of the Federal Mining & Smelling Company, for the sale of coal lands. "Whom did Sweeney represent?" Special Agent Townsend asked. "The Guggenheims," Laberee answered. "He could draw money from several sources. One of them was J. P. Morgan. He also could draw from George J. Gould and Charles Watkins, of the Fittsburg Coal Company."
